C. Herr of Madera, was unable to penetrate far enough into the tunnel to count the dead.

These, it is expected, will be found strewn along the poisonous reaches of the tunnel, where they fell in attempting to escape. Dr. Herr reported one body within 300 feet of the north entrance to the tunnel. It was that of Juan Fernandez, rear brakeman of the trian.

As the passenger train did not stop until within a few hundred feet of the freight train with which Castillo had set fire to the tunnel seven hours before, Fernandez must have staggered and crawled nearly three-quarters of a mile before he succumbed to the fumes of the smoke. In his trail, it is believed, the others will be found, unless there was a stampede in the train to escape, and some were crushed in the attempt to crowd through the narrow aisles and doors.

Railroad men here and in El Paso are furious at Castillo's act. On Tuesday twenty-two of his men were captured and executed by the rebels, and the next day, apparently in revenge, he captured the freight train, ran it into the south end of the tunnel about 300 feet and there set fire to it.

The passenger train entered the death trap from the north unsuspectingly, probably traveling at its usual rate of about fifteen miles an hour. When the engineer discovered the trap it was too late. Just what his actions were will be known only Cloudy. Wind at 5 p.m., 11 miles. Thermometer, lowest, 44 deg. Forecast: Fair Sunday, light north wind. For complete weather report see last page of Part I.

THE CITY. Investigation along the border by "The Times" showed yesterday that half a million dollars' worth of opium is smuggled into the State yearly.

Twice as many Republicans as Progressives registered yesterday.

The new children's hospital was formally opened yesterday by President Wilson, when he pressed a button in six months were meted out yesterday to the Plaza rioters.

Sentences ranging from two years to six months were meted yesterday to the Plaza rioters.

School children contracted yesterday for a million rose bushes to be set out in the city.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. The conviction of a student for speeding an automobile in Pasadena yesterday caused the school officials to declare against the custom of children attending school in their touring cars. They declare that it tends to create class distinction.

Thieves cracked a safe at Fullerton and only got $5 for their pains. They spoiled a perfectly good safe, however, 'n their effort to steal.

PACIFIC SLOPE. An enthusiastic meeting of Republicans was held yesterday in Santa Barbara, where the battle cry of the coming campaign in California was sounded and assurances were received of a strong army of Republican to rout the enemy at the polls.

The Southern Pacific has asked permission to issue bonds to the extent of $55,000,000.

GENERAL EASTERN. The cold snap in the East continues and zero weather is being experienced in many States.

Assessors in Cuyahoga county, O., say Rockefeller has fled to New York to escape the half a billion dollar tax levy.

WASHINGTON. Last year's exports from America to its contiguous territories eclipsed all previous records.

The Senate unanimously passed the amended agricultural bill that has already gone through the House.

MEXICO. Nine Americans and about forty or fifty Mexicans perished in the blazing tunnel set on fire by Castillo, the Mexican bandit.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES BY REPUBLICANS OF CALIFORNIA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following is the declaration of principles adopted unanimously today by the State Republican conference:

"The work of determining the legal status of the Republican party in California has been greatly simplified by the action of the Progressive party in abandoning the name 'Republican' and also the machinery through and by which the party is operated. It only remains for the Republicans to man the machinery abandoned and proceed with the work of reorganization. We recommend that in those counties in the State where no acting Republican county committee now exists the members of the State Central Committee for such counties call a county convention of Republicans for the purpose of electing a county committee to organize and conduct the coming primary campaign.

"Such convention should be composed of delegates elected from each precinct of the county by the Republican electors of such precinct.

"Your committee further recommends that the Republican party of California make such announcement of its principles and purposes as will leave no doubt in the public mind as to its attitude on matters affecting the welfare of the people of California, and we suggest the following declarations:

"We declare that the organization of a new political party in this State, whose followers are drawn from the ranks of all the older parties, shall in no manner alter the purpose of the Republican party to stand for human liberty and rights, the protection of the weak and the fair and just treatment of the strong, the control of monopoly and the encouragement of individual effort and enterprise. We hold that the burden of government upon the people should be made as light as is consistent with the public need, and administration should be so directed as to promote the prosperity and happiness of all the people. We have no party traditions that limit our freedom of action for the public welfare. We recognize the changing conditions of human society and the necessity of wise and progressive public administration to meet and promote such change, and we welcome to the ranks of the reorganized Republican party all citizens who are interested in the promotion of the highest interests of society and in the honest, efficient and economical administration of the public business.

"Under the administration of the Republican party the direct primary election law was adopted and the Republican party now reiterates its unqualified belief in the rule of the people. We declare that the advance legislation in this State enacted during the past six years is in the main the expression of the sentiment of the Republican voters of the State, but if experience shows that any of these laws should be enlarged or amended to justly and equitably accomplish the purpose for which they were designed we favor their being so enlarged, extended or amended, but in all such legislation it is the fixed policy of the Republican party to promote the welfare and protect the rights of all the people and not to serve one class of the people at the expense of any other class.

"In the past few years the expense of the State government has increased at a rate far in excess of our increase in population, and the burden of taxation is annually becoming more unbearable. The number of officers and employees of the State have enormously increased, and the expense of such officers and employees now amounts to a vast sum annually. We favor a consolidation of offices and commissions wherever possible without injury to the public business.

"The State needs a business and not a political administration. We favor a reorganization of the public service of the State along the lines of the most enlightened business methods with the view of accomplishing the most efficient economical results in administration, and not with the purpose of furnishing places for politicians as rewards for party service.

"As an example of the increase of the cost of government in California the appropriations of the Legislature of 1909 for the biennial period provided for amounted to the sum of $9,776,265, while the appropriations of the Legislature of 1913 to cover the same length of time were swelled to $16,123,878.79, an increase during the last two years of the present administration of $6,347,618.79 (or an increase of 65 per cent.)

"These figures do not include the 'special appropriations,' the amounts voted for new buildings in various parts of the State, nor the amounts appropriated for the school fund, nor any bond funds. The appropriation for hospitals for the insane in both cases for the biennial period increased from $2,754,000 in 1911 to $4,474,235 in 1913 (or an increase of 62 per cent.) The pay roll of the San Francisco Harbor Commission, a State board, was for the month of May, 1911, $31,335.35, or at the rate of $376,024 per annum. For the month of May, 1913, this pay roll had increased to $54,594.80, or at the rate of $655,137 per annum (or an increase of 74 per cent.)

"The Republican party is opposed to 'boss' control of the party organizations and of the executive or legislative officers of the State and to the enactment or enforcement of laws in the interest of any business or class of the people as against the higher interest of all the people, and having thrown off the control of 'the boss' in public matters, we call upon the independent voters of the State to support the Republican party in its effort to prevent either a return to the old conditions or the establishment of control by a new 'boss' as arbitrary and unresponsive to the public demand as the old.

"A Republican Legislature submitted to the voters of California the constitutional amendment providing for female suffrage, and the Republican party welcomes these new voters to its councils, with grateful recognition of their wise insight, their sense of justice and their high purpose to champion those policies in public matters that will encourage honesty and purity in politics and promote the best interests of all the people. We declare that public administration will reach its highest efficiency when the humane and elevating influence of woman is given its proper place in the public service.

"The Republican Legislature of 1909 enacted a statute forming a Railroad Commission with the widest constitutional powers then possible. Following this law a constitutional amendment was adopted creating the present

COHORTS OF THE PARTY RALLY FOR THE FRAY.

Battle Cry of the Coming Campaign Is Sounded at Santa Barbara.

Enthusiastic Meeting of the Rank and File Receives Messages of Encouragement and Assurance from All Parts of the Country and All Angles of the State of California—Great Day of Redemption.

BY LOU GUERNSEY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Republican party of California was regenerated here today at the greatest and most enthusiastic meeting of the Grand Old Party ever held in the State. Three hundred loyal and faithful members of the rank and file of the party of Lincoln present at the State-wide conference unanimously adopted a declaration of principles reviewing the glorious and patriotic record of achievement of the party and denouncing the would-be destroyers for building, at the expense of the taxpayers of California, the most corrupt and vicious political machine for which California or any other State has ever had to apologize.

The reconstruction of the party thus begun in earnestness will be carried on in the same spirit throughout the coming campaign.

The enthusiasm exhibited by the men and women supporters of the sound and forward-moving policies of Republicanism was so intense at times that young and old members present fairly wept for joy. It was most inspiring to see the distinguished leaders of the party in State and nation rise one after the other and proudly reaffirm their faith in the sacred and sane governmental principles of the party of Lincoln, Grant, McKinley and Taft. And in the happy gathering were scores of Republicans, who, with bowed heads, admitted they had been mislead and deceived into enlisting under the bandanna banner and they begged to be allowed to rejoin the Republican party. Outstretched arms greeted these splendid men and women.

The battle cry was sounded in clarion tones and from reports made by leaders from various parts of the State, California will be found in the Republican column next November 100,000 votes over the Democratic party, with the "Johnson slate" third. The editorial sheets from The Times were received with great favor.

The declaration of principles was adopted with a cheer that shook the Hotel Potter. There was not a dissenting voice. Its splendid and patriotic appeal struck a responsive note in the heart of every man and woman present. Under that declaration and the Republican platform to be adopted after the August primary, the Republican hosts of the Golden State will march triumphantly to the polls.

Chairman Gustave Brenner of the State Central Committee was loudly cheered when he took the chair and called the assemblage to order. Secretary Joseph Rock of San Francisco then called the roll of the State Central Committee.

Secretary Rock read scores of telegrams from prominent Republicans in every part of the State and nation, among them being ex-Gov. Gillett, United States Senator George C. Perkins, Congressman J. R. Knowland, Congressman E. A. Hayes, Dr. Norman Bridge, Los Angeles; William R. Davis, Oakland, and scores of others.

Judge Frank Short, the Republican leader of Fresno, and his San Joaquin Valley associates had the experience of being sidetracked at Mojave by a ditched train.

FAIRBANKS PREDICTS GREAT REAWAKENING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA (Cal.) Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following is the text of a letter from former Vice-President Fairbanks to Vice-Chairman Robert Sweeney of the Republican State Central Committee, read today to the Republican conference here. The sentiments of the letter were loudly applauded. The letter:

"My Dear Mr. Sweeney: I am very grateful to you and your associates for inviting me to address the Republicans who are to assemble at Santa Barbara in conference next Saturday.

"It is with genuine regret that, owing to my present engagements, I am obliged to deny myself the pleasure of being with you. I avail myself of this opportunity to observe that one of the gratifying signs of the times is that Republicans are showing increased strength throughout the country, as a general rule, wherever the test is made, it is obvious that their numbers are rapidly increasing.

"Permit me in this connection to congratulate you upon the splendid and reassuring spirit of determination which is manifested by the rank and file of the Republicans of California. The mass of the party seems to be moved by a common impulse, resolved upon a common victory, which shall in the best sense be the people's triumph and not the triumph of any clique or faction.

"It is especially encouraging to Republicans throughout the nation that there is such marked evidence of the determination of the undaunted Republicans of your State again to come into their own.

"There is no doubt whatever that those who hold to Republican doctrines are vastly in the majority in California, and in the nation at large. We are out of power, not because of the strength of the party in authority, but because of an unhappy division in our own ranks, growing out of conditions which do not further exist, and which we confidently believe and devoutly hope may never gain arise.

"Those who believe that the Republican party is the greatest forward moving, constructive, nation-building party since the government began, will again unite to restore it to its rightful power.

"This is an hour in which we should keep our faces inflexibly to the future; we should not let the memories of past differences be forgotten, and forgotten forever, and welcome into fellowship again all who believe in the wisdom of Republican principles

REFUSES DELAY IN ESPEE SUIT.

McReynolds Wires Gov. West Merger Is Illegal.

Many Californians Protest at Proposed Action.

Commercial Interests Object to Dissolution.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALEM (Or.) Feb. 7.—Gov. West was notified today in a telegram from Atty.-Gen. McReynolds that no delay will be permitted in the proposed suit to dissolve the Central Pacific-Southern Pacific merger, for the purpose of holding hearings.

Gov. West had, following a conference between himself and members of the Oregon Railroad Commissioners, telegraphed to the Attorney-General, urging that proceedings in the case be withheld, pending the arrival of a representative from Oregon to present arguments against enforcing the proposed dissolution.

In his telegram of reply Atty.-Gen. McReynolds says the maintenance of a merger of the Central Pacific and the Southern Pacific is in violation of the law and gives this as a reason why no delay in bringing suit will be permitted.

Gov. West and the Railroad Commissioners were urged to their action by the commercial interests of the Northwest, which declared their belief that dissolution of the merger would greatly injure this territory by cutting it off from direct railroad communication with California.

RIVERSIDE'S PROTEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] On the authority of the directors, President Henry L. Graham of the Chamber of Commerce today forwarded a telegram to President Wilson protesting against the unmerging of the Southern Pacific and allied roads.

The protest was made on the ground that the present relations between these companies are distinctly advantageous to Southern California, and it is urged that an attempt to separate these vitally interested corporations would seriously delay the completion of electric railway extensions contemplated for this section.

SANTA ANA HEARD FROM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With an appeal to President Wilson the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County, composed of nearly all the civic organizations of the county, today took a stand against the proposed action of the Attorney-General to unmerge the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific railroads. The telegram was signed by W. A. Zimmerman and J. C. Metzger, president and secretary of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

It is urged that it would be good judgment not to be hasty in taking action, and that the movement proposed would be of material injury to the State, especially Southern California.

PORTERVILLE TAKES ACTION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At a special meeting of the Porterville Chamber of Commerce held this afternoon, Secretary George A. H. Farmer was instructed to send the following telegram to President Wilson:

"The Porterville Chamber of Commerce believes that the proposed unmerging of the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific railroad companies would be a detriment rather than a benefit to the State of California."

A copy of the message was also sent Denver S. Church, the Representative from this district.

TO SEE M'REYNOLDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 7. — [Exclusive Dispatch.] I. B. Dockweiler has been designated by wire a representative of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association to appear before the Attorney-General Tuesday with Senator Works, Congressman Stephens and a delegation of citizens from San Francisco, in opposition to the Attorney-General's declared purpose to prosecute a suit for the unmerging of the Central and Southern Pacific railroads.

HEAR FROM LONG BEACH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONG BEACH, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Long Beach Chamber of Commerce is against the project of Atty.-Gen. McReynolds of unmerging the Southern and Central Pacific. To get quick action against the proposed dissolution, Secretary Bisbee was directed to wire F. C. Roberts and W. F. Prisk, Long Beach men now in Washington, to co-operate with President Kinney of the Los Angeles chamber in his work against the unmerging. Roberts and Prisk are representing Long Beach harbor before the engineering board in an endeavor to get an appropriation for deepening. Having finished their labors along this line, they will work for the prosperity of the railroads of the West.

¶ That the Los Angeles Times has a "productive circulation," due to the fact that it is read more extensively and kept longer in the home than any other local newspaper, and that the use of its advertising space is the most direct and profitable way of reaching all the people all the time, is demonstrated by the extraordinary preference for it as a publicity medium by local business men and experienced advertisers. Year after year, The Times publishes more advertising than any other newspaper in the world, and twice as many legitimate classified advertisements, erroneously called "want ads," as its nearest local contemporary.

standing pat behind the Progressive wreck. Will try to be with you this afternoon if they get us through."

The Bakersfield delegation also was held up by the wreck and sent a telegram declaring its loyal support to the work of the conference.

Leroy Wright of San Diego read a letter from Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, reiterating his fealty to the Grand Old Party. The sentiments of the letter were cheered fully two minutes.

The Los Angeles-San Diego special, comprising six coaches and a baggage car, arrived at noon yesterday, bringing over 200 delegates—men and women. Republican delegations also arrived from Long Beach, Pomona, Pasadena, Monrovia, Azusa, Venice, Redondo, Riverside, Redlands, San Bernardino and other Southern California cities. About 100 stalwart Republicans, headed by Chairman Brenner, Samuel Shortridge, Francis V. Keesling from San Francisco and other northern points, arrived early yesterday morning. Every nook of the State was represented.

Vice-Chairman Robert Sweeney of Los Angeles was introduced after the preliminary organization had been completed and read a letter written to him by former Vice-President Fairbanks to be read at the conference. The sentiments expressed by the letter brought forth tremendous applause.

Francis V. Keesling was then called upon to address the conference, and he delivered a stirring keynote address.

KEYNOTE SPEECH.

Mr. Keesling said:

"In the historic year 1860 the Republican party declared its principles in the simple language following:

"'Sound policy requires such an adjustment of these imposts as to encourage the development of the industrial interests of the whole country, and we recommend that policy of national exchanges which secures to the workingman liberal wages, to agriculture remunerative prices, to mechanics and manufacturers an adequate reward for their skill, labor and enterprise, and to the nation commercial prosperity and independence.'

"This was additional to the great problem about to engage its attention and the attention of the entire civilized world, and which was really the great cause of the existence of the Republican party, namely the humanitarian work in which it engaged, resulting in the freedom of the slaves.

"In addition to the practical business administration, for which the party has always been noted, its humanitarian work has continued from the time of the Civil War to the present day, as is evidenced by the establishment of the right to regulate the conduct of public service corporations, the institution incidental thereto of the safety-appliance regulations, the adoption of the workingmen's compensation acts for those engaged in interstate commerce, and by the pure-food regulation.

"There has always been and there always will be a variation between theory and practice. We daily observe men fully equipped for accomplishment, checking absolutely with theoretical rules, but failing practically, lacking that someth [illegible] tirely proper element) necessary to attainment, and the same is true of many theories of government and political economy.

"The Republican party, by virtue of the wisdom of its counsellors, has always progressed with reasonable requirement. It has carefully weighed proposed reforms, and has not permitted itself to advocate legislation which laws superior to human laws would render ineffective, and, in the proof, more or less disastrous.

"Thinkers will not repudiate the past. Accomplishment is the test. We will make our case on what the Republican party has accomplished. I think you will find that the case of the other parties will rest in an attack on the Republican party, having nothing by way of their own accomplishment to offer. Democracy may offer you something of ante-bellum days, but it must be remembered that the Republican party dates approximately from the Civil War. Democracy was not, prior to that time, in competition with the Republican party. As soon as it did come in competition with the Republican party, the results thereof I leave you to judge from the continuous successes of the Republican party at the polls.

"It is unnecessary to recall to you who are familiar with the party's accomplishments what it has done, and it seems unnecessary to recall it to the public, as is evidenced by the registration in this State to the present date, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts which are being made to deflect it into other channels. It would seem that the opportunity presents itself for successful reorganization of the party. However, this registration does not indicate a desire to return to the old order of things existing in the Republican party when it was controlled by a few selfish and unscrupulous individuals.

"In order for the party to succeed it must recognize the problems of importance and face them without question, but even if the party is nationally strong and it is facing and has faced all problems as it should, notwithstanding its brilliant history, if it desires to succeed within a State it must be right on State issues and it must be right on all State candidates.

"It should be noted that the independence of the voter from party domination on State issues has frequently produced the result of great pluralities for the candidates of one national party for Federal offices and corresponding great pluralities for the candidates of another national party for State offices. That this occurs demonstrates that the national parties have not and will never engulf the State parties. This phenomenon can only be accounted for on the theory that the dominant national party was wrong on State issues or candidates, or both.

"While I am a sincere believer in the necessity of maintaining the great national parties within the States I refuse to be bound by party lines on State issues unless my party offers candidates equally satisfactory as those offered by other parties.

"Fully recognizing your duty and performing it will result in success and I trust that this movement will be dominated by those who do recognize their duty."

Mr. Keesling was given an ovation as he concluded.

Orator of the Santa Barbara Conference.

Francis V. Keesling,

Who delivered the keynote address at the great meeting of the Republicans held in the Potter Hotel in Santa Barbara yesterday.

DECLARATION READ.

J. O. Hayes of San Jose, chairman of the committee of fifteen which framed the declaration of principles, stepped forward amid cheers and read it. It was cheered five minutes. Seward A. Simons of Pasadena seconded it in a strong speech.

Senator Wright, Col. R. W. Richardson of Los Angeles, Judge A. F. St. Sure of Alameda county and scores of equally prominent Republicans made short speeches in support of the document. Chairman Brenner then put the question and with a deafening hurrah it was unanimously adopted.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

E. M. Boyd of Yucaipa offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, that the Republicans of California hereby ratify the action of the Republican National Committee in its adoption of a new basis of representation in national conventions reducing the number of delegates from the Southern States and recognize the delegates chosen by direct primaries, as well as for the conduct of conventions, and indorse the action of our National Committeeman, the Hon. Phil. A. Stanton, in his advocacy of such fair and equitable conduct of national political affairs."

SPEECH BY BRENNER.

Gustave Brenner delivered a masterly speech which was received with long and lasting applause. He said in part:

"I salute you men and women Republicans of California, by that proud name which has ever designated crusaders for organized society.

"I greet you by the name which has ever stood for all that twas best and highest in popular self-government, by the name which has always been the synonym for accomplishment in this nation, and, thank God, which stands again in this State for something higher than personal ambition fed upon the distress of our producers and wage-earners.

"We have come here, Republicans, to counsel together for the good of the Republican party which is synonymous with the good of the State and its people.

"You representative men and women have been asked to sit down with the committee that refused to repudiate you and your party at the command of a boss raised to dictatorship by your faith in him and your votes.

"For a little time, and until you shall choose our successors in September, we the members of the State Central Committee are at your command. We want your suggestion and advice.

"To you and through you to the people of California we want to make our aims and purposes clear, definite, unmistakable. We want to tell you what we will do during the months left for us to serve the splendid army of Republicans who have marched to the registration booths throughout the State and reaffirmed their faith in the party of proved progress and prosperity, the party which knows no class allegiance, the party which has been betrayed but cannot be crushed.

"Now as ever there are men who would control and exploit the Republican party for the gratification of their personal ambition to hold public place, or to boss puppets chosen by them to disgrace public place.

"No man will ever again boss the Republican party.

"In the public prints I have seen articles in strong derogation of this committee and grossly misrepresenting its purpose.

"I have seen this organization referred to as 'reactionary,' a remnant of the old machine and as an aggregation of 'standpatters.'

"If 'reactionary' properly describes men who are true to their pledged word and their colors, who abhor bribery, treachery, disloyalty and the betrayal of public trust, then we rejoice in that title.

"If the word, 'reactionary' may be used to designate men who believe that government is the public's business, is entitled to an honest dollar's worth of return for every dollar of it's money expended, then we are 'reactionary.'

"If 'reactionary' means men who would scorn to scuttle a ship, men who have never been called upon to apologize for or explain political or personal dishonor, then we are proudly 'Reactionary.'

"We stand pat against all the world in our determination to take orders from neither those who represent money and ambition nor any political monster, who, like Frankenstein's creature, would prey upon its creator, the people. The political and private records of the men who constitute this committee give the lie to the inspired statement of any man who calls this organization the remnant of any machine or who charges that it is reactionary or opposed to genuine progress.

"This organization of Republicans, chosen by Republicans, stands now as the great majority of the rank and file of the Republican party has always stood, committed to every policy truly progressive in character, and which is designed to benefit all the people and not to victimize one class for the benefit of another.

"This committee knows no master but the people. It recognizes no voice, will recognize no voice save that of the Republicans of this State as expressed through the ballot. It pledges itself now and for all time to fight unrelentingly against every form of subordination of the people's right to self-government, whether it come from special interest or the demagogue prating in the name of progress.

"Republicans, we await your advice and counsel."

FROM THE TREASURER.

Alexander Russell of San Francisco, treasurer of the State Central Committee, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

The battle to be waged by the Republican party is the people's battle—a fight against class dominance, a fight for the equal opportunity of every man, every industry, under the laws of this State and nation. A just cause involves the proper and unavoidable expenditure of money for educational and organizataion purposes. This campaign is the people's business and to insure against the subordination of the interests of the whole people it must be financed by the people. Therefore we, Republicans, representing all sections of California in conference with the Republican State Central Committee, hereby call upon all citizens who believe in clean, efficient purposeful popular government to contribute to the campaign fund which will be expended to establish the supremacy of the people and to insure them in the right of self-government in this State.

"Your hearts have been touched, now for your pocketbooks."

SHORTRIDGE'S CONTRIBUTION.

Samuel Shortridge delivered an eloquent speech in which he dealt with the achievement and true progress of the State and nation under fifty years of Republican management. He condemned the attempts of Johnson to build up a new party with his personal ambition as the chief corner-stone. He said the Republican party stands and always has stood for the protection of the rights of all the people, and does not aim to serve any clique or faction. "The Republican party stands true to the protective tariff," he said, and the delegates yelled. Shortridge was accorded an ovation when he concluded.

OTHER TALKS.

Police Commissioner Vincent Morgan made a short talk which was well received.

Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz delivered a glowing address in which she said that "The Republican party removed the political shackles from women of California, and not Hiram Johnson and his fake reformers, who loudly howl about 'how we gave woman the ballot.' It is untrue."

She continued: "If it had not been for the Republicans of California women would not now be enfranchised. And before this campaign is ended we will show the people of this State documentary evidence proving that Hiram Johnson was afraid to take a definite position on the issue of woman suffrage."

THE COMMITTEE.

The committee of fifteen which framed the declaration of principles was appointed in San Francisco at a meeting of the State Committee November 29, 1913, to report on the legal status of the Republican party in California and to make recommendations for future party action.

It was a grand conference of the Grand Old Party and the Republican candidates who are to make the race in the primary election to be held on August 25 will go forth to certain victory if they stand up and represent the sentiments so clearly expressed in the declaration of principles adopted yesterday.

FROM GROVE L. JOHNSON.

The following letter from Grove L. Johnson, father of Gov. Johnson, was read and cheered lustily:

"Gustave Brenner, Chairman Republican State Central Committee, San Francisco, Cal.

"My Dear Sir: Your letter of date January 30, 1914, inviting me to attend on Saturday, February 7, 1914, at Santa Barbara, a meeting of the Republican State Committee and a conference of Republicans was received today. I thank you for the invitation. I fully intended to be with you at that date, but am just recovering from a severe attack of bronchitis and am only allowed to go out for a short time, while the sun shines.

"I rejoice exceedingly at the prospect of having a State meeting of Republicans once again in California. Too long have we been quiescent and allowed tricky politicians to steal the name of our party and use it for their own selfish ends. The record made by the present State administration elected under the false claim that they were Republicans is bad for themselves and for our State. They have raised our taxes, greatly enlarged the number of political places, put under our statutes impractical and revolutionary laws and finally have boldly announced that they were organized to and intend to destroy the Republican party. They will fail. Our party has the same principles now as when organized, viz., protection to American labor and American industries, economy in public expenditures and an unending effort to improve the condition of the entire people.

"Let us, then, be up and doing, raise again the standard honored by Lincoln, Grant, Garfield and McKinley and, standing firmly for the good old Republican party, we will surely defeat the ambition of the anarchists and Socialists who have tried to form a new party.

"Of them we may say in the language of the poet slightly changed, 'True patriots, they, for be it understood they left our party for our party's good.'

"I regret deeply my inability to meet and counsel next Saturday with my brother Republicans. I am willing to work in any position with tongue, pen and labor to advance the interests of the Republican party. With best wishes for you and the meeting, I am very truly yours,

[Signed] "GROVE L. JOHNSON."

SCHMITT'S SPEECH.

Assemblyman Milton Schmitt of San Francisco made a rattling good speech. "The magnificent gathering of loyal Republicans here today," he said, "is certainly demonstrative of the recent claims of the State Central Committee that the people of California are not only ready for a return of the Republican party to the State administration, but are actually demanding such return. The splendid spirit displayed in addition to the great registration to date forebodes the election of Republicans next November. I am convinced the spirit which prevails in the North is present likewise in the South, and that spirit is that the people are tired of being oppressed by an administration whose sole aim apparently has been to build up and foist upon the people a corrupt political machine. It has been a slow process for the people to realize this, but from reports obtained from all sections of the State our citizens are awakening and calling upon the Republican party to relieve this unfortunate condition.

"Our party, having for many years guided the destinies of the State, has brought progress and unbounded prosperity. In the hands of the misnomer party that prosperity has been suspended, taxes have been increased and the expenses of the State government have been practically doubled. Huge political patronage bureaus have been established and are now being maintained. These conditions must be eliminated and will be. The people will see to it next fall that the Republican party will be entrusted with the duty of restoring normal and prosperous conditions in this great commonwealth and will by their votes for all time demonstrate their disap-

LABONTA IS GUILTY.

But a Mere Clerical Error Delays the Sentence to Be Imposed on the Heartless Train Bandit.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—A clerical error in the indictments returned by a United States grand jury against Jean Labonta, alias Clyde, alias Frank Kaufman, prevented the passing of sentence on him today by Judge Dooling in the United States District Court.

Unrepresented by counsel, Labonta pleaded guilty today to two robberies of the United States mails—one between Burlingame and San Francisco last October and the other between San Jose and San Francisco last November. He refused to confess to robbery of a mail car on January 10 between Los Angeles and Burbank. The maximum penalty that may be imposed is fifty years and in view of this possibility the forgery charges under which he was arrested before his connection with the train robberies had been established, have not been pressed.

The prisoner told the court he had no statement to make.

The indictments will be returned to the grand jury, in order that the places where the robberies occurred may be given more specifically and sentence probably will be pronounced next Wednesday.

Railroad Station Agent Commits Suicide in Despondency Over Ill Health.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NAPA (Cal.) Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] N. M. Kerr, until recently station agent at Clio and Portola, in the northern part of this State, for the Nevada, California and Oregon Railroad, committed suicide in his room in a local hotel here this afternoon in a fit of despondency over ill health. He turned on the gas heater, carefully stopping up all spaces about the doors and windows so that no gas would escape from the room. He had been employed here for three days selling mining stock, having left Clio in January. He leaves a wife residing in Reno, Nev., and was about 55 years of age.

GRILL ALASKA PROMOTER.

Charles A. Munday Goes into All the History of the Stracey Coal Claims.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, Feb. 7.—All day long the government attorney took Charles A. Munday, a defendant in the suit of the United States vs. Munday and Archie W. Shiels, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government of Alaska coal lands, back and forth through the eighteen years' history of the Stracey coal claims, with their numerous locations, relocations, powers of attorney and leases. The cross-examination had not been completed when court adjourned Monday.

It appeared from the testimony that Toronto capitalists, prominent among them MacKenzie and Mann, the railroad builders, expended about $400,000 on the coal claims and on oil claims in the same neighborhood. The indictment of the defendants sets the value of the twenty-six coal claims at $10,000,000. The government contends that the claims were located by paid "dummies," who had no object in locating them but to turn them over to the Alaska Development Company.

Miss Beatty is the originator of "Happyland," her name for a yearly campaign by which poor children are provided with outings at a summer camp, which she chooses and supervises.

STATE HIGHWAY BONDS.

During the Past Few Days a Lot Sells for One Million and Six Hundred Thousand Dollars.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 7.—During the past few days State Treasurer Roberts has disposed of $1,654,000 in State highway bonds. He attributes the sale to the action taken by the city and county officials in Sacramento in contributing towards the purchase of bonds for the Tule Basin project. It was necessary that these bonds be purchased by Sacramento, he says, before the other counties would make any contribution because of the road between Sacramento and Davis being an important link in the proposed State highway. The bonds were sold to the following counties: Colusa, $366,000; Imperial, $120,000; Sacramento, $450,000; Marin, $150,000; Glenn, $218,000; Merced, $120,000, and Mendocino, $150,000.

EQUIP SCHOOLS FOR SHOOTING.

CADETS TO HAVE REGULATION TARGET RANGES.

Adjt.-Gen. Forbes Decides that Boys in Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles Should Be Taught Marksmanship, and Long-Range Rifles Will Be Provided.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The members of the Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles military cadet organizations soon will be equipped with regulation target ranges through the efforts of Adjt.-Gen. E. A. Forbes of the National Guard.

Gen. Forbes today announced that he has received permission to install a range in the Los Angeles city High School by the Board of Education of the southern city. The matter has also been taken up with the authorities of Sacramento and San Francisco, and favorable action is expected to be taken immediately.

The ranges will be modeled after the one installed in the Auburn High School last year, and will be equipped with regulation indoor target rifles of the pattern used by the United States army. Each school also will be furnished with two of the outdoor 30-caliber Springfield target rifles for longer range work. The San Francisco schools to install ranges will be the Mission and Polytechnic. The rifles have been ordered.

According to Gen. Forbes, there are at present 500 High School cadets in the State who will receive the military training incidental to the shooting ranges.

BREAKS A COLD NEEDS NO HELP

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends severe colds or grippe in a few hours.

You can end grippe and break up a severe cold either in head, chest, body or limbs, by taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffing! Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.—[Advertisement.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS ROUND THE WORLD PRIZE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—One million dollars, officials of the Panama-Pacific Exposition announced today, is now the prize proposed for a round-the-world flight in any form of air craft, starting and finishing on the exposition grounds in 1915.

The project of jumping the prize money from $300,000 to more than three times that amount came, it was announced, from the Aero Club of America, and has a string to the extension of the time limit, now set at ninety days. Charles C. Moore, president of the exposition, said in a statement tonight, there was every disposition to make conditions as elastic as possible without hampering the aims of the race, and this was confirmed by Arnold Kruckman, director of the exposition's bureau of aeronautics.

As announced here, the idea of the Aero Club of America is to get more time—perhaps thirty additional days—in which the world may be circled. If this can be done, the co-operation of over 400 aero clubs, the world over, can be secured, the Aero Club men report, and the raising of $1,000,000 will not be difficult.

"The eventual success of the around-the-world race will depend upon just such co-operation," said President Moore. "I wish to say officially that the plans for the race contemplate all possible elasticity in the formulation of conditions, and possibly I will sanction any agreement made through the bureau of aeronautics which will not affect the essential details of the contest."

WARNS AGAINST RADIUM QUACK.

NEW YORK ISSUES CAUTION TO GENERAL PUBLIC.

Health Department Declares Wide Publicity Given Recent Experiments Will Be Used by Fakers to Prey Upon People Who Hope for Relief from Cancer.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The New York City department of health issued a warning today against "quacks" who might seek to take advantage of the popular interest aroused by recent experiments with radium in the treatment of cancer. In its report the department says:

"According to the best authorities, the radium treatment of cancer is as yet a matter of experiment and what successful results have been obtained concern chiefly the treatment of external cancers, particularly those of the skin.

"Thus far there is practically no proof that radium has finally cured any one case of advanced and disseminated cancer. There is every reason to believe that the popular interest aroused in the radium treatment of cancer will be utilized by a large number of dishonest money-getting establishments conducted by individuals with little or no radium, and who have no knowledge of its use.

"The great danger, of course, in all these 'cures' is the valuable time which may be wasted, thus frequently dissipating all chances of cure by surgical means."

SELECTS BRAISTED.

Secretary Daniels Relieves Surgeon-General Stokes by Appointment of Atlantic Fleet's Director.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Secretary Daniels has selected Medical Inspector William O. Braisted to be surgeon-general of the navy, relieving Medical Director Charles F. Stokes, whose term of four years expired yesterday.

Surgeon-General Stokes is relieved of his detail under Secretary Daniels's policy of making such appointments for one term of four years only in order to insure variation in service.

The Secretary issued a statement praising the administration of Surgeon-General Stokes and declaring that never before has the standing and reputation of the medical corps of the navy been so high.

Director Braisted, who is now fleet surgeon of the Atlantic fleet, was born in Ohio and appointed to the navy from Michigan. He has served on board many ships and attained a reputation for scientific knowledge and observation during the Russo-Japanese war, when he made a report upon the operation of the forces in field in Manchuria. He has been president of the Military Surgeons' Medical Association.

President Wilson probably will send the nomination of the new surgeon-general to the Senate tomorrow.

PERSHING'S MORO WARNING.

General Declares They Would Make Short Work of Local Filipino Government.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—"The Moro would make short work of local Filipino government," says Brig.-Gen. Pershing, in his latest report as Governor of Mindanao to Secretary Garrison.

"The actual relations between them are such that any attempt at Filipino government would lead only to rebellion and disaster. Peace in the Moro province can be maintained only by a continuance of American control. If we are to honestly carry out our obligations to the tribes that have yielded to our authority and that expect us to guide them to something better, then the entire island of Mindanao should be governed and controlled permanently by American officials and under American sovereignty."

The administration's Philippine government policy has not yet been worked out far enough to indicate how far the general's views are shared at Washington.

Raker's Bill Applying to Yosemite National Forests Is Favorably Reported.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative Raker's bill providing exchange of timber lands owned by private persons and corporations in Yosemite National Park for other lands owned by the government in Yosemite and the Sierra and Stanislaus National Forests has been favorably reported by the House Public Lands Committee.

The bill will allow the government to acquire privately-owned timber along roads and trails in Yosemite in danger of being cut by the owners, which would destroy the scenic beauty in the park.

Ohio Democrat Wants Report on Men in Army and Navy Who Are Defying Courts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—So-called "alimony dodgers" in the navy and the Marine Corps were assailed today in the House by Representative Bowdle, Democrat, of Ohio, who introduced a resolution requesting Secretary Daniels to report who in the naval service were "disobeying the orders of courts requiring them to pay money as alimony or otherwise for maintenance of wives or children whom they have abandoned or are living apart from."

The resolution was referred to the Naval Committee.

TO PASS GOOD ROADS BILL.

Twenty-five Million Dollars Federal Aid Coming if It Passes Congress.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The House concluded today general debate on the good roads bill, which would appropriate $25,000,000 for Federal aid to the States in road construction. Its passage next week is believed to be virtually certain.

Representative Kent of California attacked the bill as a "pork barrel" measure, designed to "patch up political fences and prop tottering political organizations." Representative Payne of New York declared it was the beginning of an annual appropriation which in time would reach stupendous proportions.

FUNSTON RELIEVES BLISS.

Will Take Command of Southern Department in April When Wood Is Relieved.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Brig.-Gen. Funston, who has gone to take command of the maneuver camp at Texas City, probably will take command of the Southern Department when Brig.-Gen. Tasker H. Bliss is relieved in April to come to Washington, when he is expected to become assistant Chief of Staff of the army.

Maj.-Gen. W. W. Wotherspoon probably will become Chief of Staff when Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood retires to take command of the Department of the East. Gen. Wotherspoon will be retired for age next November and it is generally believed that Gen. Bliss then will become Chief of Staff of the army and that Brig.-Gen. Liggett will be his assistant.

ABOLISHES DRUG BOARD.

Houston Wipes Out Bureau to Which Dr. Wiley Objected So Strenuously.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The Board of Food and Drug Inspection in the Department of Agriculture, which was often the center of attack by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief chemist, has been abolished by Secretary Houston.

At the Department of Agriculture it was said the board had been abolished in the interest of efficiency and economy. Dr. Carl Alsberg, who succeeded Dr. Wiley as pure food chief, will decide the appeals that formerly went to the board. He will be assisted by Dr. R. L. Emerson of Boston.

Dr. Wiley attacked the pure food board in unmeasured terms at various stages of his administration, declaring its operations hampered the administration of the spirit of the pure food laws.

Under the new plan the enforcement of the pure food law will virtually be entrusted to one man.

That was what Dr. Wiley contended for.

LOS ANGELES POSTOFFICE.

Wilson Puzzled to Choose Between Rinehart, Spellacy and Joseph Mesmer.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The appointment of a postmaster for Los Angeles is now up to the President, who has all of the data and recommendations for candidates before him. It is understood that Robert E. Rinehart, P. Spellacy and Joseph Mesmer are the principal names before the President. Spellacy and Rinehart are charged by Mesmer's supporters with being recent comers, "carpet-baggers," while Mesmer is lauded for his life-long support of Democracy. Spellacy is said to have the largest support numerically, while Rinehart has the Executive Committee of the County Committee and his old class at Princeton pulling for him. If the President can determine who has the strongest local support in the Democratic party, that is the man he is likely to appoint, but it seems that the Postmaster-General has not been able to figure this out.

OFFERS NEW RADIUM BILL.

Would Give Government First Right to Buy Ore Found on Private Lands.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Another radium bill, to encourage exploration for the precious healing ore, was introduced today; this one by Senator Walsh. The government would have the first right to buy ore found on private lands as well as the public domain.

Private lands unworked for ore deposits, might be taken over by the government. Some of the House bill provisions for a reducing plant in the west were included in the measure.

So quoth Daniel Murphy, convicted yeggman, as he left the Milwaukee County Jail for five years' retirement in the Federal Prison at Leavenworth, Kan.

While awaiting trial for the blowing of the postoffice safe at Kewaskum, Murphy wrote Secretary Bryan begging for a copy of Bryan's address "The Prince of Peace," saying he hoped for aid from the address in his reformation. Just previous to Murphy's departure for prison he received a curt note saying that a copy of the address could be purchased at any newstand.

ASKS SUPPORT FROM CHILD.

AGED CHICAGO WOMAN BRINGS UNUSUAL SUIT.

Mrs. McKenna, Ninety-four Years Old, Seeks Legal Aid from Six-Year-Old Ward of Late Chicago Capitalist, Who Was Her Common-Law Husband.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Julia McKenna, 94 years old, once the common-law wife of James McKenna, a Chicago capitalist, petitioned today the County Court to compel a girl 6 years old, whom she has never seen, to support her. Until she lost her sight, the aged woman supported herself by sewing.

The child who figures in this unusual case is Viola Hudson, who has fallen heir to the estate, valued at $300,000, which McKenna left ten years ago to his adopted daughter, Mrs. Viola Hudson, the girl's mother. Mrs. Hudson died a few weeks ago in a gas-filled room in London, and it was feared at first she had been murdered. What was purported to be her last will, written in a scrawling hand, was found beside her. It gave property worth $5000 to new acquaintances. But the property which Mrs. Hudson inherited from McKenna was entailed under his will and is in turn inherited by her daughter.

McKenna and the woman who brought suit today lived together for thirty-five years. Then they quarreled and separated. Mrs. McKenna brought suit for non-support and with the filing of this suit the world learned for the first time the union of the two had not been sanctioned by a civil or religious ceremony. The Supreme Court decided in this case that a man could not be sued for separate maintenance of a common-law wife, but Mrs. McKenna was awarded $13,500 for breach of contract, McKenna admitting he had agreed to pay her $30 a month and medical bills.

For six years Mrs. McKenna has had to earn her living. Investigators of the court have found she endured almost incredible privations and that now she is blind and destitute.

The late Mrs. Viola Hudson, adopted by the McKennas as their daughter, obtained a divorce three years after the birth of her daughter, who is living in Chicago with her father.

OBREGON GETS BUSY.

Laying Plans for Renewed Activity Along the West Coast of Mexico. Recruiting Is Ordered.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CULIACAN (Mex.) Feb. 7.—Gen. Alvaro Obregon, Constitutionalist commander of military operations in Northwestern Mexico, arrived today from Hermosillo and went into conference with Gen. Carranza and insurgent military officials here. It was said the purpose of the conference was to lay plans which would result in sudden activity of the Constitutionalist forces along the west coast of Mexico.

The campaign being worked out before the contemplated departure of the Constitutionalist chief for Chihuahua was reported to involve attacks on Guaymas and Mazatlan, seaports on the West Coast, which, if successful, might lead to a concentrated movement against Guadalajara, second largest city in Mexico.

Campaigning will begin, officials here asserted, as soon as ammunition is received from the United States, by way of Nogales, Ariz. Orders have been issued to recruit the Sinaloa State troops to a full division, which would raise their strength to about 12,000 men.

Claxton of the Fed Education has ex that illiteracy to a fraction of 1 per Representative Towner of Iowa, in submitting the committee's unanimous report, predicted it would be accomplished with little delay.

The report of the commissioner shows the number of illiterates in the United States to be 3,184,954 whites 10 years old or more at the census of 1910, exceeding the population of the country in 1800. The distribution ranges from seventeen per 1000 people in Iowa to 290 per 1000 in Louisiana. In the South, the report adds, the percentage is highest in the rural districts and in the North it is highest in the cities. Boston has 24,468 illiterates over ten years old.

"There are 2,253,603 illiterate males of 21 years and over in the United States," it is pointed out, "or enough to determine any national election at any period of United States history."

PYROTECHNICS AT SAKURA-JIMA

Scene During Eruption Like that at Pompeii.

Total Loss of Life Estimated at Several Hundreds.

First Detailed Account Is Received from Tokio.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—The first detailed account of the terrible eruption of Sakura-Jima on the southern coast of Japan as received here today by mail from the Tokio correspondent of the Associated Press, places the loss of life, conservatively estimated, at "several hundreds."

Not only was the island of Sakura-Jima itself, with its dozen villages, flooded by a torrent of flaming lava and buried under a hail of incandescent rocks, but the beautiful city of Kagoshima, overlooking the Golden Gate of Japan, was partially destroyed, several towns and villages on the mainland to the east were sore hit and the villages of Akamidzu, Yokoyama and Koike were literally swallowed up by the molten lava. Even if dug out, no specific count of lives lost ever will be possible.

ACCOUNT IN DETAIL.

The account follows:

"While a Tokio audience of Japanese was assembled at the Imperial Theater, viewing moving pictures of 'The Last Days of Pompeii,' subterranean fires of their own empire, imprisoned for more than a century, were surging upward beneath the isle of Sakura-Jima, in the southermost part of the realm. Soon began an eruption so fierce and terrible as to take place at once with the historic demonstration of Vesuvius.

"The 22,000 inhabitants of Sakura-Jima fled wildly in all directions, in a pitiful quest for food and shelter. Shrieks of terror filled the air from one end of the island to the other. From thickly-settled villages and from houses embosomed in groves of oranges, peaches and plums, the farmers ran to the shores of the bay.

"Horses neighed and snorted in terror and all manner of domestic cattle bellowed and cried to be loose. Many freed themselves and began a wild stampede through and over their human companions.

"Many old men refused to try to save themselves and had literally to be dragged along by the younger. Women and children were sent off first, the women carrying their infants slung Japanese-fashion, across their backs, their hands filled with portable household goods.

"Some shielded themselves with mattresses, others wore metal and earthen pots for helmets. It was a wild, hugger-mugger; a pell-mell rush; a flight of indescribable panic and confusion.

"For all that the final catastrophe was so overwhelming in its sudden descent, there had been preliminary warnings. Two months before a traveler reclining leisurely on the summit of the long mountain ridge of Yoshinogahara, which plunges abruptly down into the water of Kagoshima Gulf, was surprised to see smoke drifting from new gullies in the sides of the island peak of Mitake on Sakura-Jima.

"It was a thick bank of smoke, but from Kagoshima would scarcely be noticed; if at all, only a fringe of haze.

"The traveler returned to Kagoshima and told a friend what he had seen. 'We discussed, rather flippantly, perhaps,' he said afterward, 'what would be likely to happen if Sakura-Jima were actually to "go off." Now, I know a good deal more of that than I ever wished to learn.'

"The next warning came Sunday, January 11, in the form of severe earthquakes, accompanied by resonant deep cannonading from the heights of Sakura-Jima. With increasing violence came shock after shock. Houses toppled, brick walls crumbled and from far beneath, seemingly as from some vast cave of echoes, rose a horrible sound of grinding and roaring, up through the quaking crust of the earth.

"By Monday morning, the midnight glow that had spread like a scarlet canopy over the vent of the volcano, changed to an immeasurable lofty column of twisting smoke, laced with flames and shot with the trail of fiery missiles.

"Dawn changed to twilight. A great shower of ashes rained down on the panic-stricken population. The ashes became flowing cinders and the cinders flaming rocks. Sparkling lava, gushing from the mouth of the several craters, leaped downward from cliff to cliff and ledge to ledge.

"Volcanoes long supposed extinct in other parts of the realm leaped into sympathetic activity, and ashes fell like snow as far north as the cities of Osaka and Kobe, as far south as the Bonin Islands and as far west as Dalren, while the air was weighted with sulphurous fumes, and distant Tokio itself was mantled in a sinister, yellow cloud, carrying terror to the masses and producing among even the most intelligent and courageous an inescapable sense of impending doom.

"By this time the cascades of lava and the ceaseless, merciless rain of meteors had set fire to the sugar cane and bamboo forests. Houses burst into fire as if from spontaneous combustion at every step.

"Arrived at the shore, the villagers and peasants flung themselves into sampans, moored on the beach, or plunged into the gulf. The mountain was now a roaring furnace, and the heat was unbearable. From Kagoshima a dozen steamers came full speed to the rescue. Their prompt aid and that of sailing and rowing craft saved thousands from drowning.

"But in the meantime things were not going well in Kagoshima itself. A strong east wind filled the streets with hot ashes and red hot cinders. Houses began to collapse under the weight or to catch fire from the cinders.

"There followed a mad rush of the inhabitants, thoroughly infected with the terror of the burned and crazed islanders, for the railroad station. Splendid discipline there saved the day. Box freight cars were backed onto the sidings and with remarkable promptness the crowds were carried northward to safety.

"To the westward began a steady flight, along the highways. A number of Americans, among them several missionaries, escaped in this direction, walking some of them twenty miles in the thick blackness of the night.

"As soon as the authorities at Tokio had an inkling of the serious nature of the disaster, a dozen warships were dispatched to the gulf. They found the waters furiously agitated and thickly crusted with pumice stone.

"By the 13th Kagoshima was virtually vacant. From the island of Sakura-Jima rescue parties took off thirty-three islanders. Those that remained were without food. For a week the volcano continued intermittently its flow of white-hot lava and bombardment of incandescent cinders. The boldest inhabitants ventured back again and again only to be driven off again.

"Some conception of the immensity of the outpouring may be had when it is known that it pushed its way across the Gulf of Kagoshima, which is from forty to eighty fathoms deep, to the mainland, converting an island into a peninsula.

"An official estimate of the damage done gives 50,000 destitute, twelve bridges destroyed, thousands of stone fences strewn about and more than 12,000 houses either destroyed or so badly damaged that they must be rebuilt.

"This physical damage is for Kagoshima alone. On the island the destruction was entire. Sakura-Jima is a waste of pumice and lava, naked and desolate."

FUEL TRIAL COMES HIGH.

COST HAS ALREADY REACHED QUARTER OF MILLION.

Expense Covers Period of Twenty Months, During Which the Investigation Was Carried on, While the Court Proceedings Have Occupied Thirty-five Days.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—The cost of the Western Fuel Company conspiracy in the United States District Court here was estimated today to have reached a total of $250,000. When the trial is resumed Monday the thirty-fifth actual court day will be marked, not counting two days devoted to legal argument in the absence of the jury; the cost, however, extends over a period of twenty months, dating from the inception last June of the prosecution of officials and employees of the corporation on charges of defrauding the government of thousands of dollars by false weighing of coal.

The burden of the estimated cost is distributed as follows:

Government prosecutors, $50,000; government agents, $20,000; attorneys for the defense, $150,000; experts for the defense, $10,000; witness fees, $2000; jurors' fees, $1500; court expenses and miscellaneous, $16,500.

Of the eight officials and employees originally indicted, four remain, death having called John L. Howard, president of the company, within a few hours of the authorization by the Attorney-General that the indictment against him be dismissed; while the indictments against Joseph L. Schmitt, treasurer and director; Robert Bruce, director, and Sydney V. Smith, director, were dismissed a few days later. James B. Smith, vice-president, and general manager; Fred C. Mills, superintendent; Edward J. Smith, checker, and Edward H. Mayer, weigher, the remaining defendants, are expected to take the stand next week.

London Export Increase.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—[By Cable and A. P.] The January statement of the Board of Trade shows a decrease of $16,126,000 in imports and an increase of $11,800,000 in exports.

Misrepresentation?

HARKING BACK TO AUTO LAW.

Political Motives Said to Have Actuated Attack.

Motor Club Acted in Good Faith in Matter.

Criticisms Unjust, Assert Influential Members.

An attack, actuated by political motives, has been made upon the Automobile Club of Southern California, on account of its protest against the special taxation features of the new State motor vehicle act. The criticism directed against the club is based upon a misrepresentation of the underlying facts, according to officers of the club.

It appears that the board of directors of the organization, four days after the adjournment of the Legislature, passed a resolution expressing the appreciation of the directors of the efforts of such members of the Legislature as had worked in the interests of the motoring public in adopting a new automobile law. The preamble to the resolution clearly indicates that it was the impression of the directors that the law was substantially identical with the bill prepared by the Automobile Club, excepting with respect to the provisions for registration and for the payment of registration fees.

As the new law contains a provision that even though any sections of the act be declared unconstitutional and void, the rest of the act shall remain unaffected, the special taxation features of the law remained an open question even at the time the directors of the club passed their resolution, and in adopting the latter they were careful to note that the Legislature had altered the Automobile Club's bill in that respect.

Certain interests have seized upon this resolution of the directors as evidence of bad faith on the part of the club, which is now seeking, by action in the Supreme Court, to have the special taxatiton provisions of the law declared invalid.

Irrespective of the opinion of the individual directors the membership of the club, by a referendum taken at the urgent insistence of several hundred members, showed a demand, by a vote of more than sixteen to one, that the club officials take action against the registratiton-fee provisions of the new law at the earliest possible moment after the statute should go into operation. More than 2500 communications were received at club headquarters from members upon the subject.

It furthermore appears, members say—although this is a matter which the club officials decline to discuss at this time—that after the representatives of the club left Sacramento the measures which had been agreed upon were altered in many material respects without notice to the club, and as the bill was passed a few days before the close of the session and the text of the act as finally adopted did not come from the State Printer until more than three weeks aftetr the directors had passed their resolutions of appreciation, it is clear that when they adopted the resolution they were unaware of the radical changes that had been made in the bill after their representatives had left Sacramento with the assurance that no further alterations would be made.

Lantern.

GAS IN VAT EXPLODES KILLING A WATCHMAN.

A GAS explosion in the vat-room of the Maier Brewing Company's plant at No. 440 Aliso street shortly before 7 o'clock last night killed one man, destroyed an empty beer vat and blew the glass out of several windows. The victim is John Oertel, a night watchman in the establishment for the past twenty years, who lived on Otis street, near Florence. He was about 65 years old.

The explanation of the explosion is given by Frank Rademacher, chief engineer of the brewery. The vat which was destroyed had been emptied several days ago and was being dried, as customary, by means of a small gas stove burning in the bottom.

The gas fire in some manner unexplainable had gone out and gas had been accumulating perhaps for several hours in the empty and closed vat. Making his rounds Oertel probably smelled the gas in the vat-room and made an investigation of all the empty vats.

When he came to that in which the gas stove had ceased to burn, he stuck his lantern through the manhole in the side, the gas at once exploding with a shock which was felt throughout the great plant.

Oertel was thrown with terrific force against the brick wall of the vat-room and instantly killed, practically every bone in his body being broken. The shade on his lantern broke and bits of the glass were forced into his body.

An ammonia pipe connected with the cooling plant was broken and the fumes were so intense as to prevent anyone entering the vat-room for about ten minutes.

Glass from the six windows on the Aliso street side of the room was shot fully seventy-five feet across the street. It covered the car tracks and made automobile travel precarious for an hour or more until swept up.

Of the other nineteen vats in the room none was damaged at all. Each has a capacity of 200 barrels.

South Bend Physician Giving Away Medicine to Rheumatic Sufferers.

Without Charge of any kind Dr. Whitehall Megrimine Co. will send Medicine to all who write.

Dr. Whitehall, after 25 years of practice, has succeeded in compounding a remedy that he believes to be wonderfully efficient for rheumatic pains, and through the Dr. Whitehall Megrimine Co. has already given away thousands of boxes of this great remedy. The success of his open-handed method warrants him in further continuance of the distribution of thousands more of free full packages to other sufferers. The doctor's remedy is a common-sense combination of well known remedies that tends to diminish the accumulation and increase the elimination of the poisons that produce muscular soreness, tender, inflamed and swollen joints, and other manifestations of rheumatism.

Below are quoted unsolicited letters from the doctor's mail. Similar letters are received constantly. Here is one from Mrs. C. M. Boughman, Edinburg, Ill.: "Dear Dr. Whitehall: Received your medicine. It was for my mother. She did not have the use of her hands for a month. The third morning after using your medicine she dressed herself."

Mrs. A. F. Plummer, Franklin, N. H., writes: "Will say your medicine has helped me more than the four doctors I had this summer."

F. P. Sickles, Smithfield, Nebr., says: "I have been afflicted with rheumatism, especially sciatica, for a number of years. Was having a severe attack when I sent for your sample. I had taken only two of your tablets when I noticed a change for the better. I have not taken all the sample yet, but feel cured." Mrs. M. S. Hoadley, Sedalia, Mo., says: "It is wonderful what your medicine has done for me. I was on crutches Friday night when I received it. I began taking it at once and on Monday put away the crutches and used a cane. Since Thursday I have not used either and am doing my own work. I had rheumatism on and off for 40 years."

If you are subject to rheumatic pains of any nature write for a free box of Dr. Whitehall's Rheumatic Remedy today. It will be sent postage prepaid to you. Do not send one penny. Let us prove to you, as we have to thousands of others, what this remedy will do for you. Dr. Whitehall is particularly anxious to have druggists know more about his preparation and, therefore, asks all who write him for the free medicine to mention their druggists' names. In writing address Branch 335, Whitehall Laboratory, Dr. Whitehall Megrimine Co., South Bend, Ind.

I CURE PILES

FISTULA AND ALL RECTAL DISEASES WITHOUT AN OPERATION

BY MY PAINLESS DISSOLVENT METHOD

I TREAT NO DISEASES EXCEPT THOSE OF THE RECTUM AND BOWELS.

I cure without surgery. My patients are not confined in bed and they do do not lose a moment's time from their business.

My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment," but it is an application of skilled treatments administered under the most rigid antiseptic condition in my office.

WELL KNOWN SANTA MONICA MINISTER CURED.

This is to certify that Dr. C. H. White has cured me of a distressing hemorrhoidal ailment of 25 years' duration. His method of treatment is effective, but not severe. He has the appliances, the knowledge and the skill born of many years of specialization in this fruitful source of physical disease. He accomplishes all he claims in his advertising, and at reasonable expense.

I take pleasure in heartily commending the man and his methods.

WESLEY K. BEANS, Pastor First Methodist Episcopal Church, Santa Monica, Cal.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE SUPERINTENDENT CURED.

My Dear Dr. White: I am thankful for the privilege of bearing witness to your ability to treat without pain, and with success, the delicate and disabling diseases which result from sedentary work. To all who need the services of a skillful, sympathetic and experienced specialist in your line I heartily commend you. Very sincerely yours,

ERVIN S. CHAPMAN, D.D., LL.D., Superintendent State Anti-Saloon League.

PRESIDENT OF A PROMINENT COLLEGE CURED.

For more than ten years I was a sufferer from a painful affliction, which nearly ruined my usefulness as an organizer and teacher. Dr. C. H. White of Los Angeles has completely cured me by a process that was painless and rapid, and I desire to go on record as recommending the Doctor in diseases in his specialty.

THOMAS NEWLIN, President Whittier College.

Prominent Baptist Minister Cured

After suffering for years with the worst form of Hemorrhoids, Dr. C. H. White cured me without pain and without detaining me from my work. I desire to commend him to all rectal sufferers.

ASTHMA

No one but an asthmatic can appreciate the terrible distress of this disease. Gasping, smothering, panting for breath — suffocating feeling, sitting up in bed at night, are but a few of the terrible torments of an asthmatic sufferer. If you are an Asthma victim, let not another day pass until you try our wonderful treatment—which gives almost immediate relief and lasting benefits. Call or write.

Catarrh of Head and Throat

This form of catarrh is most common — usually resulting from neglected colds. Successfully treated with little cost by Drs. Shores' treatment.

Is your nose stopped up?
Does your nose discharge?
Is your nose sore and tender?
Is there pain in front of the head?
Do you hawk and clear the throat?
Is your throat dry in the morning? Do you sleep with your mouth open?

Now is the time to be cured—don't let it run into complications.

OF THE EARS.

Catarrh often extends from the throat, along the Eustachian tubes into the ears, causing partial or complete deafness. Is your hearing failing?

Do your ears discharge? Do they ring?
Is the wax drying in your ears?
Do you hear better on some days?
Does a cold make your hearing worse?

Don't neglect this until your hearing is irreparably destroyed.

ECZEMA

This affliction often baffles the skill of the regular doctor—and tries the patience of the specialist—but our methods have proven successful in so many cases that no matter who has failed to cure you it is worth your time to consult us. We will gladly explain our method of treatment free of charge. Consultation always free.

Warns You to Avoid Substitutes

MR. EDW. MALSKY.

If a tonic-stimulant better than Duffy's existed, this gentleman is certainly in a position to know of it. He uses Duffy's himself; recommends it to young and old.

"I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for some time. I recommend it where a stimulant and tonic is needed for young and old people. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey can't be beat, for I am somewhat of an authority on spiritous liquors — I find that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has less percentage of fusel oil and tannin in it than any other whiskey on the market. This I attribute in the making of your wonderful product you use only good, selected, wholesome grain, which when properly malted and aged in wood makes an excellent medicinal drink.

"Many of the so-called malt whiskies sold as substitutes for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey have in small print on the label 'Blend' or compound. This class of whiskey I would warn people to beware of—use only the Malt whiskey that says on the label 'Absolutely Pure and Unadulterated.' Unscrupulous dealers prefer to sell customers an unknown brand because they make a greater profit on these unknown and usually inferior brands. An honest dealer won't try to substitute—beware of dealers who try to sell you the 'just as good.'"—Edw. Malsky, Prop. Queens Palace Cafe, Fairview and Palmetto Streets, Brooklyn, N. Y.

There are other malt whiskies prepared for beverage purposes, but for use of the sick Duffy's stands at the top. Distilled from malted grain, including barley, the most expensive, stands alone as the purest and most wholesome, and costs the most to make. That's why it has a host of cheap imitations which are sometimes forced upon you from a mercenary standpoint, regardless of your health. But remember, there's nothing "Just as good" as Duffy's, that has the wonderful record as a health producer back of it, and is worth all it costs and more. Refuse substitutes and resolve to get Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, not something which cannot possibly take its place. Sold in sealed bottles only by most reliable druggists, grocers and dealers, $1.00. Look for the "Old Chemist" trade-mark, see that our name is blown into the bottle, and be sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Duffy's is the standard of purity and excellence since 1860. Medical booklet sent free on request.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Cleanses tender little stomach, liver, bowels without injury.

Every mother realizes that this is the children's ideal laxative and physic, because they love its pleasant taste and it never fails to effect a thorough "inside cleaning" without griping.

When your child is cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good liver and bowel cleaning should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on each bottle.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other fig syrup with contempt.

SAY ROCKEFELLER FLEES HALF-BILLION TAX LEVY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Feb. 7.—With John D. Rockefeller in New York, where he went from here yesterday afternoon, John D. Fackler and William Agnew, Deputy State Tax Commissioners, said today they would take no action to list Rockefeller's $500,000,000 personal property on the Cuyahoga county duplicate here until Monday.

Today marks the expiration of the time provided by law for Rockefeller to list his property voluntarily here.

Tax Commissioner Fackler said that all Rockefeller had gained by going to New York was to save himself being summoned before the tax officials next week to give a detailed statement of his personal property holdings.

"Had he failed to come he would have been subpoenaed and failure to observe such a summons would have rendered him liable to a jail sentence for contempt," said Fackler. "The fact that he has run away makes us immeasurably stronger. It shows he is afraid of the Ohio tax laws and feared he would be forced to disclose the actual amount of his holdings."

Fackler said that the commissioners have until July 1 to make up Rockefeller's list and will not go about it arbitrarily.

WATER POWER PLAN.

Senator Jones of Washington Introduces Bill Relating to Site Permits.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—A comprehensive plan for the development of water power on public land under government regulation was embodied in a bill introduced today by Senator Jones of Washington. It would provide that permits for occupying power sites should be issued only to States, municipalities and public service corporations, which are subject to regulation and control by such governmental agencies as public service commissions. Where the development is interstate the bill would provide that the Federal government shall have supervision as to rates.

Alveolar Dentistry

Eliminates Plates and Bridgework.

Class "A" Dentistry at Half Price

While our charges for Alveolar work are the same as the standard price of high-class bridgework, in such cases where it is possible to have bridgework, and the patient desires it for any reason, we will put in for him the very best and classiest bridgework, crowns, plates, etc., possible to be made, at exactly one-half the price charged by dentists whose work will compare favorably with ours. "And there is a reason."

Briefly, the Alveolar method is this: If you have two or more teeth left in either jaw, we can supply all that you have lost with teeth as good, solid and sound as the best set of natural teeth ever grown in any human being's mouth, and a whole lot more beautiful than nature's best product, without resorting to such makeshifts as partial plates and the unsanitary bridgework. Alveolar Teeth are not only beautiful, but they are comfortable and durable. We guarantee them to last a lifetime, where the longevity of bridgework is seldom ever longer than five or six years and generally a good deal less. It is never guaranteed to last by any first-class dentist who is responsible and reliable, because all first-class dentists will tell you that bridgework at best is doubtful. It is a painful operation and gives trouble from the time it is put in the mouth until it has to be taken out. In many cases where bridgework is impossible, and all cases where it is possible, we can replace your missing teeth with perfect Alveolar Teeth. The pain incident to the work is practically none; the expense is the same as the best bridgework—but in satisfaction there is no comparison between the two.

We have samples in our office to show at all times—hundreds of patients to refer to. Examinations and booklets on Alveolar dentistry are absolutely free.

Remember, that in addition to our specialty, Alveolar dentistry and treating Pyorrhea (loose teeth), we are experts in every branch of dentistry from the simple filling up.

FORMER ANGELENO DIES.

Frank Bell, Who Was Acquitted of Killing O. P. Widman Passes Away in El Paso.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank Bell, formerly of Los Angeles, and who was tried and acquitted for the killing of O. P. Widman in that city, died at 6 o'clock this morning at Meridian, Miss., from the effects of an aeroplane accident which happened to him recently in that city. Bell is a native of El Paso, but went to Los Angeles, where he had trouble with Widman and finally killed him. He was acquitted, came to El Paso and then went to St. Louis, where he learned to fly at Kinloch Field.

He purchased an aeroplane after learning and made a number of flights around St. Louis before touring the country. He was making an exhibition flight at Meridian for the benefit of a tuberculosis hospital when his landing apparatus went wrong and he was thrown from his machine. His knee caps were broken and blood poisoning resulted. His mother, Mrs. E. M. Bell, was with him at the time of his death.

EL PASO BANK HEARING.

McAdoo and Houston Hear Financiers from All Cities in the Southwest.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO, Feb. 7.—Secretaries McAdoo and Houston and their party, comprising the Federal Reserve Bank Organization Committee, heard El Paso's claims for a regional reserve bank here today. The hearing lasted less than two hours. Bankers and representatives from virtually every city in the Southwest—New Mexico, Arizona and West Texas—assembled for the hearing, all asking that the Southwest not be divided. No suggestion was made by the witnesses as to which city this section recommended as a regional bank city.

Tonight the Secretaries were the guests of the Clearinghouse Association at a banquet. In the afternoon they were the guests at Ft. Bliss of Gen. Hugh L. Scott, who held a military review in their honor.

CURTIN OUT FOR GOVERNOR.

Sixteen Years State Senator From Sonora, He Seeks the Democratic Nomination.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—John Barry Curtin of Sonora, sixteen years a State Senator, announced here tonight his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He also announced a "speaking campaign" throughout the State, and made a statement of his purposes, with particular reference to the number of State positions now held by newspapermen, and to instances of what he declares to be the building up of a "wobbly political machine."

"When I start my campaign it will be on a speaking tour throughout the State, and the people will hear from me as to what it costs to be a Progressive," he says.

Senator Curtin has been vice-chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee throughout his sixteen years' service, and has served on the Finance Committee fourteen years. He claims to have put more laws on the statute books than any other man, but is especially recognized as an authority on constitutional law and for devising all the machinery of the State's present system.

after an examination of the locomotive has been made.

Castillo's failure to send back warnings is regarded as the most cruel and murderous act of his career of outlawry, and there is a disposition here to criticise Gen. Francisco Villa for not having crushed him long ago.

The missing Americans are: M. J. Gilmartin, superintendent of the Chihuahua division; H. Schofield, superintendent of terminals at Juarez; Lee Williams, assistant manager of commissary; H. F. Marders, express agent; E. J. McCutcheon, engineer, and J. E. Webster, conductor. Edward Morris, roadmaster; Thomas Kelly, a conductor, and James Burgess. They were traveling as passengers.

Gilmartin came here recently from Buffalo.

Bernard Schofield came here from Brazil, Ind., and was taking his first trip over the road. Burgess was to have left the train at Cumbre station, but for some reason did not do so.

Two Mexican cowboys were responsible for a report that all had escaped and that the Americans were being held for ransom. There was rejoicing at this, but the jubilation was short-lived, for soon afterward the bulletins from Dr. Herr began to arrive.

FOUGHT MOROS; BACK TO WED.

COL. TAYLOR WILL MARRY LOS ANGELES GIRL.

Hero of Many Thrilling Encounters With Head-Hunting Tribes in the Islands Admits Romance, but Holds Back the Name of His Fiancee.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Col. Wallace C. Taylor, of the Philippine Constabulary, hero of many thrilling encounters with the head-hunting tribes in the islands, arrived here this morning on the Pacific Mail liner Nile.

The colonel is a valiant fighting man and he also proved that he is a man who can keep a secret. While his fellow passengers were aware of the fact that the purpose of his trip to the States is to become a benedict, not one knew the name of the lady in the case, nor would the colonel tell.

That the bride-to-be is a Los Angeles girl and that a pretty romance lies back of it all, was as much information as the passengers could eke from the soldier. Unflinching in battle, Col. Taylor blushed when questioned concerning his coming marriage.

"Yes, I'm going to be married," he admitted, "but it would hardly be proper for me to say anything about it, as the engagement has not been announced," and the colonel remained mum to all further queries.

Col. Taylor has had a brilliant record in island service. He went out to the Philippines as captain of Co. L, Nebraska volunteers, and following the war became connected with the constabulary. While the colonel was modest about his experiences in the islands, he bears several scars which point to affairs in which bolos figure.

"The Moros are in a peaceful state at present," said Col Taylor, "and conditions generally in the islands are good. The policy of disarmament of the non-Christian tribes has worked out satisfactorily, until now there is little danger of further outbreaks."

DOUBT FALL OF MAZATLAN.

Rear-Admiral Cowles Says Reports Fail to Confirm Alleged Rebel Success.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 7.—Wireless messages from Rear-Admiral Cowles received by operators at the government station on Pt. Loma, fail to confirm rebel reports of the capture of Mazatlan. Officers of the naval fleet now in the harbor believe that Federals still control the Mexican seaport.

HEAR ITALY'S PROTEST.

Objection to the Placing of American Surgeons Aboard Ships Before Senate.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Italy's protest against the new immigration bill's provision to place American surgeons on emigrant ships was before the Senate committee today, waiting the result of conferences with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

Representative Burnett, author of the bill, thinks the provision one of the most valuable, but should the Senate, at the wish of the administration, strike it out, the House probably will not insist on it. Leaders thought the object could be accomplished in other ways.

The House bill was today substituted for all other pending Senate bills, and with amendments, will be taken to the floor very soon.

Chairman Smith has consulted President Wilson on the literacy test and other restrictive phases.

"I am in no position now to discuss the President's views," he said.

Hearings may be ordered later.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Eclipsing all previous records, American merchandise valued at $111,600,000 found markets in the non-contiguous territory of the United States in 1913. This compares with $108,000,000 in 1912, $93,500,000 in 1911, $37,000,000 ten years ago and $7,000,000 twenty years ago.

Figures made public by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce place the value of shipments of merchandise from the United States to Porto Rico in 1913 at $32,900,000; to Hawaii, $29,800,000; to the Philippines, $27,900,000; to Alaska $21,000,000, and to Guam and American Samoa a little less than $250,000. A STREAK OF YELLOW

The Story of a $10,000 Temptation.

By Crittenden Marriott.

There are many of us who would not be tempted by a sum far greater than this, but even the best of us have a streak of yellow. $10,000 in bills lying against the wicket of an empty paying teller's cage, and not a soul about, was too great a temptation for the young man who saw, and from then on the story becomes gripping and tragic. The illustrations by Charles Frederic Miller are as strong as the story.

THE BUNK HOUSE PRISONER

By Robert Barr.

Illustrations by J. N. Marchand.

A story entirely different but equally absorbing, and as usual, the illustrations by Marchand are worthy of the tale, strong and virile with the wild touch of the West. There are plenty of action and unexpected situations in this story that has to do with the adventures of Lord Stranleigh, our wealthy English nobleman, to make it enjoyable.

A transcontinental trail and what it would mean to this country is the subject of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis's editorial

THE OCEAN-TO-OCEAN HIGHWAY

The project is a wonderful one and worthy as a memorial to the name of Abraham Lincoln. It is to be called "The Lincoln Highway" and General Otis has some mighty interesting things to say in this editorial that will show how the whole country benefits.

ACADEMICIAN PAINTS SIGNS.

NOTED LONDON ARTIST WISHES TO EAT REGULARLY.

Decides It Is Better to Raise the Tone of San Francisco Billboards Than to Tramp Streets Trying to Sell Pictures and Starve Meanwhile.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rather than tramp the streets, seeking a buyer for a portfolio of good canvases under his arm and wondering where his coffee and rolls are coming from, Francis J. Mackenzie, Royal Academician, a painter of no mean repute, mounts a scaffolding every morning and labors over the details of a twenty-foot pictorial sign.

"It's a bread and butter proposition," Mackenzie said today, as he talked between daubs of a big brush on a sign at a busy corner.

Besides being a graduate of the Royal Academy of London, Mackenzie studied under the best masters in Paris and Antwerp, and as a soldier of fortune saw the wilds of Africa and the hardships of the Transvaal War before coming to America to paint the scenery for the Boer War show at the St. Louis exposition.

Mackenzie won the Turner gold medal and $1000 for the best landscape of his finishing year at the Royal Academy and had the canvas hung in all of the big continental exhibits.

Here are some lines from Mackenzie's philosophy:

"Not one American artist in a hundred makes his living by his pictures. It is the students that bring in the money.

"There is no demand for canvases by artists of considerable ability in America. The market is little larger in New York than it is in San Francisco.

"American people who buy paintings get them in Europe. They think a painting has to come from Europe to be the real thing.

"Too many artists have no regard for the creature comforts of their families as compared with their high ideals of their art.

"Many highly-educated artists of ability would rather go hungry than paint a sign."

In his eight years in Rhodesia Mackenzie, who is an Englishman, was at the front often, and he has a big collection of sketches from the Graphic and the Illustrated London News that bear his signature.

"Gets-It" for Corns On Your Piggy-Wiggies!

Quit Puttering With Corns. Use This Sure, New-Plan Corn Cure.

These little toes had "GETS-IT"
These little toes had none.

A few drops of "GETS-IT," the biggest seller in the world today of any corn remedy, is enough to spell positive doom to the fiercest corn that ever cemented itself to a toe. It's good-bye Johnnie. You apply "GETS-IT" in two seconds — no fussing with plasters that don't stay put, with salves that make corns "pull" and make the toe beefy and raw, with knives, scissors, razors and diggers that make corns grow faster and that may cause blood poison from corn-cutting and corn-bleeding. "GETS-IT" shrivels up corns, they come right off. That's the new principle. It's just common sense. No more corn-pains. 'GETS-IT' is safe, and never hurts the flesh. Get rid of corns and calluses. "GETS-IT" is sold at 25c a bottle by all druggists, or sent direct, if you wish, from E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

"GETS-IT" is sold in Los Angeles by The Owl Drug Co.

AGRICULTURAL BILL PASSED.

Provides for Showing Farmer the Best Way to Farm.

Negro Agricultural Colleges Better Not Apply.

Southerners in the Saddle Again on the Job.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The House agricultural extension bill passed the Senate with amendments today without a dissenting vote.

The bill provides for demonstrations on the farm of approved methods and scientific discoveries as to farming and home economics made in the State agricultural colleges, experimental stations and in the Federal Department of Agriculture. The Secretary of Agriculture and land-grant agricultural colleges are to outline plans for carrying out the demonstrations.

As agreed to in the Senate the bill would appropriate unconditionally $10,000 annually to each State. In addition a sum of $600,000 for the coming year, with a yearly increase of $600,000 for the next seven years, would be provided for distribution among the States on a basis of rural population, conditioned on each State appropriating a sum equal to its portion of the Federal fund. After seven years the bill would provide a permanent appropriation of $4,800,000 annually.

An amendment requiring that negro colleges be permitted to share in the fund was defeated by a vote of 32 to 23. The bill was amended, however, as a result of a fight on the race question, by placing the distribution of the funds in the hands of the Secretary of Agriculture and respective State Governors in States having more than one agricultural college, and also specifying against race discrimination in the demonstration work on the farms.

The bill probably will be considered shortly in conference between the two houses.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—"It is absurd," was the comment today of Prof. William Henry Eccles of University College, an eminent radio expert, when shown the suggestion made by a Paris engineer, M. Duroquier, that the explosions on board the steamship Volturno, the French battleship Liberte and in the Universal Colliery near Cardiff were due to wireless waves.

"I wish it were true," Prof. Eccles added. "It would mean a tremendous increase in the power and usefulness of wireless waves if we could obtain such results. As it it, wireless waves are only sufficient in strength to move the most delicate instruments. They have not nearly enough energy to enable us to write with them."

SACRAMENTO RIVER PROJECT.

Two Hundred Thousand Dollar Appropriation Is Recommended by Congress Committee.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The House, Rivers and Harbors Committee today accepted the report of a subcommittee which recommended an appropriation of $200,000 for the Sacramento River project. Representative Raker urged the committee to accept the report. The committee agreed to an appropriation of $100,000 for improving Richmond harbor, but it is believed this sum will be greatly increased before the Rivers and Harbors bill is reported to the House. Most of the $200,000 for the Sacramento will be spent on continuing work at the mouth of the river, it was stated.

British Vessel Which Went Ashore in Fog Off New Jersey in No Danger.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MANASQUAN (N. J.) Feb. 7.—Hard and fast on the sands off the New Jersey State rifle range at Sea Girt, near here, the British tramp steamer Queen Louise, which ran aground in a fog early today, was still sound of hull tonight, and in no immediate danger of breaking up. A brisk wind out of the west sprang up this afternoon and beat down the heavy ground swell which had been running. Capt. McDonough of the freighter, who remained on board with his crew of about twenty, believed his vessel was safe, for the present at least.

The tablet was designed by D. Champlain, an exposition sculptor.

Holders of California Securities Will Not Have to Pay Income Tax, Says McReynolds.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative Curry was today advised by Treasury officials that Atty.-Gen. McReynolds has overruled the decision of the Treasury that the interest on reclamation, irrigation, drainage, road and levee bonds and similar securities is subject to the income tax.

The Treasury is expected to issue a statement on the ruling next week.

McReynold's decision means that holders of millions of dollars of California irrigation bonds will not have to pay an income tax on the interest derived fro mthese bonds.

FAIRS OF CALIFORNIA TO BE MADE A SUCCESS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—Plans to make the eight district fairs of California more successful than any heretofore and to obtain for them adequate financial support from the Legislature were prepared today at the annual meeting of the Association of California Agricultural District Fairs.

The dates agreed upon follow: Santa Rosa, August 31 to September 5, inclusive; Woodland, September 8-10; Sacramento, September 12-19; Pleasanton, September 23-26; Fresno, September 29 to October 3, inclusive; Hanford, October 5-10; Riverside, October 6-10, and Los Angeles, October 12-17.

To obviate the difficulty of obtaining legislative aid because of too many cities applying for fairs and financial support, a resolution was adopted declaring it to be the sense of the association that district fairs should be held in seven cities only in addition to that in Sacramento.

The proposed bond issue of $750,000 to be voted by the people of the State for the Panama-Pacific exposition was indorsed. It also was urged that $100,000 be appropriated by the Legislature for special premiums to California-owned and exhibited live stock and poultry at the 1915 fair.

An amicable agreement was reached by the purely agricultural and the racing interests regarding both dates and entries. A 5 per cent. deduction from prizes will prevail at all races. In addition 1 per cent. will be paid thirty days after entry, 1 per cent. thirty days before the meeting, and 2 per cent. at entry. Should a horse fail to enter previous payments will be forfeited, but no suspension made.

The following officers were elected: E. E. Hall, Pleasanton, president; W. F. Price, Santa Rosa, vice-president, and W. J. Dakin, secretary and treasurer. Hall and Price will serve as directors with the following: I. L. Borden, San Francisco; H. S. Maddox, Woodland; J. E. Dickinson, Fresno; J. E. McGregor, Riverside; A. G. Robinson, Hanford, and E. J. Delorey, Los Angeles.

IDENTIFY MINE GUARD.

Two Unionists Declare They Saw Deputy Shoot Striker in Calumet Region.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HOUGHTON (Mich.) Feb. 7.—James Cooper, a Waddell-Mahon mine guard, was identified today by two eye-witnesses to the Seeberville shooting as the man who shot and fatally wounded Steve Putrich, a striker. Together with two deputy sheriffs and two other Waddell men, Cooper is on trial in the Circuit Court charged with the murder of Putrich.

Giovanni Guidi, who lived in the Italian boarding-house adjoining the Putrich home, testified that he saw Cooper turn and shoot Putrich after he had been hit on the back of the head by a thrown ten-pin. He said he did not see who threw the ten-pin. Gino Vittori, another boarder, also swore that the man he afterwards learned was Putrich was shot by the deputy who was struck by the ten-pin. Guidi pointed out Cooper, sitting among the five defendants, as the man who did the shooting.

Writes Wilson City Will Be Destroyed If Nation Does Not Repent of Its Iniquity.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The destruction of the city of Washington, all of its inhabitants, including the officers of the government and their possessions is threatened in a letter addressed to the President and signed "The Son of God." The letter is written in German and refers to a former one in which the sixteen long years of iniquity of which the nation has been guilty is given as the reason for this terrible vengeance. The writer threatens to expose the United States to other nations if immediate repentance does not take place.

The communication is now in the hands of the secret service of the Treasury Department, which will endeavor to avert the catastrophe, if they have to put the author in an asylum to accomplish it.

Thousands have made large profits on my various Southwest tracts, or are now enjoying homes in most desirable localities, constantly growing in value. Glance over the map of the city and you will realize the force of this statement. Many of my most desirable tracts have been secured years in advance of development at very low prices. When the time is ripe, they reach the market, fully improved, at prices lower than the raw land could be obtained, and on terms easy to handle.

Southwest Tract Is My Pet Southwest Subdivision
Money Has Not Been Spared In Its Improvement

It is intersected by such popular thoroughfares as Santa Barbara avenue, Arlington avenue and Vernon avenue, well built and desirable. It has three car lines at 5-cent fare. It is reasonably restricted, and underpriced—$800 and upward. To assure its uniform and immediate development, I offer one lot in each block at the substantially cash discount of 20 per cent. if you will build, which is actually handing you back $160 to apply on your house. Loans easily obtained in Southwest Tract.

This Offer Is Being Enthusiastically Accepted. If you wish One of These $800 Lots at $640 Cash This Is Your Fleeting Opportunity. Buy of the Owner and Save One-Fifth. $800 and upward—$25 cash and $10 monthly.

Autos waiting to show property, or if you prefer, take "Vermont via Georgia" cars on Third or Hill streets marked "Santa Barbara and Arlington" and ride to end of line; or take "Hawthorne" cars south on Spring street, get off at Second avenue and see Mr. Clay at tract office.

Declaration of Principles.

railroad and public utility commission. We commend the work of this commission and congratulate the people of the State on the results already accomplished and we declare it to be the fixed policy of the Republican party to extend the regulation and control of all public service corporations with fairness to them and in the interest of the ultimate consumer.

"The Republican party inaugurated the movement for good roads by submitting to the people the question of the $18,000,000 bond issue for the building of the State highways and we favor the continuation of the building of such State highways until the main arteries of travel through the State shall be completed. The building of such roads was designed to provide the State with substantial and enduring highways and we declare that neither haste in building nor parsimony in providing both width and depth of construction should be allowed to defeat the interest of the people in providing the funds for this work, but the most advanced and approved business methods and system of construction should be employed and without suspicion of political manipulation or methods that the State may receive the maximum return for the money expended.

"We favor such system of control and conservation of our national resources as will prevent them from becoming the means of oppression by monopolies, but such system should not be so employed as to prevent the use of such resources and by this means to give to existing enterprises a monopoly in supplying the future and growing demands of the people.

"We declare it to be the highest purpose of organized society as expressed in the government of the State, to promote as far as possible through its laws and administration, the prosperity, health, moral wellbeing and happiness of the people of the State. To this end and the large and growing expenditure of public funds for the purposes of education and for the care and support of criminals, insane and defective should, in increasing proportion, be expended in research work.

"First, to increase the productiveness of the soil and the diversifying of production; to develop the resources of the State; to prevent the destruction of crops from any cause, and to ascertain and help promote the best and most economical means of preserving and marketing such products, that the producer may receive the largest return for his labor and the consumer the greatest value for the money expended for the necessities of life.

"We are heartily in favor of committing the State of California to such co-operation with the Federal government as will enable the farmers and fruit growers of every county of the State to enjoy the benefits of the law providing for United States aid to the several States in the expense of agricultural and horticultural experts to be placed at the service of the people.

"Education should be extended to embrace every useful and profitable field of human endeavor and our citizens should be given such training as will equip them to successfully engage in all the gainful occupations of life. We hold such education to be as necessary as that designed to equip the children and citizens of the State for a literary or professional career.

"Second, to study the causes that produce crime, insanity and imbecility and as far as possible to remove such causes. Criminals must be restrained, but under enlightened administration prisons and jails may not only become places for the detention of criminals, but hospitals for their treatment and schools for their education in some useful trade or calling. The insane and mentally defective must be humanely cared for, but more extended investigation should be conducted by the State into the causes producing insanity and imbecility and when found such system should be adopted as may be necessary to prevent the spread of these diseases among the people.

"The Republican platform of 1910 pledged the party and the State administration to provide a State reformatory for first offenders. The Legislature of 1911 appropriated $150,000 for the purchase of a site and an admirable site was subsequently purchased for such reformatory. We regret that appropriation was not made in 1913 for the necessary buildings for such reformatory as a failure to keep the party pledges in that regard and a neglect of duty to the wards of the State.

"The Republican party again declares its belief in the principle of the protective tariff and the policy of determining the duties to be imposed through the investigations of a scientific tariff board and that the tariff schedules should be made high enough to cover the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad, allowance being made for the American scale of wages and a fair margin of profit to the producers, but not high enough to encourage monopoly or excessive cost to the people of the products so protected.

"We protest against those provisions of the present Democratic tariff law affecting the farmer and the grower of citrus and other fruits, of grapes and sugar beets, as well as the producer of wool and other raw materials, as discriminatory and unjust, and declare that the producer as well as the laborer and manufacturer is entitled to reasonable protection under the law; and we deprecate the division of the Republican party at the last election that resulted in the enactment of the present tariff law.

"The baneful results of this law, as it affects California products, is to be seen in an increase in the importation of lemons, amounting to 284 per cent. during the first three months' operation of the law, and in the enormous increase in importations of the other products of our soil.

"The Republican party of California declares that it is in full accord with the growing sentiment in favor of universal peace. The United States is peculiarly favorably situated to lead in a world movement for universal disarmament, both on land and sea, and we heartily indorse such movement. The spirit of America that founds its inspiration in our humane and brotherly interest in an alien people and that made us willing to spend millions of treasure and sacrifice thousands of American lives that liberty and justice might be established in the island of Cuba, and the enlightened and progressive sentiment that prompted us as a nation to build the interoceanic canal, linking the waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific, should also make us willing to spend more millions, if necessary, to promulgate and organize the sentiment for universal peace and disarmament among the nations of the earth.

"The Republican party, already historical in achievement, can add no more lustrous page to its notable history than that of leading in this movement that must result in the establishment of a more enlightened brotherhood among the peoples of the earth. But until disarmament can be accomplished by international agreement we favor the building of sufficient ships of war to protect our nation against the possible aggressions of a foreign power. The growing commercial importance of the Pacific Ocean and the unprotected condition of our western coast demand that until international disarmament can be accomplished, a larger proportion of our navy should be stationed on the Pacific Coast, and we call upon our representatives in both branches of Congress to do all in their power to accomplish this result."

GRAPE GROWERS ORGANIZE.

Association Is Formed at Ukiah to Combat the Proposed "Dry" Amendment.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

UKIAH, Feb. 7.—An association with a membership of 120 business men and grape growers, was formed here today to conduct a campaign against the proposed initiative "dry" amendment. K. F. Stoll, secretary of the Grape Growers' Association, of California, and others, addressed the meeting.

Great Awakening.

and in the efficiency of Republican administration. There should be manifested everywhere a catholicity of judgment, no proscriptive spirit should intrude itself into our deliberations; we should be too broad and too patriotic to give ourselves over to narrow and ungenerous judgment. Loyalty to Republicanism now is the only test which should be applied to our membership. In short, all whose fealty to our cause is genuine should be welcomed with outstretched arms.

"No State in the Union is more interested in Republican triumph than the State of California, which presides in her majesty and power upon the shore of the great Pacific, a State destined to a greatness which in my judgment we can but inadequately imagine. Here are potentialities of vast power in agriculture and the arts, here are the possibilities of a mighty commerce which in time will hold fair rank with the commerce of the Atlantic seaboard. To fully realize all that is best in the broad and expanding field of your opportunities, you must be assured of the ascendency of Reublican doctrines.

"The largest possible advance can be enjoyed only by the maintenance of the principles of sound constitutional government and laws which are the fruit of rational judgment and not the expression of the spirit of hysteria, of some fanciful schemes of impracticable dreamers. The Republican party stands as it has always stood, for the most advanced judgment of the hour, for those things commended by the best and most patriotic wisdom of the great body of the people.

"Adversity is a test of real greatness. The Republican party in power was great, and out of power it must be equally great. In victory or defeat let it adhere to those doctrines which are vital to our national welfare and it will prove itself the nation's benefactor. We may recall with profit the utterance of William McKinley, whom we associate in this historic hour with his great prototype, Abraham Lincoln. 'The Republican party,' said he, 'values its principles in defeat no less than in victory. It holds to them after a reverse, as before, because it believes in them and believing in them, is ready to battle for them.' In this faith let Republicans go forward, 'with malice towards none and with charity for all,' to resume their rightful place in the leadership of the States and the nation. Sincerely your friend.

GIRLS! CLEAN AND BEAUTIFY HAIR NO DANDRUFF—25 CENT DANDERINE

Stop washing hair! Try this! Makes it glossy, soft and abundant.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness luster and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed. —[Advertisement.

CAUSE OF ILL HEALTH

Nine Times Out of Ten It's Kidneys.

The subtle and delusive character of kidney disease often leads people to believe they are suffering from neuralgia, rheumatism, pleurisy, heart weakness and other acute forms of disease. In reality all such troubles sometimes arise through failure of the kidneys to properly perform their functions of removing the poisonous matter from the blood. Unmistakable signs of kidney disease are pains in the head, swelling under the eyes, dry skin, dull complexion, tired feeling, loss of energy, etc. Many physicians say that Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy is the only medicine that heals with certainty the frail tubular structures constituting these important organs. It soothes and heals the inflamed parts and gradually restores them to their normal condition. For sale by all druggists in 50c and $1.00 bottles. A sample free if you write Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 205, Rochester, N. Y.

Organizing.

ARE WORKING OUT PEACE PROJECT.

PERFECTING PLANS FOR MEXICO-AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Solution of Problems Involved in Political Disturbances of Southern Country Is Sought in Society that Is Now Being Formed in Los Angeles.

Plans for the organization on a permanent basis of the Mexico-American Association, the object of which is to bring about a better understanding of the mutual interests of the United States and Mexico, are being perfected. A tentative constitution and bylaws have been drawn up and permanent officers of the association will probably be chosen this week.

As previously stated, the headquarters of the organization are to be in Los Angeles, and the membership will be open to all who are in sympathy with the intentions of the association, regardless of nationality. Los Angeles is regarded as the logical fulcrum upon which the activities of the society should rest, on account of the proximity of the city to the Mexican republic, as well as owing to the large number of people residing here who are interested materially and sympathetically in Mexican affairs.

John R. Phillips, provisional secretary of the association, who has been making a thorough study of the Mexican situation for several years, has been actively engaged in formulating the plans for the organization and adding to its membership. Already a large number of prominent citizens of this country have signified their desire of supporting the movement.

"In its final analysis the object of the association will be to bring about peaceful conditions in Mexico, with fairness to all parties concerned," said Phillips yesterday. "This will not be accomplished by criticising the Mexicans, but by criticising the critics of the Mexicans in this country, so to speak.

"The position of the United States in relation to Mexico has deserved far more censure at times than the position which the various factions in the southern country have adopted in relation to one another.

"One fact which we Americans fail to recognize in Mexico is the culture and development of her inhabitants. This culture has been manifested in the advancement in laws and polity of the country, as well as in the methods which they have adopted for conserving the national resources.

"Intervention is the last thing to be sought. I am satisfied that from my study of the situation, and the knowledge which I have gained from my conferences with those most prominently interested in the political conditions of the country, that peace could be secured in Mexico in short order if the proper steps be taken—namely that a properly appointed board, comprehending the needs of Mexico, consult with the provisional heads of the Mexican republic and settle upon a policy mutually agreeable to all parties concerned. I feel satisfied that the heads of the Mexican republic on their part will be willing to accede to such a plan of action, and render every assistance in perfecting it."

BUYS VALLEY TRACT.

The J. M. Johnson Company reports the closing of a deal by which Bernard Schmitz of Oxnard has acquired possession of ninety-five acres of land near to the town of Marion in the San Fernando Valley. The buyer, it is said, expects to improve the place at once and also to plant an additional hundred acres near by to beans. The tract sold is the fifth piece of San Fernando Valley acreage purchased by members of Schmitz's family. William Schmitz, his father, bought two fifty-acre tracts two years ago: H. C. Carlson of Camarillo, a brother-in-law, recently bought fifty-five acres at Owensmouth, and Walter Lenox of Oxnard was the purchaser not long ago of ten acres at Marion.

Pictures of Real Merit

Unless you make a personal and critical investigation of our stock of Framed Pictures you cannot fairly conceive how large and varied the showing is; nor can you judge the real merit of the Pictures.

Our stock represents the very choicest collection of subjects, most excellent reproductions, and all very reasonably priced.

We are now showing some beautiful sepia bromides of California scenery in 5x7 inches up to the extremely large sizes.

LITTLE SHUT-INS REVEL AT HOME.

Children's Hospital Opened by President Wilson.

Throngs of Men and Women Greet Helpless Tots.

Wonderful New Institution Astonishes Visitors.

"I want to say here all the time," said little Frank Garcia, a black-haired, bright-eyed little hunchback as he lolled yesterday in the luxury of a brand new bed in the Childrens' Hospital on Sunset boulevard near Vermont avenue and watched with wonder the groups of perfectly-gowned women and the occasional men who passed and repassed through the wards in the opening afternoon.

And Frank wasn't the only one of the sick and the crippled, the maimed and weakling children that expressed a similar sentiment. The wide-spreading windows, looking out over meadows and hills of brightest green, to winding roads with their speeding machines; the clean, bright rooms, all white and wholesome; the big sleeping porches, the marble baths and so many other comforts and features appeal to these waifs of misfortune. The visitors, who for the first time beheld the setting of the institution, marveled at the completeness of its equipment.

HANDLED WITH CARE.

Moving forty helpless tots from the old frame buildings at Alpine and Castelar streets to the splendid new reinforced concrete structure, was in itself no easy task. It was accomplished yesterday morning without a single mishap or injury to any of the children. Those old enough looked upon the moving as a treat, a sort of a holiday, and that is what the entire day appeared to be to them.

Even little Ruth Snyder, her head, neck and shoulders in a plaster cast, and an object of much attention because of her strange appearance, thought it was fun.

Rita Belmont, for three years in the hospital under treatment for a tubercular hip, who dug the first shovel of earth for the foundation of the new structure, saw in the day a realization of her ambitions. She wasn't at all jealous of Angeline Eichelberger, who wrote the letter to President Wilson, requesting the opening of the doors by an electric signal, which the President graciously did, sending his message of hope over the wires not only for the children, but the zealous men and women who are putting their best efforts to the success of the institution.

HALF FURNISHED.

Nearly all of the rooms have been furnished but there are still a number which are bare and cold for lack of beds and chairs, rugs and pictures. The lavatories with their marble and tile walls and floors, the immaculate kitchens and laundry, the operating rooms with their cold array of surgical instruments, all proved that much thought and attention had been given by the officials to making the place complete.

Miss Marion L. Vannier, the superintendent of the institution, was given much of the praise for working out details and with Dr. Edward G. Eisen, the residing interne, shared the honors for the work of transferring the children and making everything ready for their greatest comfort. The women officers, from the top of the list to the bottom, were all on hand to show the visitors through and many of them will be on hand this afternoon, which will conclude the opening reception.

In the future Thursday has been designated the day on which members of the various committees will be on hand to show the stranger what has been and is being done in the institution made possible originally by the handsome gift of Mrs. Eliza Goodwin, whose bequest gave the institution nearly a quarter of a million, which has recently been supplemented by the generous gifts and donations of other charitable persons.

FAITHFUL WORKERS.

The officers who have worked so faithfully for the institution, as well as the physicians who give their time and knowledge for charity, are the following: President, Mrs. Albert Crutcher; vice-president, Mrs. William T. COUNTERFEITING CHARGED.

Two Men Arrested in Imperial Are Brought Here by Deputy Marshal for Trial.

Deputy United States Marshal Durlin brought Lawrence Johnson and Clarence Somers from El Centro yesterday on a complaint of Secret Service Operative Hazen and lodged them in the County Jail. They were in the custody of Sheriff Meadows in Imperial county.

The charge against the men is that they passed counterfeit coin and are supposed to be a part of a gang recently operating in this city who got rid of a number of $20 pieces among small merchants who did not watch their money close enough.

Bernard Haure, also a member of the crowd, is now in custody, having been picked up several weeks ago and indicted by the Federal grand jury. Johnson and Somers will have a preliminary examination before Commissioner Williams tomorrow morning.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

Humane Society for Children Finds Itself Handicapped in Work and Wants More Members.

The Humane Society for Children is in sore need of funds for the prosecution of its work in the rescue of little children from objectionable environment. The society has cared for many hundreds of children during the past year and is now in debt to a considerable extent. The only source of funds is through the generous public and it is much preferable to the society if help can be secured through the medium of memberships at $5 a year, and they strongly urge at least 500 men and women in the city to send in their memberships, accompanied by the first year's fee. Checks may be made payable to the Humane Society for Children, and sent to either John C. Austin, M. C. Adler or to the secretary at the office of the society, No. 628 California building.

NATIONAL FOREST FINANCES.

The statement of receipts and expenditures of the Angeles National Forest for 1913, indicate that locally as elsewhere throughout the public domain, the national reserves are not self-supporting. The receipts for the year were a total of $15,814.34, and among the items were: Timber sales, $1359.50; grazing, $1470.07; special use, $5925.31; water power, $7004. The expenditures amounted to $57,457.85, the item of salaries costing $36,364.38; traveling expenses, $2649.65; materials, $4320.44; forage and stock feed, $1088.45; subsistence, wages, etc., $8882.61; construction work, trails, etc., $5853.59; repairs, $5083.26; silviculture, $3291.73; lands, special uses, etc., $18888.31. The total acreage of the Angeles National Forest is 1,165,300. The average receipts per acre were .01357; average cost per acre, .04931.

TUFTS AFFLICTED?

Backed by affidavits from physicians to the effect that Gorham Tufts, Jr., who figured so sensationally as the founder of the remarkable East Indian cult known as the "Church of God," and who was convicted of obtaining money under false pretenses from Victor H. Steele, has developed tuberculosis, Attorney Carpenter yesterday applied to Judge Craig to fix bail pending his appeal to the Supreme Court. The court set Wednesday as the day for the hearing, when it is asserted Tufts's attorney will also produce affidavits from Jailer Gallagher to the effect that Tufts's condition was such that he had to be relieved of work, and from the Sheriff substantiating the state of Tufts's illness.

The statement that Mrs. Jennie H. S. Roe Tufts does not believe her husband committed a crime in administering her business affairs will be contained in an affidavit praying for a reduction of the $20,000 bail under which Tufts is held under that charge.

BILLBOARDS OUTLAWED.

Work is to be begun this week on the surveying and laying out of the townsite projected by the City Builders' Investment Company for the Santa Cruz Valley of Arizona. The town will be unique in that the building restrictions will permit of the construction only of structures following the mission style of architecture. The promoters advertise also that no saloons or billboards will ever be permitted in the town. The place is in the midst of 5000 acres of land that will be thrown open to settlers.

NEW LOCATION.

The Grundy Real Estate and Investment Company announces the removal of its offices from the Union Oil building to the Los Angeles Investment Company building. W. C. Norman has been added to the company's sales forces as manager for the "Normal Square" tract now being placed on the market.

ENGINEER TAKES COUNT.

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 7.—Glode Woods, a Southern Pacific engineer, was overcome by smoke and his locomotive damaged by fire late this afternoon. A hostler at the roundhouse started the fire under the boiler to get up steam and was called away for a few minutes. When he returned the burning oil had flooded the firebox. The city fire department made a quick run to the fire and put it out with the chemical engine. The Southern Pacific department ran a line of hose to the engine but it was cut in two by a passing switch engine. The damage to the locomotive will amount to about $500. A refrigerator car on an adjoining track was damaged to the amount of $100.

FELICITOUS EXCHANGES.

Monrovia Boosters Send Greetings to San Bernardino and Receive a Most Cordial Response.

MONROVIA, Feb. 7.—The Monrovia Ten Thousand Club sent a telegram to the National Orange Show, San Bernardino, advising it that the club, "representing the public-spirited citizens of Monrovia, and believing that all parts of this magnificent Southland should stand together in boosting the orange show, hereby notifies you that on February 19 the Ten Thousand Club will visit your city with 100 or more automobiles and a special train on the Santa Fe, with the object of boosting San Bernardino and doing everything to make the orange show a success."

This morning the following reply was received from the orange show headquarters:

"Ten Thousand Club, Monrovia, Cal.

"Your wire of today's date received. The National Orange Show sends greetings to the Monrovia Ten Thousand Club and heartily appreciates its co-operation. Thursday, February 19 will be officially designated as Monrovia day. The finest exposition of its kind in the world and a royal welcome awaits you.

"NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW.

"By A. F. Kendall, President."

A whirlwind campaign has already been started by the members of the Ten Thousand Club to secure the 125 names requisite for the special train. An exceptional inducement of a one-way rate has been made by the Santa Fe, and from all indications now there will be no trouble in securing a large crowd to go to the show. One hundred automobilists have already signified their intention of making the trip, so that in all there will be from 600 to 700 boosters for the big show in San Bernardino on February 19. This city will have a big exhibit of oranges at the show for the first time and expects to carry away a number of the prizes.

The boosting club, officially known as the Monrovia Ten Thousand Club, is already making preparations to receive the orange show boosting parade here next week, when they come through from San Bernardino to Los Angeles. A large number of autos will join the parade here and accompany it to Los Angeles, where the Monrovia boosters will join in the banquet.

Mrs. M. J. McCament passed away here last night after an illness of only two days. She had been sick for some time, but last Sunday was well enough to go to church twice and until night before last was thought to be improving. She is survived by three sons, A. L. McCament of this city, J. O. McCament of Pasadena and V. M. McCament of Shenendoah, Iowa. The funeral services will be held at the Renaker chapel Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, Rev. R. A. van der Las officiating. Interment will be at Live Oak Cemetery. Mrs. McCament was born in Indiana August 7, 1836.

SURVEY ORDERED.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The controversy between certain members of the City Council and Harbor Engineer E. M. Capps regarding dredging of the San Diego harbor, in connection with the $4,000,000 harbor improvement culminated today when the Council voted to have an expert engineer appointed to make a survey and report the exact amount of dredging to be done and the cost. All dredging operations ceased today. A divergence between Auditor Moody's figures on harbor cost and those of Engineer Capps was discovered yesterday and an expert was appointed for the harbor accounts at Moody's request. It developed that to complete the dredging a bond issue of not less than $200,000 might be required and that on account of present bonded indebtedness the surplus bonding limit is but $29,000.

Riverside.

THEIR FAITH IS UNSHAKEN.

Riverside Growers Set New Acreage to Fruit.

Chamber of Commerce Plans Year of Activity.

Republicans Show the Bull Moosers How to Proceed.

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 7.—That the faith of citrus fruit men in the industry has not been shaken by the misfortune of a year ago is indicated in the plans for new plantings, and particularly in the eastern part of the city, above the Gage canal. At this point the Lemonia Heights Company is arranging to set out in March and April 100 acres of trees, comprising lemons, oranges and grape fruit. Lemons will constitute by far the larger planting.

In its extensive nursery the company has 1000 avacados. While there has been considerable interest taken in this fruit, the company is not ready to advocate its planting on an extensive scale as yet. The trees will probably be in demand, but in small quantities for individual planting, rather than for orchard plantings.

CHARGED WITH BIG THINGS.

Something of the scope of activities President Henry L. Graham of the Chamber of Commerce has mapped out for the coming year is indicated in the character and number of special committees appointed, announcement of which is made as follows: Public playground, navel orange anniversary, cannery, cement dust arbitration, experiment station, postoffice dedication, Temecula-Fallbrook railroad rebuilding and County Chamber of Commerce.

Practically all of these committees will have demands awaiting their immediate attention, and some of the matters to be considered will see fruition before the year is over. The site of the experiment station will have been determined, and the formal exercises attendant on the opening of the new Federal building will probably be arranged for the near future, although the structure will be opened for business Monday morning.

There will be plenty of work cut out for the committee charged with looking after the interests of the proposed celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the establishment of the navel orange industry in Southern California, and the agitation for the rebuilding of the Santa Fe line through the Temecula Canyon will keep the committee delegated to look after that feature fairly well occupied.

A still further gain in Republican registration is shown in the figures compiled by County Clerk A. B. Pilch at the close of business today. The Republican lead over the "Progressives" is more than 40 per cent.

The figures for all parties are as follows: Republicans, 1781; "Progressives," 1249; Democrats, 625; Prohibitionists, 342; Socialists, 174; decline to state, 150, and independent, 2.

With the organization of a Parent-Teacher Association at the Lincoln school, there is being considered the matter of arranging for the use of land for developing employment for the children before and after school hours and during vacations, along industrial lines. One citizen has offered the use of ground near the school building that is suitable for gardening. It is proposed that the children shall be taught truck farming, as it is conducted in Europe by school children, the embryo farmers to pay a rental for the land used out of the earnings from their work. W. A. Avey, a member of the Board of Education, was elected president of the association.

GLENDORA.

GLENDORA, Feb. 7.—A number of the representative citizens and property owners of Glendora and the valley were present at a mass meeting held yesterday afternoon, presided over by J. J. West, for the purpose of discussing the storm water problem and devising ways and means, if possible, to conserve and control the flood waters of the winter season. Among those to participate in the discussion were: Judge Charles Silent, Philip Haas, O. Georgi, G. D. Whitcomb and F. D. Joy. The trend of the speeches was in favor of protection from the vagaries of the washes in the valley, such as the Big and Little Dalton canyons, provided the territory included in the storm district to be established might be limited to the land liable to be damaged by these watercourses, either from overflow or as a result of the water leaving the channels from any cause.

A committee consisting of J. J. West, E. J. Van Dersluis, Philip Haas, Otto Georgi and H. K. Needham was appointed to make an investigation and report on the boundary lines of the proposed storm district at a meeting to be called when the committee is ready with its report.

TO BUILD GREAT HOTEL.

Los Angeles Man Promotes Proposition at Pomona to Construct a Magnificent Hostelry.

POMONA, Feb. 7.—Announcement has been made by the Hotel Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and T. W. Newman of Los Angeles, hotel promoter, that a $250,000 hotel and theater, covering the old site of the Palomares Hotel on Garey avenue, will be erected as soon as preliminary arrangements can be completed.

Mr. Newman and his backers will furnish $175,000 and $75,000 will be raised locally for stock in the hostelry, $50,000 of this to furnish the site at present owned by Dr. W. Fundenburg.

The hotel will be strictly modern in character and will contain 100 rooms, large dining-rooms, ballroom and theater. The general plan of the structure is similar to that of the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, modified to meet the needs of this locality. The committee, of which D. C. Crookshank is chairman, has been working for some time on the project to interest capital in the enterprise. Completion of the hostelry will mark a new era in Pomona.

MAKE SMALL HAUL.

Thieves Crack Safe at Fullerton, but Get Slight Reward for Their Labor—Man Falls Sixty Feet.

FULLERTON, Feb. 7.—Safe robbers last night secured $5 in coin from the office safe of the Fullerton Ice Company. A quantity of silverware and a gold watch stored in the safe were left by the robbers. Tools for their work were borrowed from the ice company's automobile in rear of the ice plant. The office door was broken open with an ax, the knob of the safe door knocked off and through the aperture the combination was dislodged with a punch. Officers think the job was done by local people, familiar with the place. No arrest has yet been made.

FALLS INTO PIT.

While making repairs at the pumping plant of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigating Company near Olive, George Gulick, an employee of the company, fell into a pit sixty feet deep. His right arm was fractured and an ugly wound made under the arm, where a projecting bolt tore the flesh from his side. Internal injuries also are feared. An ambulance was sent from Fullerton to convey the injured man to the hospital.

TO INCREASE CAPITAL.

Carpinteria Concern Will More Than Double the Amount of Its Working Funds.

CARPINTERIA, Feb. 7.—A meeting of the stockholders of the C. S. Hubbard Fruit Company has been called for February 24 for the purpose of raising the amount of capital stock of the company from $10,000 to $25,000.

This step has been made necessary by the great growth of the citrus fruit industry in the valley, which cannot be handled with the present facilities. The addition to the packing-house is nearly completed. This will more than double the capacity of the plant and will take care of the increase in production for the next three or four years.

While several young orchards in canyons, especially those of J. E. Shepard, S. I. Jamison and Smith & Hales, suffered during the floods, other tracts are to be planted and these tracts are to be replanted, which will greatly increase the output in a few years. Several young orchards came into bearing this year, which taxed the packing-house to its utmost capacity.

TAILOR BURNED.

CORONA, Feb. 7.—T. R. Freeland, a tailor, who has a shop on Main street just north of the postoffice, was frightfully burned yesterday, when a bucket of gasoline he was using in cleaning clothes, exploded. He ran to the rear of the building, throwing the fiery fluid in the back yard, and then ran to the street. His screams attracted a number of people who quickly tore his clothes from him and rushed him into Billings's drug store where he was promptly bandaged in cotton. He was then taken to the County Hospital at Arlington. His burns are considered very serious and his recovery is doubtful. He was a mass of flames as he ran down the street. The building was not badly burned, the fire company succeeding in putting the flames out before they had gained much headway.

The police have been unable to discover any evidence to corroborate Auban's claim that his life was threatened.

CANVAS SPREAD FOR BIG SHOW.

San Bernardino Fruit Exposition Prospects Surpass.

One Hundred Automobiles Expected February 19.

Prohibitionists Hanging Together for Campaign.

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 7.—The sea of canvas which is to house the Fourth National Orange Show is now in the air and the task of installing the hundreds of displays is well under way. The show will have a floor space of 115,000 square feet and in spite of the area being almost doubled over last year, there is a shortage of room and 25 per cent. more room could be made good use of. In the four years the show which began in a small way has grown beyond all expectations until now it covers more floor space than any fruit exposition on the Pacific Coast.

There will be a continual series of special days and excursions throughout the eight-day period of the show. Monrovia's Ten Thousand Booster Club has announced that the people of that city will come by special train and with 100 automobiles on Thursday, February 19.

On Saturday, February 21, special trains will come on the Santa Fe from Upland, from Covina and Pomona on the Espee and also from numerous other points. These excursions will be accompanied by bands from the several communities.

The State Press and Southern California Editorial Associations will be here on Thursday, February 19, while the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce is to bring an excursion, and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is also planning a special train.

Plans are complete for the great booster trip of the "Yellow Kids" to Los Angeles next Thursday. From 150 to 200 machines will make the trip, while 100,000 oranges will be distributed to the throngs on the Los Angeles streets by a bevy of attractive young ladies. The parade will be followed by a banquet at the Hollenbeck Hotel.

"DRYS" STICK TOGETHER.

The local organization of the 'dry" forces in this city is to be continued until such time as it can be merged into the movement for the State campaign next fall. A campaign of education is to be carried on throughout the city all the coming spring and summer with a view to getting a full vote on the issue next fall when the question comes up in the form of a constitutional movement.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The Knights of Pythias of this district will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the order in a meeting to be held in Redlands February 19. Among the speakers will be Judge B. F. Bledsoe, supreme representative for California, and District-Attorney R. B. Goodcell, who is chancellor commander of Valley Lodge of this city. It is expected that several hundred members of the order will gather for the celebration at which a special ritual provided by the supreme lodge will be used.

IMPORTANT FEATURES OF THE NEW SPRING STYLES DISCUSSED

The all important topic now, among the ladies, is "What's the style for Spring." And the ladies' tailor must be able to supply all detailed information. A most exhaustive and careful study has been given the subject by Mr. A. Cooper, who is authority on ladies' tailored suits. According to Mr. Cooper, the ladies are entitled to know all about the season's styles. The most striking feature of the Spring styles is the new cut of garments. The high style shows a Raglan or Kimono cut coat. The skirt must be peg-top, produced in a dozen different ways—loose around the hips and narrow at the bottom, as much fullness at upper part of garment as possible must be given to emphasize the narrowness at the bottom of the skirt. Coats and jackets must be short and fancy—and cutaway effect from the bust line. Short tunics will be much in vogue. Cutaway in front and pointed in the back, making a most beautiful and chic effect. These are the most important features for the coming Spring season.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Orange Show Visitors.

Boosters for the National Orange Show to be held at San Bernardino from the 18th to the 25th inst. inclusive, will visit this city this week and meet locally-interested persons at a luncheon at the Hollenbeck on Thursday.

Patriotic Mass Meeting.

Washington's Birthday will be celebrated with a patriotic mass meeting in Temple Auditorium under the auspices of Roosevelt Camp and auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans. All the patriotic associations of the city will be represented in the meeting and the oration will be delivered by Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher.

Valentine Party and Dance.

The Lady Helpers' Auxiliary of the Jewish Consumptive Relief Association will hold a valentine dance and whist party on Tuesday evening in Rutherford's Dancing Academy. The proceeds will go toward the support of the sanatorium recently opened at Duarte.

Annual Wisconsin Picnic.

The Wisconsin Society of Southern California will hold its annual picnic in Sycamore Grove on next Thursday, when Dr. J. A. Blaisdell of Pomona College will preside. Addresses will be delivered by Mayor Rose and Stoddard Jess. The picnic is scheduled to gather at 10 o'clock a.m.

Laundrymen at Dinner.

Following their semi-annual business meeting in this city yesterday, the members of the Southern California Laundrymen's Club met socially at a dinner at the Hollenbeck cafe last night, about 100 members attending. The club had representatives present at its meeting from all the principal cities from San Diego to Fresno.

Banquet Reservations.

Three hundred reservations have already been made for the Chamber of Commerce banquet to be held at the Shrine Auditorium Saturday evening the 21st inst. Seating arrangements are such that parties of eight may sit at one table. Two noted speakers will deliver addresses. The decorative features are out of the ordinary, and in miniature will be portrayed one of the wonders of modern times. Four bands will play.

Wants Her Husband.

The wife of G. C. Parsons, who is living in Highland Park, and working to support her two children—a girl aged 6 years and a boy aged 15 months—has been told they must be given over to the Humane Society. Her husband went off two months ago and she has no idea where he is, but she said yesterday to say to him through the paper: "Daddy, if you are on earth, come to the children's rescue at once." She declares she is abundantly able to care for the children and wept constantly at the thought of having to give them up.

Victor Valley Club Supper.

Fifteen hundred persons living in Los Angeles who own patented and government lands in Victor Valley, which is 104 miles northeast of this city in San Bernardino county, have been invited to attend a mass meeting and get-together supper of the Victor Valley Club at No. 619 South Hill street, next Friday at 6:30 p.m. The purpose of the meeting will be to complete a plan to interest the government in establishing in Victor Valley a reclamation district, where it is advertised over 100,000 acres of land could be irrigated through conserving the waters accumulated in streams on the north side of the San Bernardino Range.

Angelenos Attend Session.

President Kinney will reach New York today, where he will visit his brother until the 10th inst., at which time he will go to Washington to attend the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. As representatives of the local chamber, President Kinney will have with him on a committee Senator Works, Congressmen Stephens and Bell, R. Woodland Gates, Paul Shoup and Isadore Dockweiler. The La Follette seamen bill, free toll for American shipping through the Panama Canal, and other matters of vital importance to the Pacific Coast will be brought up, and upon the return of the committee they will undoubtedly have something of interest in the matter of unmerging the Southern and Central Pacific railways.

THE COLE CASE.

Divorce Suit Agreeably Settled. Ugly Charges Dropped—Property Arrangements Made.

With the division of more than $100,000 worth of property yesterday and the signing of the divorce decree, the last chapter was written in the marital difficulties of Dr. and Mrs. George L. Cole.

The final adjustment yesterday was arranged very satisfactorily for both sides, Mrs. Cole receiving the home property at No. 1425 Hope street, while Dr. Cole retained the property at No. 2323 Scarff street. The stocks and bonds were divided equally. In all, Mrs. Cole received property valued at $65,000.

Mrs. Cole was granted a divorce from Dr. Cole in Judge Monroe's court a couple of weeks ago on the grounds of cruelty. In sueing she claimed other grounds and brought in the names of several prominent people. These charges were not sustained and the divorce was granted on the cruelty grounds alone.

Mrs. Cole is a prominent worker in the various women's clubs and has taken an active part in the suffrage fight in this State. Dr. Cole is one of the best-known physicians in the city, so the divorce proceedings created a lively interest in club circles.

AUTO COLLISION.

At 6 o'clock last evening, on Wilshire boulevard a little west of St. Andrews place, an automobile collision and smash-up happened. First and last, four machines were involved, though in the outset only two came into collision. One of these was going west on Wilshire, the other was just making the turn from Gramercy place into the boulevard, and was eastbound when the machines came together. A moment later a two-passenger Regal, running at a very high rate of speed, crashed into the other two. In the attempt to shear off towards the curb at the south, the Regal cut into a large machine occupied by a couple with a small child, who was injured severely by being cut under the chin. The frightened mother instantly went into hysterics; while the father (whose name was not ascertained) quickly carried the child away to have "first aid" administered at the nearest available place.

The Regal, which had come up so inopportunely and at a break-neck pace, was driven by E. H. Foster, with the Wright-Callender-Andrews Company, as shown by his card, which was secured by The Times informant on the spot, after Foster had left the scene of the disaster. Foster's version of the collision could not be secured.

Three of the four machines were more or less injured.

AGAIN FACES DEATH.

Veteran of Crimean War Does Battle with Auto and Is Worsted—He May Die.

J. A. Roberts, aged 79, but looking less than 50, a member of Queen Victoria's Own Scotch Guards during 1852-53, who faced death a hundred times during the Crimean War, was laid low last night by such an unimaginative thing as an automobile.

He got off a street car at Avenue Twenty and Pasadena avenue and stepped before an automobile which had failed to stop according to city ordinance, it is asserted. He was knocked down and rolled over and sustained a severe wrenching of the back and several abrasions on the arms and face. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital.

Roberts lives at No. 118 North Avenue Eighteen. He is a box-maker by trade, but until a few years ago had a farm in Iowa. After serving through the Crimean War he was sent with his regiment to Nova Scotia, where he was honorably discharged in 1857. He has been in the United States since 1861.

SPEEDILY CAPTURED.

Youthful Burglars Act Suspiciously and Confess to Rifling House of Silverware.

Officers from the University Police Station last night performed the unusual feat of arresting a pair of burglars before they had any report on the location of the house burglarized. The men captured admitted entering a house, but could not remember where it was.

Frank Hagen, aged 20, and Charles Baker, aged 22, are the men arrested. Patrolmen Simpson and Thompson arrested them at Adams street and Normandie avenue because they acted suspiciously.

In their possession the youthful pair had three pistols, flashlights, pass keys, "billies" and "jimmies." They also had a shoe box filled with silver knives, forks, spoons, salt-cellars, etc. Hagen's right hand was cut, as if by glass.

On being questioned, they admitted having burglarized a home, but they could not tell exactly where it is. They believed it was on Adams street.

Both Hagen and Baker say they arrived here a week ago from New York. They have no business that is lawful.

EASTERNERS SEEK OIL HERE.

Company Backed by Pittsburgh Capitalists Will Drill Well in Palos Verdes Hills.

Seven Pittsburgh capitalists are interested in a new oil enterprise, which will center in the Southern California oil fields. They have organized the Pitt Oil Company, with a capital of $200,000, and have secured a lease on 70 acres of land in Palos Verdes Hills from W. R. Wheat and associates, who have been drilling a test well in this section. They will also acquire property in the Fullerton field in the near future.

Interested in the company are: J. H. Short, treasurer of the Garland Corporation, who is president; O. A. Mardorf of the Aluminum Company of America, who is secretary and treasurer, and J. D. Warrington of the Western Electric Company and John W. Marsching of the National Tube Company, who are directors, as well as H. V. West, who was in this city last week making arrangements for the securing and operating of the lease.

West left Thursday night for Pittsburgh, but will return in about sixty days. He stated before his departure that there is more interest in the oil business of California in the East than ever before.

The Harbor Oil Company, in which Wheat and his associates are interested, has a very good showing in its well in Palos Verdes Hills, and a test is to be made this week.

MEXICAN IS ROBBED.

Francisco Fernandez, a Mexican, living at No. 139½ North Spring street, was held up by four men under the North Main-street bridge late last night, unmercifully beaten and then robbed of $5 in silver. He could give no description of his assailants beyond stating that they were Americans.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.12; at 5 p.m., 30.10. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 47 deg. and 56 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 78 per cent.; 5 p.m., 72 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 4 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 11 miles. Highest temperature, 66 deg.; lowest, 44 deg. Rainfall for season, 15.04 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The cold wave drifted eastward and now dominates the weather over the greater portion of the West and the Mississippi Valley. Zero temperatures are common to Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri. Winds of ten to twenty miles per hour accompany these low temperatures. The lowest temperature, 34 deg. below zero, was registered at Huron. Snow was general throughout the greater portion of the West, extending southerly into Galveston and the Gulf Coast of Texas. The influence of the eastern depression, in conjunction with the high area, is shown by the markedly high temperatures in Florida. Both Jacksonville and Tampa report 70 deg., accompanied by light rain. Frost was light, but abundant, throughout the exposed localities in the vicinity of Los Angeles. In Southern California the depression over Arizona, in conjunction with the northwestern high area, prevented low temperatures by causing general cloudiness during the greater part of the night. It is expected that there will be intervals of cloudiness in Los Angeles and vicinity during the otherwise fair weather of the next thirty-six hours. Light frost will occur in this vicinity Sunday morning.

LOCAL FORECAST.

For Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair Sunday; frost in exposed places where sky clears; northerly and northwesterly winds.

For California south of the Tehachepi: Fair Sunday; frost in the morning.

STATE FORECAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—Forecast: San Francisco, Oakland and vicinity, Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Joaquin valleys and south of the Tehachepi: Fair Sunday; light north wind.

ARIZONA FORECAST.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Forecast for Arizona: Fair Sunday and Monday.

YUMA (Ariz.) Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch from the U. S. Reclamation Service.] Gauge height Colorado River, 16.50 feet.

DENIES REPORTED STRIKE.

The report circulated yesterday that the Harbor Oil Company had brought in a 500-barrel well on its property in Palos Verdes hills was denied last night by W. F. Young, president of the company. He stated that although the well had a very favorable showing of oil, no test had been made as yet, and that about 3400 feet of water is still standing in the hole and will not be bailed out until Monday or Tuesday. Should the well prove to be a commercial producer, it will open up a new oil field, located in one of the most strategic positions in the State.

BOLD NIGHT ATTACK.

A man and woman, both well-dressed and evidently accomplices, walked up to Miss Josephin Gilbert of No. 2212 South Figueroa street as she stepped off a street car at Washington and Figueroa streets early last evening and snatched her handbag, which contained $5 and keys. The man took the bag while the woman stood on the other side of the victim to attract her attention. Both fled.

DRUG OF MISERY AND DEATH IS POURED INTO CALIFORNIA.

Smugglers, Little Watched, Run Half-Million Dollars Worth Yearly Across Line from Mexico—More Men and Greater Vigilance Needed.

BY ADDISON HUGHES.

HALF A MILLION DOLLARS worth of opium is smuggled across the California boundary from Mexico each year, according to the candid admission of government agents employed to prevent just this. Investigation the past week of the situation all along the line from San Diego to Yuma discloses why.

Southern California needs a wide-awake, active patrol of mounted inspectors—perhaps at least [illegible] men—if the apparently impossible is to be accomplished. More mounted men would prove so much more effective; less, not worth the expense the government would be put to in establishing the [illegible]. Certainly, each man, if he performed his duty conscientiously—which is a harder job for a man who is his own boss in the mountains than it would appear—would do some good.

By the men responsible in this district to Washington there has been exerted every possible effort to diminish the traffic; by many of their subordinates—watchers at certain international gates—there is not even a sham of duty. It is seldom that a smuggler of consequence is captured.

Put to the test, government guards at the international line, particularly at Calexico, are shown sadly lacking in their conception of what the people of the United States pay them for. Automobiles go and come across the line—so far as the American side is concerned—without the guards even making a pretext of searching the cars.

[illegible] blame, however, cannot be [illegible] upon the shoulders of the customs and Chinese inspectors assigned [illegible] active duty on the boundary.

The hopelessness of their task, in [illegible] of the fact that both co-operating departments put together do not [illegible] twenty men between San Diego [illegible] Yuma, in a measure explains [illegible] shortcomings.

[illegible] the same and on many other [illegible] where arms and ammunition [illegible] regularly smuggled to Mexico [illegible] hindrance for many months [illegible] President Wilson lifted the embargo, the opium smugglers go and [illegible] as they please, filling their [illegible] with gold and the bodies and brains of "dope" victims with slow death.

Too much emphasis cannot be laid upon the one big curse of California—opium smugglers and opium smokers. Nor can it be stated too plainly that the smugglers are never smokers. They willingly supply the drug, but never do they use it themselves.

WHAT OF IT, UNCLE SAM?

They have cut their wisdom teeth—also their eye teeth, which has not impaired their sight nor prevented them from viewing the havoc they, with the laxity of the United States government to assist them, have wrought.

Perhaps Uncle Sam, despite the fact that he is personified in the person of an academically-learned college professor, does not appreciate the great national menace opium has become in this country.

Perhaps Washington is not aware of the fact that $36,000 worth of the deadly drug is trundled into California each month and that as much, if not more, is certainly carried in across the lines of every other State bordering Mexico, making the total thus brought to the country millions of dollars' worth yearly.

Perhaps Washington does not know that Southern California is the ideal spot for smugglers, that the mountains are as rugged and rangy as one can find anywhere in the United States and that they are crossed and criss-crossed with hidden trails.

Perhaps Washington does not realize what the maximum of one man's physical capabilities are and is misinformed as to what is apparently expected of the handful of guards on patrol along the line.

But perhaps Washington is informed of these and all the other considerations and does not feel that the United States can afford to spend $5000 a month to keep out, conservatively, seven times that much money's worth of opium.

Also, perhaps Washington does not know, with all statistics at hand or obvious under a little inspection, that the opium habit is spreading year by year over the United States, from dive to salon, from caste to caste.

Or, perhaps Washington is not interested!

Investigators venture to say that, at the most conservative estimate, 10 per cent. of the vehicular traffic that crosses the line from Mexico, with Americans at horse rein or auto wheel, is in violation of the law; that the vehicles are loaded with contraband.

Opium smugglers are professionals. They work regularly, month in and month out, crossing and recrossing the line, occasionally at the regular gates and under the very noses of the guards, but usually through the hills to the American side and waiting autos.

Cowpunchers, the few that there are on the international boundary between San Diego and Yuma, are apparently enthusiastic aids of the handful of government inspectors who are making futile efforts to halt the mad rush of smugglers.

The cowboys "ride the line," something somebody else, men paid and sworn by the government, should be doing. If it were not for the aid of some of these rugged broncho busters, an informant says, the authorized officials would not even succeed in accomplishing as much as has and is done.

Investigation of the laxity of the government in permitting the wholesale smuggling of arms and ammunition before the embargo was lifted revealed the second and to the American public equally serious state of affairs.

It brought out the tremendous handicap under which the inspectors in this district are working—the topography of the country.

The suggestion has been made that the State of California should, if the government will not, establish a patrol of its own for the sake of the commonwealth, for the protection of the people against an ogre that is looming larger and larger each month.

Smallpox epidemics bring instant action, with recourse to what are often the most drastic of measures; likewise, opium smoking has become an epidemic, not State-wide, but national, and it, too, must be handled before the curse reaches the vitals of the nation, say those most deeply interested.

The upper picture shows a Chinese inspector at Campo gunning for contraband handlers; middle, an American cowpuncher near Dulzura keeping an eye open for smugglers reported on their way from Ensenada with "dream dope." Fast motors await them.

PIPELESS, YET TAKING OPIUM.

Police Arrest a Man Who Invents Solution.

Method Quick in Effect and Hard to Detect.

Drug Brought Across from Mexico in Flasks.

Exponents of a new and ingenious method of using opium were exposed yesterday by the arrest of C. A. Lincoln, who had been sought by the Federal officials for several weeks. He was arrested by Detectives Cowan and Stevens in a room at No. 660½ Gladys avenue, where he was creating a disturbance in the rooms of Mrs. Mary McAnnily.

Lincoln is supposed to be the discoverer of a new way for consuming the drug. After repeated experiments he found a method by which he could dissolve the opium and obtain the full effects. Thus the pipes generally employed become useless and incriminating paraphernalia.

Lincoln and a gang connected with him are alleged to have made costly experiments to find out the most perfect solution that could be made with the drug.

He then, the authorities say, set about introducing his unique method among the habitual users of the contraband drug in Los Angeles. With their little bottles and hypodermic needles they soon ignored the old haunts of the smokers, and the police were puzzled for several months regarding the apparent rapid disuse of opium.

The "reform" was exposed when Lincoln was taken yesterday. In his pockets were bottles filled with the solution, a hypodermic outfit, and a considerable quantity of opium in the powder state.

One of the advantages Lincoln preaches for his solution is that it is much cheaper than the old method of smoking. Where the smoker had to inhale the fumes of the drug into his lungs, and then wait until it could work into the blood for the soothing effect, the opium fiend can now use the needle and realize the slumbrous impulses in less than one-fourth the time.

To provide his converts with material Lincoln is alleged to have organized a smuggling gang which has easily outwitted the Federal officials. Because of the new method of using the drug much of it has been brought into Los Angeles in liquid form, having been transported in flasks and jugs out of Tia Juana and across the international boundary near San Diego.

Lincoln was under the influence of the drug when he created the disturbance by drawing a weapon and threatening to shoot Mrs. McAnnily.

The poliec and Federal officials are co-operating in efforts to capture the men alleged to have been associated with Lincoln in his operations, which seem to have been very extensive.

RELISH COMPANY QUITS.

The San Diego Relish Company filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court, yesterday. The assets are given at $2030.48, and the debts are scheduled $2582.98. The stock of goods on hand is given at $1358.21.

Passing of "Progressives."

REPUBLICANS REGISTER OVER TWO TO ONE.

IN SPITE of the frantic appeals of the "Progressive" organiets to drag the faithful to the registration offices, the party of a single campaign is dying a miserable death. Yesterday only 508 "Progressives" registered, while 1108 Republicans put their names down on the lists. Republicans who strayed from the fold are now returning in over-swelling numbers. The total figures for Los Angeles county up to noon yesterday showed 36,346 Republicans, while only 22,813 "Progressives" are upon the list. For the past few days the ratio has been over two to one in favor of the Republicans.

The figures for yesterday's registration are: Republicans, 1108; "Progressives," 508; Democrats, 449; Socialists, 144; Prohibitionists, 138; not stating affiliation, 294; miscellaneous, 2649.

The total figures in the county since registration opened are: Republicans, 36,346; Progressives, 22,813; Democrats, 16,690; Socialists, 7048; Prohibitionists, 4796; not stating affiliation, 13,388; total registration, 101,289—about one-half the expected registration.

And Dignity.

HIS IDEA CONVERTS PEANUTS INTO GOLD.

ADDED dignity and profit were given to the popcorn and peanut business by the familiar street-corner vending machine, invented thirty years ago by Charles Cretors of Chicago, who is now a Los Angeles visitor, registered at the Clark.

The novelty of the machines—the dummy man turning a cylinder and other features to attract the eye—has greatly increased the sale of popcorn and peanuts the world over. When Cretors made his discovery he was the owner of a small confectionary store in Decatur, Ill. His patent made him wealthy. The machines are seen now in all the larger cities of America and Europe.

Charles Cretors and the vending machine.

Invented thirty years ago, with which he revolutionized the peanut and popcorn business. The familiar device, seen in all of the principal cities of the world, greatly increased the sale of the two commodities and made a fortune for the inventor. He and Mrs. Cretors are visiting in Los Angeles.

"Public opinion has undergone a gradual and just change in its estimate of the peanut and popcorn merchant," Cretors said yesterday. "He is no longer classed on a par with the 'push-cart vendor,' but is entitled to and receives the same consideration and respect as the perhaps more pretentious retail merchants of his town or city, many of whom would be glad to exchange positions with him—enjoying as he does freedom from business cares and in many cases comparatively much larger returns for his investment.

"The profits from the peanut and popcorn business are much greater than the public knows. Many of the men who stand modestly by the side of their wagons on the street corners are making more money than the merchant behind the plate-glass window.

"Many of the popcorn merchants make from $1000 to $5000 a year profit on a very small investment. A man in Seattle told me that he made $20,000 in one year off of three stands.

"I was in the confectionery business in Decatur in 1884 when I took thought to increase the sales of popcorn and peanuts. I devised an attractive vending machine and stationed it in front of my store. I had the steam whistle arrangement and the dummy turning a cylinder.

"The steam gave the impression that the goods were hot and that is one of the chief advantages of the popular device. The dummy, turning a crank, attracted the attention of passers-by and especially of children.

"In a very short time I was making more money from the $200 invested in the machine than from the $2000 invested in the store. It was rather surprising how the idea took with the public. I realized that I had made an important discovery and I sold out and went to Chicago and specialized on the machine."

Cretors performed another important service for the popcorn and peanut business. He was the first to devise a method for buttering and salting the popcorn before it is popped. This system obviates the danger of greasy fingers from eating the popcorn. By Cretors' method the grains are seasoned alike and during the process of popping.

Cretors has experimented with electric vending machines and found that they are not so successful as those that are operated with steam. The presence of the steam seems to contribute toward the sale of the goods.

Several years ago Cretors retired from active business and turned the management of his Chicago plant over to his son. He and Mrs. Cretors spend most of their time traveling for pleasure. They have passed ten seasons in California.

To Help Men Help Themselves.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The public press, voicing all shades of opinion, recognizes the evils growing out of the congested centers of our large cities and clearly shows that the conscience of the people is awakened to the necessity of relieving these unwholesome conditions. It is true that matters are partially relieved by the efforts of charitably-disposed individuals and by numerous philanthropic organizations. But it is clear that all these efforts fail to accomplish the practical, helpful results so much desired.

The disappointment is due to causes readily understood and acknowledged by all social workers. These agree that the great masses of the people are responsive and willing to help, and that contributions are ample for most purposes; but owing to cumbersome methods, inefficient organization and unrelated effort a large portion of the sum total annually contributed for charitable purposes is consumed in administering the fund.

Granting, however, that conservation and efficiency might result in better economic results, and that every cent contributed would reach those in need of it, is it not possible that the entire system is wrong and that society has approached this all-important question from the wrong direction? Would the root of the disease be reached and a cure effected if every dollar contributed for charitable purposes reached the needy ones in our midst? Would the condition of those in want be permanently improved, and would poverty be lessened?

If a man is at the bottom of a well with no means of escape, and his family is waiting for his return with the daily loaf, he does not want you to send him down a sandwich that he may retain the vital spark and continue to be held a prisoner by his environment. What he needs and has the right to expect is that you will reach down a helping hand and lift him out, so that he may EARN, not BEG, a sandwich.

We are told that the noblest charity is that which enables the object thereof to be independent of charity. To hand a man $10 because he and his family are hungry is beautiful and commendable, but is only temporary relief and is degrading to the finer sensibilities of mankind. To free a man who is bound hand and foot by his environment and place him in a position to earn a wholesome living for himself and those dependent upon him, and thus become a free, self-respecting citizen, is real, helpful, practical charity—charity that profits the individual and the community.

The crying need of the hour is a wholesome, businesslike movement to help men help themselves. Something that will reach out and cut the cords that bind the captives and enable the enslaved to change their environment to one that will afford them remunerative employment whereby they may rear their families in comfort and respectability is what is needed. If a plan can be devised that will accomplish this, and at the same time enable the individual to retain his self-respect, lessen instead of increase the drain upon society and remove the causes of poverty, incalculable good will result.

It is evident that we must give more attention to the cause than to the cure of disease. We must devote more energy in an effort to change the ENVIRONMENT and less to supplying the loaf. We must take the individual OUT of an environment wherein he is helpless and place him in one where he is helpful. If this can be done the demand upon society would be lessened in an ever-increasing ratio, thousands of needy and deserving families would be made self-supporting and self-respecting and the congested condition of our cities relieved.

In several foreign countries this problem has received the serious attention of statesmen and charitable institutions, and plans have been adopted and most satisfying results have resulted. One plan is something as follows and is eminently fitted to our own locality:

The charitable institutions and philanthropic-minded and business men got together and incorporated a company for the sole purpose of taking hold of the problem in a businesslike way. The first provided for a fund of considerable magnitude and with it purchased a tract of land, improved it, divided it into five-acre lots, erected cottages, supplied furniture and equipped each little farm with fowls, pigs, a cow and working implements, and kept an accurate account of the actual cost of each farm and its equipment.

A thoroughly qualified instructor or overseer was employed for the settlement and then the charitable societies were notified that the farms were ready for occupancy. Upon recommendation of these societies, families were placed upon the farms under certain restrictions, which were agreed to between the corporation and the occupants. Upon entering into possession of his home, the colonist was given to understand that he was given nothing beyond the privilege of entering upon the land with the full knowledge that the outfit cost a certain sum of money upon which he would have to pay one per cent. interest until such time as the profits from his crops enabled him to pay the cost of his ranch. The object of the one-per-cent. interest was simply to pay the cost of administration. One-half of the net proceeds from the fruit and truck produced on each farm was refunded each year by the colonist and was returned to the original fund. It was found that within from three to five years these farmers were able to refund the entire amount expended for their account and thus replenish the original fund, which again became available and was passed on to others in the same manner as had been done in the first instance.

The fund thus becomes permanent, is never exhausted, reaches thousands of deserving families, and always remains a potent factor for the betterment of the community and the individual.

It is well to stop and consider what would be gained here in Los Angeles were some such plan adopted. Observe that the fund, whether large or small, becomes a rotating fund and is permanent and not frittered away in temporary relief. Thousands of families would be liberated from the thralldom of poverty and be able to support themselves and become useful units in the development of our industries and cease to be a drain upon our energies. They would become an asset instead of a liability. The congested condition of our cities would be relieved and the demands upon charitable institutions would be correspondingly decreased.

Los Angeles has led the world in many things, and why should she not take up this important matter and set an example that the rest of America will applaud and imitate? Let the charitable institutions and business men get together and let this be the first city in the United States to, in a large degree, abolish poverty as an unnecessary evil, and make hopeful, helpful citizens of those who are now a burden to themselves and to the community.

G. L. KENNEDY.

Stenographers, Attention!

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I read with interest in the San Francisco News Letter an article relative to the labor situation in Los Angeles. The News Letter states that the Los Angeles employment agencies report that there are thousands of efficient, able stenographers, who have come to Los Angeles looking for positions and who are almost starving, due to their inability to secure work.

This may be true, but our experience is quite the contrary. If there are thousands of thoroughly competent, able, hard-working, energetic stenographers who are looking for positions in this city, we have been unable to find any of them in the past four years. We need and always do need, three or four first-class stenographers. We have applied for them to the employment agencies for the past two or three years. True, we get lots of applicants, but they are not thoroughly trained stenographers, nor are they first-class assistants. They are mostly the mediocre stenographers, who, apparently, have been unable to hold their positions in the East and think that Southern California is a "soft place" for any kind of help.

If there are these many thousands out of employment, we should be glad to find two or three of these, to whom we would be glad to give the employment that the News Letter states they want. I think other business concerns and business men in Los Angeles can well use a number. The News Letter should be asked to retract its statement.

SCHOOL DOG SHOW.

Pupils to Present Their Pets for Illustration in the Nature-Study Department.

One hundred and twenty-seven dog shows in a row! That's to be the record of Los Angeles during the coming week, when the school children will have an exhibit of their pets in each school, under the supervision of Dr. Edwards, nature-study supervisor.

There won't be any heart burnings over blue ribbons, either, nor any back alley fights because the judges have awarded a prize to the dog that has more speckles in the roof of his mouth than the neighboring dog's mouth can show. There won't be any disqualifying on the ground of legs that are too short or ears that are too long! All the qualification any doggie needs is to own a master. If any small boy has a dog he loves, in he goes. He doesn't need a vestige of a pedigree, either. He can be spotted coyote crossed with jackrabbit, for all anybody will care; any little old yellow fist at the end of string attached to a small boy is eligible.

There's no educational qualification, either. Of course if a dog can sit up and beg, or has any other tall-brow accomplishment, it makes him more popular, and all such dogs will be put through their paces for the delectation of boys who possess less accomplished pups.

Fine-bred dogs will be used as examples for study, however, when Dr. Edwards make his rounds, and the different breeds of canines, together with the history of their evolution, as well as the evolution of all dogs from wolfdom will be studied.

The animals will be kept in cages, as at a regular exhibit, except that they will be allowed long recesses, and may go home with their masters at night. The exhibit will last for two days, probably Wednesday and Thursday, though the days are not yet definitely decided upon.

BEFORE TEACHERS' CLUB.

Berkeley Professor to Lecture in This City on Interesting Historical Topic.

The Los Angeles City Teachers' Club has arranged for a series of lectures by Prof. Herbert E. Bolton of the University of California, relative to his researches in the archives of Mexico, which he declares will necessitate the re-writing of the history of all the Southwest. The first lecture will be delivered on next Saturday evening, in Cumnock Hall, on the subject, "France and Spain in Louisiana."

Sparks Young of Texas University will lecture before the same club on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Blanchard Hall, on the subect, "Dramatic Ancestors." The public can secure entrance by paying for the privilege.

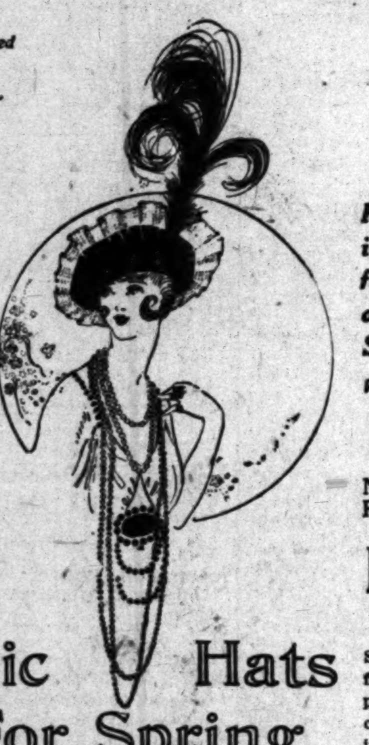
Sketched From "Ville" Model



Surely, this is the proper description of the Vanguard of Spring Styles—as exemplified by the "Ville's" attractive showing of—

NEW HATS, SUITS, COATS, DRESSES, WAISTS, SILKS, DRESS GOODS AND WASH FABRICS—

For they bring Dame Fashion's latest message. Styles hark back to Grandmother's time, when Fashion favored crinolines and bustles; ruffles in abundance; bouffant draperies and panniers. The fabrics are soft and supple, especially adapted for graceful draperies; and the delicate colorings and flowers of Spring never found truer representation. We invite you to see the unfolding of Spring Styles, Monday.

Hairdressing Parlors

Smart models made from plain or changeable taffeta silks, flowered or plain crepe de chines, satin charmeuse and ripple crepe. The fashions for Spring and Summer are exceedingly interesting and show the influence of styles used in grandmother's girlhood days. Such features as bouffant draperies, panniers, self-ruffles and ruchings, and suggestions of bustles are much in evidence.

Spring Dresses in Novelty Cottons

$11, $12.50, $15, $17.50, and up to $32.50

The new cotton dresses are unusually attractive this spring; they follow the same lines of fashion as the silk and crepe dresses. The fabrics are decidedly pretty and include cotton eponge, figured cotton crepe, cotton challie, ratine, etc.

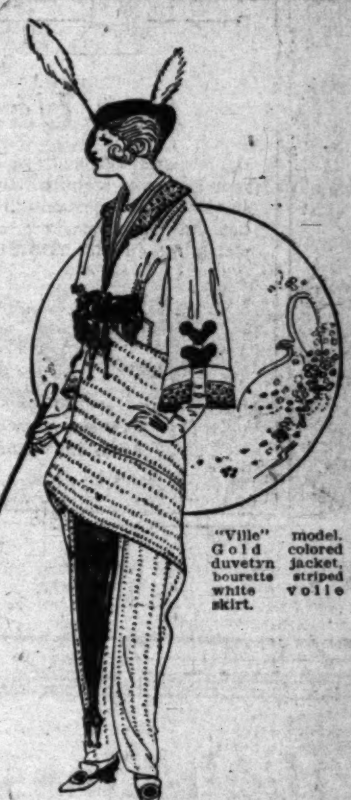
New Spring Suits

$22.50, $25, $27.50, $30, $35 and up

Our showing of new suits will still further enhance the reputation of the Ville de Paris for distinctive styles. The new models are extremely smart. Short and jaunty jackets in bolero or Eton effects—novelty collars of lace or silk, fancy vests, draped skirts with tunic or tier effects are most fashionable features. Crepe weaves are very modish; also granite cloth, checks, serge and cote de cheval.

New Spring Skirts

Latest models in taffeta silk, black and white check, navy or black serge and mannish worsted. The black taffeta silk skirts are made with tunic or two-tier effect. Prices range $14.50 to $25.00. Black and white shepherd checks, $5.00, $7.50, $10.00. Peg-top models in black or navy serge, $6.50. Ask to see our splendid assortment of new skirts.



"Ville" model. Gold colored duvetyn jacket, bourette striped white voile skirt.

Chic Hats For Spring

Our charming collection of advance styles in Hats, strikes the dominant note of Spring Fashions. The accompanying sketch illustrates one of our chic models, with beret crown of taffeta silk, bandeau of jet, lace brim, trimmed with high mounting of paradise. Small shapes, gracefully rolled up on side, are very modish. Milan, or hemp, with crowns of taffeta silk, satin or moire, ostrich pompons, ornaments of jet or rhinestone, are fashionable features.

Fall and Winter Suits Reduced to $8.95, $15.00, $19.50
Fall and Winter Coats Reduced to $7.50, $15.00, $19.50

There are still many opportunities to secure excellent bargains, as prices represent but a mere fraction of original worth.

Cheney Bros. Shower Proof 23-inch Foulards $1.00

Our showing of these celebrated silks is very comprehensive, the designs being entirely new; quaint Chinese and Mandarin motifs in tones that are soft and dull, yet harmonize perfectly. Then there are the new Cubist and Futurist effects; a great assortment of flower designs and the usual variety of conventional designs. The color grounds are Copenhagen, navy, mahogany, black, white, taupe, reseda and wistaria. Truly, the woman who selects "Shower Proof" Foulards for her new gown, chooses wisely and well.

New Dress Fabrics for Spring

Anticipating a strong demand for Spring woolens, we have made extensive preparations for the season, and this week place on sale some exceptional values in the following styles.

Imported Shepherd Checks From $1.25 to $3.50 Yard

True, these imported checked fabrics have long held popular favor, but this season's selling will eclipse all former records. For these reasons they are so well adapted to present vogue in demi-tailored suits, the fabrics are very durable, and do not show dust. Black and white checks will predominate this Spring, although there are many other combinations that are attractive. In widths from 48 to 58 inches.

Waffle Crepe $2.50 Yard

A decidedly new fabric of a light weight, and very effective. Admirably adapted for the prevailing draped styles—56 inches wide.

Wool Crepe de Chine
Wool Cascadeuse
Wool Mistral Eponge . . $2.50

Three new weaves, all possessing the soft draping qualities so fashionable. The color assortment in these beautiful materials comprises violet, paon, Copenhagen, Wilhelmina, chicory, plumcot, Mignonette, rust, Labrador, navy, nickel and black. All 56 inches wide.

New Spring Coatings $3.50

Some stunning effects are shown in the new coatings. These are of the waffle effect, plaid backgrounds with surface colors of Empire green, cadet, black, black and white. White and blue checked Chinchilla is another very fetching style—56 inches wide.

New Shadow Laces

Our collection of new laces is attracting much attention—and well it may, for they are indeed beautiful. Fine, sheer, "cobwebby" effects in newest designs that are hard to describe—you must see them to fully appreciate their attractiveness.

Allover Shadow Laces from $1.00 up.
12-in. Shadow Lace Flouncings from 65c up.
27-in. Shadow Lace Flouncings from $1.00 up.

We show many handsome novelties in lace flouncings that will be very modish this season, from among which we note Shadow Flouncings Embroidered in Gold or Silver Tinsel, and Color Effects.

New Spring Cottons

Never have we shown a more extensive collection of Spring cottons nor offered seasonable fabrics at such reasonable figures. Special mention is made of the following fabrics:

White Embroidered Tosca Crepes 42 in. wide, $1.00 to $3.75 yd.

This is one of the season's most favored fabrics, a handsome, sheer French crepe with small or medium-sized embroidered figures. The choice of patterns is diverse, the styles most exclusive.

Crepe Ondine 44 In. Wide $1.50

A very new and handsome crepe, in medium weight, with fine flecks or tufts. In white, cuir, Saxe blue, Hague blue and rose. Will drape gracefully.

Crepe Faconne 65c

A novel silk and fiber cloth of exceptional worth, if present selling is any evidence. It is soft, and readily adaptable to modish draping. The real value is considerably more than 65c.

White Crepe Eponge 36 Inches Wide 55c

Special for Monday Only.

We are offering one of the most popular white fabrics at considerably less than actual worth, as an incentive for visiting the Wash Goods Department. This low pricing is simply to spur inspection of an exhibit that surpasses all previous efforts in attractiveness.

Dainty Dresses for Babies

Attractive styles in nainsook or lawn with dainty lace or embroidery trimmings. With square neck and short sleeves. Sizes suitable for ages 6 months to 2 years. $1.25, $1.50 and $2.75.

Gertrude Style Baby Skirts

Splendid little models buttoned on shoulders and prettily trimmed with lace and embroidery. Shown in desirable materials. Sizes suitable for ages 6 months to 2 years. Splendid values at $1.00, $1.25, $1.50.

Mail Order Department

We prepay charges on Parcel Post packages of mailable merchandise, in local, first, second and third zones. Express charges prepaid 50 miles on purchases amounting to $3.00 or over; 100 miles, $5.00 purchases or over.

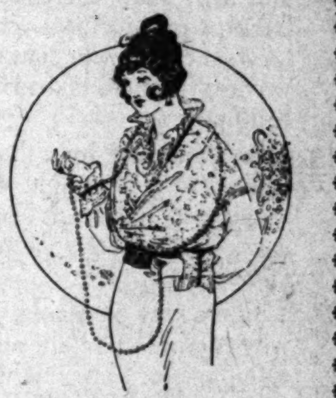
---Charming Spring Waists

In taffeta silk, lace, crepe de chine, net and chiffon.

$5.00, $7.50, $10
$15, $18 and up

That indefinable something called "smart style" is ideally expressed in our attractive collection of new spring blouses and waists.

Limited space prevents giving a detailed description of all the fascinating new models. We mention as a hint:



White Taffeta Silk Waists

With collar and cuffs of gold colored duvetyn and jet buttons.

White Broche Silk Waists

In the new waistcoat model, with collar, cuffs and buttons in moss green duvetyn.

White Crepe de Chine Waists

Smart model, artistically adorned with filet and Point Gaze Laces. Novel collar of voile embroidered in gobelin blue to match girdle of blue moire.

Tailored & Semi-Tailored Waists

Very new and modish effects. Shown in cotton natte, novelty crepe, sheer handkerchief linen in blue or pink, and dainty checked dimity. Some of the waists have collar and cuffs of white pique. Prices range $3.95, $5.00, $7.50 and up.

High-Class Business for Sale

One of Los Angeles' Best Paying and Well Established Retail and Wholesale Concerns to be Sold

I came here from Oregon to personally take charge of the business of my firm. Circumstances have arisen that make it necessary for me to go back just as quickly as possible.

We are going to concentrate our enterprises. Therefore our Los Angeles establishment is for sale outright to any responsible business man or set of men.

All the advantages included in good reputation, high-class following, high-grade merchandise, exclusive agencies, careful business management, complete organization and choice location can now be had without cost. To sell out quickly we are willing to take inventory cost of merchandise and fixtures.

Here's a chance for a thousand young men who are anxious to get the right start in life. Here's opportunity for thousands of business men or women who want opportunity to better themselves.

This is a very profitable, genteel, and in every way desirable retail and wholesale enterprise for some one who can manage a nearly $100,000 investment.

At least $25,000 cash is required, balance on reasonable terms and can be paid to a great extent out of profits of the business.

Principals only.

Stops Tobacco Habit In One Day

Sanitarium Publishes Free Book Showing How Tobacco Habit Can Be Banished in from One to Five Days at Home.

The Elders Sanitarium, located at 674 Main st., St. Joseph, Mo., has published a free book showing the deadly effect of the tobacco habit, and how it can be banished in from one to five days at home.

Men who have used tobacco for more than fifty years have tried this method and say it is entirely successful, and in addition to banishing the desire for tobacco has improved their health wonderfully. This method banishes the desire for tobacco, no matter whether it is smoking, chewing, cigarette or snuff dipping.

As this book is being distributed free, anyone wanting a copy should send their name and address at once.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me. Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 805 Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Board of Public Works will close the hearings on Broadway tunnel-lowering damage claims this week. It is probable that the estimates of the City Engineer of $53,465 will be slightly raised, but many claims are to be discarded altogether.

The Board of Public Works adopted a resolution yesterday, prohibiting soliciting of any kind in the City Hall. This is done to save the time of city employees.

Friends of Fire Commissioner Frankenstein yesterday presented him with a diamond-set gold badge in appreciation of his services on the commission.

Another angle in a bitter controversy developed yesterday with the filing of a suit by a brother against a sister, asking the court that property controlled by the sister be declared held in trust for both of them and for an accounting of properties received from the mother.

At the City Hall.

HEARINGS ON TUNNEL CLAIMS.

WORKS BOARD WILL CLOSE THEM DURING THIS WEEK.

Final Awards May Not Be Made for Three Weeks, but Total Estimate of City Engineer Likely to Be Slightly Raised by Commissioners—Many Claims Rejected.

The Board of Public Works is holding daily sessions for the purpose of hearing claimants for damages, based on the proposed lowering of the floor of the Broadway tunnel and the consequent necessary change of grades in California street and North Broadway from Temple street to the tunnel. The board will complete its hearings during the ensuing week.

The plans provide for a cut on California street, between Broadway and Hill streets, that will give a 14 per cent. grade and that will necessarily cause the abandonment of the Los Angeles Railroad Corporation tracks in that block. The grade would be too steep to operate cars with safety. It is proposed to allow the railway to shift its tracks so as to use Hill street from California to Temple street.

The Board of Public Works yesterday completed taking evidence on eighteen of the forty-two damage claims filed within the legal time limit. It has found that numerous claims filed are for damages on property that is outside the assessment district and west of the grade changes, and all such claims are to be disregarded.

The total amount of the damage claims filed within the legal time limit amounted to $388,928.34. Since that date there have been several additional claims filed. The City Engineer's estimate of the damages is placed at $53,465.41. It is probable that the board will slightly increase this later total when the final awards are made. It is probable that these awards will not be announced within three weeks.

NO SOLICITING.
PROHIBITED AT CITY HALL.

No more will the festive peanut vendor, apple man, church subscription worker and a hundred and one other solicitors for the coin of the realm find a rich and lucrative field in the City Hall, with its more than 600 employees. A new edict was issued by the Board of Public Works yesterday, prohibiting all solicitation within the City Hall. There are to be no exceptions to this rule. It goes into effect immediately.

The resolution was introduced at yesterday's meeting of the board by Commissioner O'Brien, in the interest of efficiency. O'Brien stated that the solicitation of all kinds that is a daily feature at the City Hall has become a veritable nuisance and has been causing the city an aggregate loss of time of employees that is startling. He also believes that city employees should be allowed to select their own charities and attend to their merchandising outside their working hours, and that the constant demands upon their time and attention is not conducive to the best public service. President Handley heartily agreed with this position and the new rule was adopted by unanimous vote.

Once Again—Gas Rates.

The Long Beach Boulevard Improvement Association, through its representative, Frank Allender, filed with the City Council yesterday a lengthy protest over natural gas rates, and demanded that the rate be fixed at 30 cents per 1000 cubic feet "and nothing more."

The communication charges that "invisible and sinister forces" are attempting to fix the rate at 52 cents and that a "great wrong has by secret methods, in our judgment, here been attempted, which we regard in no other light than an assault upon every home and fireside in the city of Los Angeles." Allender spoke at some length on the resolutions.

A protest has also been filed by the Moneta-Avenue Improvement Association in which it is stated that the "general opinion" of its members is that the 52-cent rate is too high, and the Council is asked to "carefully consider" the fixing of the rates.

Volunteer Fire Companies.

Fire Chief Eley yesterday reported to the Fire Commission that volunteer fire companies have been established with hand-drawn hose reels at Wilmington Park, Wilmington, and San Fernando road, Glassell Park. The policy of the commission is to encourage the establishment of such volunteer fire companies in all outlying portions of the city.

Frankenstein Gets Badge.

At the close of yesterday's session of the Fire Commission, Mayor Rose, on behalf of numerous friends of Commissioner Frankenstein, presented to that official a beautiful gold fire badge, adorned with a diamond setting and suitably lettered. The Mayor stated that this badge was presented in appreciation of the deep interest Commissioner Frankenstein has exhibited in the work of his department. Frankenstein made a suitable response.

City Hall Shortstops.

The City Council yesterday provided for the Board of Public Works purchasing 12,000 barrels of road oil for street maintenance work. The oil is to be delivered on the streets north of Slauson avenue and all work is to be done with a pressure spray. The oil is to be spread during the spring months.

Members of the Public Playgrounds Commission and employees of this department attended in a body yesterday the funeral of Richmond Plant, who was a member of this commission.

The Board of Public Works has set Monday, March 2, as the time for opening bids for the construction of the Arroyo de la Brea storm drain.

The City Council yesterday adopted the report of the Public Works Committee, setting the boundaries of the assessment district for the opening of West Sixteenth street, between Pacific avenue and Normandie avenue. The assessment district is to reach to Figueroa street on the east, and midway between Sixteenth and Washington and Sixteenth and Pico streets.

The Fire Commission yesterday gave a vote of thanks to the Southern Pacific Company for hauling free of charge fire apparatus to the recent fire at San Pedro, when the E. K. Wood Lumber Company's dry sheds were destroyed.

Fire Chief Eley yesterday recommended placing thirty-two new fire hydrants in the western part of the city, and the Fire Commission asked the Public Service Commission to do so.

At the Courthouse.

SUIT OF BROTHER AGAINST SISTER.

ALLEGES BUSINESS JEALOUSY AND ASKS ACCOUNTING.

Mother's Estate Controlled by Daughter Is Sought on Equal Division by Son—Receiver to Be Appointed for a San Diego Bank Building—Suit Involves Tires.

The filing of a suit by Dr. W. L. Wills against his sister, Madeline F. Wills, yesterday, is one more angle in the controversy being fought out in the courts for the ownership of property valued at $250,000. In this suit Dr. Wills asks that his sister be adjudged to hold in trust for their mutual benefit the estate of their mother, Mrs. Charlotte Wills, who died October 5, 1908, and for an accounting of all properties originally belonging to Mrs. Wills and alleged to have been handled by Miss Wills.

Dr. Wills alleges that it was the intention of his mother that her estate be shared equally by himself and his sister. In her earlier wills, he states, Miss Wills unduly influenced her mother to convey considerable property to her outright.

It is alleged that Miss Wills succeeded R. L. Poindexter as her mother's business manager in 1902. Property she owned at Duluth, valued at $120,000, is alleged to have been sold and the proceeds invested by Miss Wills in a partnership with Louise E. M. Brainerd. Later Mrs. Brainerd bought Miss Wills's interest for $100,000.

Dr. Wills alleges that his sister was jealous of him and that she took advantage of his mother's advanced age and the condition of her mind. A will contest is pending in which the parties are opposed to each other.

INVOLVES CONTRACTOR.
TO APPOINT RECEIVER.

The appointment of a receiver for the American Bank building at San Diego, valued at $200,000, asked for by Mrs. Katherine Coit in her suit against the American Building Company, will become part of the action which Judge Hewitt has decided to try Tuesday as a whole instead of resuming the argument on the receivership motion.

Mrs. Coit is a minority stockholder in the American Building Company and resides in this city. The construction of the American Bank building was let on contract to Shields & Son. The proposition was to sell bonds and pay for the construction of the building out of the proceeds. The husband of Mrs. Coit claimed to have organized and promoted the American Building Company, in consideration of which he was to receive all of the unissued capital stock of the corporation.

The corporation could not go ahead with the contract and finally Shields & Son made an offer that they would take the bonds of the corporation at 95 per cent. of their value to the extent of the cost of the building, the stock going to them as a bonus. The effect of this was the corporation accepting the proposition, that Shields & Son practically held all of the bonds and a large majority of the stock.

It is claimed that prior to acceptance Shields & Son procured nearly all of the stock which was issued to them and that both Shields and his son were made directors with a third man, C. K. Vorhees, so that when the corporation accepted the proposition Shields & Son and their alleged "man Friday" virtually had their own proposition put up to them, which they accepted.

Mrs. Coit is now seeking to have all the bonds set aside and a cancellation of the stock issued to the directors.

DOUBLE DEDUCTIONS?
TIRE DEALERS INVOLVED.

The trial of a suit alleging double deductions in credits for the adjustment of tires and involving the sum of $22,000 is attracting the attention of tire dealers in Judge Shenk's court. The action was brought by the Michelin Tire Company against the the Milton (N. J.) corporation. The system of double deduction was discovered by Pacific Coast Manager Cummings and to get at the bottom of the facts expert accountants will be called in.

There is no allegation that the double deduction was done intentionally. The defendants deny the alleged double deductions involve the sum of $22,000. The records of the Coleman & Bentels Company of the Michelin Tire Company will be overhauled during the course of the trial.

SUSPICIOUS BOX.
IT REMAINS UNOPENED.

A round, tin box received through the mail by Judge Houser yesterday was first inspected curiously and later regarded with suspicion. It bears a Newark (N. J.) postmark and weighs less than an ounce. It is sealed with a tin cap and appears to be about three inches long and a little more than an inch through.

Judge Houser confessed he is not eager to open the box. No letter accompanied it, and why it was sent to him and by whom will probably remain a mystery until the cap is taken off, which no one in Department Fifteen seems inclined to do.

WOULD SEPARATE.
WEDDED LIFE MARRED.

Mrs. Marie J. W. Osmun, alleged to be incompetent, filed a suit for separate maintenance yesterday against Silas C. Osmun, a blacksmith, who has accumulated property worth $15,000. The desire to separate from her husband comes after a wedded life of twenty-seven years. Mrs. Osmun is represented in the suit by her guardian, S. E. Burke, who alleges that Osmun deserted his wife.

Mrs. Osmun asks the court to restrain her husband from disposing of the community property and leaving the State. She also asks for $60 a month alimony. The Osmuns were married at New York, July 28, 1886.

CONFESSES.
FACES STIFF SENTENCE.

Jose Garcia, charged with a statutory offense, confessed yesterday morning to Deputy Sheriff Sepulveda. A few hours before Garcia's bail had been fixed at $3500 and his preliminary examination set for February 11 by Justice Reeve. Garcia was captured Friday by deputy sheriffs after several days' search had been made for him. Garcia faces a stiff sentence, a similar case resulting in a sentence of sixty years in the penitentiary only a few days ago.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.
BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

JUDGMENT ENTERED. By stipulation of the attorneys judgment for Alfred O. Larkin was entered by Judge Works yesterday in Larkin's suit against C. L. Donovan, who held the lease on the hotel at No. 518 South Hill street. Larkin originally leased the property to Sena M. Strain at a total rental price of $25,550 for four years and ten months. She transferred the lease to Donovan, and the suit was to recover $1250 and profits, the rental at the rate of $450 a month and $1000 unlawful detaination.

NO DIVORCES. Not a divorce suit was filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday. This is remarkable from the fact that the suits filed average more than a dozen a day.

INCORPORATIONS. The Roadamite Paving Supply Company, incorporators C. C. Spicer, Charles Tutschulte, R. B. Best, George W. C. Baker and E. B. Chamberlain, capital stock $400,000, subscribed $500; Kelchner Market Company, incorporators W. H. Kelchner, Jennie Kelchner and P. T. Flinn, capital stock $10,000, subscribed $3.

Love.

WIFE'S DEVOTION SAVES HUSBAND.

WALKS HUNDRED MILES TO HELP HIM IN TROUBLE.

Court Admits Mexican to Probation After Hearing Story of Woman's Faithfulness and Suffering—Deputy Sheriffs Make Up Purse to Start Them Anew in Life.

When Cacino Castor left his bride at Oxnard to seek work in Los Angeles he little expected that the devotion of the woman would result in saving him from a term in prison and also be the means of softening the heart of Judge Willis to the extent of placing him on probation for two years and rendering him financial aid.

After Castor arrived in Los Angeles he got into trouble through obtaining possession of a fellow-roomer's valise. A charge of grand larceny was placed against him and in the course of time Castor was put at work on the county chain gang. His wife, Margarita, learning he was in trouble, walked from Oxnard, about sixty miles by the road, and inquired at the County Jail. When she learned he was working with the road gang in Topango Canyon, she set out for that place and after talking with her husband, returned to the city, where she was found outside the County Jail by Deputy Sheriff Aguirre. She was famished, footsore and weary. She told her story to Aguirre, who was touched by the woman's faithfulness and pitiful condition and raised a purse among the deputy sheriffs.

Yesterday, in Judge Willis court, Castor's case was called and after hearing of the woman's devotion and the story of her long journey, the court admitted Castor to probation.

WEESP'S ALL RIGHT!

Man Who Goes to Australia Because Pet Cat's Sick Comes Back Smiling and Happy.

Weesp is well, thank you, and still increasing in weight. Weesp is a cat in Sydney. A. P. Tom, his devoted master, has returned to Los Angeles for the winter season and is registered at the Westminster. He is happy.

Tom arranged his schedule so as to be in time to attend the cat show at No. 822 South Broadway. He has been a delighted visitor at the show. Tom made a special trip to Australia a year ago to see Weesp at a time when his highness was in bad health. Tom has just one hobby—cats.

"How is Weesp?" one of the guests at the hotel inquired of Tom yesterday.

"Fine, thank you. His health could not be better. His weight is increasing. He weighs twenty-one pounds now and is larger, I believe, than any animal at your cat show."

COWS FOR EXPOSITION.

Wisconsin to Go It Strong With Aristocratic Live Stock in San Francisco Next Year.

Aristocratic milch cows will be the important feature of the Wisconsin exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The information is disclosed by D. E. Bowe and R. R. Messmer, members of the Wisconsin Exposition Commission, who are in the city, registered at the Van Nuys, on the way back home from San Francisco.

"We will give special attention to the live stock exhibit since our State is noted the world over for its dairy products," Bowe said yesterday. "The prize milk-giving cow of the world will be a part of the exhibit. I have forgotten how many tubfulls of milk she gives a week, but anyhow, it is more than any other cow. Naturally, we are proud of this animal. It is such as she that have made our State great.

"Most of the cattle in our livestock exhibit will be of the Guernsey and Holstein breeds. We ship animals of this breed to all parts of the world."

The Wisconsin Legislature made an appropriation of $75,000 for the exhibit. The citizens of the State are raising a like amount by popular subscription.

NEGLIGENCE CHARGED.

Government Sues Visalia Postmaster and His Bondsmen for Loss of Valuable Registered Letter.

The loss of a registered letter, bearing date of February 9, 1911, and supposed to have been dispatched from the postoffice at Visalia, to the National Bank of Commerce, New York, and containing $6400, is the subject of an action brought in the United States District Court, yesterday.

The suit is in behalf of the government against Elbert S. Lamberson, postmaster at Visalia. S. Mitchell and Ernest H. Miller (administrator of the estate of E. O. Miller) who, with Mitchell, was bondsman for Lamberson, in the sum of $17,000. A judgment for $6400 is prayed for, and it is alleged that the disappearance of the letter was through the carelessness of Lamberson, while acting as such official.

DESTRUCTIVE.
Villa has ordered all the members of Castillo's gang to be shot on sight. It is all right to set a thief to catch a thief; but if the rebel army exterminates itself in this way, what will Mexico do for a war?

OF COURSE NOT.
The French mines are so short of men that the demand for coal over there cannot be supplied. It would not do for labor to meet this emergency; to do so might deplete the ranks of the army of unemployed.

BEWARE.
Young man, do you know that to read Shelley with a girl almost amounts to marrying her? An engagement or a marriage is only a point of understanding. That is why some of the matches that are made in heaven are heavenly after they are made.

NOW WHAT?
Sylvia Pankhurst has seceded from the militant suffragette organization in London. Gentle soul! The blood of the police and of Parliament began to pall on her fine sensibilities. Or is it that the militants in London do not militate enough and that she is going over to the Boer army or intends organizing a regiment of suffragette Highlanders in Scotland?

AN OBJECTION.
Western Fruit Jobbers have voted for the use of the cental instead of the bushel. This will bring great confusion to the English language. Tell a girl that you love her a million bushels and she knows what you mean. It may not be enough for her, and it will not be what she deserves, but it will give her an idea that you are on the right track. Who ever heard of loving anybody so many centals?

ALIENABLE RIGHTS.
The Spaniards in Torreon have been warned to avoid summary executions. We sympathize with their efforts in this direction. One should always employ caution in his own execution. Such affairs should not be impromptu nor spontaneous. Every man is entitled to from thirty to ninety days of anticipation before anything like this happens to him. Nothing is in worse taste than vulgar haste in getting executed.

ON THE JOB.
A professor at the University of California says the world's food supply would be completely exhausted in three weeks if production were to be stopped. We refuse to eat sawdust on any such alarm. The family cook may give her month's notice, but the rest of us can't afford it. Some of us work to make a living, some to express ourselves, some because we are restless or need discipline and a few because it is fun; but work we all do and ever shall.

DIVINE MADNESS.
We wonder if the judgment day is repeated at intervals and if Verdi has not been present at one of them. He seems to carry a haunting recollection of something of that sort in his music. He probably could not have written the "Aida" march if he had not seen a world rising from the dead and had not heard the notes of Gabriel on that morning. The very fact that it is big enough for an operatic tragedy in which a man and a woman are to be buried alive is proof enough that it is a note of triumph to be sounded when the dead are quickened.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?
A city, a country and perhaps a world takes up peculiarly with a certain song all at once, and the melody has a vogue extending from weeks to years. Sometimes the piece is classic. Again, it may be a rag. Sometimes it has peace, sometimes yearning and sometimes gladness and swing. It must be for a reason. It must be that it tallies the vibration of a season. It must meet some definite need with some specific answer. For instance, it would be interesting to know just why at this particular time the "Vesti la giubba" from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" is such a rage with Los Angeles.

NOT ACCLIMATED.
An Oklahoma negro has discovered that he is the chief of a tribe from Africa. It is the tribe of Akim, and he calls himself Chief Sam. The natives live on the Gold Coast of West Africa, and thither Chief Sam is leading forty-five families from Oklahoma to make their future homes. They may go, but we predict that they won't like it. The thorny butterbush and stringy cheese tree will not look good to the darky who is accustomed to an opossum-crowned persimmon sapling with a sweet potato patch not a hundred yards away. The occupation of washing gold chunks is agreeable to contemplate, but it is largely a feat of the imagination in Africa and everywhere else. Picking cotton, hoeing corn and swinging a cradle in fields of rippling wheat are much more to the liking of those children of Akim who have weathered the storms of Oklahoma climate and politics for a generation. One of the objects in leaving a place is to get away from it. In ten years a man grows out of the life of the community he left behind. In 100 years a people will uproot itself completely in a land from which it departs to be firmly grounded in another. Besides, Africa has been brought under white dominion, and white it must remain.

THE REPUBLICANS' STAND.
The Republican party must adhere to the fundamental principles of government and sound methods of party action. That was the keynote of the Santa Barbara conference; that, the people of California want; their testimony to that effect is upon the books of the registrars throughout this State where they have by the many thousands proclaimed themselves "Republicans."

The tremendous revolt from so-called "Progressive" notions, fads and follies which is now taking place is an unmistakable proof of the positive determination of honest Republicans, so many of whom were deceived into temporary abandonment, to come back into the party if they can do so without punishment or humiliation. This certainly is true of the rank and file—the great mass of the party. It may not be true of the noisy and unfaithful leaders, so-called; but their number cannot hope to have the support of the State or of the United States, for it is known that few of them are stable, many of them are faithless, and practically all of them are unreliable.

Those who wish to come back are welcome. But they must return to the same party which they deserted, the same principles and the same motives. There must be no compromise. The stability of the party cannot be maintained by shifting conviction to please factions. But honest Republicans who were unfortunately led astray by false denunciations, by clamor, proscription and unfounded claims of reform, will be found ready and willing to come back to the party on that basis. There is nothing in the weak policy of compromise where principle is involved.

In the development of the Republican party for the State campaign which is near, and for the national campaign which will soon be upon us, there must be sincere cooperation between all members of the party; honest, patriotic clubs and organizations and the regiments that fight the political battles. And the Republican party is no place for internal dissension, political outlawry or selfish, private ambition. There is no need of or place for party inharmony, or any call for combat except combat against the common political foe—and the uncommon one likewise.

The surprising thing now manifest in California is not that the people are disgusted with the "Progressive" administration, but that they should have been for so long a time apparently blind to the extravagance, favoritism and discriminative policies against legitimate industries. It is surprising that the people should not, long ago, have seen through the masks of righteousness which the "Progressive" leaders have worn. But it is encouraging—the most gratifying encouragement for those who have remained loyal and fought the good fight against the host of unscrupulous politicians—to see the citizens rising on all sides to proclaim their realization that the Republican party, and the Republican party alone, is entitled to State and national confidence because of its principles and of its methods.

The Grand Old Party has gone through many fierce campaigns; it has been overshadowed by enemies; it has been tempted with victory if it would but swerve from its convictions; it has been threatened with destruction if it remained loyal to its principles, and through it all—from Fremont to Taft—has stood by its standards, militantly defending the prosperity of the nation, faithful to the Constitution and to the Flag. Such is the message that comes from Santa Barbara.

FURNISHING ARMS TO REBELS.
In the olden days "befoh the wah," Col. Peyton Randolph Crittendon Brown experienced a change of heart. It was a Baptist change of heart, and called, in due course, for immersion in the Tombigbee River. The colonel was solicitous for the future well-being of his slave, "Joe," who had for years been his body servant, and he urged upon Joe the advantages of being baptized. The fat old darky was not of an ardent religious temperament, but he was devoted to the colonel, and readily accepted the suggestion of the latter to collaborate with him, or at least closely succeed him in being religiously ducked.

There was a large gathering at the river bank the next Sabbath morning to witness the baptism of the colonel and Joe. After Col. Brown's soul had been duly saved the dominie attended to that of Joe. The girth of Joe was considerable. The waistband of Joe's trousers was weak. It broke. The current of the river was swift, and it tore the body of Joe from the preacher's grasp and carried it a dozen yards or more down stream. Joe found his footing and emerged dripping. He blew the water from his mouth and nose and exclaimed: "De first thing you know, some gentleman's niggah will get drowned with this yeah damned foolishness."

The anecdote is commended to the experimental diplomatist who occupies the White House, and who, in his eagerness to punish Huerta for illegitimately assisting Madero to a harp has, without authority, suspended the operation of the United States neutrality laws, has tampered with—if he has not violated—the law of nations, and has, by permitting Carranza and Villa freely to bring arms into Mexico from the United States, enlarged the facilities of the bandits to murder Huerta troops and followers, and increased their power to rob Americans as well as their own countrymen and women.

Suppose that in despite of President Wilson's aid to the rebels Huerta should win in the contest? Will not the action of the United States in aiding Villa and Carranza be apt to bring the sympathy and aid of millions of "gringo-hating" Mexicans to Huerta? And suppose that some American who has been despoiled of his property and driven out of Mexico by Villa should cause the United States to make a claim against Mexico for compensation, would not the Huerta government have a logical and moral right to reply to the United States: "This American was plundered and driven out by men whom you allowed to be supplied with arms and ammunition for that purpose. You were a national accessory before the fact to the outrage upon your own citizen. Suppose you pay the bill yourself."

There are authorities which make a legal distinction between arms furnished by a nation and arms furnished by private parties, by permission of the nation, but morally there is no difference.

Suppose that Englishmen, and Germans, and Frenchmen, who shall be despoiled of property by Mexican bandits that have been supplied with arms by the United States, shall make a claim upon us? May not the United States government be fairly called upon to respond in damages for its share in the transaction?

We made Great Britain pay $15,000,000 because 290 merchants of Liverpool built and armed the Alabama and presented or sold her to the Confederate States to prey upon American commerce. Except technically what is the difference in principle or in fact between England permitting the sale of arms and munitions of war to the rebel Semmes, and President Wilson permitting the sale of arms to the rebel Carranza?

If Woodrow Wilson ever reads anything except his own speeches it would be an advantage to him and make him less ridiculous in the eyes of the nation if he would take a glance at the writings of the authorities on international law.

Hall (fourth edition, section 211,) says a neutral state is under the absolute obligation to do nothing which will aid one belligerent to the injury of the other, and that it cannot furnish guns or munitions of war, is now generally regarded as involved in the very idea of neutrality. Hall further says: "A neutral nation is in general bound not to furnish munitions of war to a belligerent."

It was held in the Alabama Award Case that it is the duty of a neutral nation not to allow its territory to be used as a base of operation, and also, that a neutral government is bound to use due diligence to prevent the fitting-out, arming or equipping within its jurisdiction of any vessel which it has reasonable grounds to believe is intended to cruise or to carry on war with a power with which it is at peace. It is also the duty of a neutral state to prevent the organization in or departure from its territory of an expedition intended to wage war against a friendly nation. In the Alabama Case, Lord Justice Bowen, an Englishman deciding against his own country, held: that the belligerent nation which has been injured by the neglect of a neutral nation to perform its duties, may demand reparation of the neutral state.

It is a misdemeanor under the Act of Congress for any person within the United States to provide means for any military expedition or enterprise to be carried on against any foreign state with which the United States is at peace.

But then Woodrow Wilson is like necessity. He knows no law and if a law is called to his attention and it does not agree with his ideas of what the law ought to be, he repeals it there and then p.d.q.

CRIMSON-STAINED PERU.
Peru, the empire of gold, where the ardent Conquistadores dared all to gain the wealth of the Incas, is engaged in what for years was its favorite sport, a revolution. War has been the pastime of Peru since Pizarro and his splendid ruffians, with sword in one hand and a cross in the other, conquered the country nearly 400 years ago.

Sordid as is the main story of that conquest, it is not without its chapters of splendor. The shame and the wrong of it stand as an indelible stain on the history of Spain. The glory of it shines on the devoted Peruvian people themselves.

Gold, which gave the West to the United States, also gave Peru to Spain for 300 years. The stories of the fabulous wealth of the Incas first attracted the early adventurers from the land of the Don. Much of that gold was squandered by Spanish grandees to the accompaniment of wine, women and song in old Madrid, but some of it found its way to English and Dutch coffers when Spanish ships bearing the treasure were captured by cheerful pirates of those nations, some of whom were afterward knighted or otherwise honored by grateful sovereigns who were allowed a look-in on the spoils captured on the Spanish main. That gold had blood upon it which has cried aloud ever since. It is estimated that no fewer than 16,000,000 native Peruvians perished because of it. During the Spanish colonial period 8,000,000 of those Indians were done to death in the gold mines and as many more were sacrificed on the great encomiendas, or estates, where they were held in vassalage and treated with heartless cruelty till death came as a release to their sufferings.

As gold was the foundation for the bloody history of Peru under Spain, so fertilizer was the source of vast wealth that compelled the country to engage in its awful struggle with Chile. Survivors of that war who are living today look back upon a period of horror as dreadful as that through which this country passed during the Civil War.

Between the Spanish days of gold and the later period when the nitrate and guano deposits excited the cupidity of adventurers unhappy Peru passed through rebellion after rebellion. It endured Spain's blighting policy till the early part of last century and then, following the example of the Argentine, Bolivia and Chile, Peru threw off the Spanish yoke. In 1821 its first President donned the scarf of red and white. Followed forty years of uprisings, revolutions, insurrections, battles, murders and sudden deaths. And then the dark shadow of Chile was thrown upon Peru.

Memorable in the history of wars is the struggle between Peru and Chile. Although this war did not actually break out till 1879, the events which were its chief cause happened years before when adventurers from Chile outfitted an expedition to secure guano and nitrate from the almost incredibly large deposits in the Pacific lowlands. The war which followed Peru's attempt to retain those vast deposits for itself lasted for five years despite the earnest efforts of the United States to secure peace at the close of the first year of the struggle. The maritime nations of the whole world became interested in that war because the first engagements between modern ironclads were fought and proved the superiority of the armored vessels over the "hearts of oak." Moreover, it may be said that those battles taught a lesson to all nations whose existence depends upon their sea power, and that is, that they must be ever ready and keep their fleet up. Peru neglected this, her sea power was eliminated and Chile gained possession of the nitrate and guano deposits which since have yielded millions and have even been the foundation of a Southern California fortune.

When that war ended in 1884 valiant Peru, without a dollar in the treasury, set itself to rebuild. It indulged in a few revolutions by way of keeping its hand in, but it had peace in that direction for more than a decade until President Billinghurst was overthrown, a day or two ago. There was some disturbance in 1903, but when Dr. John Pardo was elected President the national progress became marked. Dr. Pardo remained in office from 1904 to 1908, when he was succeeded by Senor Augusto B. Leguia, who held the reins till Billinghurst was elected last year. Leguia, who served as a private soldier in the war with Chile, was a financial wonder and has been spoken of as the man who gave Peru the sound commercial and monetary credit it has enjoyed the past few years. He is no friend of Billinghurst, however, who is charged with having sought to have him killed and who is likened to the labor agitators of this country. Billinghurst's overthrow is no bad thing for Peru.

THE LOST VALENTINE.

BY KATHERINE THOMPSON VON BLON.

Such trifles as diamond bracelets and matchless, or I should say matched, pearl necklaces are the Valentines milady of 1914 demands. Either a costly gift or nothing must express your sentiments, young man, toward this luxurious creature. You dare not marry her, for your salary in all probability does not come within many degrees of approximating the proper sum to maintain her in the sumptuous fashion in which her doting parents have seen fit to foster her. But at least you would doubtless wish to lay a tribute of your heart at this queenly being's feet. It positively must be paid for with your very heart's blood. It takes nothing less than sordid simoleons, and many of them, at that, to satisfy this esthetic one's young and romantic longings. Send her a jeweled tiara and she's yours beyond a doubt, even though you may be shocking dull, not passing fair to look upon and a boor into the bargain. You will shine by reflected light. The radiance of the tiara will cast an effulgence upon you that will serve to glorify your commonplaceness until you are dazzling as a star of the first firmament.

Certain ardent young men are simply perishing to send a love-token to their adored one, but a heart swelling with warm affection does not necessarily indicate a voluptuous pocketbook. The two do not always go hand in hand. In fact, to the contrary is noted by close observers that the young Adonis poorest in this world's bounties is often richest in the passions of the heart. His fiery wooing is generally tense with a devotion absolutely self-abnegating, and the total dejection into which the sigh or frown of his lady love throws him is vastly entertaining to the fair object of his affections and a thousand times more effective than the dear fellow in his wildest imaginings could guess.

Your up-to-date suitor knows that nothing short of American Beauty roses at a dollar apiece will serve to appease the elegant taste of the girl of the hour. Even these are beyond the average young man's dreams. Imagine if you can a young beauty of your own particular set receiving a charming card from one of her numerous admirers, reflecting the condition of his flaming heart. Can't you just see her rosy lips curl in disdain at the trifle, and aren't you perfectly sure that, even if she utters not a word of disapproval, she is mentally appraising the state of that young man's mind and the warmth of his feelings by the expensiveness of the gift? Certainly. He must content himself, then, with a studied coldness, which he is far from feeling, while his naughty sweetheart receives tribute from an older and more prosperous suitor, perhaps, or sits languishing and longing for some sumptuous heart-token from him whom she could find it even in her very worldly young heart to love.

The real Valentine spirit has been buried in the very materiality of the age. In ye olden days, or even not so many years ago, a maiden's heart was wont to pit-a-pat and thrill deliciously over the reception of one of those lacy trifles. In the secrecy of her own chamber she cogitated, wondering and delighted, and with coy certainty locked in her soul the delectable words of him whom her beating heart told her was the author. Now John is extremely careful to slip his card in, not too conspicuously, of course, but it's sure to be there. Now don't blame the poor boy. It's not his fault. Naturally when he spends the better part of his month's salary on some elaborate jewel and hies himself to a beastly lunch counter in order to economize and make up the price, he's taking no chances that dear George will receive the credit for his abnegation. No, indeed, he wouldn't be a thoroughly modern young man if he did. It is evidence of his excellent business training. He takes no risks, and, safe to say, should the young lady in the case take it into her precious head to trust her hand and heart in his keeping, she would be absolutely safe. Anyway, she'd be efficiently cared for from a material standpoint.

Few of the small folk and probably not all the grown ones realize just how far back this custom dates. In fact, it was in existence as long ago as 370 A.D. in Rome, though the Romans did not celebrate in exactly the same way as we are wont to express our feelings on this day. Still it is extremely easy to understand how the Valentine idea evolved. It seems that away back there in the fourth century Rome was very much infested with wolves.

So the old Roman fathers put their heads together. The result was they manufactured a new god and chose Lupercus as the name of the propitiating genius, the name being derived from lupus, meaning wolf.

In those times the gods were largely synonomous with joy and merry-making. Your rollicking Roman took his religion in quite a different manner from that in which some of our sanctimonious friends indulge their fancy. Were it not better, after all, to spend the days dedicated to worship, in joy and happiness, in this way giving thanks to the all-seeing power which has placed us in this heavenly environment? Were it not best to sing our peans of praise as we wander through hill and dale, each day, marveling at the beauties and wonders of God's world, rather than to worship in a man-made church, whose greatest loveliness is as mere dross beside the evanescent grandeur of this world fashioned by the divine mind and held in the hollow of that gentle hand?

The Romans honored their gods with rejoicing and feasting, and they named February 14 as Lupercus day. One of the games they invented was that of placing young girls' names in a box to be drawn out by the gallants. The fair one's name was accepted by the bachelor drawing it as his lady-love. Now St. Valentine was one of the Christian martyrs who perished about 270 A.D. It seems not altogether appropriate that this day should have been chosen to perpetuate his memory. But the Christian priests were obliged in those days to deal with no small amount of tact with their charges. Wishing to make the people happy, they allowed them to keep their feast day, but changed the name from Lupercus to Valentine's, as that saint's birthday chanced to fall somewhere near February 14, and they wished the people to remember and profit by his holy life. They even changed the nature of the feast, making it more a religious ceremony. They placed the names of saints and martyrs in the box to be drawn out. The name received was to be the drawee's valentine for the year, and that saint to serve as his example of conduct and piety for the year. Later the people changed the custom back to the old manner with personal valentines.

In England during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries much the same custom was followed except that the gallant wore the girl's name drawn in his bosom or on his sleeve and it was his duty to attend and protect her through the year.

Smith comes from the School of Landscape Gardening at Groton, Mass., of which she is a graduate, and, besides she has done special work in several large nurseries. Recently her father bought a home on West Forty-eighth street. For beautifying a typical city lot she makes use of showy varieties of shrubbery as well as flowers, and for profit is growing many kinds of small fruit, particularly the custard apple and fejoes.

Miss Janet A. Fraser has just taken "the last frontier" that guarded an unattractive patch of adobe filled with holes—the backyard of the apartment in which she lives on Union avenue and First street. As none of her fellow-flat-dwellers wanted it, she had no difficulty in securing for herself nearly a quarter of an acre of ground.

Three years ago she began on it with an ax, her only ambition then being to find anything at all that would grow. Last fall she had golden rod ten feet high, and all the autumn flowers in greatest profusion, as well as roses.

GARDEN HER TONIC.

Now she is enjoying experimental work with bulbs. Of the narcissus her choicest varieties are the little known "Glory of Leiden," "Golden Spur," "Incomparable" and "Madame Plemp." Miss Fraser calls her garden her tonic. It is missionary work in behalf of the City Beautiful.

Miss Mabel Davisson, in charge of the Logan-street school gardens, secured special knowledge of agriculture on a Texas ranch. Adjoining the school gardens she has a small patch of ground "loaned" by a kindly neighbor, on which she is rooting cuttings of figs and roses—all choice varieties gleaned around the neighborhood—for home gardens. More than this, she is in the throes of moving from a flat to a home that offers "garden privileges." Here she will experiment with roselles, camellias, a much-loved flower requiring little care, and orange seedlings.

The growing and budding of oranges and lemons is also Miss Bertha Meyers' specialty. In her lath-house at her home out on West Thirty-first street she has 7000 seedlings which she expects to transplant this spring and bud, with the idea eventually of giving them a permanent place on a ranch she owns. This work, as yet experimental, Miss Meyers finds most interesting. From it she received returns, as she has sold some of her budded seedlings at $1.50 a small tree. Most of them, however, are to be matured on her own ranch a little later.

Out on North Ardmore street in a new home Miss Emma Berny of the Thirty-sixth-street school battles with the problem of adobe. This being the soil she must make produce, she has chosen to grow roses and bulbs along with kitchen garden produce.

FARMING BY PROXY.

Mrs. I. E. Cummings, who helps with the continuation of classes at the Alpine school and is trying to organize home gardens in the neighborhood of the school, took special work at Berkeley. Just now, pending the time when she can arrange for a garden of her own here, she is farming by proxy on her ranch in Tulare county, near Orosi, which in time she expects to make into a show place. She, too, is interested in citrus fruits. Of her work she says that it is only well begun, but "a task well begun is half done."

The size of the Shasta daisies produced in her home garden gives Mrs. Nina Merriman of the Los Feliz school an honored place among the teachers of gardening. From choice she would spend all her time on flowers, especially roses, of which she has many choice varieties. For experience she is now doing much grafting and budding of fruit.

Miss Anna L. Weik, a recently appointed specialist, lives at 2213 Le Moyne street, on one of the picturesque hills of Elysian Heights. From there so charming is the view of the Coast Range, the San Fernando Valley and the foothills that if her garden was but a row of sunflowers it would pass for wonderful.

Her work has been with chrysanary, is their month. Of these she has all the choice varieties—the Colonel, Appleton, Chiltoni, Maj. Bonafin, Mikado and Florence Pullman. So far she has not attempted hybridization; merely having produced perfect blossoms, large in size, in a charmingly appointed garden.

Mrs. F. E. Prior prides herself on a beautiful hedge of Cherokee roses, white and red alternating across the back and side of her garden. Her home is in a picturesque spot out on North Sichel street, not far from the Arroyo Seco.

CHARMING SETTING.

Up on a hill above Edendale Mrs. Carrie Rapp of the Marengo Heights school has a a beautiful garden with natural features as well as an extensive and charming view of the Coast Range and foothills. The lot, 100x300 feet, runs from Le Moyne to Effie street. On the Le Moyne side, on which the house stands, there is one terrace, and at the back three very steep ones.

A year or more ago, when Mrs. Rapp took this place, there was not a spear of grass on the lot. Plants, trees and shrubs scattered in haphazthemums, and November, not February fashion around were in a state of utter abandon. The plan gives an idea of the reorganization that has taken place.

One of the first things that Mrs. Rapp did was to saw off the top of a fine old mulberry tree and utilize it in part for an arbor large enough to seat half a dozen. The banks she covered with elephants' tooth. She put in a lawn, gave form to the flower beds, banked geraniums against the house, built an arbor on one side of it, then turned the terraces at the back and down the hill into a kitchen garden. The arrangement is rather trying for the gardener, but the view makes up for hill difficulties. Garden and setting are charming.

Ordinarily teachers, like preachers, are accused of not practicing what they preach, of not putting into use their knowledge. The garden teachers of Los Angeles preach the Garden Beautiful wherever they chance to be. If their only garden is a tiny flower pot, they put into it the choicest flower that grows and make of it a thing of beauty. Their work, both at school and at home, is hastening the coming of the City Beautiful.

WILL HANDLE MONEY.

Federal Agent Gives Big Bond as Custodian of Funds in "Oil Withdrawal" Suits.

The appointment of Gratz W. Helm, chief of the field division of the local land office, by United States District Judge M. T. Dooling, as master in the action brought by the government against the Midway Northern Oil Company, will be followed by Helm giving bond for the safe care of all moneys that come into his hands from operating companies involved in the oil "withdrawal" suits, where contracts for sale of oil have expired. Helm will so act by appointment of the court until the cases are disposed of; and unless a compromise is reached, this means several years at least.

Helm has already given bond in $100,000 to the Midway Northern company, and bonds will be required by every other company that purchases oil taken from the contested territory in Kern county. These corporations will furnish monthly statements showing the extent of the operations for the preceding thirty days, the expense of the work and the balance of purchases for that period will be remitted to Helm, who will impound the receipts, to be paid out later when the issues of the complicated case are threshed out.

The corporations concerned are the Midway Northern Oil Company, Los Angeles McKittrick Oil Company, National Pacific Oil Company, Maricopa Northern Oil Company, Thirty-Thirty-Two Land Company, General Petroleum Company, Standard Oil Company, Maricopa Consolidated Oil Company, El Dora Oil Company and Sesame Oil Company. The order of Judge Dooling only affects the companies whose contracts for the purchase of oil have expired, and as they expire.

The appointment of Helm was made by the court on the recommendation of Special Government Counsel William Denman of San Francisco, and the former says that the action was taken by the court on the petition of the defendants.

"It means the financial salvation of the companies," said Helm yesterday.

TWINS AT THE 'PHONE.

But the San Diego Operator Calls for the Prince and the Babies Are Disappointed.

A telephone call for the "Prince" was mistaken for the "twins" by the operator at the Hollenbeck yesterday. The mistake resulted in Thelma and Selma Howard, 4½ years old, being called to the telephone instead of Sheik Hadji Thar Ben Mohammed, for whom the long-distance call from San Diego was intended.

After the tangle had been straightened out the operator at San Diego called the operator at the Hollenbeck to discuss the odd mistake.

"You seem to have all sorts of people at the hotel," the San Diego voice said. "You thought I asked for twins and you got them to the 'phone and you had the Prince, too."

The twins are the adopted children of Dr. D. B. Howard of Seattle. They were very much pleased at an opportunity to talk over the telephone, and were disappointed when they learned that the call was intended for some-one else.

No Detention from Occupation

I am the longest established, most successful and reliable Specialist, as Medical credentials and press records prove. I make this statement that you shall know you consult a Specialist who sees and treats patients personally.

I have always charged a very reasonable fee, so that my services may be obtained by any person who desires to be cured. The inducements that I offer are my ability and 14 years' successful experience.

NO MONEY REQUIRED TO COMMENCE TREATMENT. Many patients have been misinformed about their condition, or through unsuccessful treatment have become skeptical and think there is no cure for them. I want an opportunity to treat such cases and I will accept pay for my services as benefits are derived. Health is capital at interest. I will prove my ability to cure you before asking pay for my professional services, when I am satisfied the patient is reliable.

NO SEVERE OPERATIONS. MANY CASES PERMANENTLY CURED IN ONE TREATMENT. MOST TIME-SAVING, MOST NATURAL, MOST SAFE. A RADICAL AND PERMANENT CURE.

I invite you to come to my office. I will explain to you my treatment for FISTULA, PILES and all RECTAL DISEASES, VARICOSE VEINS, HERNIA Rupture, NERVOUS, SKIN and BLOOD TROUBLE, KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES, and give you FREE a physical examination. Every person should take advantage of this opportunity. A permanent cure is what you want.

PILES AND FISTULA.

My treatment and success are the result of years of experience. I cure you without pain or inconvenience. Fistula is the drain pipe to an abscess. As long as there is a free exit to secretions, it is attended with slight pain. If the opening becomes clogged, an abscess forms, with attendant pain. It is a loathsome malady. I cure by a few treatments. I give a written guarantee to cure Piles; or you can deposit your money in the bank until cured.

VARICOSE VEINS.

By my method I remove the varicose condition. The patient is perfectly conscious all the time, and yet he experiences no pain. My treatment is safe and sure. I can prove the absolute truth of every word I say.

There is nothing in my announcements that a visit to my office will not verify, and you are welcome, whether you take treatment or not. Write if unable to call. Hours: 9 to 4. Evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 9 to 12.

FACE BROKE OUT WITH PIMPLES

Would Enlarge to About Four Times Their Size. Itched Very Much and Cracked Open. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Short Time Cured.

R. F. D. No. 1, Thurston, Ohio.—"About a year ago my face broke out with small pimples. They were about as big as the head of a pin when first noticed, and would enlarge to about four times that size. A yellow fluid would gather in them and I could open them. This enlarged the sores and caused large scabs over my face. When it would commence to dry up it would itch very much and then crack open around the scab making a very sore spot.

"I tried several different salves and ointments but none of them did any permanent good. At last I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment which I used according to directions and in a short time I was completely cured and it did not even leave a scar." (Signed) Miss E. Irena Thomas, June 16, 1913.

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

☞ Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

Smiles at Future.

GIRL IN TEARS, MOTHER CALM.

Parent Faces With Fortitude Trial for Murder.

Killed Former Husband for Revenge, She Says.

Affecting Scene When Gift Is Presented Daughter.

With an amused expression, smiling in the sober, drawn faces of the jurymen who are to decide her fate in Judge Craig's court, Mrs. Edith M. Ivy, declared sane by a jury after exhaustive examination and investigation, presents one of the strangest figures in the history of criminal proceedings in this county.

Yesterday morning the examination of prospective jurymen was begun in Judge Craig's court to try Mrs. Ivy for the murder of her husband, Frank M. Ivy, on September 30, 1913. Mrs. Ivy sat beside her attorney, Public Defender Walton J. Wood, her face wreathed in smiles, while her daughter, convulsed with sobs and cheeks wet with tears, sat directly behind her. The contrast was startling. Mrs. Ivy's confident manner has been noticeable the past few days and today there was a still greater evidence of her remarkable attitude.

After Deputy District Attorney Shannon outlined the charge of murder against Mrs. Ivy, Public Defender Wood questioned the jurors upon their belief in temporary insanity, indicating that this would be the defense on the part of Mrs. Ivy. The Public Defender impressed upon the prospective jurors that the verdict declaring her sane applied to the present time and not to the period in September of last year when Mrs. Ivy shot down her husband at his home on Pepper street.

When court adjourned at noon nine jurors had been accepted and the case went over until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. It is the first time in California that a public protector has been called upon to defend a woman for murder. It is also asserted that no woman has ever been convicted of murder in the first degree in California.

Another feature in this case is the fact that the mother is relying upon the almost inconceivable story of her 14-year-old daughter to justify her action in killing her divorced husband. The daughter will tell of abuses practiced upon her by her father.

During the short session of the case yesterday morning a pathetic incident occurred when the mother placed a small package wrapped in a newspaper in her daughter's hands, kissed her and told her that it was a little present she had made for her. The daughter eagerly opened the parcel and out fell a nightgown which the mother had made during her stay in the County Jail. The daughter was overcome with emotion and for a short period interrupted the course of the examination of jurors.

THREE KILLED AT CANANEA.

Mexicans Lose Lives by the Falling of a Stope.

Woman Shoots Husband in Streets of Douglas.

Convicts Escape from Chain Gang at Tombstone.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) Feb. 4.—Three men were killed at Cananea last Friday and four others injured by the falling of a stope in which they had been working. All were Mexicans. The men killed were a shift boss and two timbermen, who had been working in the center of the stope. Their bodies were not recovered until after hours of desperate work. The accident was in the Capote mine, in which the stopes are of immense size, necessarily timbered. It was determined by the local authorities that no responsibility could be attached to the company, as all precautions seemed to have been taken against the possibility of such a disaster.

DYNAMITE BLAST FATAL.

In the Briggs shaft of the Calumet and Arizona mines Friday Henry Hawser was instantly killed by a prematurely-discharged blast of 120 sticks of dynamite. Hawser, at his own request, had been left to fire the fuse, though he did not rank as a skilled miner. Another workman, noting the manner in which the fuses were being attached, shouted a warning and ran. Hawser also fled, but had not passed the zone of danger when the explosion came, throwing his body against the side of the drift and apparently crushing every bone. He was from the State of Washington and had an account in a Los Angeles bank. He had located a homestead near Ft. Huachuca, and was to have left the mine for his farm in a few days, intending to abandon mining.

WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND.

Monday night on a business street in Douglas, Mrs. Winnie McEvers shot down and killed her husband, who, she claims, had waited for her with declared threats of taking her life. The woman had been supporting herself as a waitress, and it was locally known that most of the work that had been done by the husband during the two years of their married life had been in hunting jobs for his wife. He had been arrested a couple of days before for fighting and again for carrying deadly weapons. In the latter case he told the magistrate that the pistol found upon him had been purchased with the intention of committing suicide. The age of both man and woman is stated at 24.

REBELS' NEW RECRUIT.

It is probable that the Mexican revolutionists have a new recruit in Jesus Javez, who, a few minutes after release from jail, where he had been confined for disturbance of the peace, went straightway to his home and made a murderous assault upon his wife because breakfast was not ready. With a heavy stick of wood he beat the woman over the head, breaking three fingers of the hand put up to ward off a blow. Leaving the woman apparently dead on the floor, beside her a babe of 2 months, Javez girded on a big revolver and cartridge belt and struck out for Mexico.

CONVICTS ESCAPE.

Friday night in a rain storm, three short-term convicts escaped from the road gang stockade in Tombstone Canyon. Two of them were recaptured and have been sent back to the penitentiary at Florence. The third, Jack Wilson, seems to have made good his escape into Mexico, on a horse stolen from a nearby ranch, at a time when the prison guards were almost upon him. His flight was a most unfortunate one for him, for had he waited only one day he would have received from Phoenix papers that gave him freedom under parole, after a year's imprisonment, in which his record had been excellent. He was serving an indeterminate sentence of from one to fourteen years for burglary.

SOLDIER IS SENTENCED.

Hans Hansen, a cavalryman, has been sent to Florence to serve a sentence for manslaughter, passed upon him two years ago. At that time near Bisbee, while intoxicated, he accidentally rode down and killed a 3-year-old child that was playing in front of its parents' home. After conviction in the District Court, the sentence was suspended and the man was sent back to his regiment. He found no sympathy with his fellow-troopers or officers and soon deserted. Recaptured, the army has handed him over to the civil authorities and it is probable that he will be later called upon to serve a term also in a military prison for desertion. Attention to the need of a proper children's playground was called by the tragedy and a movement toward such grounds has borne fruit in the past year.

PRISONERS ESCAPE.

Last Tuesday T. B. Mosley and two Mexicans, prisoners in the Lowell jail, made their escape by sawing a steel door bolt, thus permitting bending back the door far enough for a man to squeeze through. Other prisoners in the jail state that the American had worked three days on the job. He was wanted for a grave statutory offense. He had been employed at the Hoatson mine under the name of Williams.

LIE IS PASSED.

Zest was given to a late trial in a Bisbee justice's court by a personal encounter in which the lie was passed and in which some physical damage was done between William B. Cleary, one of the leading legal lights of the labor element, and John S. Williams, Republican candidate for Congress at the last Arizona election.

ARIZONA NOTES.

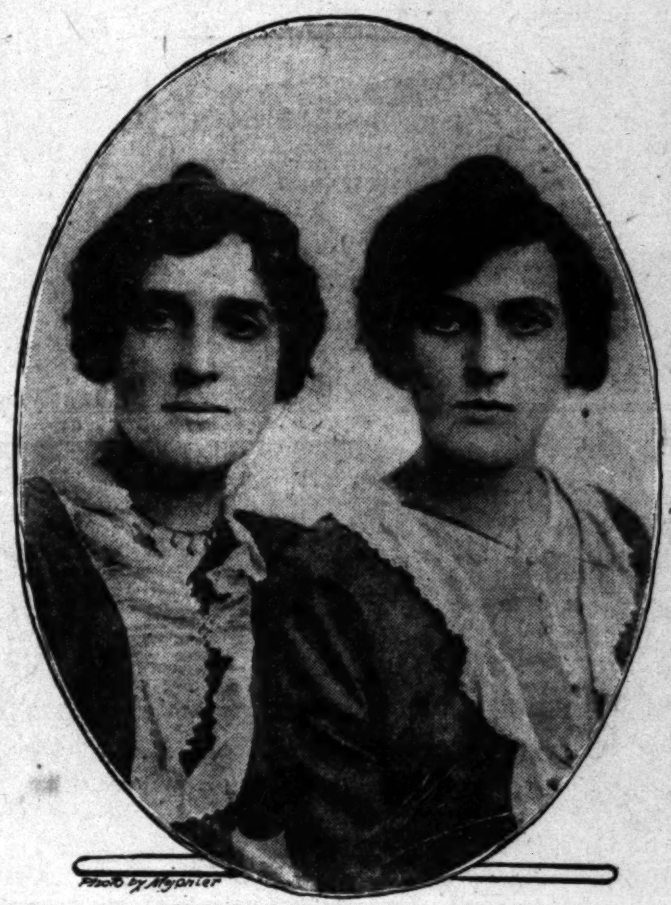
At Lucerne, Switzerland, January 16, occurred the death of Frank Dubacker, of asthma, at the age of 70 years. He came to Bisbee in 1879 and was one of the five Americans who founded this city. He left Bisbee twelve years ago for Switzerland, his native land, with the intention of returning occasionally to Arizona, where he had retained large property interests.

A moving picture company secured popular assistance in the making of a great mining reel by calling upon the citizens of the city to turn out Sunday morning and pass before the camera, which had been placed in Brewery Gulch. It is estimated that nearly 15,000 accepted the published invitation.

A Cochise County Pioneer Society has been organized, with John S. Williams president and Samuel Verran secretary.

From Representative Carl Hayden has been received the information that L. R. Bailey, a crippled peace officer of Lowell, will be appointed postmaster of Bisbee to succeed M. J. Cassidy, the Republican incumbent, whose term expired January 24.

Grave conditions of unrest are reported from Cananea, where the workmen employed by the Greene-Cananea Copper Company are said to be suffering from the ministrations of a number of I.W.W. delegates.



Are they sisters?

Mrs. Mary Cope, matron of the juvenile ward at the County Hospital, and her daughter, Miss Catherine Cope, shown in the picture, are frequently mistaken for sisters. A happy philosophy and interest in others has kept Mrs. Cope, at the left, youthful in appearance. She has made a scientific study of lives of the unfortunate young women under her care.

TOURISTS

Should Drink Puritas Distilled Water

New-comers to Southern California often think their systems somewhat disarranged because of the change of climate.

Nine times out of ten, the change in drinking water is the cause of much of this discomfort.

People who have been accustomed to "soft" well water find the shange to alkaline, mineral water very unpleasant.

And most of the natural waters hereabouts are strongly impregnated with minerals of various sorts.

The only safe course to take is to purchase a five-gallon demijohn of Puritas Distilled Water.

Puritas Distilled Water is "soft," thoroughly aerated with pure ozone bottled in clean demijohns, and is pure as pure can be.

It is palatable, too, and pleasant to drink; not "flat," like many distilled waters.

Puritas is inexpensive, also; it costs but 40c for a 5-gallon demijohn, delivered anywhere within the old city boundary lines. To points outside, the price is a trifle more, because of the long haul.

RESPITE FOR HARRIS.

Murderer of Mrs. Gay Will Not Be Hanged on Date Set—To Be Returned to City.

Set down in the calendar as the unluckiest day in the life of Burr Harris, negro slayer of Mrs. Rebecca P. Gay, February 13 will not be unlucky at all for Harris. Yesterday the Supreme Court granted a stay of execution for Harris and he will be brought back to Los Angeles.

The stay is granted on an appeal filed by Attorney Ceruti, in which several errors are set forth, chief of which is Ceruti's contention that the court erred in ruling that a plea of insanity must cover the entire act and not be used in extenuation of any specific circumstance connected with it.

If the appeal to the Supreme Court is decided in favor of Harris, the negro will be returned to Los Angeles for a new trial. If it is decided against him he will be returned here for re-sentence.

In any event, then, Harris will have a chance to come back to the city where he is alleged to have confessed to Sheriff Hammel that he murdered C. E. Pendell, the Temple-block money-lender, who was beaten over the head in a manner similar to the murder of Mrs. Gay. It is not believed that Harris slew Pendell, and the truth or falsity of this assertion could well be established with Burr Harris here to show prima facie evidence of that fact. It is asserted by many that know Harris that he will confess to almost any crime, through suggestion, from the kidnaping of Charlie Ross to being the man who struck Billy Patterson.

The Magnetic Girl
How She Compels Others To Obey Her Will

100,000 Copies of Remarkable Book Describing Peculiar Psychic Powers to Be Distributed Post Free to Readers of "The Los Angeles Times."

"The wonderful power of Personal Influence, Magnetism, Fascination, Mind Control, call it what you will, can surely be acquired by everyone, no matter how unattractive or unsuccessful," says Mr. Elmer Ellsworth Knowles, author of the new book entitled: "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces." The book lays bare many astounding facts concerning the practices of the Eastern Yogis, and describes a simple though effective system of controlling the thoughts and acts of others; how one may gain the love and friendship of those who might otherwise remain indifferent; how to quickly and accurately judge the character and disposition of an individual; how to cure the most obstinate diseases and habits without drugs or medicines; even the complex subject of projecting thoughts (telepathy) is explained. Miss Josephine Davis, the popular stage favorite, whose portrait appears above, declares that Prof. Knowles's book opens the door to success, health and happiness to every mortal, no matter what his or her position in life. She believes that Prof. Knowles has discovered principles which, if universally adopted, will revolutionize the mental status of the human race.

The book, which is being distributed broadcast free of charge, is full of photographic reproductions showing how these unseen forces are being used all over the world, and how thousands upon thousands have developed powers which they little dreamed they possessed. The free distribution of the 100,000 copies is being conducted by a large London institution, and a copy will be sent post free to anyone interested. No money need be sent but those who wish to do so may enclose 5 cents (stamps of your own country) to cover postage, etc. All requests for the free book should be addressed to National Institute of Science, Free Distribution Dept. 867-E, No. 258 Westminster Bridge Road, London, S.E., England. Simply say that you would like a copy of "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces," and mention The Los Angeles Times.

Do not enclose coins in your letter. Postage to England two cents.

He Reduced 57 Pounds
New Method of Flesh Reduction Proves Astonishingly Successful

Johnstown, Pa., Feb. 7.—Investigation has fully established that Hon. H. T. Stetler, of this city, has reduced his weight fifty-seven pounds in an incredibly short time by wearing a simple, visible device, weighting less than an ounce. This, when worn as directed, acts as an infallible flesh reducer, dispensing entirely with dieting, medicines, and exercises. Many prominent men and women have adopted this easy means of reducing superfluous flesh, and it is stated the inventor, Prof. B. T. Burns, of No. 17 West Thirty-eighth street, New York, is sending these outfits on free trial to all who write him.—[Advertisement.

GREAT CROP, HIGHER PRICES, GOOD DEMAND.

CALIFORNIA'S citrus crop is estimated at 44,058 cars and the probable money return at slightly above that of normal years, in a statement issued yesterday by General Manager Powell of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

"How much above normal years the money return will run I do not know," said Powell. "It is a fact, though, that the consumption of citrus fruit is on the increase. Proof of this is the absorption at good prices of from 150 to 200 cars of Florida fruit a day during January, in addition to large quantities of California fruit."

Powell's estimate is 1058 cars above his estimate issued as of January 1.

"I did not underestimate the crop in my January statement," emphatically stated Powell yesterday. "Splendid growing conditions the last six weeks are the cause of the increase."

Powell further stated that prices at present are higher than the averages of five out of the past seven years.

RETURNS FROM EAST.

Principal of a City School Will Resume Her Work Here After a Winter in New York.

Miss Mary S. Murphy, principal of the Sixty-second-avenue school, has returned from a winter in New York, where she was the guest of Edwin H. Markham, the California poet, and Mrs. Markham, who is Miss Murphy's sister.

Miss Murphy relates having passed a brilliant winter among the literary lights of the metropolis, friends of Markham. Dinners, theater parties, atelier teas and other festivities brought her in contact with Bailey Millard, Wallace Irwin, Alice Brown, Eleanor Gates, Ridgley Torrance, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Ellen Glasgow, Reginald Koffman and others.

At the poet's annual dinner party Miss Murphy listened to the wit and wisdom of Witter Binner, author of "The Tiger," one of the new white slave dramas; Percy Mackaye, Edith Thomas, Shamus O'Sheel, Jessie Rittenhouse, (who is preparing her second anthology on poetry) Eleanor Cox, the Irish poetess; George S. Vierick, author of weird verse, and many others, and she also met many interesting literary people at the Sorosis banquet given at the Waldorf-Astoria.

"There are a lot of California people among the great ones, too. I'm proud to relate," said Miss Murphy, "but they don't forget their own State even in the metropolitan whirlpool, and the western camaraderie and freemasonry obtains among those of our literary people who have grown great and arrived on Broadway."

Miss Murphy will take up her work at Sixty-second avenue at the beginning of the new term.

MUSIC FOR THE SCHOOLS.

People's Orchestra Arranges Two Concerts for Pupils and Teachers at Nominal Price.

The People's Orchestra is arranging special matinees for school children and teachers to be given on February 19 and March 17 at 4 p.m. Each programme will be preceded by a short descriptive and illustrated talk on the instruments of the orchestra by the leader, Hans S. Linne. Reeds, brasses and strings will be grouped as choirs; tone-quality, range and part played will be explained and illustrated on instruments.

The first programme is as follows: "William Tell Overture," march from "Men of Harlech," "Toreador Song" (baritone,) "Marseillaise," "Tannhauser March." The following numbers will be given at the second concert: March, "Aida," "Pilgrim Chorus" from "Tannhauser," "Mignon Polonaise" (soprano,) Sextette from "Lucia," Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

Price of admission to pupils and teachers, 10 cents. There will be no reserved seats. Tickets will be on sale at No. 344 Blanchard building during the week preceding the concerts.

The Ellis Club has invited sixty of the public school boys to attend the concert to be given by that organization next Tuesday evening. Miss Kathryn Stone will chaperon the party.

CLARK READINGS.

A course of readings will be given in Cumnock Hall, during the Wednesday afternoons of February and March, by S. H. Clark of the University of Chicago, beginning February 18, when his subject will be "Vanity Fair."

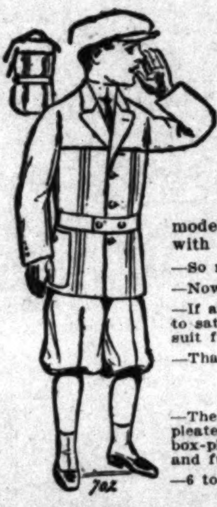
Suit for Your Boy $5



—And this is how the price happens to be only $5:

—Bullock's clothing chief had a chance to buy, at a big saving, enough woolens to make 240 suits.

—He sent them to a new manufacturer who was anxious to get a share of Bullock's business and had them made up in the very latest Norfolk models—some knife pleated, some box pleated, some with stitched belts—and some with 2 pairs of pants!

—So much for style.

—Now, as to serviceability—

—If any suit fails to wear well, fails to hold its shape, fails to satisfy you in every respect bring it back and get a new suit free.

—That's the kind of a suit you can get for $5 in "The Store for Your Boy"

—The cloths are in tan, gray and plum shades. The knife-pleated Norfolk styles have one pair of Knickerbockers, the box-pleated styles have TWO pairs—all are peg-topped, and full lined throughout.

—6 to 17-year sizes.

As for Higher Priced Suits

—There are many new arrivals in homespuns and fancy mixtures—patch-pocketed Norfolks, with inverted pleats or with only one pleat in back.

SEES MUCH GO IN FEDERAL

CURRENCY MEASURE BY BANK PRE

He Explains to City tures Which He Deem and Relates How House Committees C on Disputed Sections.

An interesting and cand of the new currency law by J. M. Elliott, president National Bank, at the luncheon. Elliott declared erly administered and wis the new law will prove that otherwise it might trous.

He outlined the most features of the law and cussed the probable effec plication. Numerous qu propounded and these dre ditional discussion by Elli particular phases of the la inquiry was directed.

Elliott finds features th siders excellent and in these provisions, he said:

The bank examiner will the Federal government. sion is to remove any an examiner shutting his delinquency, and is a provision.

Gratuities have draw banking fraternity men disgrace to the profession ceptance of gratuities has curse to banking business makes it a criminal act for officer to receive, direct directly, any gratuity from son who borrows money bank.

Changes made from the of the bill render the act scarcely recognizable. honor on those who cha they did so when bankers that the bill posed was revolutionary able. National banks forfeited their charters State charters rather than plied with that law.

When the thing was unworkable, the lawmakers ington put in many thing suggested and only provisions as it was nec tain in order to comply wi form pledged at Baltimore.

The Senate and the H mittees held different garding the measure. found they couldn't agree some things to be worked Federal Reserve Board. portune at this time for officer in the United State with certainty what will will require the adaptatio and bank methods used years to make this thing

I believe the Regional mittee will place banks where they can come least trouble and in such to do the most good.

One great objection its provision for expan currency and not suffici for contraction. The be necessary in times stress. When times are should be a contraction the proper balance. It emergency measure, ho think that this will remedied.

The principles on banking has been conduc dreds of years won't be cause the government

Want of elasticity is evils of the measure. the law lacks elasticity ways. There is nothing currency when money needed, or to expand it needed. For years I hav a contraction and expansi currency when times are the rate of interest in N 3¼ or 3½ per cent., tional bank to retire 5 t of its circulating notes. interest rises again to 4 cent., each national bank a reserve that would fill up.

Mr. McAdoo said banks in the United State ing three months ago State charters. Now, or twenty days left in in, 6200 of them alread so. This is because the so changed within the days—changes that have mended by the national they feel in duty bound the government.

The law also has cl would take away the charter and destroy privilege. If any bank of the system, a stockhol bank has cause for actio obtain judgments agains tors. You can't beat a ing into your house, and came in voluntarily.

DEAFNESS SPECIALIST SPROULE,
394 Trade Building, Boston, Mass.

ney has already sent a statement of the case to the State Department in connection with the result of an inquiry made by a special agent of the Department of Justice immediately following the murder. It is understood that further proof along the lines suggested will be immediately prepared, with a statement of Flores, and this will supplement what has already gone forward.

The usual procedure in such cases is to have the Secretary of State make representations to the government of Mexico and demand indemnity in behalf of American citizens killed or wronged in their person or property, provided the American citizenship is established, and further, thatt the guilty parties were representatives of the Mexican government.

Flores is making his home with Mrs. Sanchez, the widow of his friend, while the incident is being investigated. Mrs. Sanchez is almost heartbroken over the death of her husband, and is doing what she can to support herself and five children in a North Broadway restaurant. She said yesterday that she had no information in regard to her missing daughter, Amelia, in whose behalf the father went on a mission that resulted in his death. The girl disappeared at Calexico.

POLITICAL TIPS.

President Wilson has again refused to do anything for the suffragettes because nothing was said about woman suffrage in the Baltimore platform. But, while using the national pronouncement as a means for evading one question he still remains silent on other propositions upon which he stood for election. One of the chief of these is the question of a national primary for the choice of President. A national primary law might, and probably would, have a serious effect in the Southern States upon a candidate's prospects. It is manifestly dishonest under the Constitution, that the State of Mississippi, or the State of South Carolina, for example, should have the right to have its votes counted for President in the same fashion as the State of New York, or the State of Massachusetts. The moment then that President Wilson may declare himself upon the question of a national primary he has to denounce by implication the manner in which he was himself elected Chief Magistrate. As the South is in the saddle with the administration, and the Democratic party thus in charge of legislation, there is little probability that any bills looking to a national primary will be enacted, though it was a prominent feature in the Democratic national platform.

So important to the Democrats is considered the special election in the Second Congress District of Iowa on the 10th inst., to choose a successor to the late Representative Irvin Pepper, that even Speaker Clark has been drafted to make several speeches as well as Senator Ollie James of Kentucky and Hoke Smith of Georgia. There have been three candidates—W. E. Hayes, City Attorney of Clinton, nominated by the Republicans; C. P. Hanley, City Attorney of Muscatine, Progressive, and Henry Vollmer, City Attorney of Davenport. Hayes has withdrawn and the Republicans and Progressives have joined together to try and defeat the Democratic nominee. When Mr. Pepper was elected in 1912 he had practically no opposition, the Republicans having failed to put up a candidate against him. The significance of the election lies in the fact that it will be the first by-election since the passage of the tariff and currency bills, and the result, it is believed, will give an indication of the trend of political sentiment.

The Illinois Progressives expect Roosevelt to take the stump in that State in the Senatorial and Congressional fights n ext fall, especially in the districts of former Representatives Rodenberg, McKinley and Cannon, as it is believed now that these gentlemen will endeavor to return to Congress this year. Roosevelt has therefore been scheduled for a speech in each of the three districts as the three men have been previous targets for the Bull Moose's oratory.

John Bassett Moore, counsellor of the State Department, and the one trained diplomat in that organization, is expected to resign within a month unless President Wilson can prevail upon him to remain. Moore entered the State Department last year at the personal request of President Wilson, but the conditions in the department have become too uncongenial. He is a recognized authority on international law, was secretary of the Peace Commission which settled the Spanish-American War and come to Washington from Columbia University. Connected with his coming was a distinct understanding that he was to be acting secretary of the department in the absence of Bryan, and that he was to do the real diplomatic work, including the formulation of foreign policies.

The Municipal Voters' League of Chicago has put the brand of unfitness on fourteen of the Aldermen who will retire this spring unless they are reelected. Twelve others were given "fair" records and nine were marked "good" or "generally good." In its annual report the league made an appeal to women voters to disregard national party lines in the coming city election of non-partisan Aldermen. As non-partisan candidates are usually selected from members of the Democratic party the result of the women's vote will be interesting.

Representative J. J. Whitacre of the Eighteenth Ohio District has repeated that under no circumstances will he become a candidate for renomination to Congress, and that no action of Gov. Cox will keep him out of the race for the Gubernatorial nomination if he decides to enter. In a prepared statement he says he will not enter into any deal either in connection with his withdrawal from the Congressional fight or for the Governorship. "Neither will I be bossed," he says. "No one is going to take me by the collar and lift me out of a race for the Gubernatorial nomination if I decide to enter it. Of course, I will consult with my friends. But I will not be dictated to. Further than this I do not intend to attempt to bulldoze any one into supporting me for Governor or any other office." Senator Pomerene, it is understood, has urged Whitacre to retire to avert an ugly fight in the party and pave the way not only for the re-election of Cox, but the election of the present Democratic members of the House and give the party a fighting chance to elect a Senator to succeed Theodore E. Burton.

A comparison of the salaries paid by the government and those paid other officials are not always favorable to the government. For instance, Col. Goethals, who has been receiving a salary of $15,000 while at the head of the Panama Canal Commission, will receive only $10,000 as Governor of the Canal Zone, unless Congress recognizes the anomaly of the situation and changes the salary. Meanwhile the city of New York's Public Service Commission is increasing the salary of Alfred Craven, the commission's chief engineer, from $15,000 to $20,000, the change to take effect immediately. The chief engineer of the city's Board of Water Supply receives $16,000. There are a good many men in the employ of the government who retain theoir positions because of their loyalty to the service rather than to the size of their salaries. This will be the case with Col. Goethals.

The continuous session of Congress since last April may have blighted many a political career of the new members who have been unable to go home and keep in touch with their constituents, and as the extra session was devoted to the tariff and currency, the members have been unable to get any particular private legislation to prove that they were attempting to keep their promises to promote the prosperity of their districts. The situation now confronting the avenue legislator is a peculiar and a troublesome one. When the present session adjourns, every member of the House must scurry home to face re-election, and thirty-two Senators, for the first time, must subject themselves to the direct election laws. These candidates have had practically no opportunity for twelve months pas to keep acquainted with the voters. The Democratic member of the House was particularly hard hit by a session which kept him away from home all summer. During the weeks when the House "marked time" while the Senate wrestled with the currency measure, it was noted that the Republican leaders insisted each day upon making a point of no quorum and forcing a roll call. The roll call was to show up the Democratic absentees.

Nine Republican Representatives from Pennsylvania were endorsed by the Progressives and were elected by a fusion vote; now the Progressive leaders have announced their intention of trying to defeat these Representatives at the coming election, because they have decided to cast their lot with the Republican party. Nearly all the Republican candidates who did not have the Progressive endorsement were also elected. It was also recognized as a distinct asset to the Progressive party that many people were able to vote for regular Republican Representatives and for Roosevelt at the same time. It is thus possible that the anger of the Progressives may act as a boomerang.

LIQUOR TO INDIANS.

Jack Pierce, a white man, was brought up from the Yuma Indian Reservation yesterday, charged with selling liquor to the Indians, and lodged in the County Jail.

GETS A NEW TRIAL.

The District Court of Appeal has reversed the judgment of Superior Judge Craig in denying the motion of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway for a new trial, in an action brought by F. M. Sayres, to recover damages for injury to an automobile, owned by the plaintiff. The jury gave Sayres damages of $1000, but the cause will have to be tried again.

DANGEROUS AND UNDESIRABLE.

Convicted Plaza Rioters Get Their Sentences.

Castigated by the Court for Treasonable Acts.

Cowardly I.W.W. Whimpers and Asks Clemency.

Classifying them as undesirables and dangerous to the welfare of a community, Police Judge White yesterday ended the longest police trial on record in the local courts, by sentencing the convicted rioters involved in the Christmas Day fatality at the Plaza.

The sentences range from two years to three months, according to the proved outrages committed by the several men. Their bail was fixed in sums varying from $6000 to $750. None of the men was able to secure bail.

Pedro Castarena and Juan Sanchez were each sentenced to two years in jail. Both had been positively identified as assailants of Police Lieutenant Herman W. Kriege, who is still confined to his home because of the wounds received in the rioting, and particularly at the hands of Sanchez and Castarena. Infection has made it necessary to keep the wounds open. The knife Sanchez used was one that had been put to impure purpose but a few minutes before.

SCORED BY JUDGE.

In addressing the malcontents, prior to the imposing of the sentences, Police Judge White said:

"The majority of you who sit here in this unwelcome condition are Mexicans. You have come here from a land that is now involved in a terrible war, where conditions, as you believe, are undesirable. Many of you admit that you left that country because you could not get recognition. You came here to a country that does absolutely give you a voice in the government, and then you show your loyalty to the government by attempting to murder public officials, and by shouting vile and treasonable threats, and rioting in a public plaza. You have proven yourselves unfit to enjoy the liberties and privileges that this country and this city offer you. You have shown that you have no proper estimate of the benefits that are given you here, compared to your native country.

"Many people seem to think that a policeman should be noticed only when there is a burglar in the house, or when there is a grudge to feed. Certainly you did not hate Lieut. Kriege, nor were you incensed by him, for he has never been known to curse or abuse a person since he has been in the department. You did not even know him, yet you stoned and stabbed him until he was near death."

The judge denounced Castarena for having attempted to kill Lieut. Kriege after the policeman had fallen. Juan Sanchez was identified as the man who stoned Kriege repeatedly while the officer was helpless. A mission worker present to help the Mexicans enjoy Christmas testified against Sanchez.

INCITER OF VIOLENCE.

A. M. Ojeda, who admitted having addressed the rioters, and confessed to being an I.W.W., pleaded for clemency. He said that while his views, he admitted, are entirely too radical for a possible government, yet he is against actual violence, and after he saw the rioting started, he ran to the I.W.W. hall to sneak out of any responsibility. There he had met his wife, and was arrested. Because it was proved that he was not present, he was sentenced to one year in jail—this for having incited the others to action. Jesus Shibia, proved to have drawn a revolver during the rioting, was sentenced to one year in jail.

Jose Quintero, who threw rocks at Policeman Williams, was sentenced to one year in jail—as were Jim Shipley and Louis Romera.

Shipley was personally scored by Police Judge White, who denounced the American because he was present in his own land and therefore without excuse for not being loyal to the government.

Because he was a cripple, Pedro Coria was sentenced to nine months. Leniency was given because of his affliction.

Louis Ochoa was given but five months in jail. "You fought fairly, according to all witnesses," Police Judge White remarked to Ochoa. Leon Ignacio was sentenced to three months. But little evidence was produced against him.

WOMAN'S VICTORY.

Improved Her Desert Homestead With Baby in Her Arms, Hence Wins Over Technicalities.

Mrs. Faunce K. Corum, who for the past three years has been trying to carve a home out of desert lands in the Antelope Valley, won her contest yesterday in the local land office, for the possession of 320 acres of land. Government agents had visited the place and discovered what they though were reasons why she should be denied proof, involving a failure to properly irrigate the land, to cultivate one-eighth of the area or have a permanent water supply, and action was brought to dispossess her.

The testimony taken by the register and receiver showed that Mrs. Corum, just before the land was entered by her, had been deserted by her husband, and that she was compelled to do all the work alone. In addition, she was handicapped by a baby, and often had to go about the place performing her duties, carrying the child on her arm. It was shown that while the woman had partially failed in some particulars in the requirements of the desert-land law, she had substantially complied and her right to the half section is confirmed.

One of the charges against the woman was that she had no pumping plant on the land, when as a matter of fact she had an engine for that work, but when her baby sickened and died she was compelled to leave the place for a time and left the engine with a neighboring rancher by the name of Gibson to prevent its being stolen. She also had two artesian wells flowing about sixty inches.

Neckwear, Handkerchiefs

The Rafield Notion Co. was in the wholesale business a little less than a year. They were jobbers and wholesalers of notions, buttons, women's neckwear, handkerchiefs, veils and numerous other lines of fancy goods. Being in business so short a time the stock is necessarily fresh, crisp and down-to-date. Most of the goods come to us in original packages and will go on sale at just about half the regular retail price of goods of this character.

HOW I WROTE WITHIN THE LAW

Took but Three Weeks' Work to Create It.

Newspaper Man Accepts Defy; Makes Fortune.

Has to Buy It Back Before It Makes Hit.

BY BAYARD VEILLER,
Author of "Within the Law."

During a discussion at a dinner one evening three years ago of a certain very popular, lurid "crook" melodrama then running in New York, I brought upon myself the good-natured ridicule of the friends who were present by the assertion that I did not think very much of the play in question, and, furthermore, that that sort of thing was the easiest stuff in the world to turn out.

"Well, if it is so easy," said Mrs. Veiller, "why don't you write one yourself and make a little money for us?"

"Oh, very well, I will," I replied. "What's more, I will do it in a month." [Howls of loud jeers.]

Two days later I set to work, and finished the job in three weeks. "Within the Law," as it is acted today at the Majestic, is substantially the same—except for the first act—as the original manuscript I turned out in that time. Changes have since been made, but only in minor details, not in the general form.

"Within the Law" in its original form was an attack on the jury system. The character corresponding to Gilder, the department store proprietor, was the judge who sentenced Mary Turner. I showed the case of a girl being railroaded to prison that the judge might get away on a hunting trip and that everybody else concerned might hurry through with their work. The judge pronounced sentence—three years—and it was to the judge instead of Gilder, that Mary Turner made the speech that ends the first act.

TAKEN FROM LIFE.

I did not have to invent this. Such cases exist and have existed for years. I knew the whole police and criminal courts system backwards, because before I took to playwriting I had been a newspaper reporter and had "covered" headquarters in New York when Theodore Roosevelt was Police Commissioner. In no other way can one acquire such a thorough knowledge of and insight into the [illegible] that make our civilization [illegible] by the work that falls to the police reporter.

The three acts developed naturally from this situation, but it is only fair to make due acknowledgment to Alexander Dumas, for, as everyone knows, the idea of a person wrongly convicted and imprisoned, and [illegible] a systematic plan of revenge is nothing but the plot of "Monte Cristo." The main difference is that I use a girl instead of a man. [illegible] I stole. Almost every [illegible] is a matter of public [illegible].

It was not until the play was finished that the trouble really began. I was unknown. No play of mine had ever achieved a success. Eventually Mr. Brady agreed to produce it, his idea being that Mary Turner should be played by Grace George, who had read the play and liked it. [illegible] Mr. Brady:

DOCTORING THE PLAY.

"The play won't do as it stands; it needs a good many changes; you haven't enough experience to make them. The only thing to do is to let George Broadhurst rewrite it."

Of course, this meant giving Mr. Broadhurst a third of the royalties. But I was willing to make almost any concession for the sake of having the play played by Miss George, which means a certain $9000 or more a week in gross returns for almost any play. Mr. Broadhurst, who is a very clever dramaturgist, took the play and made what changes he saw fit. They were well done, but they entirely changed the meaning of the piece. Rehearsals started, and when Miss George read the new version, she said: "This is not the play I accepted," gave up the part and refused to have anything to do with it. Emily Stevens was then engaged and gave an admirable performance in Chicago.

The play, however, did not do as well as we had hoped for; whether this was due to the changes made in it I won't pretend to say. I went to New York terribly disheartened. I told Mr. Brady I didn't think the play had a chance in its present form. He grimly agreed with me. He refused, however, to let me make such changes as I saw fit. I went to talk it over with Arch Selwyn, my play broker and business [illegible]

BUYS HIS OWN PLAY.

Mr. Brady had said: "If you and Selwyn don't like the way I'm doing the play, why don't you buy it and do it to suit yourselves?" This remark I repeated to Mr. Selwyn. After some thought he finally said, "Bayard, do you think if I gave the play a really first-class production and a [illegible] that you can put it over?"

I said I believed it had a big chance under proper conditions. Negotiations for the sale of the play took about ten minutes. Mr. Selwyn paid Mr. Brady $10,000 for the property and assumed the latter's contract with me, which called for unusually high royalty for a beginner—5 per cent. of the first $4000 and 10 per cent. of all over that.

As soon as the matter was settled. I took the train that afternoon for Chicago with carte blanche to do what I wanted to do—the happiest man you ever saw. I went to work at once. I cut out all the changes Mr. Broadhurst had made and restored the play to its original form. I pruned, revised and built up. Everybody in the company, doorkeepers, charwomen and mechanics—had suggestions to offer. There is always a host of people willing to rewrite your play for you. Occasionally I even heard a good suggestion. What happened [illegible] is now theatrical history.

NOT A GREAT PLAY.

To be quite frank, I don't think "Within the Law" is a great play, but I do admit that it is theatrically effective. And I think that is due to the fact that I went over it as carefully as I could during the weeks it was first in Chicago, tying up loose ends wherever I saw them and building the thing up.

None of us thought for a minute that "Within the Law" would be the success that it is. We all looked for a moderate hit and possibly a run until the holidays, but that we should sell out on the second night the play was presented in New York, and never have an empty seat in the house for 300 performances, was beyond our wildest dreams. The play will make a fortune for Mr. Selwyn and his associates, and it's doing very well indeed for me, too; thank you kindly.

Has it accomplished anything else? What real good has it done? I don't know. I hope that it has served its sociological purpose. I feel very strongly that when a maker of plays has pointed out frankly and fearlessly a social situation that needs a remedy he has done his work. The stage is not the place for the discussions of reform; but I am quite sure it is a fine place to make their necessity known to the greatest number of people.

The plight of underpaid working girls has been known for years; brilliant thinkers have talked about it, great writers have written about it, but it remained for my bedraggled, tear-stained shopgirl on her way to prison, with glittering steel handcuffs on her wrists and her reiterated, "but you won't pay them enough to live on," to make three of the largest department store proprietors in New York City establish a minimum wage scale of $8 a week in their stores. My play has at least done that much good.

BITS OF VERSE.

Waking Song.

'Tis dawn in the sky of the world,
'Tis dawn in the sky of my heart,
And earth is the bud of a rose
Whose petals are trembling apart;
So I come to your door in the dawn,
And I breathe you my life in a word,
You would smile, you would lean from your window, my queen,
If you heard—if you heard.

The air is all throbbing with fire,
And I am pulse of the flame,
All breathless the universe beats,
Like a heart that is tuned to your name,
As the stars in their course last night
Kept time to each breath that you drew. . . .
But our passion is dumb—Oh, my love, you would come
If you knew—if you knew!

You would glow in the flush of the dawn
You glitter so coldly above;
You would lean like a rose to his cry
Who yearns to the lips of your love;
You would raise him who faints at your feet
To a height that his hope never dared;
You would warm the poor clod in your arms to a god,
If you cared—if you cared.
—[Amelia Josephine Burr, in the New York Mail.

Winter Reverie.

I saw the moon so broad and bright
Sailing high on a frosty night;
And the air swung far and far between
The silver dusk and the orb of green;
And here and there a wisp of white
Cloud-film swam on the misty light;
And crusted thickly on the sky,
High and higher and yet more high,
Were golden star points, dusted through
The great, wide, silent vault of blue.
Then I bethought me God was great,
And the world was fair, and so, elate,
I knelt me down and bent my head,
And said my prayers and went to bed.
—[James Stephens in Harper's Magazine.

Live Thy Life.

Live thy life gallantly and undismayed:
Whatever harms may hide within the shade,
Be thou of fear, my spirit! more afraid.

In earthly pathways evil springeth
rife;
But dread not thou, too much, or pain or strife
That plunge thee to the greater depths of life!

What though the storm cloud holds the bolt that sears?
The eagle of the crag, that nothing fears,
Still, still is young after a hundred years!
—[Florence Earle Coates in Scribner's.

THE GLORY OF "KISMET."

Some of the Elements of Success in the Wizardry of a Play Now Offering The World Crumbs From a Banquet for Which the People Are Always Ahungered. Also a Word About the Ham Tree.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK

YOU may walk or ride through a landscape of bleakness or of charm, but if you suddenly surprise yourself by coming upon an orchard in bloom, something of joy moves within you like the stir of wings.

If you are a man you know that never a blossoming tree fringes hedge or field, but that it has opened its heart in bloom and showered its fragrance upon the wind because the One Woman has lived to weep and smile for you and because somewhere her footfall turns the dust to gold.

A woman looks across the fields and the bees drink deeper from flowering hearts, the song of every flitting bird sounds a new note of nature's ecstacy, over the orchard falls a sweeter light and every petal quivers as though it thrilled to the tender wonder of her glance. Her life may be loveless, yet that day her caress puts soft arms around the world. Men may miss it, but never the orchard in bloom.

It is, if you please, this fresh revealed beauty which the world hungers to find upon the stage.

That playwright blesses us most who acquaints us with the greatest loveliness.

Not witchery of scenic effect alone, not the fire and flow of meaningful lines chiseled from the white marble of rapturous words, not the gladness or the pain of plot nor yet the subtle mastery of method can of themselves bring us under the joyous conviction of vivid beauty. The last touch of art

NANCE O'NEIL AT ORPHEUM.

Illington in "Within the Law" at Majestic.

"Anatol" Slated for Boards at Little Theater.

Bills at the Vaudeville and Stock Houses.

Nance O'Neil, one of the strongest and best-liked of American players, will top the Orpheum bill opening Monday matinee, when she will be seen for the first time in vaudeville. She secured Gaston Mervale's very big, powerful and virile playlet, "The Second Ash Tray," as her vehicle.

The scenes of this play are laid in India, but the characters are all of today, and while the story is of the "eternal triangle" at the same time it is given a new twist that makes it most unusual. Miss O'Neil is so well known and so much liked here that it is almost unnecessary to refer to her ability, power and popularity, but her departure in going into vaudeville is so radical and unusual that it is not out of place thereby to emphasize again the unvarying policy of the Orpheum always to get the best and biggest stars in the world—and the capturing of such a one as Miss O'Neil is ample evidence of the fact that the Orpheum is thus "ever on the job."

Almost an entirely new bill comes with her, only two acts holding over. Bert Fitzgibbon, the "original daffydill," is perhaps as welcome as anyone could be in the funmaking line. Bert has his own way of putting forth his patter and song, and he fortunately has no imitators—perhaps no one is skilful enough to try. Anyhow, he will be seen and heard in his stunt the coming week.

Another unusual act will be offered by Albert Von Tilzer, who has written many of the most-liked songs of the age. Von Tilzer will give his own renditions of these songs, assisted by pretty Dorothy Nord. The couple will thus give expression in authoratative manner to the ditties of today made so delightful in the way Mr. Von Tilzer alone seems to know how.

Martin Johnson, the only white man aboard the Snark with Jack London on their South Sea cruise, will show his pictures of strange scenes and people and tell about them—almost as good as making the trip.

Vere McCord and Arthur Shaw will have the comedy—by Sewell Collins, a certificate of its excellence—called "Just Like a Woman," and Sharp and Turek," in blackface, will have some song, dance and patter stuff to fascinate every one.

The only hold overs are Horace Goldin, the master magician, and Hunted and Wilson, "At the Reception." There will of course be the usual orchestral concerts and the world's news in motion views.

Majestic.

That favorite emotional actress, Margaret Illington, in "Within the Law," the reigning dramatic sensation of the year in both New York and London, will be seen here all this week, beginning tomorrow at the Majestic Theater.

"Within the Law" tells in simple, sincere fashion, a wonderfully realistic story of a good girl's struggle in the underworld that moves the least impressionable in spite of themselves.

Mary Turner, the heroine (Miss Illington,) is an attractive young woman who, early in her career as a working girl, is falsely accused of theft in the large dry goods emporium in which she is employed. She vehemently declares her innocence, but the greed-obsessed hypocrite who employs her, and the judge before whom she is tried, insist that she should be made to stand as an example to all other shopgirls similarly tempted. She, therefore, is sentenced to serve three years in prison.

When released, she seeks honorable employment. During her incarceration she had made use of the prison library and has become educated. She seeks and finds many positions, but in each instance she is hounded by the police, until finally she an-

MUSICAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

SECOND SEASON OF GRAND OPERA ALMOST CERTAIN.

John McCormack Recital, Ellis Club Concert, Sibyl Sammis Macdermid, Soloist, With Woman's Orchestra, Leading Features of This Week's Musical Activities.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

Misinformed persons, ignorant of the actual existing conditions, insist upon the necessity of developing and elevating musical education in the public schools of this city.

When, as a matter of fact, under three distinct phases, music is taught by qualified teachers, development of music and appreciation, expression of the individual through music, interpretation of standard works.

History of music from the earliest time and in all nations is given in the first division and compared with the contemporaneous history is literature and the other arts.

Twice a week appreciation classes, composed of musical as well as unmusical students, meet to become familiar with works of recognized standing and value. These meetings are most useful in awakening and directing taste in musical appreciation on broad and general lines which are as valuable to those who will be only auditors in the future as to students with professional inclinations.

This course covers two years' duration and includes classical, romantic and modern opera, biography of composers, the critical study being complemented by illustrations given by the pianola or other automatic musical instruments. Advanced pupils, who are able to do so, are invited to play or sing standard works and occasionally professional musicians are heard.

Thus the body of students receives training in general appreciation of music, without being obliged to follow any technical studies for which many are not qualified.

For those who intend to enter the ranks of the profession, daily work is offered in harmony and music history. Two years are required to complete the course.

In the harmony classes the best talent is discovered and cultivated. It is heard in public and school programmes.

Sight reading and theory, which develop students and fit them to enter choruses and appear in solo work is also offered daily. Voice placement, enunciation, phrasing attack and interpretation and ear training are also undertaken in that department.

These various studies are not mere training of culture and taste for credit is given for each of them in graduation from the high schools and for matriculation in the State university. Harmony and history receive junior credits at the University of California.

The music organizations constitute quite an aggregation of talent and comprise nearly 1000 members. First and second orchestras, string quartette, band, boys' and girls' glee clubs, choral club, mixed chorus and boys' chorus.

As it is not practical now to train students in the rudiments of instrumental music, it is required that a certain knowledge of their instruments be possessed by those who desire to enter in orchestras and bands.

The first orchestra has already presented "Orpheus," "Poet and Peasant," "Merry Wives of Windsor," "Mignon," "Hansel and Gretel," "Dance of the Hours."

The second orchestra serves as a recruiting station for the first.

Students who are the most skilled compose the string quartette; they represent the element from which professionals may be recruited later.

Bands add to school spirit at games, debates and rallies, glee clubs are always in great demand where lighter music is desired.

In each high school there is a large chorus of mixed voices and choral clubs are now being formed for the purpose of studying oratorios and cantatas.

The boys' choruses might be termed a repertoire class as the best baritone solos are studied, tenors and bassos developed.

A type of what may become frequent concerts in the near future was the programme of the Polytechnic High School, given last Wednesday at the Temple Auditorium under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Parsons, who pioneered the introduction of music in the high schools.

Glen Wilkins, a member of the class, had the honor of opening the concert by having his original composition, "Processional," played by the orchestra, followed by Flotow's "Stradella Overture," the glee clubs sang "The Lark Now Leaves His Watery Nest," and Mascagni's "Hymn of Praise," Gounod's "Dio Possente" was given by Archie Zimmerman, Tschaikowsky's "Andante Cantabile," and Ole Bull's melody were played by the string quartette, followed by Beethoven's "Heavens Resound" and "Alma Mater" song by the class.

John McCormack, Irish Tenor.

John McCormack, the ever-popular and well-beloved Irish lyric tenor, will be heard in two recitals at the Auditorium, one next Wednesday evening the 11th, with a matinee on Saturday, the 14th. Special attention of Philharmonic patrons is called to the evening date, as it has been changed from the 10th to the 11th on account of the railroad connections during the past uncertain weather.

Mr. McCormack returned two weeks ago from Australia, where he has enjoyed a phenomenal success, a success equaled by no other artist who has yet visited that music-loving land. His first visit to Australia was made two years ago, when he toured the island with Mme. Nellie Melba in her own opera company. In his concerts in this country, which will extend this year until May, when he goes to England for opera, he will have the very able assistance of Donald MacBeath, violinist, and Vincent O'Brien, pianist. These two artists have been with McCormack during the tour of Australia.

In these strenuous times, when even the most conscientious of the Latin singers have bent the knee to the Baal of dramaticism, one would expect to find an unsullied lyric voice only on some enchanted island, but when such a voice is found in the comfortably Americanized throat of an Irishman the paradox is one to make the artistic world gasp. And such is the paradox that John McCormack presents to the musical world. A limpid voice, under perfect command, with a mezzovoce as round and luscious as the full-throated tone of many another artist.

McCormack today is without doubt the most popular and best-liked singer before the public; every appearance is a sure guarantee of a capacity house, and with all the success that he has enjoyed he is still an approachable, likeable individual. His charming wife and two children will accompany him on this tour, while Charles W. Wagner, the American manager, will accompany him from the West to the East until the final concert at the Hippodrome in New York. The programmes for this city follow:

February 11, evening: Recit and ave, "Deeper and Deeper Still Waft Her Angels" (Handel,) Mr. McCormack; violin, Mr. MacBeath; "Intermezzo" (Schumann,) "Jai pleuve en reve" (Hue,) "The Lord Is My Light" (Allitsen,) Mr. McCormack; violin, Mr. MacBeath; Irish songs, "She Passed Through the Fair" (arranged by Herbert Hughes,) "The Lagan Love Song" (arranged by Hamilton Harty,) "Kathleen Mavourneen" (Crouch,) Mr. McCormack; violin, Mr. MacBeath; arias, "La Maison Grise" ("Fortunic") (Messager,) finale Act III, "Boheme" (Leoncavallo,) Mr. McCormack.

February 14, matinee: "Ah, Moon of My Delight" (Liza Lehmann,) Mr. McCormack; violin, Mr. MacBeath; "Du bist wie eine Blume" (Schumann,) "Meine Liebe ist gruen" (Brahms,) "Pleading" (Elgar,) "Mother o' Mine" (Frank Tours,) Mr. McCormack; ancient Irish songs (arranged by Hughes,) "Down by the Sally Gardens," "She Moved Thru the Fair," "In Fanaids Grove," "The Next Market Day," Mr. McCormack; violin, Mr. MacBeath; "The Slighted Swain (old English,) "One Gave Me a Rose" (Schneider,) "There Was an Ancient Monarch" (Mischa Elman,) "Eleanore" (Coleridge-Taylor,) Mr. McCormack.

Chicago Grand Opera.

After many conferences the Chicago Grand Opera Company management has accepted to visit Los Angeles in March and give a season of extraordinary brilliancy, presenting new grand operas.

If, and it seems the only difficulty in the way, guarantors will aid Manager Behymer, as they did last year, with great honor to themselves and no cost, a remarkable series of performances is assured.

Philadelphia, St. Louis, Dallas, Kansas City, Denver, Atlanta and San Francisco have already accepted to guarantee the company against loss. The company is an augmented one, including all the favorites of the Chicago opera season of 1913-14, with an orchestra under Maestro Cleofonte Campanini, who also is the general manager; the original cast of the various operas as sung in Chicago, Philadelphia and New York, with complete costuming, scenic properties, will appear.

The repertoire will be sung in French, German, Italian and English.

Due credit must be given to the guarantors of last season who made the introductory year possible and over half of whom are on the list again this season, for they took advantage of the opportunity of adding to the prestige of Los Angeles as a center of music and art. It is a great undertaking to bring 380 people across the continent to play a limited number of engagements on the Pacific Coast. The tournee requires three special trains of twelve cars each, the scenery and properties alone requiring seventeen baggage cars.

Every opera will be given in its entirety, the same as in Chicago or New York. The casts are all-star casts and the repertoire includes the premiers of the Chicago and Philadelphia engagements as well as the stars who have had successful careers abroad and who have made names for themselves in America.

The repertoire includes "Rigoletto" on the opening night, March 10, with the incomparable Titta Ruffo as Rigoletto, Giorgini in the role of the Duke, Florence Macbeth, who is now considered one of the famous sopranos of the world, as Gilda; Henri Scott as Sparafucile, Margaret Keyes as Maddalena and Constantin Nicolay as Monterone, and the supporting Italian cast.

For the matinee Wednesday we are to have the initial production in Los Angeles of "The Jewels of the Madonna," Wolf-Ferrari's celebrated opera, and a cast which includes over forty of the best singers of the Chicago company. Carolina White appears in the role she created in this country of Maliella; Bassi as Gennaro, and Louis Breet as Carmela, Other well-known names in this tremendous cast are Polese, Daddi, Venturini, Galli, Egern, Riegelmann and others.

No visit of the Chicago company would be worth while without the greatest of American actresses and singers, Mary Garden. Last year many demands were made for Massenet's lyric miracle play, "The Juggler of Notre Dame," with the inimitable Mary as Jean. This will be her initial appearance in Los Angeles on March 11, with Hector Dufranne as Boniface, Gustave Huberdeau as the prior, Edmund Warnery as the mon kpoet, Henri Scott as the monk painter, Nicolai as the monk sculptor, and Armand Crabbe as the monk musician, with Cleofonte Campanini as conductor. "The Juggler of Notre Dame" has been one of the irresistible features of the Chicago company's repertoire in all the eastern cities.

For over three years Manager Behymer has worked to bring about one thing for Los Angeles: an adequate presentation of Richard Wagner's greatest of all music dramas, the consecrational festival play of "Parsifal." By arrangement with Siegfried and Cosima Wagner the Chicago company was able to secure ten performances of "Parsifal" this season, which is the uncut version and given from the original manuscripts of the Wagner composition. With all America clamoring for this production, and neither Chicago or Philadelphia willing to take the entire ten performances at exceptional guarantees, Los Angeles is able to secure one of the ten, scheduled for Thursday afternoon and night, March 12, with Clarence Whitehill as Amfortas, Henri Scott as Titufel, Allen Hinckley as Gurnemanz, and the wonderful Otto Marak, from Beyreuth and Munich, as Parsifal. Hector Dufranne as Klingsor, and Julia Claussen, who is considered the greatest of all the Kundries, in Germany and Austria, and who has sung the role many times at Beyreuth, will appear as the repentant maiden. Ruby Heyl as the Voice, and Nicolai as the second knight, supported by the entire German cast of this marvelous creation.

For Friday, March 13, for the first time in Los Angeles by a competent organization, Charpentier's "Louise," with the entire French cast, headed by Mary Garden and Hector Dufranne.

For the Saturday matinee the double bill, "Cavalleria Rusticana," with Rosie Raisa as Santuzza, Ruby Heyl as Lola, Venturini as Turiddu and Frederick Francisco as Alfio. The greatest of all the creations of Ruffo is considered his admirable Tonio in Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci." Seventeen performances of this opera in Chicago and every seat sold was the record this year. Jane Osborne-Hannah will sing Nedda, Amedeo Bassi as Canio, Crabbe as Silvio, Venturini as Beppi.

For the closing performance, Saturday, March 14, the German section of the organization will be heard in an all-star presentation of "Lohengrin," which with its scenic investment is considered one of the greatest things the Chicago company has done this season.

But few people realize the sumptuousness of this production, for European and American artists have executed in a gorgeous manner and accurate in historic detail a surrounding in accord with the exalted traditions of the company. Certainly this is an auspicious offering for Los Angeles, and all depends on Los Angeles being as liberal in her guarantees as other cities in the West. The season ticket sale, if the contracts are completed, will open on Monday, February 16, with seat sale for the guarantors on Thursday, February 12. Full particulars may be obtained at the offices of L. E. Behymer, where advance subscriptions will be received, and at the Auditorium box office.

Ellis Club Concert.

The second concert of the Ellis Club's eighteenth season will be given next Tuesday evening in the Auditorium.

A programme of unusual excellence has been prepared and the club will sing with more than eighty voices. The soloist of the evening will be Miss Aurelia Wharry, soprano, who will sing one number with the club, besides her solo work.

All seats for this concert will be reserved. Associate members can exchange their regular tickets for reserved seat tickets at Birkel's music store.

The programme follows: "Tarantella (Dubois,) "Ave Maria" (Gounod,) soprano solo, "Song of the Bow" (Florence Alward,) "On the Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn,) "Viking Song" (S. Coleridge Taylor,) "Oh, That We Two Were Maying (Ethelbert Nevin,) "Heina Von Stein" (Arthur W. Thayer,) "Russian Boat Song" (arranged by H. E. Krehbiel,) "Now the Night in Starlight Splendor," sextette from Lucia (arranged by William Dressler;) "Before the Dawn—Persian Idyl," with tenor solo and 'cello obligato (W. F. Harling.)

Becker Recital.

At the Gamut Club auditorium the advanced pupils of Mr. and Mrs. Thilo Becker were heard in a piano and violin recital of great finish last Thursday.

Miss Audrey St. Clair Creighton, a young violinist about to join the ranks of her profession, gave a fine interpretation of Haendel Sonata in A major, accompanied by Will Garroway at the piano, and later, Bruch's "Swedish Dances," as a solo.

Master Purcell Mayer, only 11, acquitted himself with credit in Saint-Saens "Swan" and Massenet's "Meditation from Thais."

These two young violinists are pupils of Mrs. Thilo Becker.

Misses Gladys Osborn and Georgia McDonald gave Brahm's "Variations and Fugue on a Theme by Haendel" and Liszt's "Etude de Concert in F minor."

Raymond Schouten played MacDowell's "Keltic Sonata," while Miss Gensag Santikan, possessed of remarkable oriental temperament, gave for her first public appearance a selection from Liszt and one from MacDowell with great charm. The piano students are pupils of Prof. Thilo Becker.

Miss Paloma Schramm, who has been counted one of our most gifted pianists of the younger set, closed an interesting and well-balanced programme of students with Liszt's beautiful legend, "Saint Francis Walking on the Waves."

Missouri University Glee Club.

On February 17 the glee club of the Missouri State University, numbering thirty, will give a recital at the Gamut Club auditorium.

People's Orchestra.

Today, the People's Orchestra will give a fine Scotch programme with a real piper, Rennie Wilson, to play at the intermission. The Scotch comes in the last part as is fitting for the ending of a programme running from Rossini to Victor Herbert. The overture to William Tell opens the afternoon followed by a nocturnal piece by Schumann, Old Minuet No. 2 in G by Beethoven, and it is an interesting fact that the refrain to "Apple Blossom Time in Normandie" is taken bodily from this minuet and to better illustrate that fact the orchestra will play "Apple Blossom Time" as an encore and a contrast. No. 3 will be Irish Rhapsody by Victor Herbert, which is almost Scotch. Then, to come to America, we will have that delicate "Day in Venice" by Nevin, divided into four parts—dawn, gondliers, Venetian love song and good-night. And at the intermission a piper, Scotch, with all the air of the heather and the lochs in the skirling of the pipes. It is a fitting lead up to the "Merry Wives of Windsor" and Max Bruch's "Fair Ellen," which will close the concert.

"Fair Ellen" is a wonderfully dramatic cantata, which has been given many times, but never before with a full orchestral accompaniment here. It is tuneful and gives the People's chorus a fine opportunity to distinguish itself.

Woman's Orchestra.

Sibyl Sammis Macdermid, the dramatic soprano who will be soloist with the Woman's Orchestra next Friday evening, has been enjoying the past week in Los Angeles attending receptions arranged in honor of herself and her distinguished husband, James G. Macdermid.

This singer has enjoyed a tremendous vogue in the East in recitals, oratorio and as soloist with the principal orchestras. As a singer of American songs and the more florid type of old compositions she is especially gifted.

George Schoenfeld, the son of the director, Henry Schoenfeld, will present several numbers on his harpsichord, the instrument, that of its kind, is the finest this side of France. The entire programme will be devoted to compositions of the old school, Beethoven, Mozart and Bach. Mrs. Macdermid being heard in "Il re Pastore" of Mozart's.

The orchestra has been doing very excellent work this year and has expended much pains in bringing the organization to its present excellent condition.

Yvonne de Treville.

The only coloratura soprano we will have with us this season will be Yvonne de Treville, who will present her "Three Centuries of Prime Donne" in costume at the Auditorium the evening of the 17th. This will be a philharmonic event, so patrons will please note the date. De Treville has just returned from her jaunt to Honolulu, and is in excellent voice and spirits to continue her lengthy tour.

Newkirk Recital.

Mrs. J. Y. Newkirk, dramatic soprano, assisted by Miss Arri Nottman and Mary Newkirk Bowers, lyric soprano, accompanied by Mrs. M. Henion Robinson, the noted accompanist, appeared in recital at the Hershey Arms, yesterday.

Los Angeles Orchestra.

A new musical organization, the Los Angeles Orchestra, under the directorship of the popular Maestro Eduardo Lebegott, will come into existence next Sunday. Its main purpose is to give concerts on Sundays, at popular prices.

Miss Olga Steeb, the well-known pianist, will be the first soloist of the new enterprise. Concerts at popular prices will be given Sunday afternoons at the Mason Operahouse.

Jaime Whitson Overton.

Once "Jaime," a promising pupil of A. D. Hunter, later Jaime Overton on his first professional appearance here, Jaime Whitson Overton has made wonderful strides since he left his native heath for the East. In a few years, plain Overton, the violinist, will be definitely substituted to describe on three-panel advertisements the recitals of our young violinist.

Overton is possessed of a truly remarkable equipment as a violinist, a seriousness of temperament, and an attractiveness of personality which ought to make him a great favorite.

His present position in New York, with engagements, both North and South, confirm again that the musical world is ready to recognize genuine talent, and it matters not whence it comes from, however pleasing it may be to Los Angeles to realize that three weeks after he left his home town, unheralded, Overton was accepted as a violinist of merit in New York City.

Apollo Grand Opera Company.

The Apollo Grand Opera Company, which is said to be a new permanent organization in Los Angeles, will appear soon, in a new grand opera in English, entitled: "Dolores," composed by Maestro Botta.

The performances will be conducted by the composer with an orchestra of forty musicians.

Florence Wadsworth Wallace.

Florence Wadsworth Wallace, the well-known dramatic soprano, is the latest of Los Angeles' talented musicians to enter the ranks of vaudeville. Mme. Wallace has enjoyed distinction upon the concert stage, having sung at many important musical functions in this city.

Charles R. Baker, her manager, has booked her for appearance in the leading cities of the northern part of the State.

Adams Matinee Musicale.

The pupils of Lillian Adams were heard in recital last Saturday at Majestic Hall. Selections from Newton, Krogman, Erb, Schnecker, Heller, Schubert, and others, were given by Dorothy Janney, Andrea Burks, Sophia Schneider, Mildred Christie, Ileen Burks, Edwin Allen, Lois Phillips, Mildred Brick, Cecilia Rosen, Mildred Parker, Edith Bowen, Cleo Pace, Florence McConnell, Marie Greenwood, Edna Eckley, Dorothy Catlin, Maxine Eccleston, Virginia and Jesse Burks, Gladis Conkling, Detta Kahn, Marie Greenwood.

Thousands of Women Are Using With Extraordinary Results the Secrets of Valeska Suratt, the most Famous Self-Made Beauty of the World's Stage.

By Valeska Suratt

IF I had a score of various hair tonics laid out before me, and I should close my eyes and pick one out indifferently, I believe the one I had so chosen would not produce on my hair any greater or less result than any one of the other nineteen. Formulas of many hair tonics sold still remain anciently modern. Improvement, I believe, has been sacrificed for cheapness of materials. Science's best formulas for growing hair do not find their way into the hands of the millions.

This is why I myself propose to give to you and the army of my less fortunate sisters the help which is their right to have. The formula I give here I consider one of my precious possessions. It has produced results out of all proportion to its cost. It is the most economical, effective hair preparation possible to secure. I am known as the only woman on the American stage who does not have to wear puffs, switches, turbans or other hair makeshifts to conceal poverty of hair. My wealth of hair is all my own. Try this formula if you would have your hair grow luxuriantly, become long, silky, glossy, full of life, and thin patches will quickly fill out.

Mix half a pint of water with half a pint of alcohol (or take a full pint of imported bay rum, if you prefer it) and add to this one ounce of beta quinol, which you can obtain for not more than fifty cents at any drug store. Then it is ready to apply.

Mix this formula yourself at home and it will cost you far less and be more effective than any hair tonic you can ever buy ready to use.

MISS AGING—Every day that passes fastens a new line or wrinkle to your face, unless you have grown to learn the real way to keep the skin in youthful condition. There is only one way that I have ever learned and I will give it to you here. Every day is a day gone forever. Every day you use this formula is a day gained. I have known women even of 50 and 60 years to make themselves look years younger by using this wrinkle formula.

Add two teaspoonfuls of glycerin and two ounces of eptol to a half pint of hot water. Stir constantly until cold. Use very liberally. The eptol you can obtain for not more than fifty cents at the drug store. Mix the formula yourself will save a good many cream very liberally.

Attractions this week at the local theaters.

Kitty Gordon and her merry fellow players start on their third record-smashing week of the limited engagement of "Pretty Mrs. Smith," which has scorded the greatest success that the Burbank Theater has ever known.

The fact that it has been noised about town that but a few weeks remain in which local playgoers will have an opportunity to witness this new comedy with music has caused a very heavy run on the Burbank box-office and all good lovers of clean comedy with clever situations, lilting melodies and of clever playerfolk are securing their seats well in advance.

The piece has scored such a genuine hit that undoubtedly it would prove to be a record-breaker for many weeks to come at the Burbank, but contracts have been signed and in a very short time Kitty Gordon and her associates will fold "their tents" and go away to seek new worlds to conquer.

Empress.

Dean Worley, manager of the Empress Theater will next week offer as his headline attraction, Archie Goodall, presenting his spectacular act, "Walking the Hoop" opening with the regular matinee tomorrow afternoon. "Walking the Hoop" is said to be one of the most remarkable gymnastic novelties that has ever been seen on any stage. Mr. Goodall will be remembered by many as one of the greatest association football players of the past decade. Like many an other athlete, Goodall has been recruited into the vaudeville ranks.

Everything in the act was designed and manufactured by himself and the ingenuity displayed in the invention of the new and peculiar apparatus is said to be as remarkable as the feats of nerve and skill performed by this remarkable athlete. All the feats accomplished by Mr. Goodall are performed while hanging head down. The act is said to be second to none for sensation and positive novelty.

Second on the new bill in importance and interest among the newcomers will be the special return engagement of Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher in one of the most delightful attractions of the present season, their charming rural playlet entitled "The Half Way House," from the pen of the late Ezra Kendall. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher need no introduction to Empress patrons, for they have visited the local theater before and have always been found to give a finished performance.

Third on the new bill will be the welcome return of Dave Ferguson, "The Storiette Songster," who needs little introduction to the local vaudevillians. He is making his reappearance following an extended trip abroad, where he played some of the largest of the English music halls and was very well received. His stories and songs are said to be new and possess that high quality of originality.

The Three Musketeers, presenting "At the Camp," something that is said to be new and delightful, via the comedy route are expected to hold their own with their lively one-act sketch against all rivals. The cast is composed of Jack Dunham, San Edwards and Joe Farell, who are said to be a trio of exceptionally fine funmakers.

Price and Price, who are billed as the "Fearless Gymnasts" for speed and sensational aerial work are said to excel many of the best acts in America.

Pantages.

Walter Terry and six "Fiji Girls,"' assisted by Nellie Elmer and Gus Elmore, offer Pantages patrons next week a tab comedy that possesses the maximum of fun, music and dancing possible in the twenty minutes allotted to it. The opportunity to observe Terry's dances in Fiji garb is a privilege which the Pantages faithful will appreciate. Gus Elmore as a Fiji comedian will start a new fashion in stage fun. The six female Fijians are a highly essential feature of the act, doing things that no Fiji maidens ever thought of doing before, and probably never will again. The act uses its own special scenery and has enough of it to start a new archipelago, should the Pacific accidentally swallow up the famous cannibal isles.

An equestrian act of the circus type is the offering of the famous riding Costellos. Bareback riding, vaulting and acrobatics are the specialties. There is enough sensation in the act to satisfy the most exacting seeker after thrills and shivers.

The Newsboys' Sextette, a bunch of juvenile singers and comedians, appear in harmonized selections, solos and duets, classic and popular. To the initiated they look like one of the big features of the programme.

Lyons and Cullom, man and woman, offer bits of vaudeville ranging from singing and dancing to magic and acrobatics. They try almost everything that has ever been seen in vaudeville and make a success of everything they attempt. The hard-shoe dancing of the woman is especially good.

Allegro, a violinist of unusual type in vaudeville, adds an artistic feature to the show. Roland Carter and company, expected last week and held over for a second week in San Francisco, are listed this week in "The Jolly Jailbirds' Vavation."

Hippodrome.

Jack Lait's great sketch, "Lead Kindly Light," will for a second week be the headliner at the Hippodrome, the story told of the underworld by the author of "Help Wanted" having proved one of the most popular acts ever staged at the Hippodrome.

Ably played by Landers Stevens and Georgia Cooper and a splendid cast of twenty-five, the offering is one of the most pretentious in vaudeville and well worth going miles to see.

The balance of the new bill which opens with the matinee Monday gives promise of being uniformly excellent. Hamlin and Abbott, who recently closed a long and successful tour of the "Big Time" will contribute their song and violin specialty, while "Babe" Lewis, credited with being one of the daintiest comediennes on the stage, will bring a brand new budget of songs and dances.

The Bright Brothers, muscular marvels, should prove an athletic revelation for they are skillful as well as giants of strength and endurance.

A big laugh feature will be Dowell and Gray who are a scream every minute with their skit "Election Day," and the Light Opera Four will appear with some of its best selections. There has never been a mixed quartette in Los Angeles which could boast half the popularity of this real singing organization.

A real sensation will be Julia Gonzalza, the aerial beauty whose act is as thrilling as the woman herself is handsome, and in addition there will be three splendid new photoplays, seen in Los Angeles for the first time.

Woodley Theater.

A galaxy of splendid features are scheduled for the first half of the week at Woodley's Theater, on Broadway, opposite the Majestic Theater.

One of the most unusual of the new features will be "The Hermit," a two-reel, Flying A film of unusually fascinating theme and picturesque locale.

Then, too, there will be more of the Mutual Girl, who has captured the hearts of Woodley patrons, and these, with the newest Keystone comedy and other shorter reels, will make up a splendid picture programme.

The musical programme provided by C. Percival Garratt bids fair to outrank anything he has yet offered. Put on his mettle by keen competition, Garratt is out to defend his laurels as the greatest manipulator of a pipe organ who ever played in Los Angeles.

With the mammoth and perfect Woodley organ, under his complete control, Garratt has each week presented new masterpieces from his wonderful repertoire and this week will have new and tuneful surprises for Woodley patrons.

Princess.

"King of Bing Bong" is the title of the musical comedy which Lord and Meek will offer next week to the patrons of the Princess First-street Theater, this being one of the best of their large repertoire. There are many hits in the musical line and the comedy is of the laugh-producing style. Tom Haverly and Billy Holsom will supply the motives for the laughs, while Carmelita Meek, Ollie Carlyle, Clara O'Neill and Bessie Strattotn are down for the vocal leads.

The "King of Bing Bong" is the third of the series of musical skits which Manager George Hancock has chosen for the exploitation of Lord and Meek and the great success of the other pieces makes it certain that the latest comedy will go with the First-street crowd. The Keystone films will continue to be a feature on the screen.

Miller's.

What is proving to be one of the greatest moving-picture features ever staged in Los Angeles will begin its second week at Miller's Theater on Main street between Eighth and Ninth street, Sunday afternoon.

It is "The Lion and the Mouse," Charles Klein's masterpiece in which Annie Russell won her greatest fame. It is superbly presented on the screen by such great Lubin players as Soule Spencer and Ethel Clayton, and is a triumph of motion photography as well as a gem of dramatic art.

The story of how the ambitious money king, John Ryder, who is the lion in the story, is bested by the daughter of the man he ruined, who, of course, is the mouse, is vividly told —much better, in fact, than it was possible to do on an ordinary stage, and that was greatly appreciated by "movie" lovers was attested by the fact that during the past week house records at Miller's were broken, thus justifying a second week of this great attraction.

Tally's Broadway.

A brilliant reproduction of the beauty and daring of the days of knighthood, "A Lady of Quality," with Cecelia Loftus, the famous actress, will be the unusual attraction next week at Tally's Broadway Theater. This is the noted character actress' first appearance on the screen and the subject chosen gives her every opportunity to display her talents for mimicry.

MOST SICKNESS COMES FROM WEAK, INACTIVE KIDNEYS

Recent Reports Show Hundreds Suffer With Kidney Troubles and Don't Know It.

There are scores of nervous, tired, run-down people throughout the country, suffering with pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, weaknesses of the bladder, (frequently causing annoyance at night) who fail to realize the seriousness of their troubles until such conditions as chronic rheumatism, bladder troubles, dropsy, diabetes or even Bright's disease result.

All this is due to weak, inactive kidneys. The kidneys are the filterers of the blood, and no one can be well and healthy unless the kidneys work properly. It is even more important than that the bowels move regularly.

If you suffer with such symptoms don't neglect yourself another day and run the risk of serious complications. Secure an original package of the new discovery, Croxone, which costs but a trifle, and commence its use at once. When you have taken a few doses, you will be surprised how differently you will feel.

Croxone overcomes the worst cases of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism, because it removes the cause. It cleans out the kidneys and makes them filter out all the poisonous waste matter and uric acid, that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the bladder, and quickly relieves you of all your misery.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, it is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can secure an original package of Croxone from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY TALKS HEART TOPICS.

Mating to Please Families—The Girl Next Door.

"Build on no tomorrow;
Love has but today.
If the links seem slackening,
Cut the bond away."

When families are intimate and one possesses a young man of marriageable age, the other a daughter just slipping out of her teens, it seems only natural that the two families would earnestly hope their children would become enamored of each other and the pretty romance end in wedlock. If there is anything a young man is obstinate about, it is allowing his parents the right to meddle in his love affairs. If he starts in to beau her around just to please them, he finds himself entangled in a net from which it is difficult to extricate himself. If he stops calling on the girl next door, the two mothers put their heads together. Morning, noon and night, for the next week, he is treated to a lecture from the one person on earth whom he allows to dictate to him—his mother. There is no way of eluding the girl. She has access to his home at all times. She is catered to and deferred to as though she were one of the family.

He is not even allowed the luxury of a lover's spat. If anything goes wrong, it is he who is called sharply to account for it. How dare he go off in a doze when Mary was singing her greatest song hit? He fears to tell the truth about the matter—that those few seconds of unconsciousness were a relief which he would hardly have dared hope for to shut out Mary's high-pitched voice, which got on his nerves.

The girl next door is not his style at all. His mother declares she's an angel. But his mother is not courting Mary. She won't hear that the sweet young girl has a temper, that she's jealous as a Turk; that she's deceitful, smiling sweetly on the dear little tots she meets on the street, declaring they were made for air and sunshine, but insists that her mother keep their cook's babies shut up in the dark basement kitchen, so she won't see their faces peering at her in her automobile.

Mothers who have their hearts set upon the match fail to observe that the tastes of the young folks differ widely. They have no likings in common. He likes the lively girl—a bit coquettish, yet sensible, girl who knows when to laugh and when to be serious; the girl who don't want her own way all the time, in everything; who isn't "daffy" on matinees and movies; who doesn't run to soothsayers to find out if he was with any other girl on a particular evening that he was to take her out, but sent her a hurried note, begging off for business reasons. To secure peace at home, many a young man has allowed himself to be coddled into a marriage which he might not have made of his own volition. Young people should be allowed a voice in their mating. He, or she, who marries to please anyone else has his or her own trials, and both have themselves to blame if their happiness becomes shipwrecked.

MISS LIBBEY'S ANSWERS TO YOUR LETTERS.

A Cheap Engagement Ring.

Dear Miss Libbey: What do you think of a man who gives his girl a dollar engagement ring with the remark "If anything should happen to part us I won't be out much?" I refused to accept it. I would have died of shame to have my friends see or know about it. He says, "It's that one or none." I am wondering and worrying over whether he is really serious in his attentions or not.

ROSE.

The best plan to pursue would be to have an understanding with him on the subject. You have not stated whether he could afford a better ring or not. If you were a flirt, and had accepted other betrothal rings, one could understand why he was loth to buy a more costly seal and token of his love—and yours.

Too Fond of the Movies.

Dear Miss Libbey: Do you object giving a man the benefit of your wisdom. This is my case: I have a sweetheart, a charming girl whom I am strongly inclined to marry. Of late she has developed a fad which causes me to doubt whether she would make a man like me—who is thoroughly domesticated—a good wife. She has developed a craze to attend the moving-picture shows every night in the week—rain or shine. If I refuse to accompany her, she starts off alone, remaining, as the old saying goes, till the last dog is hung. What am I to do?

TROUBLED MECHANIC.

The craze to go to the shows will soon wear itself out. Be patient with her. Refuse to accompany her. Tell her you intend to call on some young lady who enjoys entertaining you in her home. I think this would bring your sweetheart to her senses. She has evidently a restless disposition; this usually accompanies a loving heart. I am sure all will end well. Do not quarrel with her.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

Customs of the Orient.

[New York Tribune:] There are sects in India that will only drink water with a cloth fastened over the mouth. This is to prevent the killing of animalculae.

These sects employ a servant to beat a loud gong while they are eating. This is to prevent the hearing of profane remarks from passers-by.

If a dog brush against them, they plunge forthwith, clothes and all, into a bath.

They have a horror of defilement from folk of lower caste than themselves. Lower caste folk not only must not touch them, but if a lower caste shadow fall across their raiment that raiment is at once removed and washed.

And yet there are some rich American snobs who could give these people cards and spades.

ART AND ARTISTS.

BY ANTONY ANDERSON.

Sunset Wings.

Tonight this sunset spreads two golden wings
Cleaving the western sky;
Winged, too, with wind it is, and winnowings
Of birds, as if the day's last hour in rings
Of strenuous flight must die.

Sun-steeped in fire, the homeward pinions sway
Above the dovecote-tops;
And clouds of starlings, ere they rest with day,
Sink, clamorous like mill-waters, at wild play,
By turns in every copse.

Each tree heart-deep the wrangling rout receives—
Save for the whirr within,
You could not tell the starlings from the leaves;
Then one great puff of wings, and the swarm heaves
Away with all its din.

Plowman's Etchings.

For the past week an attractive collection of etchings from the needle of George T. Plowman has been on exhibition at the Steckel gallery, No. 336½ South Broadway. At an immediate date they will be transferred to the Merick Reynolds gallery, No. 839 South Broadway, where they will remain through March.

George T. Plowman, who has lived at Berkeley for the past ten years, but who has also been a citizen of New York, though he was born and bred in Minneapolis, began life as an architect—and, indeed, won a high reputation in his chosen profession before he took up etching, a field that promises him even greater fame. He has been an etcher for only three years, but already he takes rank among the best.

His preparation has been a most thorough one. He drew constantly with the hard pencil, producing exquisite details of landscapes, streets and buildings. He spent some tim along the Coast of Southern California, and among his drawings are the picturesque Moorish buildings—since pulled down—of old Venice—our own old Venice by the sea.

But it is only a step from the hard pencil to the harder etching needle, and Plowman finally decided to take that step. The acid had entered his blood, so to speak. He knew that the best and most modern instruction obtainable comes from Sir Frank Short, at the Royal College of Engraving at South Kensington. But the Royal College has a long waiting list. How should he get in—and at once? A difficult problem. Plowman would have been unable to solve it if our own State Department had not stepped in and lifted him over. And there was a royal personage on the waiting list, too! Apparently, divinity doesn't hedge a king any longer.

He worked assiduously under Sir Frank Short, mastering every detail of the business of etching before he made a single scratch upon a plate. He had been an architect, and he knew the value of solid foundations. So he builded well, until last spring he had the supreme satisfaction of showing at the exhibition of the Royal Academy in London, to which 2000 prints had been submitted, only 150 being accepted. A decided honor for an etcher so young in the craft.

The thirty etchings he is now showing at the Steckel have just arrived from Boston and New York. They were exhibited at the Print Gallery, No. 707 Fifth avenue, New York, from December 1 to December 13, and at Cobb's, No. 454 Boylston street, Boston, from January 12 to January 31.

Plowman knows his Paris well, especially the old Paris of crooked streets and tumble-down houses, the Paris of lurid history and thrilling romance. His most beautiful plates come from these picturesque purlieus—"Rue de Pretres St. Severin" (exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1913;) "Rue Mouffetard," "Rue de la Harpe," "St. Etienne du Mont" (shown in the salon of 1913;) "Hotel de Sens," "Notre Dame de Paris" and so on.

His drawing of architecture is accurate and full of character, and always his instinct is sure for pictorial possibilities. His line is firm and decisive, yet without hardness, and there are delicate suggestions of color in his imprints.

Plowman's Paris scenes are perhaps the most attractive, but he has brought interesting souvenirs from the streets of other cities—London, Strasburg, Wurzburg and Boston.

If you have not already seen these notable etchings by one of our rising American artists, don't neglect to seek them out at either the Steckel gallery or the Merick Reynolds.

Plowman has been in Los Angeles for a week, but returned to Berkeley on Thursday. On several occasions he gave demonstrations in the art of etching at the Steckel gallery, continuing the practical programme begun by W. A. Sharpe, the well known Los Angeles etcher and water-colorist.

Art and Hard Work.

In one of his recent "pertinent and impertinent" digressions in the Smart Set. Owen Hatteras (Willard Huntington Wright,) discusses, for our entertainment, the question of "art and marriage." He is not, of course, to be taken too seriously, but nevertheless some of his observations are not without their value.

For instance: "It has been the prevailing superstition throughout the ages that the artist is born and not made. Only recently have we begun to suspect that the artist is a human being, amenable to natural laws and solvable by the same formulas that apply to bricklayers, barbers and wire-tappers."

And again: "Art is largely the result of hard work, of sedulous study, of assiduous application to the details of the craft. To be sure, one may be born with certain musical, literary or color potentialities. But it is the perfecting of these talents which makes for art; and the greater the capacity of the man to develop his talents the greater the artist. Art is 90 per cent. perspiration. The superstition that a congenital artist can seize a brush and a palette full of pigments, and, for the first time, create a picture, is as untenable as the theory that any man with a bent for mathematics can build a suspension bridge. It is true, of course, that the artist requires certain conditions for the development of his art different from the conditions necessary for the development of the bridge-builder. Herein lies the line of demarcation between the artist and the artisan. Herein we find an explanation for the socalled 'artistic temperament.'"

Wright cites scores of honored (and dishonored) names to prove his theory that artists should not marry, but he offers no hope that they won't. For art is long, and artists, as Wright has discovered for us, are very human.

Miniatures by Miss Olmsted.

Half a dozen miniatures by Mary B. Olmsted of New York were exhibited last Thursday at Hotel Huntington, Oak Park. They will be shown there again some time during the present week.

Miss Olmsted puts life and vitality into her little portrayals of people. her color is daintily agreeable, her drawing excellent. She has a keen sense for character, displayed equally well with adults and children. One suspects her of partiality toward her tiniest sitters, however, she interprets so delightfully their innocent naivete and infantile wisdom. A charming example of such a model is the small granddaughter of Mrs. Mary P. Paige of Pasadena (formerly Mrs. Pillsbury of Minneapolis.)

Among the miniatures shown at the Huntington are those of Lieut.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, Mrs. Mary E. Thomas, mother to Mrs. George Wilshire; Mrs. Lawrence C. Phipps and child of Denver, and Mrs. Richard M. Brocklebank of London. The portraits of Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Brocklebank are both notable for their strong, yet refined delineation of old age. That of Lieut-Gen. Chaffee is vividly truthful in color, finely adequate in character.

Afternoon and Dance Frocks
Latest Spring Models of Taffeta

$29.50 $45.00 $55.00

Tomorrow we introduce another lot of those dainty dresses of taffeta, prettier than any the spring season has brought us. The models, while varied enough to please any fancy, are simple in the extreme. The colors range from the medium shades for street or afternoon to the most delicate pastel tints for evening. Ruffles, nets and laces are the chief decorative features.

The New Spring Suits

are wonders of fashion. Demi-tailored styles are in the majority. The smart Eton jacket and the newly-modeled cutaway both are highly recommended. The skirts for the most part are either draped or show a new minaret hip or represent an entirely modern peg-top effect. The materials are new looking and appropriate, including peau de peche, gabardine, fine serge, etc. Besides a full range of spring colors, little hairlines and checks will be much in vogue.

All prices from $25.00 to $50.00. Sizes for misses and women.

Winter Suits Half and Less

We want you to come tomorrow and see for yourself how much you can save on a suit that will serve you for many months to come, many of them, in fact, are styles you will be glad to wear the entire coming season. The models differ but little from those for summer wear and the weights practically are the same. The only difference noticeable is in the colors, and that is of little importance when one considers that dark colors are always fashionable. The assortments are sufficiently large to make choosing an easy matter. But as there is in most cases but one of a kind, it is the part of wisdom to come promptly in order to get first choice of these splendid suits at Half Price.

Furs of the Highest Class
33⅓% Off

The growing scarcity of good furs and their ever-increasing demand is argument enough in favor of purchasing now, as values will gradually rise until prices will be almost prohibitive. Those who are interested should look over our present showing and make selections before the best are taken.

Neck Pieces, Separate Muffs, Complete Sets and Luxurious Fur Coats—All are listed a third under regular price.

Junior Suits
Junior Coats ½

Every winter suit, every winter coat in junior sizes will go before this week ends. The styles are suitable—we may say correct—for several months to come. The weights, the materials and the colors are fashionable and usable. The great majority could—and will be—worn throughout the season. The values call for no particular comment, they speak for themselves.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY SYDNEY FORD.

THE Ruskin Art Club certainly has reason to feel highly complimented by the royal entertainment offered in its honor last Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Michael Francis Regan, who threw open the doors of her beautiful home at Burlington avenue and Ninth street, to a large company of invited guests for a musicale and reception which proved to be one of the most brilliant and artistic salons of the season. Members of the official board of the Ebell, the Friday Morning and other clubs, together with a coterie of the city's best-known artists, and musicians—both men and women—were also bidden to the function and altogether it set a high mark in the way of drawing-room entertainment.

To begin with, the Regan home is known to be filled with art treasures of the rarest and choicest type gathered by the hostess, who is an indefatiguable traveler and connoisseur, and has searched the art centers of the world. Therefore it was a distinct privilege to just wander through the beautiful rooms, the walls of which are hung with pictures and bas-reliefs of the greatest interest. There are cabinets, too, filled with curious and artistic things that make one want to linger long to examine their treasures.

The music provided by the hostess for the afternoon was superb, given by Signor de la Cruz, whose splendid voice has been heard in the royal and diplomatic circles of Europe—at Copenhagen, London, Berlin and Paris. His selections were admirably adapted to a drawing recital—sweet, delicate, harmonies from the masters of music—Beethoven, Brahms, Strauss and Mendelssohn—snatches of grand opera—the aria from Mozart's "Nozze di Figaro" and from Verdi's "Simon Boccanegra"—all sung with the dramatic fervor and splendid voice that has made Signor de la Cruz a power in operatic circles and on the concert stage in the musical centers of the old world.

The distinctly artistic atmosphere pervaded the dining-room and the charming breakfast-room beyond, where delicious punch and dainty refreshments were served by deft-handed waitresses under the direction of a coterie of club women, who assisted the hostess in her delightful hospitality.

The Regans will leave early in the spring for their annual tour abroad. Mrs. Regan is known as a liberal patroness of art.

Highland Park Ebell.

The February programmes of the Highland Park Ebell promise some good things and started out last week exceedingly well with a choice programme of readings by the poet, James W. Foley, who, with his wife is spending the winter here preliminary to settling permanently in Los Angeles. Next Tuesday morning Miss Gertrude Darlow will tell about "Some Women: Their Lives and Letters," and on the following Tuesday Mrs. J. J. Abramson will give an illustrated lecture of the "Value of Words in Song." Miss Edna Rich of Santa Barbara will speak on "Civics and Home Economics" on the last Tuesday of the month.

Reception for Stark Young.

At the instance of the Friday Morning Club, Stark Young, who occupies the chair of literature in the University of Texas, is coming to Los Angeles and will be heard before the club next Friday morning. He is the author of a number of books, of plays and a contributing editor of The Drama. He will also be heard before the Ebell Club on February 16, and on next Saturday afternoon from 3 o'clock to 6 o'clock, an informal reception will be tendered to him at the Friday Morning Clubhouse.

College Women Meet.

The March meeting of the College Women's Club will be in the form of a tea at the new Clark Hotel and will be given under the auspices of representatives of the colleges and universities of the Middle West, with Mrs. C. P. Railsback of Hillsdale College as chairman of arrangements.

Next Tuesday, in Bullocks' tearooms former students of the National Park Seminary in Washington, D. C. will enjoy a luncheon. There are in Los Angeles some forty or fifty graduates of this young woman's college.

State Convention D.A.R.

The annual convention of the California D.A.R. opens next week in Los Angeles. The regular sessions will take place in the First Congregational Church, beginning on Thursday, February 19. On the afternoon preceding there will be a reciprocity tea at the Alexandria, to which visiting Daughters are invited and among other social functions will be the reception for State officers and delegates given by Los Angeles Chapter on the afternoon of February 20 at the home of Mrs. Charles H. McKevett, No. 1025 West Adams street.

Ruskin Art Club.

Next Wednesday the above club will observe its monthly luncheon and will take occasion to thereby celebrate the anniversary of Ruskin's birthday. Places should be reserved in advance by communicating with Mrs. C. C. Wright or Mrs. F. L. Kennedy. The programme preceding the luncheon will be in charge of Mmes. Samuel Storrow and W. S. Philp and will be presented by Mmes. H. T. Fennell, W. E. Keyser, C. J. Dockstader and Miss Whittaker.

Jewish Women's Council.

The Jewish Women's Council will meet next Thursday afternoon at the Ida Strauss Nursery, No. 1061 Temple street, to celebrate the first anniversary of the opening of that institution. Mrs. James W. Hellman will be chairman of the day and Mrs. Henry Klein will give a history of the nursery; Mrs. William Baurhyte will speak and Lillian Burkhart-Goldsmith will recite.

Rosecrans Club.

Mrs. W. A. Galentine, district chairman of civil service reform, addressed the Rosecrans Club at its meeting last Wednesday at the Echo Park Clubhouse. Mrs. T. W. Barton was elected delegate to the district convention in Santa Barbara. The programme was rendered musically entertaining by the piano solos of Miss Elsie Fanning and Miss Chase preliminary to the splendid address of Mrs. Galentine. Tea was served and a social half hour enjoyed at the close. Next Wednesday afternoon the club will be entertained by Mrs. W. R. Brannon at her home, No. 634 Euclid avenue. Under the presidency of Mrs. George B. Dexter this club is enjoying a period of delightful fellowship.

Indian Song and Story.

The Ebell Club will be entertained tomorrow afternoon by a choice programme of Zuni Indian legends, told in costume by that inimitable storyteller, Stephani Schutze, whose tales and legends have delighted adults and enchanted children. He will be assisted by Nell Lockwood McCune, who, in the costume of an Indian girl, will sing her Indian songs. None who heard her at the Friday Morning Club a few months ago will forget the delightful programme which she gave then, and has since repeated at numerous out-of-town clubs.

Protectors of Childhood.

The Juvenile Protective Association of which Mrs. E. K. Foster is president, Mrs. A. N. Davidson and Mrs. John J. Abraason, vice-presidents, held their board meeting last week in their new headquarters tendered by the county supervisors at 121 Temple street on the second floor where two sunny, well ventilated rooms, with rugs, open fireplaces, comfortable chairs, tables and desks have been fitted up for the use of the board. The directors of the association include, beside the above officers, Mmes. J. E. Cowles, T. P. McCrea, W. J. Washburn, George Sinsabaugh, J. B. Stearns, T. Perceval Gerson, G. A. Fielding, F. C. Carter, George Rice, Mary S. Coman, Dr. Jessie A. Russell and Miss Evelyn Stoddart.

The next meeting will be held in the music hall of the Blanchard building tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock with Mrs. A. N. Davidson in charge. Mrs. H. A. Towne, former member of the board of directors of the Minnesota State School, will speak on "What Constitutes a Modern Girls' Trade School." Other speakers will be Mrs. J. B. Stearns, Mrs. William G. Spaulding and Mrs. C. N. Davidson.

To Meet Federation President.

The Executive Committee of Ebell has issued invitations for a luncheon to be given on Monday, March 2, at the clubhouse in honor of Mrs. James W. Orr, president of the California State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Lincoln Day Programme.

Los Angeles Chapter, D.A.R., devoted its February meeting to observation of the anniversary of Lincoln's Birthday on Wednesday last. Mrs. E. S. Walker, a visiting tourist and prominent club woman of Springfield, Ill., gave an interesting talk on Abraham Lincoln, telling many humorous incidents of his life in Springfield which have never been made public. Mrs. Walker is regent of the Springfield Chapter, D.A.R. Another tourist guest who was a personal friend of Julia Ward Howe recited one of her poems and Mrs. Quillian gave Lincoln's favorite, "O, Why Should the Spirit of Mortal Be Proud?" The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Rogers, No. 1022 Gramercy place.

San Joaquin District Convention.

The eyes of all club women of the San Joaquin Valley are turned just now on Hanford, where, next Tuesday, the seventeenth annual convention of the San Joaquin Valley district of the California Federation of Women's Clubs will open. The programme has just been completed by Mrs. George A. Welshar, president of the Woman's Club of Hanford, who, with Mrs. H. A. Bates of Modesto, district president, has had plans in preparation ever since the first of the year. This convention will be notable because of the number of live topics of public interest that will be discussed. Miss Ednah Rich, of the State Normal School at Santa Barbara will speak on the opening day and on that evening Mrs. James W. Orr, State president, will address the convention on "The Scope of Federation. Mrs. Frederick Sanborn, president of the women's board of the exposition, who was a visitor in Los Angeles last week, will speak on "The Panama-Pacific Exposition."

Santa Paula Ebell.

The music section of the Santa Paula Ebell gave a delightful programme last Monday afternoon, opening with a talk by Mrs. J. D. Taylor on the early development of modern music. Mrs. W. L. Frey told about the strolling minstrels and Miss Ada B. Cummings about the Minnesingers and Meistersingers. Interspersed with these interesting and illuminating talks, ballads were sung—those dear, delightful ballads that we all love—"By Yon Bonnie Banks," "Kerry Dance," "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton" and all the lovely old songs we never tire of. The singers were Mrs. M. N. Shedenhelm, Mrs. Howard Edward Cavnah, Mrs. L. B. Bowker and Mrs. M. G. Demarest.

Wednesday Morning Club.

Owing to ill health, the resignation of Mrs. M. E. Johnson from the board of directors of the Wednesday Morning Club was accepted with great reluctance by her sister members at the business meeting which preceded the programme last week. Mrs. W. E. Tribit was elected second vice-president in place of Mrs. Johnson. The following delegates to the district convention in Santa Barbara were elected: Mmes. M. D. Chamberlin, W. B. Tilley; alternates, Dr. Lottie Davidson and Mrs. E. M. Grant.

"Industrial and Social Conditions" was the topic of the afternoon session, in charge of Mrs. W. B. Tilley, chairman of that section. Mrs. Jane M. Beatty, Mrs. Charles Farwell Edson and Miss Bertha Fiske addressed the club. Miss Fiske, a recent college graduate, gave a comprehensive talk on agricultural conditions in California through the hop districts, using the Wheatland riot as a case in point of what may be expected if better conditions are not brought about.

A chorus from the music section under direction of Carl Bronson, sang delightfully preliminary to the programme.

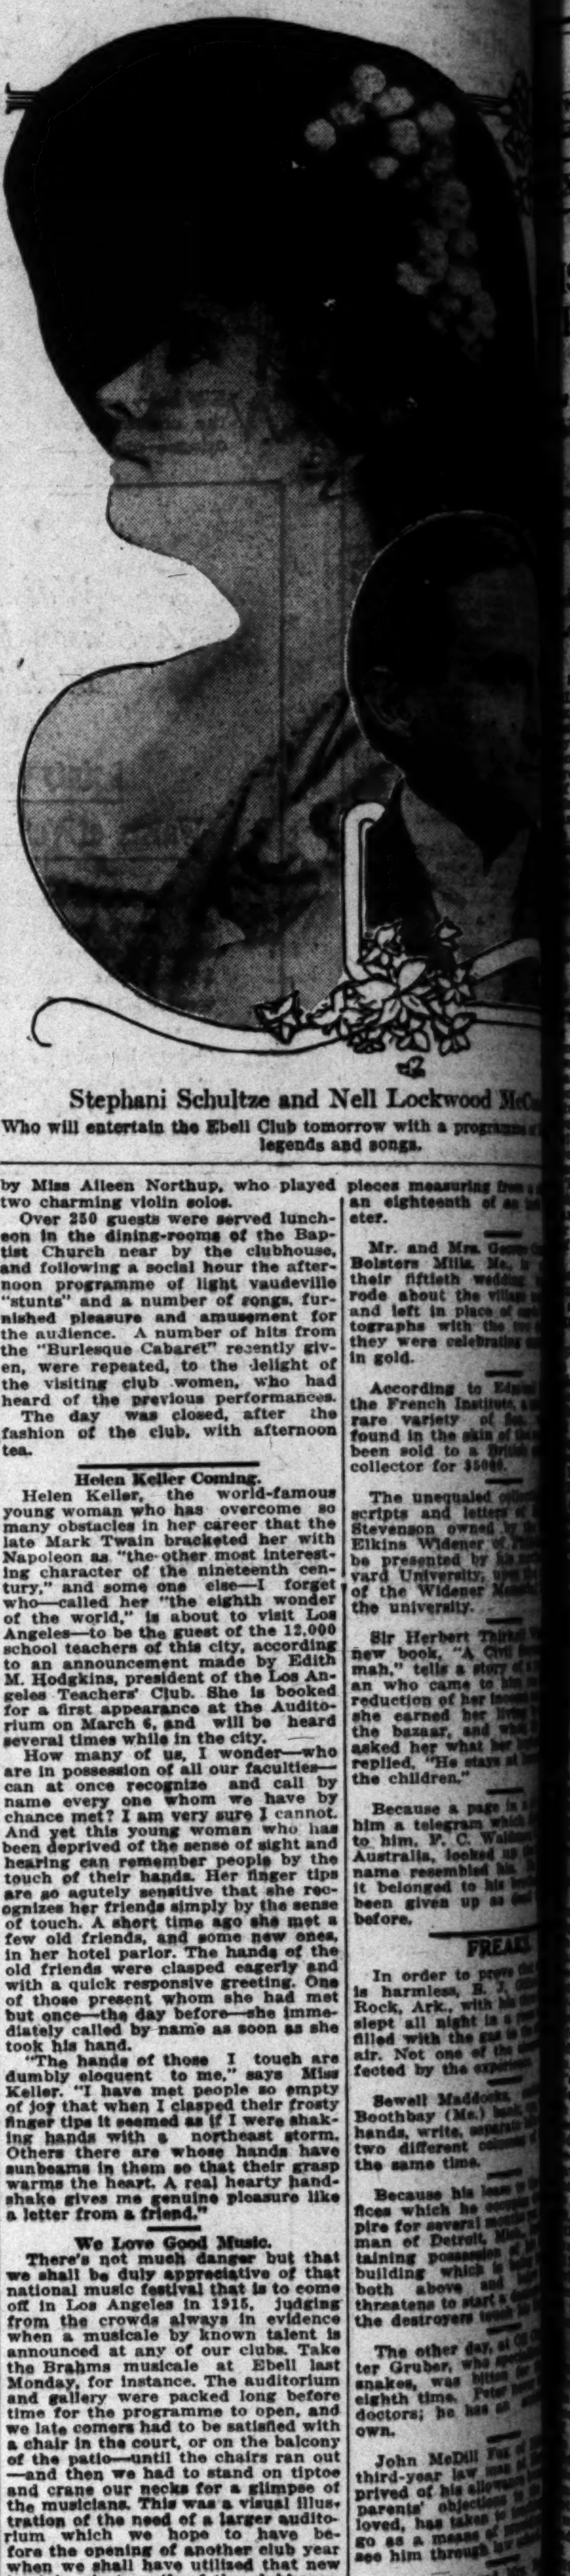
Monrovia Reciprocity Day.

The Monrovia Woman's Club members were hostesses Wednesday to 100 club women of Los Angeles district at a reciprocity day programme. The affair was divided into two parts, with luncheon at the close of the morning session. Eighty clubs were represented. In the morning Mrs. George O. Monroe, president of the Woman's club of Monrovia, made a clever address of greeting, in which she said that through their reciprocity day the clubwomen were enabled to become better acquainted and hence were able to do better work. Mrs. W. C. Mushet, president of the Los Angeles district, responded in a happy manner. She said that the memory of Monrovia's hospitality is still fresh in the minds of many club women of Southern California from the meeting of the federation here last year.

Mrs. Cora D. Lewis and Mrs. Harriet H. Barry made the principal addresses of the morning, speaking upon the general subjects of "Civics." The morning programme was completed by Miss Aileen Northup, who played two charming violin solos.

Over 250 guests were served luncheon in the dining-rooms of the Baptist Church near by the clubhouse, and following a social hour the afternoon programme of light vaudeville "stunts" and a number of songs, furnished pleasure and amusement for the audience. A number of hits from the "Burlesque Cabaret" recently given, were repeated, to the delight of the visiting club women, who had heard of the previous performances.

The day was closed, after the fashion of the club, with afternoon tea.



Stephani Schultze and Nell Lockwood McCu
Who will entertain the Ebell Club tomorrow with a programme of legends and songs.

Helen Keller Coming.

Helen Keller, the world-famous young woman who has overcome so many obstacles in her career that the late Mark Twain bracketed her with Napoleon as "the other most interesting character of the nineteenth century," and some one else—I forget who—called her "the eighth wonder of the world," is about to visit Los Angeles—to be the guest of the 12,000 school teachers of this city, according to an announcement made by Edith M. Hodgkins, president of the Los Angeles Teachers' Club. She is booked for a first appearance at the Auditorium on March 6, and will be heard several times while in the city.

How many of us, I wonder—who are in possession of all our faculties—can at once recognize and call by name every one whom we have by chance met? I am very sure I cannot. And yet this young woman who has been deprived of the sense of sight and hearing can remember people by the touch of their hands. Her finger tips are so acutely sensitive that she recognizes her friends simply by the sense of touch. A short time ago she met a few old friends, and some new ones, in her hotel parlor. The hands of the old friends were clasped eagerly and with a quick responsive greeting. One of those present whom she had met but once—the day before—she immediately called by name as soon as she took his hand.

"The hands of those I touch are dumbly eloquent to me," says Miss Keller. "I have met people so empty of joy that when I clasped their frosty finger tips it seemed as if I were shaking hands with a northeast storm. Others there are whose hands have sunbeams in them so that their grasp warms the heart. A real hearty handshake gives me genuine pleasure like a letter from a friend."

We Love Good Music.

There's not much danger but that we shall be duly appreciative of that national music festival that is to come off in Los Angeles in 1915, judging from the crowds always in evidence when a musicale by known talent is announced at any of our clubs. Take the Brahms musicale at Ebell last Monday, for instance. The auditorium and gallery were packed long before time for the programme to open, and we late comers had to be satisfied with a chair in the court, or on the balcony of the patio—until the chairs ran out—and then we had to stand on tiptoe and crane our necks for a glimpse of the musicians. This was a visual illustration of the need of a larger auditorium which we hope to have before the opening of another club year when we shall have utilized that new lot lying just south of the clubhouse, and fitting so neatly onto the present auditorium.

The programme was well worth the crowd, for that quintette never disappoints. The numbers were delightfully arranged and perfectly played. Mrs. L. J. Selby won an ovation for the final of her trio of songs—Homer Grunn's "Life Meaning"—and an insistent encore which she responded to by giving us McDermott's charming song, "Charity." Mr. McDermott was in the audience, and it was a charming compliment that Mrs. Selby paid him by selecting his song for her encore, and still more satisfactory to us when, at the close of the song she compelled the reluctant composer to come forward to the platform and share with her the applause that followed.

MEN AND EVENTS.

The claim of Frank Williams of New Orleans, that he has the oldest Masonic apron in existence—one 115 years old—is disputed by Slade Lazelle, of Caro, Mich. The Caro apron belonged originally to Maj. P. Slade of New York, who was made a Mason in 1794, and remained one for seventy-five years. Since then it has been passed from father to son.

When W. W. Meredith, a farmer at Woodland, Alberta, Can., dressed some ducks for the local markets he found the stomachs of several birds filled with flake gold, seven of the Problem.

SEE MYSTERY IN UMBRELLA.

WHY QUEEN MARY CARRIES IT PUZZLES THE BRITISH.

Spectators Believe Simple Implement Is in Reality a Formidable Steel Weapon and Point to Queen Victoria's Steel Lined Parapluie as a Reason for Their Theory.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—It turns on a very simple problem—why does Queen Mary always carry an umbrella? But just as Rousseau said, "behind this laughter there are bitter tears;" so behind this parapluie amazed England today sees swords, bombs and other dire republican perils.

The mystery owes its origin to a recent but unsuspected visit which Queen Mary made to a museum in the old world cathedral of Norwich.

The Queen, accompanied by Princess Mary, Prince Henry and Prince George, was guided around the museum by the Bishop of Norwich, Dr. Pollock. The visit was Her Majesty's own idea, and as she was anxious that it should be private the officials were not warned.

Queen Mary was willing to dispense with red carpet and bouquets, with bows and speechmaking, but the royal plan for secrecy collapsed when the attendant, as in duty bound, asked Her Majesty to leave her umbrella at the entrance. Queen Mary, rather than part from her umbrella, disclosed her identity and so obtained the royal prerogative of walking through the museum fully equipped for the possibility of the blowing off of the roof coinciding with a heavy shower.

Now, as it happens, Queen Mary's intense devotion to her umbrella has often been remarked. A Queen, except on private occasions, does not require an umbrella in the ordinary sense. There is always the covered carriage or the canopy to protect a royal head from the weather. But Queen Mary's neatly rolled and handsome umbrella seldom leaves her hand at a public function, though it would be quite appropriate for it to be carried by an attendant or a lady-in-waiting.

Why is this? A good many shrewd observers believe that the royal umbrella is really, under its innocent exterior, a formidable steel weapon, that might serve to ward off the possible attacks of a lunatic assassin. It will be remembered that Queen Victoria, when driving in an open carriage, often carried an unfurled silk sunshade which was interlined with chain mail. These sunshades were, of course, extremely heavy, and the fatigue and gruesome ideas caused by carrying them are to be classed among those unpleasant penalties of royalty about which the general public hears little.

Another theory to account for Queen Mary's persistent use of the unregal-looking umbrella is that it serves her as a support during the right during public functions. But long hours when she must stand up the Queen is never seen to lean on her umbrella, but bears herself erect in the correct royal manner without its aid. Moreover, a graceful directoire wand would serve this purpose more appropriately and could be used both indoors and out.

True, Princess Mary also shows an ungirlish liking for miniature umbrellas, and persists in carrying these unromantic, and, in her case, quite unnecessary articles, in spite of much teasing from the younger princes.

There are, of course, ungallant people who say that Her Majesty is not so thin as she was, and that she actually requires a support, but that does not solve the mystery—why do you also never see Princess Mary in public without an umbrella?

IN ENGLAND.

New Field for Wireless.

A new commercial usefulness for wireless telegraphy has just been found here. An agreement has been signed between a wireless telegraph company and the principal owner of a large fishing fleet at Lowestoft in which it is provided, among other things, that the company will install wireless apparatus on board the principal vessels of the fleet. By means of this wireless installation the vessel will keep in touch with the other vessels of the same fleet during the whole of each fishing expedition off the east coast.

The importance of this new development in the application of the wireless is easily seen. At present it frequently happens that, fishing vessels having a plentiful watch, all make for the same port, causing a temporary glut there, while other smacks with only a moderate or a poor catch land their cargo in another port, where, in consequence, a dearth of fish may ensue. Wireless telegraphy will henceforth rectify this defective distribution of sea fish. Fishing vessels that have had a big catch will be ordered to land it at different ports, so that a better distribution may be obtained, while those with a poor catch will be told by wireless to transfer it to other smacks. In the course of time all the fishing fleets undoubtedly will be similarly provided, which will mean a revolution all over the European fishing grounds.

To Save St. Paul's.

The alarm for the safety of St. Paul's Cathedral has led to a proposal by a board of architects of a plan to immerse the foundation in a huge tank of moist earth. It has been discovered by experts that the sand and gravel in which the cathedral foundations stand have become parched and unstable, and, owing to the plateau foundating on the summit of which the foundations rest, there is a tendency for them to spread. Until recently the gravel on which St. Paul's is poised has been bound together by the natural moisture filtering through from the surface, which contributed to the stability of the edifice. The paving in the inclosures, the substitution of concrete for kidney pebble road and the surface drainage system have deprived the subsoil of this necessary moisture. To preserve St. Paul's it is proposed to re-water the subsoil and thereby set up a new cohesive action among the particles.

Peeress Paints Toys.

Lady Wolverhampton, a well-known British peeress, has hit on a novel notion to help the starving thousands in London this winter.

Quite in an informal fashion she organizes gatherings of her friends, and, aided by them, paints the wooden toys which some out-of-work men have proved remarkably skillful in manufacturing. A beginning was made with dogs, cats and comical girls with jointed legs, and more complicated toys of the windmill type have since been successfully attempted.

The Duke of Newcastle was presented with a couple of the toys on a recent occasion, and he bought a large number in consequence for distribution among the children of his tenants. Now these toys have quite a vogue among smart women who do not know what to give to children of friends not so rich as themselves.

Against City Life.

The snobbish set in British society have heard with ill-disguised relief that Prince Alexander George of Teck has abandoned the intention he had some time ago to court fortune in the city of London as a broker, so that the Stock Exchange firm with which he proposed to enter into partnership will not now have the benefit of his advice and experience.

There are good reasons to believe that this change of intentions has been brought about by the intervention of the King, who did not deem such a career fitting for one so near akin to the crown. At the same time it is understood that Prince Alexander will receive a very substantial quid pro quo from the privy purse, while the city will have to rub along as best it can without him.

Queen Mary, his sister, has a perfect horror of debt, and when the court is about to move from Windsor or Scotland, all the tradesmen are instructed to send in their accounts two days beforehand, and to include in the statement the charges for contract goods up to the last day of supply.

With all the Queen's duties, she finds time to go thoroughly through the household accounts, and all the items are carefully checked.

King George and Queen Mary are very anxious that their sons shall have a real sense of the value of money, and shall not grow up with extravagant ideas. When the Prince of Wales was at Osborne his pocket money was a quarter per week, this sum being doubled when he passed into Dartmouth. At neither place was his Royal Highness allowed to run up "tuck-shop" scores, and borrowing was strictly forbidden.

The same quarter a week allowance was made to Prince Albert in his training days and when he was appointed a midshipman he spent his first pay before he had earned it! Prince Henry at Eton has a pocket-money allowance of half a dollar a week, and Prince George has a quarter.

The Snail's Turn.

That leisurely little animal, the snail, is in this year of grace, 1914, at last to get its turn. The new charm or mascot takes the form of an elaborately jeweled snail.

Gone is the day of the white elephant, the horse shoe, the billiken, the four-leaved clover. Without a snail on your chatelaine, in your corsage, or nestling—do snails nestle?—in your hat, you, fair lady, are behind the fashions, and how far behind you can imagine if you have been outdistanced by a snail.

And why the sudden popularity of the snail? Nobody knows, for the ways of fashion, as of fate, are past finding out.

Clerk Scorns Title.

One of the latest romances of the British peerage turned up the other day from Dublin.

In that city, smart people learned with horror, there is a retired clerk who might be earl if the title were worth having. This clerk, Richard John Leeson, a bachelor well on the right side of three-score years, is the eighth Earl of Milltown, but he has no desire to claim the title because it is absolutely a barren one.

The late Countess of Milltown, who resided at Rushborough Park, Blessington, and died suddenly in her seventy-third year, some days ago, was interred the other week beside her husband, the seventh Earl of Milltown. She was the last to bear the Milltown title, which is now dormant. At the death of the seventh Earl there were two claimants to the title. One has since died, and the other, Leeson, the Dublin clerk, alone remains.

Asked if he intended to take any steps in the matter, Leeson replied in the negative: "I would have done so long ago," he said, "if there were any estate going with the title. It is an awfully expensive business to establish a title. One person told me it would cost $5000, and another friend said it would cost $25,000 before the lawyers were finished. I have not the money to spare, so I shall not make the claim."

The Spoiled Child.

A few years ago British society was prone to throw up hands of horror over the treatment of the American child. "He is spoiled, utterly spoiled," it would assert, and would invariably go on to thank heaven that its children were not as other (American) men's.

Today the British child has all the privileges of the parents. He has his own theater, his own stores, his own picture gallery, library, and so on. He always had his parties, but in these days his comings and goings are surrounded with a new importance. This is, of course, the great time of the year for children's parties. All over London any afternoon about 4 o'clock waiting autos may be seen at the steps of countless fashionable houses. When the house doors open two, three, or very occasionally nowadays, four tiny beings in gala costume, with all the fuss and flurry of "going to a party," are ushered into the smart automobile, tucked in, and presently whirled to some expensive fairyland.

Gone are the days of pique frocks, blue sashes, a plain tea, and a conjuror. The rich Londoner's child today expects (and gets) floral decorations from the Royal Arcade, a tea rather like a ball supper, a perfectly polished floor on which to dance, a Christmas tree with valuable presents, and many other amusements, and when it gets home it tells its anxious mother "It wasn't bad."

Above all, the small girl of the period expects "something to wear"—that is to say, in place of the old white washing frock of long ago exquisite dresses, costing anything from $30 to $60, are worn by the little misses of today at each other's parties, with stockings, shoes, fans and tiny opera cloaks equally costly. The other day, at one of these exorbitant parties given by a rich American hostess in London, three little sisters caused a sensation on arrival. They were all dressed exactly alike in real lace dresses with cerise waistbands, and pale blue all-round cloaks and hoods of chiffon velvet.

IN FRANCE.

New Honor for Bernhardt.

The French public had been prepared for the announcement that the decoration of a Knight of the Legion of Honor has been conferred on Mme. Sarah Bernhardt. Nearly every Frenchman thinks she should have received this years ago. Over and over again it had been stated that she was to be honored with the red ribbon, and just as often was the report denied. When M. Briand was Minister of Public Instruction a few years ago he proposed Mme. Bernhardt's name to the Council of the Order, who rejected it on the ground, it is said, that she had been through the bankruptcy court.

Although Napoleon instituted the Legion over a century ago as a reward for civil and military services, but very few women have secured the decoration, which carries with it a small pension and the knowledge that no ignoble punishment can be inflicted upon a member. The French President has no more coveted distinction to bestow. The new "knight" was born in 1844, and among her many reminiscences are memories of the Franco-German War, when she organized an ambulance at the Odeon Theater, and had personal supervision of it during the siege of Paris. Last year she appeared before some 2000 convicts at San Quentin penitentiary, in California, in "One Christmas Night," written for her by her son. The convicts had built a stage for her in the prison yard, and six murderers were in the front seats.

Interesting in this connection is an item reproduced in a Paris paper from Lloyd's Weekly of London, which claims a circulation of about a million and a half copies—the largest in the world. Relating Mme. Bernhardt's appearance before the prisoners, the article in the London paper says: "After the performance Abraham Ruef, a Frenchman by birth and an ex-boss of San Francisco, who was involved in a dynamite conspiracy, stepped onto the stage, and," etc. It is small wonder that the average Englishman at home should have such distorted ideas about things

NEW IRISH CAPITAL.

Civic Exhibition Is to Be Held on the American Plan to Picture Various Points of Dublin Life.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

DUBLIN, Jan. 24.—Everybody in Ireland now recognizes that a new capital for Ireland will have to be built, and that great portions of the present-day Dublin will have to be swept off the earth. Innumerable projects are being hurried forward to rebuild the old slum areas directly the government apportions the money necessary. It has also just been announced that this summer a civic exhibition will be held on a plan already adopted in America to picture city life from all points of view.

This exhibition will include the subjects of housing, streets and roads, sanitation, lighting, cleaning, heating, water, milk and food supplies and means of transport. In this connection Lady Aberdeen has stated that the Lord Lieutenant intends to offer a prize of $2500 for the best plan for the reconstruction of Dublin, keeping in view the special object of furnishing adequate and convenient housing accommodations for the working classes in and around the city.

This generous offer ought to set many architects at work to draw up plans for a better and healthier Dublin, and will, no doubt, give added interest and importance to the report of the local government board housing inquiry, now in progress in Dublin, which will, in a way, be the franchise of a newer and better capital for Ireland.

NAILED TO CROSS IN SPAIN.

Infamous Treatment Said to Be Meted to Wretched Inmates of the Spanish Jails.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

MADRID, Jan. 24.—Infamous treatment just now is being meted out to the wretched inmates of Spanish jails. Many of the sufferers are only political offenders, men with advanced ideas, but according to a recent report of the Prisoners' Committee, this makes no difference to their punishment, or its horrors:

"The director of a jail at Figueras (Catalonia,) a man named Milena, has had a subterranean dungeon built in order to be able to vent his hatred. This new cell is known as 'the Siberia.' The prisoner who is taken there is bound and beaten until he falls insensible. He is then put into another cell apart from the others until his wounds heal, and he is there made to fast until he is hungry enough to eat salt codfish given him in order to make him feel the pangs of thirst.

"Recently a prisoner was nailed to a cross; he died. Another had his eye gouged out; a third an arm broken. Still another had pieces of flesh torn off him. The cries of the victims were heard outside the fortress."

WOMAN DIPLOMAT.

First Secretary of Norwegian Legation at Mexico City Is Henrietta Hoegh of Christiania.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

CHRISTIANIA, Jan. 24.—Mexico will get a shock when the new First Secretary of Legation at the Norwegian legation at Mexico puts in an appearance.

This distinguished diplomat is a pretty woman, aged 27, and is said to be the first woman in Europe to take up the diplomatic service as a profession.

Her name is Henrietta Hoegh, and she passed her examinations in international law and political economy two years ago. As a first secretary she will have the privilege of wearing the usual diplomatic uniform, with the exception of the ornamental sword and gold-braided breeches.

London.

"OLD TIMERS" ARE TO RETIRE.

Joseph Chamberlain About to Leave Parliament.

O'Brien's Resignation May Cause Warm Contest.

Strike in Wycombe Likely to Affect Election.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The next general election will see the retirement from Parliament of at least a dozen men of the "old guard" who have spent the best part of the last quarter of a century there and who have not taken kindly to the new order of things at Westminster. The most notable retirement is that of Joseph Chamberlain, but as he was known only by name to the majority of the present House of Commons, he will not be missed as much as will some of the other old-timers, who have remained in more active service. With Chamberlain retires Jesse Collings, member for Bordesley Division of Birmingham, probably the most devout disciple the great protagonist of Tariff Reform had. Only on one occasion during his thirty-three years in the House of Commons did Mr. Collings really attain fame and that was when he moved an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne calling attention to the condition of the farm laborers, and the carrying of which caused the resignation of the first Salisbury government. From that day Mr. Collings made the condition of the farm laborer his one care and although he was not the real inventor of the phrase "Three acres and a cow," he became the sole patentee and proprietor. His old cry that the farm laborer should have enough land "and a cow" to eke out his miserable wage has now become the settled policy of both political parties.

Mr. Collings came of humble origin, and it was the hard experience of his early life that filled him with enthusitsm for the farm laborers cause. Outside of that he was satisfied to act and vote as Mr. Chamberlain should decide. He followed him on the Home Rule and fiscal questions and in fact it is doubtful whether he could say as did Austen Chamberlain that once he had voted against Joseph Chamberlain.

The resignation by William O'Brien, leader of the Independent Nationalists of his parliamentary seat for Cork City, in order to prove his strength in that city is one of the impetuous acts that politicians have come to expect from that brilliant Irishman. The decision was taken after a speech by A. Roche, Nationalist member for one of the divisions of Louth, and an opponent of Mr. O'Brien's at the last general election, who in a speech expressed the opinion that the result of the municipal elections showed that the Independent leader had lost his hold on Cork and that his policy of "conference, conciliation and consent" had been rejected by the people. At present the O'Brienites hold not only the two seats of the County of Cork, but the whole of the seven seats of the County of Cork, with the eception of one division. Even though he thought there was a chance of winning one of the seats it is doubtful if Mr. Redmond, leader of the Nationalist Party, would take up the challenge thrown down by Mr. O'Brien. It is the policy of the Nationalist leader to keep in the background as much as possible any differences between the two wings of the party, and an election in Cork City would have just the opposite effect. If he should decide to fight, Mr. Roche, who was the cause of the challenge, would doubtless be the Nationalist candidate.

Mr. O'Brien was first elected to Parliament in 1883 and from 1887 until 1895 represented Cork. He retired from Parliament over the Parnell disagreement but was soon back again as a member of his old constituency.

Two interesting bye-elections for the House of Commons are in sight. The appointments of Atherley Jones, Liberal member for Northwest Durham to the judgeship of the city of London, and the acceptance by Sir Alfred Cripps, Unionist member for South Buckinghamshire, of a peerage, have left vacancies. Buckinghamshire is one of the strongholds of the Unionists who have chosen as their candidate W. Barin Du Pre, a great nephew of one of Disraeli's colleagues in the membership for the same county. But the farmers are against the proposal of the Unionists to strike protection of farm produce from their policy of tariff reform and labor trouble in High Wycombe, the center of the division, where the chair makers have been on strike is likely to affect the result.

The Liberal candidate is Toman Mosley, who until recently was one of the Unionist workers, and is now chairman of the Buckinghamshire County Council. His adoption has given the Liberals hope of at least reducing the Unionist party majority, which they could claim as a moral victory.

In North West Durham, which Atherley Jones has held for the Liberals since 1885, the government is faced with a three-cornered fight. The candidates are Aneurin Williams, a manufacturer, for the Liberals; J. O. Hardicker for the Unionists, and G. H. Stuart, secretary of the postal servants' union, for the Laborites. In a straight fight the Liberal would walk in but with a Laborite in the field his position is more precarious.

Origin of "Limousine."

[Popular Mechanics:] The word "limousine," now applied generally to closed automobiles, originally meant the woolen cloak worn by public carriers in France. Later the word came to mean the top of canopy of the carrier's cart, then the whole cart, and finally any vehicle with an enclosed space for passengers.

SUFFRAGETTES ON MAN HUNT.

Form a Huge Press Gang to Enlist Male Support.

Are Making Strong Efforts to Capture Unions.

May Influence Government to Enact Reforms.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Next week the prolonged and arduous hunt of British women for the vote will enter on a new and most interesting phase. Parliament will meet, ready stripped for work, and an early opportunity will be taken by the women's friends in the House of Commons to insist that the government shall take up the suffrage question in an earnest and practical fashion.

The militants have already laid their plans, and some most painful and distressing scenes will certainly occur in the streets of London, to culminate in the dramatic appearance and arrest of the fugitive in Paris, Christabel Pankhurst. These commonplace tactics, however, will be completely overshadowed by a gigantic man-hunt which is being organized by the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies in connection with a gigantic demonstration at the Albert Hall on February 14.

Unlike the militant societies, the National Union not only welcomes the co-operation of mere men, but if he won't give it willingly takes steps to make him. The union has a membership of some 50,000 women, who have resolved themselves into a huge "press-gang" for the purpose of "manning" the meeting. Any luckless male friend, or relative, who has, in an unguarded moment, given evidence of suffragist sympathies will be handed a special letter signed by Mrs. Fawcett inviting him to the Albert Hall, where a special seat will be reserved for him. Big efforts are also now being made to capture the trades unions, whose members will also have places of honor.

The objects of these maneuvers are quite transparent. The friends of votes for women recognize that all that can be done to promote women's suffrage by means of private bills has been done, and, unless the hands of the government are forced by the electors, no real progress with the movement can be effected.

GOVERNMENT PLAN.

A hostile government in England has a thousand ways of preventing private members' bills from becoming the law of the land—as witness the three different schemes for women's enfranchisement that have recently been considered by Parliament:

1. The Stanger bill, removing the sex disability from the existing franchise.

2. The Dickinson bill, enfranchising women householders and the wives of householders.

3. The Conciliation bill, enfranchising women on the basis of the present municipal suffrage.

Indeed, as Mrs. Millicent Garrett Fawcett has just reminded the British people: "For twenty-five years, from 1876 to 1901, private members' bills in favor of votes for women were carried on second reading by large majorities in the House of Commons. But these innocents were massacred in their later Parliamentary stages by successful political Herods, and would be again if the same Parliamentary situation was repeated. In the last few years the second reading majorities of private members' bills have been enormous—179 in 1908 for Mr. Stanger's bill, which simply removed the sex disability from the existing franchise; 110 in 1910 for the Conciliation bill; and 167 in 1911 for the same bill. But not one of these bills advanced any further in consequence of the active hostility of the political machine and those who direct it.

"The National Union," adds Mrs. Fawcett, "seeks to win the electorate to a belief in the justice of its cause, and points to the good results of Women's Suffrage in the countries which have adopted it and the entire absence of bad results. Every so-called argument of the Anti-Suffragists could be, and actually was used with equal effect against all former extensions of the franchise in England in 1832, 1867 and 1884. We are conscious of a very great increase in the strength and volume of the support given to us. Already we see large masses of men, existing electors, coming forward and taking an active part in promoting the success of our movement.

"The last year has also shown a remarkable development of the support given to the movement by the churches. A large number of men hitherto identified with the Liberal party, are putting 'Suffrage first,' and are organizing themselves so as to give effective support to Women's Suffrage now and at the coming general election."

WOMEN BETTER LOOKING.

Meanwhile it is noted by a famous publicist that, with the wider fields of usefulness opening in front of her, the British woman is becoming a great deal better looking than was the average woman of fifty years ago. He urges that in spite of all the criticisms of the modern woman's forwardness and restlessness, she is getting more of what she needs to make life more worth living. She is getting more of the rights of a human being rather than the privileges of an angel; and, though less flattering poetry is written about her and she is standing on a platform rather than trying to keep her balance on an unsteady pedestal, she is more respected and better treated than her fore-mothers, who swallowed the flattery and stuck to what was considered "woman's sphere"—the said sphere consisting of most of the unpaid drudgery in the world's work.

Recently he was one of a company of young women who had gathered for an evening at a friend's home. He called them young, though in their grandmother's young days they would have been considered old. Not one of the company was under 30. Some of them were married, and some not. Except that the married women were possibly a little more sedate, you couldn't have told the spinsters from the matrons.

"None of them was very well off, but they were all becomingly dressed. They all had their 'figures.' Each was in splendid trim physically, wide awake and up-to-date mentally. The married women had been school teachers or business women before marriage. Each of the spinsters present had an occupation. Every one has a busy life. But not one of the lot was a drudge, not one submerged in another personality, and not one passed hours of her days dwelling upon vain longings, wasting strength in petty worries, or worrying about the ravages of multiplying years."

ACCEPTS EARL'S OFFER.

Baron de Forest Buys Derby's Bootle Estate as a Result of a Political Campaign Controversy.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 7.—As a result of a political controversy, Maurice Arnold de Forest, who is a hereditary baron of the Austrian empire, has accepted an offer recently made in a public speech by the Earl of Derby, to sell to him his estate in Bootle, a suburb of Liverpool, for $7,500,000.

The property was purchased in 1723 for $35,000, and in a contribution to the Land Inquiry Committee's report, Baron de Forest cited this as a striking example of unearned increment. He estimated the annual income from this property was $500,000, and the value of property as between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

In his speech proffering the land for sale, the Earl of Derby said that the estimates were grossly excessive, and referred contemptuously to Baron de Forest as "an alien gentleman for whom I have no love, who has come here to tell us landlords what we ought to do."

Competition.

FIGHT COMBINES IN ENGLAND.

BRITISH BUILDING TRADES COMPLAIN OF "RING."

Heads of Firms Declare They Are Forced to Accept Terms or Be Subjected to Boycott Which Will Seriously Impair Their Prosperity in the Future.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Great Britain's building trade is in the iron grip of a ring of manufacturers who have decided to boycott any customer who will not accept their terms.

About two years ago the National Light Castings Association was formed. It was not the first, but it has proved the most successful, attempt of ironfounders to secure an understanding among themselves about prices, and so prevent a competition of cutting. There are 150 firms in the association, the secretaries of which are located in Birmingham, and the chairman in Glasgow. It represents $30,000,000 capital.

Last July the association submitted to the builders' merchants throughout the country new terms on which the manufacturers would supply goods. A London firm of builders' merchants, Messrs. Rownson, Drew & Clydesdale, Ltd., decided that the terms would be injurious to them, and consequently did not accept, preferring to be penalized 7½ per cent. on goods illustrated in their own list, which they were compelled to buy from houses represented in the association. They proceeded to conduct their business on the lines adopted for the past 100 years, namely, purchasing in the best market But they reckoned without the trust.

Now one of their directors explains:

"We found the market for baths closed against us. We went abroad for baths. The association met at Preston December 4 and passed a resolution that my own firm and the other six should be boycotted. I do not think the worst trust in America has worked on such cruel lines. I am not out to burst trusts, but to stop abuse and to preserve the Englishman's privilege of buying where he likes.

"Everything about a house in England is in the hands of trusts—the rain-water pipes, glass, gas tubes, bricks, cement, wire netting, water-taps, nails, electric globes. At least twenty trusts are watching this fight and if the association wins, the same principle will be applied by those others. The secretaries of the association alone control about a dozen combines."

Another question involved is the need for amendment of the law on the subject. "Whom am I to sue for damages?" asked Mr. Donald. "This trust which has entered into a conspiracy to boycott us has no corporate existence, which makes the possibility of legal action difficult, and, apart from that, I understand their boycott was taken under legal advice. If the law permits this sort of thing, the sooner it is amended the better. We believe the trade disputes act gives the association license. We are acting entirely from the point of view of the harm that will accrue to the community if boycotts are permitted."

The matter has now been brought before Lord Southwark, as president of the London Chamber of Commerce, and further action is to be taken.

IRISH EMIGRATION.

Figures Show That 30,967 Left in 1913, of Whom 21,758 Went to the United States.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

DUBLIN, Jan. 24.—The opponents of emigration have received cold comfort from the newest government statistics of the traffic from Ireland during the past twelve months.

Every year the best patriots here hope that the flood of emigration is at last being stemmed. Sometimes the figures are a little better, sometimes a little worse, than those which were issued twelve months before. For some time now the average has remained substantially the same, although it changes a little in the right direction.

The figures just issued showed that the number of emigrants for 1913 was 30,967, as compared with 29,344 for 1912—an increase of 1623. About 2000 more males than females left the country. The Registrar-General can give us no statistics on the subject, but we may be sure that the great majority of the emigrants were girls and boys who had just reached the age when they had to earn their own livings. They represent, probably, many of the best of our peasantry, who are lured away from the dullness of the country by the distant glamor of American cities.

Still the great majority go to the United States. Altogether 21,758 went there, 6673 to Canada, 1349 to the rest of the British Empire, thirty-eight to foreign countries, and the remaining 1149 to Great Britain.

The principal reason for this preference is probably that the emigrants have relations and friends in America already, who write home about the high wages which they receive. Of course, they do not mention the hardships which they have to endure. Most of them try to persuade others to follow their example. More than a quarter of the emigrants to the United States last year had their passages paid by friends already in America.

SCENT BOTTLES FOR MEN.

Smart Britishers Adopt Curved Phials to Carry Perfume in Inside Pockets.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Scent bottles have become the fashion for the smartest of the smart young Britishers. They are little curved bottles shaped so that they can easily fit the waistcoat pocket.

An outfitter said that scores of these bottles of scent were sold by him to effiminate youths every week. He also declared that the dandy of ten years ago very rarely used scent, but nowadays it is imperative that he should have a large supply, as "the nuttiest of nuts," the 1914 "nut," as the modern smart youth is termed, loves the gentle stimulation of a perfume.

Happily, the ordinary young Britisher has a contempt for all that sort of thing. He is far less obviously starched than his predecessor. He wears lounge suits and soft shirts when he is not in an auto kit. He rarely puts on "side." He nearly always has something to do. It may be merely driving an auto, or, at least, an autocycle, but quite often he is something vague and ornamental in an office, for sheer, complete idleness is no longer regarded with favor.

His sub-species, or variety, "The stage-door Johnny," has almost disappeared. The doorkeeper of London's most famous home of light comedy and girls was complaining the other day that his receipts from amorous young bloods have declined to a tenth of what they used to be years ago. This is not because the stage is any less attractive than it used to be to London's gilded youth; but the business is no longer managed so crudely.

The mere sending round of one's card and subsequent waiting at the stage door will not do any more. After so many marriages into the peerage the girls—even the chorus girls—will not make themselves so cheap. It is necessary to arrange a regular introduction somehow. So there is no longer any point in hanging round the stage door.

Prince William of Wied and family.

It is said that the Prince, who was selected for the throne of Albania by the great powers, refuses to accept the offer until satisfactory financial arrangements have been made, according to an authoritative statement made in Berlin recently. He says he will receive a deputation of Albanians, who have come to tender the crown to him only, after an international loan has been completed.

THE CORONATION OF JAP EMPEROR.

Ceremony at Kioto Planned for Early November.

Thirty Thousand Poems Are Already Written.

Manuscripts Disinfected Before Being Inspected.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

TOKIO, Jan. 15.—With the appointment of a coronation commission, plans are now well under way for the "grandest ceremony in the history of Japan" next autumn when the Emperor Yoshihito will be crowned ruler of the Japanese Empire. The date has been tentatively fixed for the early part of November.. The festivities, which will be under the general supervision of Prince Fushimi as chief of the coronation committee, will continue over several days, including the Daishosai or feast, after the coronation rites have been observed.

NOVEMBER FESTIVITIES.

In view of the large number of visitors expected measures are being considered for improvement of the sanitary conditions of Kioto, including widening of the streets and reconstruction of hotel accommodations. The municipality will set an example by building a large hotel to accommodate foreigners. The police arrangements will also be extended.

A military ball will probably be held in Tokio in connection with the ceremonies. The whole Japanese people are looking forward to the November festivities, expecting that they will inaugurate an era of good business.

It is doubtful that any foreign countries will dispatch special envoys to the coronation, since the accommodations for official guests at Kioto will be limited, but the representatives of the powers regularly accredited to Japan will attend.

The Emperor's popularity has recently been attested by some thirty thousand poems written by his subjects and dedicated to His Majesty. It was one of the features of the New Year celebration, the contest being regarded as a medium through which the Emperor might learn the needs of his people.

This is how the competition was conducted, under the auspices of the Emperor himself: The poems were sent to the Department of Household, which first saw to the disinfection of the manuscripts. This precaution having been taken, the verses were packed in bundles and passed on to the Poetry Bureau. Recording officials made copies and had them bound in three hundred volumes, each volume containing one hundred poems. The Selection Committee reviewed this great stack of books, and selected two hundred of the best efforts, and these were again copied for an edition de luxe. To make the final selection most fair, the names of the composers were omitted. After careful perusal of the selected gems the authors of the best verses were invited to read them in the presence of His Majesty on the day of the Imperial Poetry Party.

After eight years' work the biggest dry dock in Japan has been completed at the Maidzuru naval station on the western coast. The dock will accommodate warships up to 35,000 tons displacement and be an important addition to Japanese naval facilities.

Beyond the Atlantic.

American, when a paper of the standing of Lloyd's Weekly speaks of Ruef as being a Frenchman and having been involved in a "dynamite conspiracy."

What's "Mona Lisa" Worth?

The question of the amount of the reward to be paid by the French government for the return of the "Mona Lisa," the clew to the discovery of which was furnished by the Florentine antiquary, Geri, has aroused discussion as to whether a proper value can be placed on a masterpiece of art, which, if lost, could never be replaced. Geri asks 10 per cent. of the value of the painting in payment. He has already received $5000 from the Societe des Amis du Louvre, in accordance with its offer at the time of the theft.

The authorities of the Louvre are now seeking the opinions of the leading art dealers of Paris, in order that Geri's entire claim against the nation may be satisfied. Durance Ruel, the dean of Paris picture dealers, estimates the value of "La Joconde" as follows: "I would ask," he says, "half a million dollars if the picture were mine, with the certainty that there would be so many offers that a much higher price would be obtained." Still another picture dealer places the value of the painting at a million. And so the discussion goes on.

Cry of "Clericalism."

"Labor" is fierce in its opposition to the extension of military service, but important newspapers such as the Figaro, Temps and Matin have no protest to make against the three-year law for the army. That extension, however, has been made the excuse for lengthening the hours of work in certain industries. "Because miners have to spend an extra hour in barracks they are to be kept in pits an extra sixty hours," cries M. Jaurez, the Socialist leader. And it seems to be generally believed that the Socialists and Radicals will raise the cry of "clericalism" in the political struggle to come.

Strong on Patriotism.

The "nervousness" which has been shown by the French people during the last year, largely because of international developments and readjustments, is probably responsible for the feeling expressed by the Figaro against the employment of foreign governesses for French children. The fear is expressed by that paper that English and American governesses may inspire an "un-French" mentality. "Climate, soil, mode of living and thinking," says a person interviewed in this paper, "impress on each race different ideas." And the Figaro thinks that is not what French children should have.

The Cold in France.

The continued cold throughout France, with heavy snowfalls, is becoming a national calamity. Fernand David, Minister of Public Works, has been in consultations with the railway engineers relative to measures which the government could undertake for the restoration of railway communication in Southern France.

The first train between Spain and France got through to Cerbere during the week, but more than twenty other provincial lines are completely out of service.

The Minister of War has authorized the commander of the garrisons to utilize the troops in digging out snow-bound trains.

A temperature of 4 deg. below zero (Fahrenheit) has been registered in the department of Haute-Loire and 6 below zero in the Auvergne region. Meterologists find that the rigors of this winter equal those of the historic seasons of 1888 and 1870. Foxes, deer and other wild animals have been found dead in the forests.

Rights of Travelers.

An extraordinary problem as to the rights of a traveler in a surface car has just been raised before the Eleventh Chamber in Paris. The hero of the affair is M. Leopold Labarde, and he had to answer a police charge of refusing to give up his car ticket when called upon to do so by the authorized official. He did it in these terms:

"This ticket," he said, "is the receipt for the amount paid. It is my property, and no man has the right to destroy, dilapidate, obliterate or mutilate it without my sanction previously given." M. Labarde asked how any reasonable man could look upon the destruction, partial or entire, of a receipt as evidence of inspection. Furthermore, he submitted that the particles removed from the ticket and thrown to the ground assisted in swelling the mass of obnoxious matter which defiled the streets of Paris; that it was contrary to reason that the companies should maintain a staff merely for the sake of cutting off bits of paper; that there was nothing to show—and in the absence of evidence to the contrary he held that it was the case—that the substance of which the tickets were composed was not of a toxic character, and consequently the partial disintegration of the tickets set particles free in the air which were calculated to injure the health of travelers, in contravention of the hygienic by-laws framed by the police authorities.

How long he might have continued his argument is not known, for the soulless tribunal cut him short by imposing a fine of 5 fancs, otherwise $1.

The Marriage Rate.

Paris is exercised by the news that the French marriage rate is on the downgrade, and a lot of representative and non-representative people have set themselves to work to discover the cause. These critics do not believe that the French husband is less moral, or that divorce is a cause of the shrinkage, but as a rule attribute the sad declension to the liberty enjoyed nowadays by the young of both sexes.

"This freedom does not make men in a hurry to wed," declares Sarah Bernhardt. "When I was young, girls had not a tenth part of the liberty they are allowed nowadays. Young girls mixed up with the opposite sex in the houses of their parents only, and were rarely left alone without a chaperon. The result was that marriage was popular.

"If the youth of today would abandon their butterfly habits, and were not allowed to intermingle so much, without hindrance, the marriage returns would rapidly increase."

Regulating Hatpins.

An amusing encounter over a hat pin has just occurred in Paris, for protruding and unguarded hatpins are now strictly forbidden in all public places in the French capital.

It seems that a young lady got into a carriage in the Metro railway wearing, in defiance of the prefectorial edict, several murderous inches of cold steel in her hat. The ticket collector's eye caught it in the metaphorical and almost—for at that moment the train started—in the literal sense. He showed himself severe.

"Either take that off," he said, pointing, but from a safe distance, at the offending hatpin, "or get off at the next station yourself."

MRS. JOSEPH MEDILL M'CORMICK.

[illegible] of Well-Known Public Man and Daughter of Mark Hanna Has Opened Business Headquarters for the Suffrage Cause—Possessing Her Father's Genius for Organization, She is Already Showing Power Which Means to Spell Success.

Mrs. Joseph Medill McCormick.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—New York, Boston, Chicago and the most densely populated cities [illegible] familiar with the type of women represented here by Miss Mabel [illegible], head of the Red Cross, [illegible] now by Mrs. Joseph Medill McCormick, who has taken over the national protection of the suffrage [illegible]. Miss Boardman is a dominant [illegible] socially and under the Taft administration presided over the nearest semblance to a salon of the [illegible] century the capital has [illegible]. Mrs. McCormick has resided at varying intervals in Washington since she wore short gowns and attended school. She was known as her father's pride and [illegible] counsellor in the early [illegible] President McKinley's regime. [illegible] from the school girl role [illegible] a debutante popular with [illegible] people. Mrs. Hanna has [illegible] a home at the capital [illegible] coming her in 1897, she [illegible] daughter, Mrs. McCormick, [illegible] winter residents through[illegible] years. Social honors soon [illegible] the talented young matron [illegible] ago she became actively [illegible] in various philanthropic [illegible] Washington and Chicago. [illegible] ago she began the erection of a series of lodging-houses for [illegible] working girls.

To supervise this task, Mrs. McCormick took a course in practical [illegible] and visited in person the [illegible] cities, where similar experiments had been conducted. She [illegible] domestic science and with [illegible] of a successful caterer she [illegible] wholesome menus to be provided at a minimum price. Everyone [illegible] her, told her it was a impracticable scheme, yet Mrs. [illegible] owns two large homes for [illegible] girls and though the occupants get a room and board for from [illegible] a week, she gets a fair per[illegible] on her investment. The [illegible] conducted by a matron care[illegible] selected by Mrs. McCormick and [illegible] self-supporting. Shortly [illegible] new year, this indefatigable [illegible] of progress opened offices in [illegible] district and here clad in [illegible] immaculate style of the business [illegible] or as the illustrators put the [illegible] given over to the bachelor girl, [illegible] the conventional eight-[illegible]

"[illegible] purpose," said Mrs. McCormick, "[illegible] the assistance of some well-[illegible] women and veteran workers [illegible] suffrage cause to have a fed[illegible] amendment to the Constitution, [illegible] women wherever the [illegible] flag flies or wherever the [illegible] is the vade mecum of [illegible]. It seems a gigantic task, [illegible]? So I am told, but to [illegible] simply a work of detail, of tireless effort, for when the [illegible] realize what the petition [illegible], examine it impartially and [illegible], our battle is won. Frank[illegible] Washington office is for the [illegible] popularly known as lobbying, [illegible] term which appeals to me, but [illegible] no other word. We in[illegible] put our cause before every [illegible] sitting in the Senate and [illegible]. We hope to have each go in[illegible] subject free of prejudice and [illegible] according to the merits. [illegible] we do not convince in [illegible], we shall try in another. [illegible] not converted this session, we [illegible] approach again next year.

"[illegible] have studied business methods [illegible] with many lines of ac[illegible] and we intend to bring only [illegible] business methods to this [illegible]. Our workers are doing it [illegible] of the cause and therefore [illegible] unworthy aspect is removed. [illegible] and zeal are the watch[illegible] here and in Chicago, where [illegible] office is lobbying in conjunc[illegible] with this. Many bring ripe ex[illegible] and seasoned judgment. [illegible] Jane Addams have a long [illegible] of dealing with men and af[illegible] and have commanded the re[illegible] of the world. Our most tal[illegible] most efficient officers will [illegible] and we shall work, work, [illegible] quietly and without any [illegible] features. We want re[illegible] and not to arouse antagonism [illegible] or hostility in any quarter."

[illegible] capital is well accustomed to [illegible] variety of headquarters, from [illegible] juntas of the Latin re[illegible] warring internally or against [illegible] neighboring government. But [illegible] McCormick represents some[illegible] different and the most indiffer[illegible] is taking notice. Off-hand, even friendly members of the House pronounce the crusade as Utopian and bound to fail.

"The States," said that very well-known and liberal-minded member from Mrs. McCormick's home State, Rainey of Illinois, "can settle such a question to their own content. For Congress to say you must do this or that is setting the match to rather inflammable material." Many such opinions have been given Mrs. McCormick and her adjutants, but they go smilingly on their way and the great theme now, is will the united effort of a set of charming women led by Mark Hanna's daughter suffice to set aside a tradition which caused bloodshed in 1861 and every variety of political warfare since, namely, the rights of the States to settle their own internal affairs. Already the House Committee on Rules have set aside their petition and the Senate committee shows apathy. But the leaders have appealed from the Democrats to the Republicans of both brands, the old regime and the progressive side, and they claim sufficient number of champions to make their cause at least lively if not successful this session. Mrs. McCormick has been joined by Sherman K. Booth and Mrs. Antoinette Funk of Chicago and later on the active efforts of Jane Addams, Julia Lathrop and the powerful wing from New York will open their batteries on the Rules Committees of the House.

"We have lawyers of international reputation," said Mrs. McCormick, "and one of our methods is to tabulate the laws of every State and their relation to women. In so many States women really groan under a weight of injustice. Take the question of taxation for instance. Talk to women of the New England States where the problem of emigration bears so heavily and see what they think about having a voice in civic affairs. Then there are States where the property laws are very bad and where innocent women become victims of unscrupulous men and are often rendered indigent. There are so many instances of laws failing to deal fairly with women, it would be useless to attempt even a superficial account. Organized politics is now our means of labor and not humble petitions as of old. Where women are dealt with unjustly we shall arouse their energies to help us fight. Those who pay taxes and who bear the burden of supporting their communities equally with the men will join their forces with ours. Politics in our sense means to bring before every man dependent on popular vote the necessity of looking after all the interests of his voters and being careful not to stir up hostile feelings when he is really informed of the will of the people. We do not intend campaigns of fire and sword, of threats or innuendo. We intend to present our rights squarely and completely this year, next year, every year until we win."

Mrs. McCormick, ardent champion of equal rights, has another and different aspect, the devoted wife and affectionate mother and one to whom home is the dearest spot on earth. From her babyhood almost, she was accustomed to be her father's confidante. She loved to sit in his study and so quiet was she always that the gravest conference would be held in her presence. In Washington, she always had her seat at those famous breakfasts which have passed into history. The late Senator Hanna enjoyed breakfast more than any meal and he liked to discuss his projects with a few close friends while they partook of the first meal of the day. That cornbeef hash on which was a poached egg daintily surrounded by water cress, and accompanied by fragrant coffee and crisp toast, was once a national institution. President McKinley would stroll over from the White House and usually Vice-President Hobart and Senator Elkins would be members of the party. It was on such occasions notably the morning after the Maine was wrecked in Cuban waters, that momentous decisions were reached over this simple, yet delicious repast. Little Miss Ruth Hanna would sit demurely listening to those great secrets and she grew up in the atmosphere of vigorous thought and quick, decisive action.

Socially, Mrs. McCormick has always been an attractive figure, and her home always a focusing point for the thoughtful among the leaders. She maintained a home of her own here for some years but recently has been occupying Mrs. Hanna's on Sixteenth street, since that lady prefers the winters in Thomasville, Ga., and the spring in Washington. During the term of Mr. McCormick's father, Robert McCormick, as Ambassador to France, Mr. and Mrs. Medill McCormick passed a part of the winter in the gay French capital. But while she enjoyed the whirl as all young and socially inclined people must, young Mrs. McCormick devoted much of her time to studying the slum work of Paris and she obtained many valuable ideas put into practice after her return to this country. The economical management of food is one of the things which she learned to perfection in Paris. She studied food combinations and what to prepare to have all the components and necessary adjuncts of proper feeding and in this science she has taught Washington a practical lesson. She has shown that often the most expensive article of food is least nutritious while from comparatively cheap diet, the best results are noted.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick have one little daughter not yet 2 years old. She has received untiring care from her mother but is now old enough to be left with a motherly old nurse who has taken care of another generation of the Hanna children. Mrs. McCormick takes her breakfast with the little one, and has a spin home at noon and frequently brings the baby and nurse for a little drive in the afternoon. She returns to her home about 4 o'clock or 4:30 o'clock and then takes up the social role to which she has been accustomed since she was but a little older than her baby. The Chicago element in Washington society is large enough to engage her attention, even if her friends were not from every State and country. She may be seen at dinners and late afternoon receptions almost daily, but never at any function unconnected with her work during the business day. This routine she has mapped out for herself while the struggle for the Federal amendment is on and that looks now as though it might spin out through the ages.

Washington is not idle on the suffrage cause. But unfortunately for the cause which Mrs. McCormick champions, the antis are as active and determined, as she. Scarcely a day that the suffragists are not confronted by an impressive move of the opposition. Mrs. Arthur J. Dodge, grand high potentate of the antis, is here and she has headquarters with a corps of diligent assistants. It requires careful stepping these days in Washington not to tread on some one's pet corns. Mrs. James Pinchot and some few of the grande dames, entertain the leaders of the cause, while Mrs. Wickersham, wife of the former Attorney-General, holds up the hands of Mrs. Dodge's cohorts. Mrs. McCormick has planned a number of lecture courses followed by tea, cakes and comment, and these will be given in different sections of the city and are intended to attract all classes of thinking women.

THE UNCHLOROFORMED.

New Castle, N. H., claims the record for longevity of its residents. In its population of not more than 500 there are four persons 80 years old, eight between 80 and 90, one 92 and one 96. Two of these, Capt. John Hall and John V. White, jointly observed their eighty-eighth birthday Friday.

Mrs. Kady Brownell, who is now 71 years old and very ill at Wards Island, N. Y., went to the war with her husband, who was in the First Rhode Island Infantry. She was given a place as a color bearer in a company of sharpshooters.

At his home in West Liberal, Barton county, Missouri, this week, Uncle Henry Dorman celebrated his one hundred and fifteenth birthday, and though he has been very feeble for the last three years, he recognized all his old friends who came to offer congratulations. He is believed to be the oldest man in America.

At the annual banquet of the Manchester (N. H.) Dartmouth Alumni Association last week there were three men present whose combined ages totaled 264 years, 11 months and 1 day. These three loyal alumni, all of whom are in robust health, are Judge David Cross, born in Weare in 1817; Dr. William M. Parsons, born in Gilmanton in 1827, and Hon. Benjamin A. Kimball, born in Boscawen in 1833.

Daniel D. Whitney, formerly Mayor of the old city of Brooklyn, N. Y., and still active in his wholesale grocery business at No. 20 Fulton street, that borough, has just celebrated his ninety-fifth birthday anniversary.

OVER THE SEA.

Rev. Bulkeley Jones, chancellor of the Cathedral of St. Asaph, who was the original "Slogger Williams," whose deeds are recorded in "Tom Brown's School Days," has just died in North Wales, at the age of 90.

Albert Ballin of the Hamburg American Company, has given up his attempt to secure an independent German exhibit for the San Francisco exposition because of his poor health.

A DEBUTANTE'S LETTER.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.,

Bootie Cherie: You certainly did have a charming party. I never saw the clubhouse look so delightful and I know everyone had a sumptuous time. Fancy being able to secure so many nice men for an afternoon The Dansant! No one would have believed it a few years ago, would they? It was hard enough to get the beggars to an evening dance much less an afternoon one in those bad days. But now they seem more than ready to carry their pumps round in their pockets and "join the dance" directly they leave their offices.

We have become quite used to the evening dresses for women in the afternoon, haven't we? There certainly were some dazzling frocks at your party, including yours and Ellen's, Cherie. The more daring color combinations seem quite de rigeur at a danse, and I thought that petite demoiselle in the green and black frou-frou looked awfully chic. Likewise Mrs. O.'s terra-cotta red, with the pronounced slash and the lovely lace petticoat. And the red shoes and stockings.

The Duane girls are very attractive, aren't they? Vivian in particular, is quite a beauty and I heard many admiring remarks about her.

It seems queer to see the men in ordinary lounge suits, and the women in full and elaborate evening dress, doesn't it? But I will wager they feel much happier in them—those stiff, white evening dress shirts cannot be the most desirable things to dance in. It is jolly to be a man, isn't it? They don't have to dress up to be attractive.

The Stimson party was delightful, wasn't it? Such a lot of people are glad that Mrs. S. was courageous enough to give a party without ice creams. Her refreshments were much nicer and more original. American parties and ice creams were getting a reputation for being inseparable, and few hostesses dared risk leaving them out.

We did not see you at the amateur theatricals at the San Gabriel Mission Playhouse on Wednesday. It really was good fun and such a lot of nice Pasadena people went over for it. Gwen's hat in the last act was a screamer. She played the part of an English servant, you know, and when she was dressed to go out, her hat represented all her ideals of sartorial beauty in concentrated form, to make up for the cap and apron of ordinary days. So it supported a long wild white ostrich plume, a giant red rose and a heterogenious collection of millinery chefs de'oevres that brought the house down.

Bunny Reed's dresses were all that dresses could be, each one more delicious than the last, and Mrs. Elliot made the hit of the evening as a sentimental, frivolous old lady in ringlets and gorgeous old lace.

The Garland boys gave a small, but merry, party on Friday out at the West Adams-street home. Four o'clock to 9 o'clock, Cherie. Aren't we revolutionizing the times of our parties, that's all? There was a time when the meal problem would have seemed unsurpassable, but now hostesses seem to cope with it serenely. Can it be that dancing is making the male of the species less concerned, anent his tummy?

Bessie is engaged, as of course you know. Oh, yes, Arthur, of course. They are going to have a lovely wedding from all accounts, on the twenty-fourth of this month at their Adams-street church.

You really ought to take up golf, you know. The women's invitation tournament at the Annandale Country Club begins next Wednesday, and if it is anything like last year's it will be very pleasant. Mrs. Herbert Munn is looking after things this year, she is an indefatiguable golfer as you know, and any other form of social entertainment takes second place with her. I understand several of the Riverside people are coming down for this event, and will take the opportunity to support the polo at Pasadena at the same time.

We could not get over to that Maryland ball on Thursday night because we had tickets for Kismet. But it must have been jolly, especially with such fascinating M. C.'s as Lloyd Richardson Macy, Robert Pitcairn and Lee Guyer. The Staats girls were there, of course. You heard about that engagement, didn't you? I had heard just prior to that that she was going to have a season in London under the chaperonage of a peeress, but I expect that arrangement is off now. Isabel would have made a great hit in London, though. She is the type of American girl that is a great success over there. I know someone who will do a little weep over O'Melveny. I think she always knew it was hopeless, but she has regarded Stuart as the only man in the world for ever so long.

No, there really is not going to be any disaster in the M—— family, but things were dreadfully explosive for a few days. And all over a little lace tango hat! It appears that wifie paid $17 for it, and hubby thought it absurd both as to price and appearance. But unfortunately she had told him that it only cost $10 at first and the truth only came out by accident. Then he exploded. She says she wept for three days, but if so she knows a trick to restore the eyes which we should all like to learn. She wore it at the Alexandria on Thursday night—and I was inclined to agree with hubby. It is a foolish-looking thing—especially at the price! But it would appear that hubby has climbed down and things seemed quite normal when we last saw them together.

Mrs. H. R. L. made an embarrassing little faux pas last week at the H's affair. You know that little Italian woman who manages to go everywhere, although she has next to no money, and keeps up no establishment. Well, she was at the H's in a very pretty black and gold dress, obviously a very expensive gown. Mrs. L. looked at it curiously for a minute and then said, "Well, I had a dress identical with that—surely it must be mine!"

The usual eloquent pause, while the Signora blushed furiously. Mrs. F., who is that sort of a dear, laughed and said, "Oh, Mary you think your gowns are exclusive, but, of course, your dressmaker copies them for anyone, especially if ideas run short."

But do you suppose Mrs. L. took the opportunity to retire gracefully? We could have smacked her. She just proceeded to recall a little three-cornered tear which she said was near the hem on the left side—and alas, there it was! The Signora walked away indignant and embarrassed, and Mrs. F. followed and chatted the horrid moments away, while Mrs. L. was at much pains to tell us how she had given that dress to her maid three weeks ago. I was rather glad the mater cut her short with "Cultivate a short memory, dear."

Anyway, I think we all made a point of being as nice as we could to the Signora after that. Everybody likes her—that is why she has always been able to keep "in" everything, although she is not in a position to reciprocate. Love from Visitor Honored.

Mrs. Malcolm M. Gilchrist of the Bryson was a luncheon hostess the past week. Mrs. A. P. H. Myers of Seattle was the honoree, and in compliment to the visitor the rooms were decked with Kewpie dolls and My Maryland roses. Pink shaded candelabra and unique Kewpie place cards were other attractions which delighted the guests. The affair was the first of a series to be given by Mrs. Gilchrist.

At the Alexandria.

Last Monday afternoon Charles Adams entertained a number of friends at the Alexandria in honor of Commander and Mrs. Mark Ellis of the U.S.S. Maryland. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Irving Hollingsworth, Dr. and Mrs. Titian Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. John Newton Russell, Mrs. Ainsworth, Miss Cecelia Parks, the house guest of Mrs. Harry Ainsworth; Miss Florence Hunt, Miss Molly Adelia Brown and Messrs. Hunt, James Page and George Cole.

Valentine Dance.

Arrangements have been completed for the valentine dance and whist party to be given by the Lady Helpers of the Jewish Consumptive Relief Association, Tuesday evening, February 10, at Rutherford Dancing Academy. The proceeds will go to the unfurnished sanatorium at Duarte.

Will Tour the World.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mapel, Mrs. Margaret McKnight, Miss Bessie Watson, Dr. H. G. Hill and the Misses Edna and Minnie Arth will leave Wednesday for San Francisco, whence they will sail on the steamship Manchuria on trips around the world.

Noted Honored Guests.

Charles W. Clark, a baritone of Paris, France, and Mrs. Sybyl Sammis-MacDermid, a noted singer, and her composer-husband, James MacDermid of Chicago, were the complimented guests at a large reception Wednesday afternoon in the music-room of the Little Theater building. Hostesses for the occasion were a quartette of prominent women musicians—Mrs. Lemuel J. Selby, Mrs. Gertrude Ross, Mrs. William Mabee and Miss Margaret Goetz. Floral decorations added to the beauty of the appointment. In the music-room, great boughs of yellow acacia were arranged in tall baskets. Streamers and bows of yellow ribbon adorned the punch and tea tables, the latter being centered by a radiant mound of violets, daffodils and acacia, delicately interspersed with the faint emerald of maidenhair ferns and ribbons of gauze.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. W. L. Jones, Mrs. James Tabor Fitzgerald, Mrs. Ella W. Martindale, Mrs. Russell Judson Waters, Miss Cora Foy, Miss Beresford Joy, Mrs. William Jamison, Mrs. Abner L. Ross, Mrs. George LaFayette Crenshaw, Mrs. Joseph Carlisle Wilson, Mrs. Chester Loomis, Mrs. Benamin Johnson, Mme. Katherine Fisk, Miss Dorothy Parry-Jones, Mrs. Clifford Lott, Mrs. Frederick Johnson, Mme. de la Cruz, Miss L. O'Donoghue, Miss Freida Peycke, Miss Blanche Ruby, Mrs. Katherine Haynes, Mrs. George W. Robinson, Mrs. Frederick Phillips and Mrs. Estelle Heartt Dreyfus. Orchestra music was a feature of the entertainment between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock, when several hundred guests called.

Formal Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. Wylie J. Rouse of No. 631 West Twenty-first street formally announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lorita Baker Rouse, to John l'Estrange Vallely, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Vallely of No. 3452 South Flower street. The wedding date of the young couple has not been set, but will be some time during the coming summer.

Elaborate Luncheon.

An auction bridge luncheon on Friday, presided over by Mrs. Lester L. Robinson of No. 832 South Beacon street, and Mrs. Robert L. Brunton of No. 3926 La Salle avenue, at the home of the former, was enjoyable. The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. O. A. Vickery, Mrs. J. J. Jenkins, Mrs. E. A. Featherstone, Mrs. J. T. Stewart, Mrs. K. W. Vaughn, Mrs. W. T. Covington, Mrs. John Power, Mrs. M. F. Hellman and Mrs. J. Bond Francisco, received their guests in the mulberry drawing-room, which was embellished with American Beauty roses and baskets of violets, combined with potted ferns and palms. In the dining-room, the feathery yellow acacia was utilized, and centering the small tables were bark baskets filled with violets, the handles tied with bows of violet tulle. Gold monogramed cards marked the covers.

A pleasing feature of the luncheon hour was the harp music by Mrs. J. M. Jones. Invitations were extended to 150 guests.

ANOTHER BOOTERY opportunity for women. Seldom indeed are such unusual and exclusive designs presented at such extraordinary price reductions. Here are shown the originals, many of them duplicated and sold in the most noted shops throughout the country. A truly notable sale offering.

This clearance marks a high point in Los Angeles merchandising, a period of such unusual values as to merit inspection and purchase by every lover of the best in footwear.

The added room for the NEW BOOTERY—three times its present space—already is being prepared. Space for alterations and for new incoming goods is needed right now, a fact which compels exceptionally strong reductions. Study these values, never have such inducements been offered on equally meritous boots and shoes.

"Smart Shoes for Women"

C. H. Wolfelt Co. The Bootery
432 Broadway
Los Angeles Pasadena Santa Barbara San Francisco
Sale in Los Angeles Shop Only—Mornings at 8:30

ON Monday,
February 9th

¶ I shall open what I believe will be as smart a shop, as attractive a shop, and a shop which will as well meet the requirements of the more discriminating classes among Los Angeles women, as any that has ever been established in this city or in the Southwest.

I have just come back from Paris. I have seen all that Berlin has to offer. I have visited Monte Carlo, Brussels, the Riviera, London. I have been everywhere that one should go in order to see just those touches of Fashion which appear at these resorts so long before their appearance in the New World. I have sketched them, I have taken the ideas contained in them and I have had suits and gowns and simple, dainty little afternoon frocks, and coats of all sorts, made up for me, after my own ideas! Absolutely and utterly original, in so far as America is concerned! And I have brought them to Los Angeles and placed them in this New Store of mine.

I want to invite every woman to come here on my opening day, and on subsequent days.

I believe that I am about to start a new era here in ready-to-wear apparel for women.

MY PRICES?

For suits? From $35 up.
For dresses? From $25 up.
For coats? Also from $25 up.
And for evening gowns? From $45 up.

For less than these prices I don't believe I could give you the kind of apparel that you wish and the kind that I wish to bear my name.

Some wonderfully pretty and attractive dresses ha just come—they are to be shown the first time Monda

42-in. wool poplin at 95c

—Of course, you'll think we've made a mistake quoting a price of 95c on 42-in. wool poplin—just as the writer that the department head had made a mistake—but 95c is right!—and Monday should see the woolen goods store the scene of a merry buying carnival for such poplins are seldom shown at such a little price!—

—These come in new blue, Copenhagen, sailor blue, rust brown, gray, rose, wine and black!—

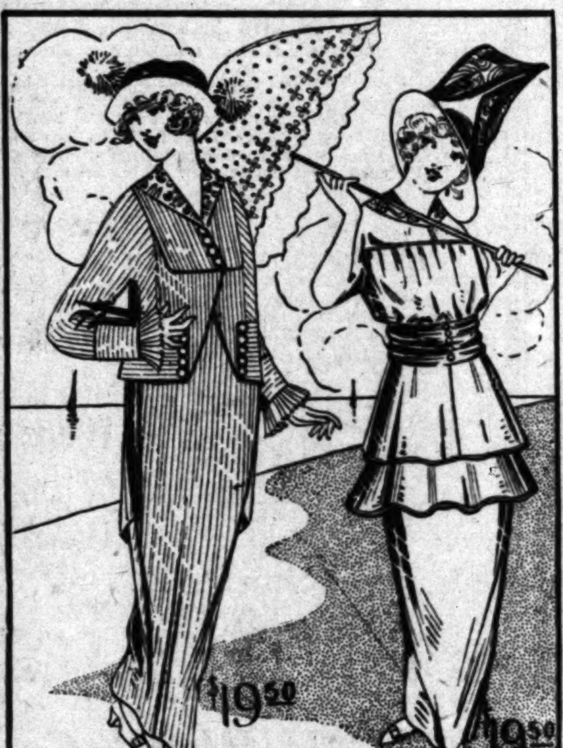
Center Aisle—Rear.

$1.15 has seldom bought such gloves as these!

—They're the famous Weldon gloves made in the great Maggionni factories of Milan, Italy! — Regular $1.50 2-clasp P.K.s in white, black and tan at $1.15 pr.

—Each pair fitted as carefully as though sold at full regular price!—

At the Entrance.



—Among them are dresses as low as $15.00—(and their price doesn't by any means carry an idea of their unusualness—) and there are other dresses at $19.50 and on up to $75.00—each one a model that will arouse intense interest among the women who follow the "Trail of the New" to the 3rd Floor Monday!—

—Many of the dresses show the most radical changes in style of any that have been brought out in years!—Among the novelties that will interest you are the minaret—the tiered and peg top effects and the new embroidered trimmings!—

—The fabrics most in favor are chiffon taffeta, crepe de chine, crepe poplin and Chinese crepe! The color range is the rainbow!—

Dresses (like picture) $19.50

—And there are many other models at $19.50 that you will think quite as pretty as the one we have illustrated! All of them are extraordinary values!—
—They are made up from soft chiffon taffetas, peau de chine—printed Chinese crepes and crepe poplins in a wide range of colors. All sizes from misses' 16 up to women's 44.

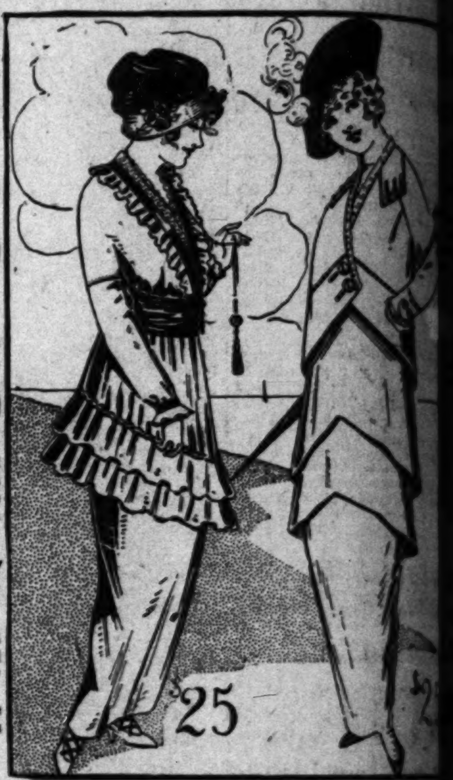
Suits (like picture) at $19.50

—Smart man tailored suits of English serge wool crepes—wool poplins—black and white checks and novelty cloths in the new short blouse effects—some are made with striking new straight lines!—Some are trimmed with lace collars and cuffs—others are trimmed with self materials in contrasting colors!—The colors include—Copenhagen green—russet—Tango—Russian green—navy—black and novelty checks!—All sizes!

New suits and dresses at $25

—Note those which we have had pictured at the right!—
—The dresses are delightful affairs of the prettiest silks with ruffles and laces and trimmings used so daintily and so prettily that black and white type won't convey any idea of their beauty!—They demand to be seen!
—The suits have frilled coats—mind you!—wonderful tailored affairs that make one wonder where the designers got their inspirations!—They're of soft clinging woolens in a wide range of colors—All sizes!—
—And there are other suits on up to $75.00.

Third Floor.



An importer's sample line of $10 to $25 beaded tunics $7.50

—The worth prices we've quoted above are anything but fair to the tunics, for there are only two $10.00 ones included and there are many worth $25.00 and some even more!

—What an opportunity this will be for women who are planning new evening gowns!—These are just the effects that the prettiest of the new imported gowns are carrying!

—They are of chiffon cloth—of crepe chiffon and of silk net richly beaded and some are traced with mock gold and silver threads!
—The colors include black!—white—gray—taupe—pink—blue—lavender—cerise—old rose and many pretty combinations!—

—And with these samples will be many tunics from our regular stocks—all equally good values!—

—A window full of them for you to see today! North Aisle!

North Aisle, Front.

18-in. and 24-in. gold and silver flouncings ($2.50 to $4 value) $1.75

—It's only once in a long, long while that such laces as these are to be bought underprice—it was the rarest of good fortune that brought them to us at a price that enables us to sell them at $1.75 instead of $2.50, $3.50 or $4.00 yard!

—The laces are of white, cream and ecru silk net traced with delicate threads of gold and silver — some very brilliant and striking—others more subdued and dainty!

—They're the very laces that will be used so much this season for the new minaret flounces—for blouses and evening hats—And think of buying them at the beginning of the season at half price—close to half and less than half!—

—See the window display today! North Aisle!—

Women's su coats marked $2

Announcement Extraordinary!

The First Carpet and Rug Weaving Exhibition Ever Held in Los Angeles, At Barker Bros. Feb. 10th to 23d.

10 A.M. to 5 P.M. Daily

Admission Free!---Everybody Invited!

In this exhibit there will be shown in actual operation, the famous Whittall exhibition carpet loom, brought from Worcester, Mass., at great expense, weaving yarns of many different colors into rugs of beautiful designs.

The materials which enter into rug weaving, the many qualities of wool, the different stages of preparation, pictures of the work of dyeing the yarns and the color tests, also various pictures of the machinery used in a rug mill, will also be shown, and expert operators and representatives from the Whittall Mills will be present to explain the different processes in rug making, from raw material to the finished product. The working of the intricate loom is most marvelous and from an educational standpoint the value of the exhibition can not be over-estimated.

We are sure that the exhibit will prove entertaining and instructive. It is an opportunity to see in actual operation, one of the most marvelous pieces of modern machinery of all the manufacturing arts.

Prominent Educators Say:

John Willis Baer, Pres. Occidental College: "It is liberal education on practical lines that should be very helpful to all students."

J. H. Francis, Supt. L. A. Public Schools: "I am sure it will prove not only educational to the general public, but to those interested in the textile arts, and especially instructive and interesting to the children.

Jeremiah M. Rhodes, Supt. Pasadena City Schools: "Appeals to me strongly, and I shall take pleasure in bringing the exhibit to the attention of the teachers and schools of Pasadena."

Geo. C. Bush, Supt. Pasadena City Schools: "Am very glad to learn of this carpet weaving exhibit. It has much educational value."

This Exhibit Should be Visited by Everyone!

Teachers and Scholars of the Public Schools and Educational Institutions Especially Invited!

All Teachers of 5th Grades and Above Are Urged to Bring Their Entire Classes!

This is a sight that you may never have another chance to see. To know how rugs are made, and to see them made with your own eyes—to see a rug "grow" bit by bit, unfolding its beautiful design as you watch it, is very interesting. In this exhibit you may learn what Brussels carpet is—what a Jacquard rug is—what the difference between Warp and Weft is—how a five-frame Brussels differs from a four-frame—how a three-shot Wilton differs from a two-shot. In this exhibit the inventor of the loom that you will see, will be here to tell you all about it, and to explain all the processes of carpet and rug weaving.

Prizes Will Be Awarded for the Best Essays From School Children

How to Save Your Eyes

Try This Free Prescription

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these, and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription, which has benefited the eyes of so many, may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye troubles to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription. Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Optona tablets; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one tablet and allow it to thoroughly dissolve. With the liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it. It is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment but marvelously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned, don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes and you are likely to thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription.

SOCIETY.

home, No. 5011 Maplewood avenue. As the wedding is to be a pink and green affair, the hostess chose those colors for her decorations, utilizing enchantress carnations in the dining-room, with violets and valley lilies in the large living-room. At the close of the afternoon, the guests were invited to the dining-room, where each found a little envelope at her cover, announcing the date of the wedding, Tuesday, February 17, which will take place at the Westlake Methodist Church. The pastor and father of the bride, Dr. David F. Howe, will perform the ceremony. Covers were laid for fourteen, and favors were small pink baskets filled with bonbons. At the conclusion of the refreshments, a large basket was presented to the honoree, filled with beautiful gifts, tied with pink ribbons.

For Chapped, Blotchy, Red or Wrinkled Skin

Do you realize that just beneath that coarse, rough or discolored complexion there's an exquisitely beautiful skin of youthful tint and delicacy? If you could only bring this complexion to the surface, discarding the old one! You can—in the easiest, simplest, most natural manner imaginable. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at any drug store, apply nightly like cold cream, removing it mornings with warm water. The wax assists Nature by gradually taking off the lingering particles of dead and half-dead surface skin, causing no discomfort whatever. Ordinarily it takes from a week to ten days to complete the transformation. Cutaneous defects like chaps, pimples, blotches, liver spots, moth patches, freckles, of course disappear with the old skin. Nothing else that I know of will accomplish such wonderful results in so short a time.

Fine lines and even the deeper wrinkles often appear at this season. In such cases nothing is better than a face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. This is remarkably effective.

The Book Store

—This New Book Store at Bullock's is proving a revelation to book lovers.
—More than one has been surprised at the remarkable growth that has been made during the past few weeks.
—Now, come to "Bullock's for Books" —not only current fiction, but standards—the unusual books as well as those that are best known—
—Visit the Book Store, Monday— —First Floor.

Suits,

"I didn't believe it possible!"

—A man who knows intimately good stores in more than one large city was astonished to find—"the Second Floor as busy as the First!"

—He had expressed himself as very doubtful concerning results when he was told some months ago that Bullock's anticipated moving silks, dress goods, wash weaves, linens and the fancy work sections to the second floor. He was more than surprised to see the throngs of buyers that he did see upon the second floor on Wednesday last.

—More than One Day This Great New Second Floor has been busier than the first, and the first floor has occasioned comment by its exceptional activity since January First.

—Women do appreciate having plenty of room, and light—as they appreciate the other conveniences of arrangement, as well as the fixtures and furnishings that are making this new 2nd floor so noticeably capable in the display and handling of greater stocks and more attractive stocks than Bullock's has ever shown before.

—The Silks and Dress Goods; The New Cotton Weaves; The Linens for table and for dress; the sections devoted to art needlework—and those given over to spreads, to blankets, sheets and comforters—hold many very interesting values that should make your shopping especially resultful on Monday.

Springtime

—is Sewing Time and Notion Time—Take time by the forelock—buy your Notions now—

—There is nothing more provoking than having a dressmaker's time lost for the want of the needed Notion Necessities—

—See if you have plenty of thread in the wanted colors, needles, all sizes, hooks and eyes and snappers, featherbone, collar supporters, binding ribbon, buttons, shields and the many items that should be a part of every well equipped sewing basket—Make out your list and then come to Bullock's—Monday.

Millinery Salons Radiant

—with the beauty of springtime—
—Never were the advantages of Bullock's millinery more pronounced—never were styles so brilliantly, bewitchingly original, and becoming—practical and perfect—never were the laurels of Paris in greater danger than now—
—For individuality is wonderfully expressed in these exquisite new spring hats that Bullock's is showing—They are hats that are examples of the very best art of Fashion—and best of all—they are Hats That are Values—as Distinctive as the Styles are New.

—Even at $7.50 some very exceptional models—Others at $10, at $12.50, at $15.

Every day's express brings more new models from America's foremost milliners.

—Practical and comparatively inexpensive tailored effects as well as the exceedingly rich creations of maline and jet, moire silk and flowers, Milan hemp and ribbon-flowered wreathes—a variety that will fascinate all women who insist upon having hats that are "different," individual, becoming.

Maline Hats—light as feathers with their transparent crowns.
—Particularly chic is a certain just-received model with transparent crown of maline, a brim of spangled net gradually sloping from 2 inches in the back to an 8-inch point in front, from the center of which rises a fine specimen of imitation aigrette—a dressy model for an afternoon tea or a dinner.

Laces Never So Popular

—But is it any wonder? Were they ever before so exquisite?
—On many of them the designs seem to stand out from their almost invisible backgrounds like floating flowers.
—Edges and flounces are most in demand, 18 to 24-inch widths being used for the new flounces.
—Many unnameable novelties are here, as well as Chantilly, Shadow, Oriental and fancy net top laces.
—Allover laces extensively used for yokes, guimpes and sleeves—double width allovers for blouses and in combination with flouncings for drapes and tunics.
—Dainty camisole laces in profusion for Spring and Summer wear.
—The new Paris shade and the deep ecru tones as well as white, black and cream.
—Then there are two-tone effects with raised designs in color.
—The Bureau of Style Information offers many suggestions for their use. Come to Bullock's for the new laces you need on Monday.

Such Beautiful Silks

—Such surprisingly low prices
—Monday should certainly be a gala day for the Los Angeles women who come to Bullock's Silk Salons—Second Floor.

—Just to think that the silk fabrics that women are asking for every day for spring waists and dresses are to be out at marked under prices.

—Isn't it splendid! Can't you realize how Los Angeles women will hurry to Bullock's on Monday to share one of the season's best silk offerings—Five very Special items will be out.
Read carefully each one of the descriptions we give—Figure the amount of silks you want and profit through buying them at Bullock's on Monday—

40-in. Cashmeres and Crepe Meteors $1.45

Never before marked less than a full third more per yard—Beautiful materials, silks of fashion for afternoon and evening wear—just a few pieces and in such good shades as fuchsia, lavender, ciel blue, ivory, cream and navy—
—Then a surprise—in this lot will also be short lengths of poplins—Think of buying dress patterns at $1.45 yard.

36-in. Meteor Finished Messaline 65c

—Not a yard in this offering of silks that wouldn't regularly sell for one-half as much again—Just 296 yards of meteor finished messalines and look at the shades to choose from—light blue, ivory, cream, French blue, lavender, taupe, cerise, Copenhagen, navy, plum and tan—Every yard underpriced at 65c.

Think! Failles and Charmeuse 65c

—Women know the regular prices of these silks and to see these splendid fabrics, full 36 and 40 inches wide in a wide range of shades, will be signal for the kind of buying that is pretty sure to take the entire lot out before the day is gone—Every yard of these silk failles and charmeuse are actually worth 50% more.

40-in. Crepe de Chines $1.25

—Few silk fabrics are more popular than crepe de chines, and then to think these are at a special price on Monday—Perfectly washable crepe de chines so desirable for dainty afternoon and evening wear and many use them in the making of exquisite undergarments—In Monday's offering will be crepe de chine in Nile green, lavender, shell pink, cream and light pink—daintiest shades of all—Special as can be at $1.25 yard.

40-in. Figured Silk Chiffons at 65c

—Fairylike fabrics in white grounds with small flowered patterns. Oh, so dainty one might think of wee flowers being scattered here and there on a snowy sheet—These are so popular for waists and tunic drapes—On Monday they are to go at nearly half regular price — 65c yard. (Second Floor.)

Some New Bedspreads at $5.50

—They have just come—and have surprised everyone who has seen them.
—They will delight buyers on Monday. Great big, beautiful Marseilles spreads—rare in quality and patterns. Values that are values $5.50.

Undermuslins $1.25

—"Anything exceptional?" you wonder.
—Yes, indeed—they're as far ahead of the regulation $1.25 values as this luxuriously furnished Underwear Section on the new Third Floor is ahead of the ordinary underwear store.
—Bullock's $1.25 undermuslins will appeal to women who appreciate fine fabrics, neat laces and embroideries.

Gowns at $1.25

—20 different styles in slipover and high-neck models. Garments made of good nainsooks and crepes. Some have deep yokes of lace and embroidery, and lace trimmed sleeves. Some have kimono sleeves. Plainer styles have dainty edging of lace or embroidery, ribbon drawn.
—Then there are Petticoats, Princess Slips, Combinations, Chemise, Drawers and Corset Covers of equally good materials and just as beautifully trimmed at $1.25.

Crepe Underwear

—Gowns of soft crinkly crepe—delightful to the touch, and doubly desirable as an underwear fabric because it requires no ironing—Slip-over and high-neck models with either full length or elbow sleeves; lace trimmed or scalloped around neck and sleeves. Colors as well as white. $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

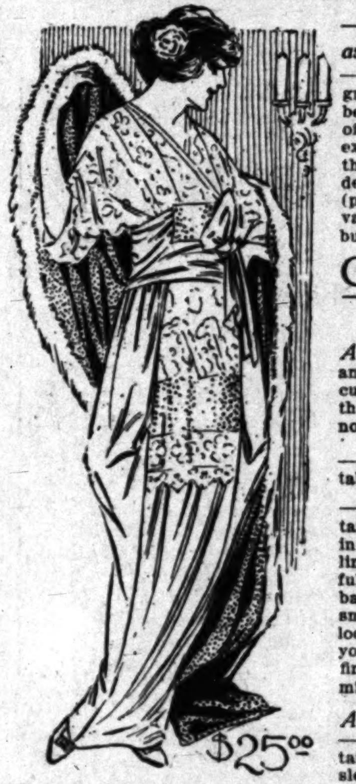
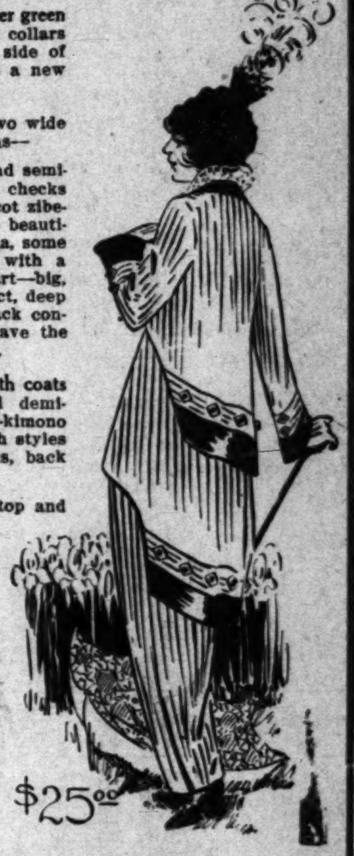
—Violet Sec Toilet Water, 75c and $1.40.
—Extreme Violet Perfume—A very fragrant concentration of Russian violets—75c oz.



—Spring is making the style leadership of Bullock's more prominent as the days go by.
—Last week the $29.50, $35 and $39.50 values held sway—Now, another great group of remarkable Fashions strolls to the center of the stage—remarkable because of their beauty, their difference, the supreme quality and difference of every garment—even more remarkable because they are to be sold at the exceptionally favored price of $25.00—Don't fail to see them, Monday—And then just visit through this entire new third floor—Consider it in its every detail—Note its splendid readiness in other Suits, Gowns, Coats, Waists—(particularly the exclusive Paul Poiret designed models, and the very special values at $29.50)—See the new Lingerie and the latest styles in Ivy Corsets—but, above all, on Monday—

Concentrate Upon These $25.00 Values

—A feature of features on the new third floor.



At $25—are hip length coats of grasshopper green and delft blue corduroy with wide shawl collars cut in one with back of coat—the right side of the collar has a tiny pocket which gives a new note to these chic semi-tailored coats—

—Just below the waist line in back are two wide tabs held in place with large pearl buttons—

—And half length coats in the tailored and semi-tailored styles—striking black and white checks in new corded fabrics—bright red or apricot zibeline—the wide self-striped duvetyn in the beautiful new Jacque rose tones—white chinchilla, some barred with tiny gold bars and others with a small stripe of delft blue, an inch apart—big, loose, generous sleeves, long shoulder effect, deep yokes—some have waist or hip line in back confined with belt of self material—some have the minaret flare, or pleats at bottom of coat.

At $25—are suits with the smart hip length coats—coatee and Eton effects—tailored and demi-tailored and dressy models—Kimono, semi-kimono sleeves in the three-quarter and full length styles—Smart cut novelty collars and over collars—some have unusual vest effects, back belts that are curved and straight—some have belts all around—

—Skirts have all styles of extended and modified tunics—new spiral and peg top and semi-peg tops as well as the draped and straight tailored styles—

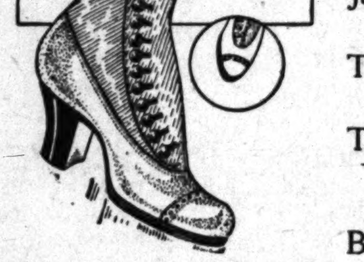
—Of wool repp novelty chevron, brocade wool, novelty wool crepe, two tone eponge, hard finished serge, rough weaves, Novelty rough stripe, mannish stripe, check and plaids in hard finished materials—black and white effects, medium and light shades of gray, dark blue and black, French blue, delft blue, duck blue, mahogany, amber, rust, yellowish tan, sponge tones, rose and reseda.

At $25—are pretty new taffeta and moire frocks with double, single and ruffled tunics—some have the short buffant hip drapery in the bustle effect—Blouse style waists with dainty white flowered satin vest and cuffs, the flowers in the pretty sweet pea colorings—chemisettes of net gathered on narrow double cords for neck finish—neck and sleeves finished with lace and net frills—some have ecru embroidered batiste collars and cuffs—wide girdles play an important part in the waist line effect of many of these smart frocks—the girdles are of Roman stripe bengaline, duck blue or rust brown, picot edge satin ribbon—other girdles are of black velvet ribbon. While others are of self materials—

Bullock's Basement Store

$7.95! Yes! But Who'd Guess It

—Do you know what a real big, good store Bullock's Basement Store is? If you don't and if you are interested in merchandise at lesser prices—how do you know how resultful a trip to Bullock's Basement Store may prove on Monday?
—"The satisfaction of every customer" is as much a consideration in the Basement Store as it is the consideration with this entire business.



Shoes at $2.00

—Close to a thousand pairs and none that wouldn't be good value at half as much again—many, in fact, worth double.
—New shoes—the styles are right, the materials are excellent—it's a clean-up of a jobber's floor stock.
—Buttoned boots of soft gray kid and champagne kid — some with cloth tops.
—Plain and beaded satin pumps in black, gray and colors.
—Gray and brown nubuck boots.
—Patent colt and gunmetal calf oxfords.
—Nearly every kind came to us in full case lots, so there will be no trouble in finding the right size.
—We are particularly anxious to have this footwear examined by women who have always contended that dependable shoes cannot be bought for less than double this price—$2.

—New—right down to the minute.
—Not only correct in cut, but they are well made from excellent serges and fancy weaves—these dresses will give splendid service and look well every day they are worn.

An Interesting Window Exhibit

The beauty of Aerochrome papers is admirably demonstrated in one of our windows this week. You will surely enjoy the exhibit

Beautify Your Home

With the New Aerochrome Wall Decorations

The soft vignetting and delicate colorings of our new Aerochrome wall papers form a highly artistic and distinctive treatment for the living room, dining room, breakfast room, library, den and hall.

They are produced entirely by hand with airbrush and may be had in stock colorings or as ordered. Shown in many unusual colors—brown, blue, green, mulberry, tan and metallic. Each sheet is five to nine feet in width, and seams do not show on the wall. With hand-worked stenciled panels and friezes, Aerochrome gives an effect unexcelled by any other process of mural decoration.

Whatever the character of wall decorations you seek, whether the most elaborate hand-worked effects that can be executed, or the simplest, most moderately-priced printed papers, your requirements can be met at the "California" to your greatest satisfaction.

We offer you the help of competent interior decorative artists in working out the most effective treatment for your walls, and cordially invite you to come in and consult with us at any time and see our splendid display of wall decorations.

Attractive Novelty Styles In Spring Suits

$19.50, $22.50, $25 and Up

THE TENDENCY to more dressy effects is noticeable in all the new spring arrivals. Some of the new coats reach only to the waistline, although most of them extend in loose or belted effect a little below the waist in the back. The easy, loose raglan sleeves prevail, while collars almost invariably show a contrast in both fabric and color. Remarkably clever, but not elaborate trimmings, lend an exclusive style note to each Frenchy model.

Extremely Modish Silk Suits $27.50 Up

SUITS that will undoubtedly appeal to all fashionable women—the new weaves of silk, the new shades and, above all, the entirely new designs, with all the artistic details of bouffant draperies, odd little short coats, new flare ruffles and countless others, lend them an almost irresistible attraction.

Still More Bouffant Grow the Draperies on New Silk Gowns for Spring $19.50

GOWNS that show an easy familiarity with every new Fashion note for the new season—and their name is legion! The quaintness of styles, fabrics and color effects take one back to the picturesque days of long ago! YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS HIM

We Are Painless Dentists

And yet there are people who go to their dentist, wait in an agony of apprehension for their call to his chair, and sit in justified fear and trembling while he probes and grinds and cleans and scours and hurts, hurts, HURTS! Simply because they have not been made to appreciate to the full how absolutely unnecessary is any pain. Yale Dentists, 444 South Broadway, Third Floor, Parmelee-Dohrmann Building.

Hair Grew 4 Inches In a Few Weeks

A St. Louis Lady Increased the Length of Her Hair Four or Five Inches in a Few Weeks With This Simple Home Recipe

A well-known St. Louis lady, after using a simple recipe on her hair which she mixed at home, made the following statement: "Without exaggeration, my hair has grown four or five inches." The recipe she used is as follows, and any lady or gentleman can mix it at home: To a half-pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the tips of the fingers. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but removes dandruff, scalp humors and prevents the hair from falling out.

It darkens streaked, faded, gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. These ingredients can be obtained from any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home.—[Advertisement.

Alhambra.

ONE of the most delightful social afternoons that has been given by the ladies of the First Methodist Church was that enjoyed last Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. George W. Cameron was hostess at her beautiful home on Commonwealth avenue. She was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Sherman W. Doty and Mrs. Frank R. Cummings, this being the regular social meeting for the month of February. As the date was so near that of Lincoln's birthday, the hostesses planned a most delightful and instructive Lincoln programme, in which different phases of his life, with sketches of war times and war music, were most ably given by members of the society. The programme was as follows: Short sketch of the "Life of Lincoln," Mrs. S. W. Doty; "Stars and Stripes" played on the victrola; "Tributes to Lincoln's Memory," England, France and others, Mrs. F. R. Cummings; reading from "The Perfect Tribute," Mrs. Matthew Algie; "Music in Camp," illustrated by "Dixie," "Yankee Doodle" and "Home, Sweet Home," Mrs. G. P. Wating; recitation, "Barbara Fritchie," Norma Cameron; soprano and alto duet, "Steal Away to Jesus," Miss Ethel Bishop and Mrs. Charles D. Lewis; selections of war songs on the mandolin, Miss Marian Cummings; song, "Two Little Boys," Lucile Doty; reading from "He Knew Lincoln," Mrs. G. W. Cameron. This delightful programme closed with the singing of "America," in which all the guests joined.

A jolly event among the younger society set of Alhambra during the past week occurred last Saturday evening at the home of Miss Hope Knapp on North Marguerita avenue, when she entertained a party of her friends in a novel way. She had succeeded in securing the baby pictures of all her guests, and when the party had assembled, these were exhibited and were the cause of much hilarity and speculation. At the close of the fun, the prize, which most suitably proved to be a horn, was awarded to Richard Waring, who had guessed them all correctly. The rest of the evening was spent in playing games and enjoying the delicious refreshments which were served by the hostess. Among those present were Miss Aletha Allen, Miss Eleanor Lowell, Miss Myrna Northrup, Miss Thelma Pritchard, Miss Wanda Cameron, Miss Glenna Todd, Miss Helen Hersman and Miss Hope Knapp, and Messrs. Harold Lindeman, Ernest Supple, Ellsworth Bailey, Frank Watts, Richard Waring, Christopher Elk, George Myren and Clifton Dessieux.

The San Gabriel Woman's Club will give the next of its series of popular dances on the evening of February 13, which is announced as an invitation affair only, 200 cards being issued. These evenings of music and dancing have been more than successful, and are becoming one of the most important factors in San Gabriel social circles, as well as being attended by many Alhambra people.

The Die Schwalbe Club members have issued invitations for a Saint Valentine's dance to be given on Friday evening, which will be attended by a large number of Alhambra society folk. It will be given at their cozy clubhouse in San Gabriel, which is always beautifully decorated for the social affairs of the club.

The newly organized Southland chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Alhambra gave a delightful musicale and dance last Friday evening, which was very largely attended. The affair was given in Strifler's Hall, which was most gorgeously and patriotically decorated in the national colors for the occasion. Among the popular numbers of the programme were selections by the High School Orchestra, vocal solos by Miss Cleora Smither, Mrs. Ora King, Lee A. Meyers, Miss Norma B. Dennison, quartette numbers by Misses Cleora Smither, Vera Eby, Bertha Butcher, Clara Johnson and readings by James Meyers. The most popular number was the dainty minuet which was danced by Alane Keith, Caroline Rhone, Katherine Caffery, Kathleen Keith, Theodore Delmarter, John Marquis Smither, Donald Bailey and Jay Sanderson. Many enjoyed the dancing which followed.

In honor of Miss Hersel Feutz, who left last week for an extended Eastern trip, Miss Harriette Dunbar entertained on Sunday afternoon of last week at her beautiful home on South Almansor street. A happy afternoon was spent with needlework, and later a delicious lunch was served in the dining-room, which was decorated in purple. The dainty place cards, from which purple streamers ran to the chandelier, marked places for the honored guest, Miss Horsel Feutz, Miss Edith Alderman, Miss Edith Lytle, Miss Lois Dunbar, Miss Louise Sexton, Miss Margaret Wigger, Miss Josephine Dunbar, Miss Rowena Bullis, Miss Margaret Weston and the hostess, Miss Harriette Dunbar.

A new music club has been formed in Alhambra, consisting of some of the members of Miss Octavia Hudson's school of music. The club will be called the Progressive Music Club and will meet on the last Saturday afternoon of each month. The members have chosen blue and gold as their club colors, and the club pins, a staff and musical design. At the first meeting of the club the following officers were chosen: Russell Hudson, president; Mildred Goudge, secretary; Marian Dinsmore, treasurer; Clara Graham, librarian. Other members of the club include Luera Wallace, Ruth Wallace, Walter Hudson, Joe Hudson, Eleanor Lloyd, Elizabeth Lloyd, Bessie Graham, Lionel Weidey, Flora Kenney, Doris Hammond, Bascom Clark and Roger Clapp.

Glendale.

ONE of the pleasant events of the week was the meeting of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon Club, the affair being held at the home of Mrs. E. H. Willisford.

Mrs. G. B. Woodberry entertained a number of young friends at her home Monday evening. Five hundred was the game selected for the evening's play, and in this Mrs. Gus H. Pulliam captured first honors. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gus H. Pulliam, Miss Lorraine Mitchell, Misses Myrtle and Emma Pulliam, George Mitchell, John Legg and Oliver Keyes.

The music section of the T. A. Club held a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard H. Martin. The meeting was devoted to the American composer, Ethelbert Nevins, Mrs. William Herman West giving the biography. An informal musicale followed at which several of Mr. Nevins's selections were played. At 2:45 the meeting adjourned so that the members might attend the recital given at Tropico by Senor Bussi and Miss Cooper. On this occasion the members of the Glendale section were guests of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sparks entertained a number of friends at their home Thursday. Dozens of roses and greenery were utilized to very beautiful effect in the decoration of the various rooms. Cards and dancing were the principal diversions of the evening. The affair was given complimentary to Miss Ruby E. Frank, sister of the hostess, who is enjoying a month's visit in Glendale. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. P. Steel, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fortune, Mr. and Mrs. Madrey, Mr. and Mrs. W. Arnold, Misses Bessie, Mattibelle and Clara Provolt, Messrs. Roy Webb, D. Blaine and Jack Norton of San Francisco.

Mrs. M. A. Patterson entertained the members of the Young Married Woman's Club Friday. Cut flowers were used to brighten the various rooms, and the afternoon was passed in needlework. During the afternoon refreshments were served. Among the guests present were Victor Skiles, Mrs. T. J. Meagher, Mrs. John Adair Pebbles, Mrs. William Turner, Mrs. Floyd Reed, Mrs. Lord, Mrs. Elmer Jordan, Mrs. Harry Flower, Mrs. Clyde Morrow, Mrs. R. Showalter and Mrs. Dan Kelty. This club was entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Floyd Reed, No. 332 Adams street.

A. D. Smith was agreeably surprised Saturday by a number of friends, who had been invited to the Smith home by Mrs. Smith and Miss Dorothy Smith. The affair was to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mr. Smith. Games were played and music was enjoyed during the afternoon, and refreshments were served. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nay and daughter, Vivian, Mr. and Mrs. W. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. John Baum and son, Fredrick, Mrs. S. F. LaMonte and Mrs. Lawrence Smith.

Casa Verdugo.

MRS. J. W. TUNKES and Mrs. Cornelius Tunkes and little Master David Tunkes of Lincoln place were the guests of Mrs. Martin Tunkes, Glendale, Tuesday.

Mrs. Harriett Wells of Glendale was entertained for two days this week by Mrs. Andrew Robertson.

Mrs. Watts entertained the Casa Verdugo Embroidery Club at her home, on Friday afternoon. The club is limited to ten members, and the afternoon was spent in social chat and needlework.

Miss Gertrude Lofthouse and Tom H. Lofthouse, Los Angeles, were the guests of Miss Ethel B. Land Friday evening.

Monday evening Miss Elizabeth Lange will entertain the "St. Margaret" girls complimentary to Miss Roberta Rand, their retiring secretary, who will soon leave Glendale. Miss Ethel Land was elected secretary of the guild to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Rand's resignation.

Miss Nellie Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barnett, has returned home after having spent several months in San Francisco.

Laurel Canyon.

MRS. CHARLES F. NORTON had as her house guest over the week end Mrs. J. B. Nabors of No. 918 Kingsley drive, Los Angeles, and on Saturday evening J. B. Nabors. Clarence Nabors and Miss Ann and William Hultz, Miss Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Withers and Miss Christine Withers motored out from the city and enjoyed the evening dancing.

Mrs. L. A. Newman and Mrs. J. W. Park attended the reciprocity day programme of the Monrovia Woman's Club on Wednesday.

A most enjoyable luncheon and five hundred party was given on Thursday by Mrs. F. M. Rublee, Jr. The decorations were pink Killarney roses that were not more delicately tinted than the cheeks of Baby Helen, who presented the prizes to Mrs. E. C. Comer of Hollywood and Mrs. J. W. Park. The ladies who enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Rublee other than those winning prizes were: Mmes. N. W. Goodman, C. F. Norton, F. M. Price, C. S. Mann, H. M. Boehner, J. A. Matthews, Gerald Tully, D. M. Small, K. V. Redpath, F. J. Ephlin and R. D. Vercher.

Two of the most happily appointed social affairs of the season were those given on Friday and Saturday evenings of last week, when Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Barnett entertained with cards on the former and dacning on the latter evening. Both parties were held in Bungalow Inn and the parlor and dining-room were gay with many blossoms of rich red carnations and trailing plumosus. Steward's orchestra furnished delightful music. The prizes for five hundred were won by Mrs. F. M. Price and J. W. Park, and consolation was given Mrs. Gerald Tully and C. F. Norton. A delicious midnight supper was served on each evening and the guest list included Messrs. and Mmes. L. B. Webster, Peter Young and W. G. Young, Hollywood; Messrs. and Mmes. William Garzy, Guy Hufford, J. W. Carpenter and J. B. Nabors of Los Angeles, and Messrs. and Mmes. Don Porter, H. V. Platt, G. Tully, J. H. Pomeroy, D. M. Small, K. V. Redpath, F. J. Ephlin, R. D. Vercher, J. W. Park, E. W. Kidder, L. A. Newman, F. M. Price, C. S. Mann, C. F. Norton, N. W. Goodman, F. M. Rublee and J. A. Matthews and Mrs. H. M. Boehner.

Miss Virginia Platt entertained Miss Ruth Mizner and Miss Virginia Baldwin as house guests during the early part of the week.

Inglewood.

NOTABLE among the events of the week in Inglewood was that of Monday evening, when, in the club and lodgerooms of the Masonic building, Masons, Eastern Stars and their invited guests assembled to witness the installation of the officers of Inglewood Lodge. Deputy Grand Master E. B. Spencer of Los Angeles was the installing officer, and he was assisted by Past Master Sanborn of Hollenbeck Lodge, Los Angeles, who served as Master of Ceremonies.

A quiet, but pretty wedding, was that which occurred Monday in Los Angeles, when Miss Velma Allen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Allen of Queen street, Inglewood, became the bride of Harry H. Janes of Los Angeles. The marriage was solemnized in the Second Presbyterian Church, and the marriage lines were read by Rev. E. L. B. McClellan in the presence of the relatives of the contracting parties.

Mrs. H. M. Ostrander and Miss Minnie Stiles of Plattsburg, N. Y., who have taken a cottage at Redondo Beach for a couple of weeks, entertained Wednesday evening at that place a party of Inglewood friends at a dinner, which was followed by Five Hundred.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wells returned Tuesday from a two weeks' visit to their ranch near Acton, this State.

Mrs. Emma Brown of Augusta, Me., arrived Sunday, and is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. S. Hudson of Market street.

Mrs. A. C. Buffington and Mrs. Eames were the hostesses Wednesday afternoon at a social tea in the parlors of the First Presbyterian Church.

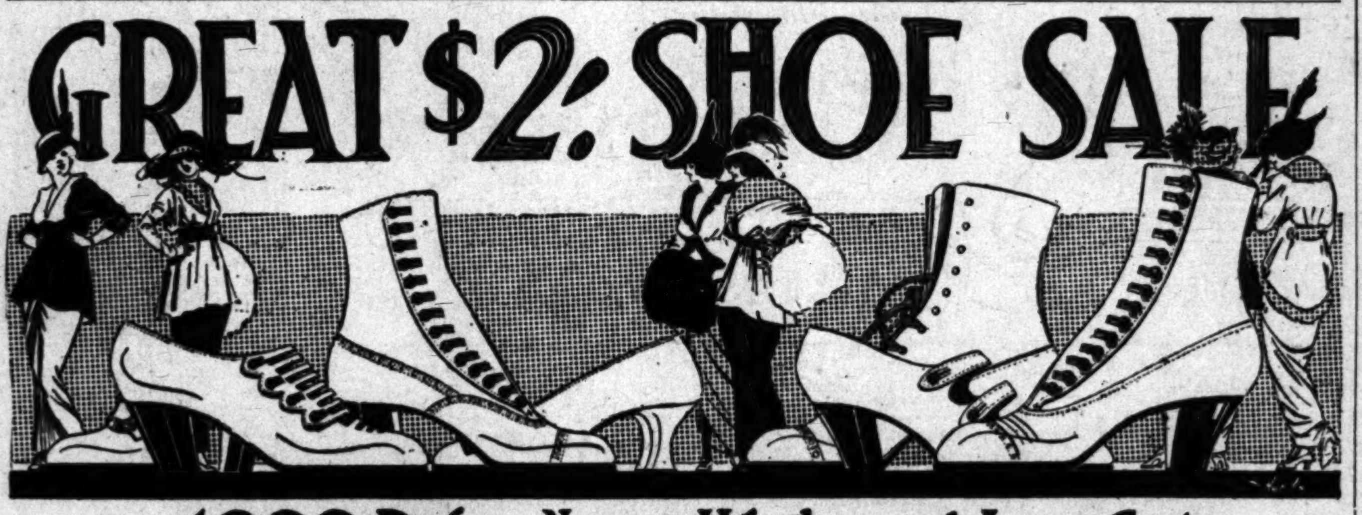
GREAT $2: SHOE SALE



4000 Pairs - New - High and Low Cuts
$2.50 to $4.00 Values - nearly all Perfect

—Here's the great February Shoe event for which you've been waiting—The Broadway's $2 Shoe Sale.
—A sale that for value-giving would be hard to duplicate.
—In the first place there are 4000 pairs of new High and Low Shoes, the major portion of which are absolutely perfect.
—This sale is the result of a special Eastern trip on the part of our shoe buyer, who visited the best factories and secured great quantities of their countermand orders, floor lots and some few factory damaged.
—Countermands mean orders that were made up for certain retail stores and for some trade reason or other were not shipped.
—The dealer may have failed, the shipment may have been delayed so that it was canceled, or the specifications may not have been satisfactory to the retailer.
—That makes these shoes are really worth their $2.50 to $4 values—we buy them under price, consequently we are able to offer you the great opportunity of buying them at $2 a pair. The manufacturers are taking the loss.

Additional Floor Space Will Be Given Over to this Sale on the Basement Balcony

—This will be necessary in order to take care of the crowds that will be sure to attend this event, for these $2 Shoe Sales of the Broadway are noted throughout Southern California.
—The sale was planned months ago and we assure you you'll be delighted with the splendid styles that are assembled. Shoes that will be right up to date for spring and summer wear. Hundreds of low pumps, slipper effects for street or evening wear.
—Oxfords or High Shoes, Colonials galore, also Mary Janes and Baby Doll Boots.
—Satin Evening Slippers in white and colors. High and low shoes of satin, velvet, champagne kid, tans, patent leathers, high strapped boots, gunmetals and white nubucks.
—See the big window display. Be on hand early Monday. Come direct to the Basement Balcony, half a floor below the regular Shoe Department. Plenty of sizes in nearly every style. All the low shoes are perfect. Some of the high shoes are factory imperfects.

THE HOUSE OF PERFECT DIAMONDS

437—441 BROADWAY

SOCIETY.

Washington avenue. The guests are recent arrivals from the East.

H. A. Sutton of Indianola, Iowa, returned to his home Tuesday after a visit at the home of his son-in-law, C. M. Hadley.

G. W. Priestly and family have returned to Whittier after a year's absence, and are occupying their home on Earlham drive.

Robert Chambers, Mrs. Chambers and daughter, recently arrived from Bennett, Neb., and are guests of the B. F. Chambers home in East Whittier.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McMechan of Ohio have terminated a visit at the home of the gentleman's brother, Roy McMechan, of South Washington avenue, and returned to their eastern home.

Prof. and Mrs. S. R. Fitz of Garden Grove were Sunday guests of Whittier friends.

Edward Smith of Portland, Or., is a recent arrival, and is a guest in the Jesse Butler home on South Friends avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Woolard of South Comstock avenue returned Tuesday from an extended visit with friends in Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Janeway of Tulsa, Oklahoma, were visitors in Whittier Tuesday.

A hunting party composed of James Miller, Misses Katherine Miller, Mary Miller and Mrs. W. G. Keyes returned from Elizabeth Lake early in the week.

Mrs. D. R. Williams of Lindsay is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hussey.

Mrs. George Gilbert of Lindsay visited here Thursday. Mrs. Gilbert formerly resided here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rideout entertained the members of the Cozy Club Wednesday evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Filpot, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Stoddard, Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons.

Mrs. John Neal went to Pomona Wednesday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Neal.

Santa Ana.

ONE of the prettiest of the series of parties being given by Mrs. Roscoe Whitted was a progressive whist given Wednesday night at her South Main street home. The very air of spring was achieved by the use of exquisite peach blossoms in the charming parlors and the employment of feathery acacia in the dining-room. Fragrant pink sweet peas still further enhanced the Spring-like effect, the dainty flowers being massed in small pink bowls on the refreshment tables. Confections moulded as sweet peas topped the individual ices. First prize-winners in the whist games were Mrs. Walter Vandemast and William Malone, second prizes going to Mrs. Charles Kelley and John W. Tubbs, with Mrs. Malone and County Auditor Cal Lester taking the consolation trophies.

Waited on by the attractive young ladies of the church, entertained with harmonious melodies rendered by the Sunday-school orchestra, directed by Prof. Francis Haynes, and seated at a beautifully appointed and decorated table on which was served a bountiful turkey dinner, 200 men of the First Methodist Church considered themselves most fortunate individuals last Tuesday evening. They were the guests of the women of the church and the immense dining-room of the church was brilliantly aglow with flowers and lights for the event. Dr. Ryland, president of the Los Angeles Church Federation, was a guest of honor and made a brilliant talk on "Playing the Game." After-dinner toasts under the efficient direction of Rev. E. J. Inwood, pastor of the church, were responded to by S. M. Davis, Charles Heil and E. M. McMath, principal of Polytechnic High School. The event was one of the most successful in the social annals of the church for the year.

The Ebell Society of the Santa Ana Valley was delightfully entertained at Saturday's meeting by Mrs. Lillian Guinn Stark's reading of August Strindberg's "Lucky Pehr." Mrs. Stark is one of San Francisco's most popular dramatic readers. Besides the entertainment features of the afternoon, the matter of a clubhouse to be built on the valuable lot owned in Santa Ana by the club, was announced as the topic of discussion at the next meeting. Ebell President Mrs. A. J. Lawton gave a brief outline of the possibilities following the building of a clubhouse. Saturday's meeting was marked by an almost full attendance of the membership of nearly 400.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Crose of No. 301 Cypress avenue were hosts on Saturday night week with a dinner party followed by music and merry old-fashioned games. A rich color scheme of red was carried out in gorgeous poinsettias and fragrant carnations. Nut cups and candles were in the same vivid tint. Electric lights used during the dinner were turned off after the final course, and the flame-colored candles were lighted for the toasting of marshmallows. Mrs. Crose was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. F. C. Rowland, and the Misses Crose and Cranston. The dinner guests were City Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. J. A. Cranston, Messrs. and Mmes. Charles S. Kendall, H. H. Reeves, Arthur Pease, George Balderston, L. J. Carden, W. H. Crose, Jack Crose.

Cardinal and white, high school colors, were seen in house and table decorations on Friday evening at the dinner given by Miss Louise Grubb, the charming eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lloyd Grubb at the family home on Edgewood drive. Miss Grubb's dinner was given in honor of the debating club of the high school with Miss Kistler, the coach, and Raymond Atkinson, president of the high school student body, as special guests. Toasts were given to both of these. A short novelette writing contest was featured during the evening with Miss Kistler winning honors. Mrs. Grubb assisted her daughter in entertaining and Miss Virginia Metzgar and Miss Mary Grubb served at dinner.

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Kennedy of Pittsburgh, Pa., were the central figures in a delightful reception accorded them Monday night by the congregation of the United Presbyterian Church over the destinies of which Rev. Mr. Kennedy will preside as pastor. More than 200 persons joined in welcoming the new pastor and his wife, and addresses of welcome from the various societies of the church and the pastors of the other churches of the city were given with happy responses from both Rev. Mr. Kennedy and his wife. A programme of music and recitations was followed

IF KIDNEYS FEEL LIKE LEAD OR YOUR BACK HURTS, TAKE SALTS

We eat too much meat, which clogs Kidneys, and they need a flushing occasionally.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. Agents, Sun Drug Company.—[Advertisement.

Anaheim.

ONE of the most beautifully-appointed weddings of the season was that of Miss Rose Blanchard Cassou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cassou of this city, and Leonard Hessel on Tuesday. The service was read at the hour of 10 by Rev. F. J. Dubbel at the St. Boniface Church. The bride was attired in a charming creation of white satin charmeuse and carried a shower bouquet of lily of the valley and maidenhair fern. After the service a delightful wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother. Later Mr. and Mrs. Hessel departed for a trip, after which they will occupy the pretty bungalow that awaits them on Helena street.

An enjoyable function of the week was a dance given by the Twilight Club on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Champion have as house guests Mr. and Mrs. Howard V. Elliott of Pasadena. They will remain over the week-end.

The Ebell Club met at the clubrooms on Saturday afternoon and a very pleasing programme was arranged for the ladies. Mrs. Watson of Hollywood was present and gave an interesting talk on Gen. Lew Wallace and his works. Miss Ines Elliott was the soloist of the afternoon.

A unique dancing party was given by the Jolly Bachelors' Club on Friday evening at the K. of C. Hall. The eighteen youthful bachelors, all High School students, proved themselves to be splendid hosts and their dances are very popular with the younger set.

Raymond Elliott spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Frank Champion. This being the midwinter vacation he will remain a few days before returning to resume his studies at Pomona College.

Mrs. Joseph Key entertained with a house party Saturday at her charming country home in honor of her daughter, Miss Charlott's, birthday anniversary. Among the out-of-town guests present were the Misses May Smith and Lena Jaycox of Pasadena, Miss Bertha McKay of Alhambra, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brown of Santa Ana, George McKay of Alhambra, Miss Katherine Goldie of Buena Park, and Willis Cornwell. The house was prettily decorated with a profusion of violets and ferns.

Under the auspices of the student body the Pomona College Glee Club was heard at the Anaheim High School Thursday evening.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hungar entertained with a dinner at her home on South Kroeger street Wednesday evening. Covers were laid for fourteen.

Corona.

MRS. GRANT PHILLIPS has returned home from Covina where she has been spending the past two weeks visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Birdsall are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Himmelrich of Alberta, Canada. The visitors have been touring the State and have decided to make California their home.

Miss Kate Hackney of San Pedro spent the first of the week visiting her sister, Mrs. Ed Cunningham, on Kellog avenue.

Mrs. Ralph Feurborn and son, also Mrs. Feurborn's father, A. Brown, arrived here Monday evening from Louisville, Ky. The former has been visiting at her old home in Kentucky and the latter is here on a combined business and pleasure trip. He will spend some time in Los Angeles before his return.

Mrs. Perin Shirley of Cleveland, O., arrived in Corona Monday to spend the winter with her mother, Mrs. E. M. Alderman. Mrs. Shirley comes to California to visit her mother every other year and a brother comes to spend the winter with his mother in between.

Miss Melton and Miss Marion Kimmell, both of Pasadena, were week-end guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Root. Miss Melton and Mrs. Root were at one time associated as teachers in the Arizona schools.

Mrs. O. M. Grizzle of San Luis Obispo, but formerly of this city is here visiting friends and relatives for a couple of weeks.

Allan Fraser, a broker of Los Angeles, is here on a visit to his mother, Mrs. Mary Fraser, on Howard street.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Culpepper of Boise City Idaho, arrived in Corona on Wednesday on a visit to Mrs. R. A. Martin, who is a sister of Mr. Culpepper. Mr. and Mrs. Culpepper are very much pleased with what they have seen of Corona and have about decided to locate here permanently.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Nash and Mrs. Grace McGaughey of Rialto were here the first of the week visiting at home of Mrs. J. P. Rice on Ramona avenue.

Mrs. Earle MacDonald of Riverside spent the first of the week visiting her sister, Mrs. T. A. Fraser.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Egger of San Jacinto motored to this city Sunday to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ceremony.

Mrs. Perle Glass is spending the week at the home of her mother in Westminster. She expects to return Monday.

Mrs. D. W. Glenn is spending a few days in Los Angeles visiting old friends, who are recent arrivals from the East.

Mrs. W. H. Jameson entertained a number of her friends Thursday at luncheon at her beautiful Grand-boulevard home in honor of Miss Minnie Jameson, who is here from New Jersey spending the winter. Those to enjoy the occasion were Mrs. T. C. Sias and mother, Mrs. A. Sackriden, Mrs. R. E. Blickhahn, Miss Anna Platt, Miss Stella Platt, Miss Lillian Lewis, Miss Minnie Jameson, Mrs. T. C. Jameson, Mrs. H. H. Case, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds, Mrs. F. B. Miller, Mrs. A. W. Bates and Mrs. W. J. Rudesill.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Murray and two daughters have returned from an extended auto trip from the northern part of the State. They have been gone about two weeks and during that time they visited all points of interest between here and San Francisco.

Charles Worthingham has returned from Porterville, where he has been for several weeks.

Venice.

MANY eastern guests are domiciled at the St. Mark this month, and are taking a large part in the social activities of Venice; lunches, card parties, and balls are making the time pass very pleasantly for the winter guests, and at no time has the beach been more gay and entertaining.

Miss Helen Mize of Ohio is among the eastern visitors, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Mize, No. 10 Florence avenue. The young people on the beach are making the visit of the pretty Ohioan a pleasant one, and several smart affairs have been planned in her honor.

Miss Lillian Adams of No. 740 Marco place entertained her friends with a matinee musicale Saturday afternoon. About fifty guests enjoyed the music and the dainty refreshments served afterwards.

P. M. Bond, treasurer of the Scientific American compiling department of New York City, is a guest of C. M. Binford of the King George Hotel.

A number of Venice residents, formerly from North Dakota, went to Los Angeles Saturday to attend the Southern California North Dakota Association picnic held at Sycamore Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Downes, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wild and Miss Swan were among the guests at a seven-course dinner at the Venice Gun Club last Sunday evening. Hugh Walter was host.

Miss Edith Myers returned this week from a ten-day visit with friends.

In honor of Mrs. Newton of New York City, Mrs. N. Van Brunt entertained at a bridge luncheon Tuesday. The beautiful home on Clubhouse avenue was turned over to florist and decorator, and long-stemmed American Beauty roses and violets vied in beauty with Lady Hillington roses and golden acacia. Tiny rosebuds on tiny tulle tied baskets marked the places for twenty guests. Airy-winged butterflies lighting on the flowers gave the table the appearance of an exquisite garden.

L. D. Hunter of Los Angeles is a guest at the King George Hotel.

Santa Monica.

MRS. C. A. SWEET of Cambridge street, Santa Monica, entertained Chapter "R," P.E.O., Friday. The chapter is at present deeply interested in the study of California, ancient, medieval and modern, and the programme was one of the most interesting of the year. A two-course luncheon was served.

The political science class of the Santa Monica Bay Woman's Club, which has for its object the delving into the fundamentals of government, met with Mrs. Harry J. Slater on Tuesday. The Constitution with its amendments and a peep into the forms and kind of political government was the order of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dubbs of the Palisades have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ethel, to Daley G. Beris of Los Angeles. The announcement was made at a quiet little family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dubbs in Los Angeles.

Mayor T. H. Dudley represented the Santa Monica banks and H. J. Englebrecht the Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce at the dinner, given at the Hotel Raymond, Wednesday night, for William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury and David F. Houston, Secretary of Agriculture.

Mrs. W. F. Thurston of this city took charge of the regular meeting of the Book Committee of the Friday Morning Club this past week.

Ocean Park.

A LARGE dinner party presided over by Mrs. D. King of the Edmund Hotel, took place at the Parker apartments last evening. Mrs. King gathered together her best friends and guests of the hotel and gave them a real home-cooked dinner, a treat which was greatly enjoyed by them as a change from cafe and hotel life.

Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Nutting and daughters, Miss Marjorie and Miss Helen, gave a select little dinner party at their home on Ocean Front, Friday. Their guests, all from Los Angeles, were Miss Clara Fowler, Miss Edith Fair, Mr. Davis, Mr. Hines, Mr. Forden and Mr. Eaton.

Mrs. Frank Barron, No. 121 Wavecrest avenue, will leave soon for a visit of several weeks in the East. Mrs. Barran said her au revoirs at a dinner party at her home last night. Table decorations were violets and narcissus with corsage bouquets of the same and place cards of dainty baskets of bonbons.

The winter season is gay and festive at the Parker apartments. Wednesday afternoon Mrs. T. Spellacy gave an auction party to a number of her friends.

Mrs. H. L. Gruber will take a party to the valentine ball at the Ocean Park pavilion. The dance is to be held under the auspices of the Santa Monica Bay Woman's Club and they are all anticipating taking part in the tango, hesitation, one-step and other new dances to be enjoyed.

A great deal of interest centers around the near date opening of the Merritt Jones Hotel, Ocean Park. While nothing very definite is out for publication, as yet, the opening promises to be one of the big social events of the season. The business women of Ocean Park are planning for a big dinner dance and already the big new hostelry is taking its place in the exclusive society affairs of the beach city.

Huntington Beach.

THE dance of the Racquet Club at the Huntington Inn on Saturday evening was among the most enjoyable of the affairs given by the young people. The newest dances were featured and the orchestra was made up of members of the club. Those attending were Misses Leona Mudgett, Irene Parsons, Margaret Metcalfe,

A missionary tea for the ladies of the Congregational Church was given by Mrs. C. M. Hill at her home on Center street. Mrs. H. H. Linville had charge of a splendid programme, after which a social hour was enjoyed and delicious refreshments served.

Brawley.

"COME on and rag" was the informal invitation given to a large number of the young people Thursday evening by Mrs. H. L. Fulton. There were many who responded and for several hours ragging was enjoyed. Those not caring to dance whiled away the evening with cards. Refreshments were served cafeteria style in the kitchen. These informal affairs are always pleasant and this one by Mrs. Fulton was no exception.

Miss Minnie Hartzell, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Walker for several weeks, has returned to her home in Oklahoma.

Mrs. L. L. Lindsey and daughter, who have been visiting in Los Angeles, have returned to their home in Brawley.

The Entre Nous Club held a jollification at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Laughrin Friday evening. The club went out to the ranch on a hay rack and enjoyed one of the delightful evenings for which this club is noted.

Mrs. Philo Jones entertained the ladies of the First Methodist Episcopal Church at her home Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. T. O'Brien entertained the Woman's Club of Brawley at her home Saturday afternoon, when Dr. Louise Harvey Clarke was guest of honor.

After a pleasant visit of several weeks as the guest of her sister, Mrs. George E. Krueger, Mrs. Gus S. Berry left for her home in San Francisco.

Elsinore.

NOVEL and delightful was the slumber party which the Aloha Club young women gave Friday evening in the McDonald house. Mmes. Delbert Crane, G. G. Willsey, H. D. Clever and Robert H. Kirkpatrick chaperoned the party, others present being Misses Fannie Lancing, Helen Welch, Jessie Green, Mattie Himes, Ella Anderson, Ruth Frothingham, Wavia and Pearl McComber, Hazel Brown, Cecele Burton and Mrs. H. J. Wambold. An elaborate dinner was served, after which the merry crowd sang, played upon stringed instruments, told stories and enjoyed a general good time. Miss Jessie Green was elected president and Miss Beatrice Clark secretary and treasurer of the club. Miss Ella Drake will entertain the club Saturday afternoon.

The Art and Travel Study Club met Monday evening at the studio of Miss Ella Drake, and listened to an interesting talk on early Florentine history and the Medici family, by Rev. William Miedema; a paper on early Italian art and artists by Mrs. Hoagland and a talk on the art galleries of Florence by Miss Drake, from notes taken while studying there. Miss Ruth Frothingham played the "Scarf Dance" and a lullaby. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gyger entertained the Elsinore Valley Whist Club Friday evening, an oyster supper being served after cards. Mrs. N. L. Dickson and James A. Crane won first prize, and Mrs. J. A. Crane and Oscar Ray the consolation.

J. K. Armstrong of Seattle, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Kuhns and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Kirkpatrick, has gone to Los Angeles to locate. Mrs. Armstrong will remain in Elsinore for a few more days before joining her husband in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Keith and party have returned from an extended trip to Long Beach and other coast cities.

F. R. Schanck was in Elsinore for a short time recently, en route from Arzona to his home in Pasadena. He is a graduate of the Elsinore High School and of Stanford and is a civil engineer.

Frank Niemann returned Wednesday from Redlands University and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Neimann of Elsinore, will spend a few days in Los Angeles.

Mrs. William Friedman and Mrs. Hall of Temescal were recent guests of Mrs. A. D. Burnham of Graham avenue.

Mrs. Frances E. Marsh went to Los Nietos Wednesday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Earl McClintock.

Orange.

AN INTERESTING event of Tuesday was a luncheon given by Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Smith at which the guests of honor were John Paine, daughter and grand-daughter, of Monmouth, Ill., who are visiting at the Smith home, but where all others seated at the table were men and women identified with the history of the late Civil War. Among these were Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Cuthbert of Long Beach, and Dr. and Mrs. I. D. Mills of Santa Ana. Dr. Cuthbert was the regimental surgeon of the Eighty-third Illinois Volunteers and Mrs. Mills was a nurse in the same regiment. The host was also a member of the Eighty-third, as were a number of the other guests. The day was especially interesting to the veterans, it being the anniversary of the date on which the last battle of Fort Donelson was fought, a battle in which these veterans participated. Reminiscences took the gray-haired veterans and their companions back over time's track of fifty years with memories of many of their brave comrades who have dropped along the way, including Walter Paine of Orange and R. D Russell of Claremont, resting now in the "shade of the trees."

Mr. and Mrs. August Dusin, recently returning from a wedding trip, were surprised in their handsome new home on North Orange and Walnut avenues by a company which initiated a merry evening with a charivari serenade. The good-natured bride and groom invited their unbidden but welcome guests into the attractive parlors and an evening of music and recitations followed. The serenading party was entertained with delicious refreshments by the host and hostess, who were felicitated upon their marriage and their delightful home. Those entertained were Messrs. and Mmes C. Habener, Fred Truempler, John Veeh, L. Gunther, Goldman, Schubert, Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Truempler and daughters, Vida and Clara; Mmes. Hettig, Bortz, Lane, Mesencamp, Hamman, Barkhau, Mack; Miss Lydia Bortz and Elmer Gunther.

W. O. Hart, basketball coach and, incidentally, editor of the Orange Daily News, was surprised on Monday evening when a few of the members of the High School basketball team, headed by the invincible Bierwagon, descended on his home, taking with them a valuable sectional bookcase wherein to treasure his literary belongings. Mr. Hart hospitably entertained his visitors with the best the larder afforded, and a pleasant evening followed. His guests were Messrs Potter, Watson, Park, Spotts and Bierwagon.

Mrs. Marshall Lush opened her home on North Center street on Monday afternoon for a dainty party given in honor of the fifth birthday of her little daughter Helen. A group of tiny Miss Helen's friends were entertained with pleasant games, and refreshments made up of the goodies dear to the small child. The juvenile guests were Muriel and Norman Smith, Nyra Hagen, Hal Huff, Thelma Jackson, Edyth Lush, Elaine Smith, Lucille Crashaw, Jane Elijah.

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD--CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headaches Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head, or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages, stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed, nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing, but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. Agents, Sun Drug Co.

Azusa.

MRS. E. C. THOMAS was a guest of Mrs. Don Petty this week.

The Azusa Dinner Club met on Wednesday evening at the home of Dr. Chamberlain in Glendora.

Mr. and Mrs. Conwell Smith motored to Cucamonga Sunday and were guests of Charles La Verte.

A Suit Selling Event $22.50

250 New Spring Suits, Values to $35 ....

Here's real value-giving, at the time of year when most stores are not considering the giving of extra values. A line of new arrivals in smart Spring worsteds, stripes, serges, and fancy mixtures, tailored throughout with a degree of excellence that you expect in Paris Store garments. Note, please, that the actual values of these are as high as $35.

And the Smartest, Newest Taffeta Dresses (Just 50) $15

They're Worth Up to $25

There is such a wonderful variety in the style of these that it is impossible to describe them properly in this limited space. Let it suffice therefore, to say that there are all of the newer colorings and all of the smarter styles, that the big city of the Seine is stamping with her approval. And note the values.

Sale of $35 Coats Monday, $13.50

Practically, our entire line of erect pile fabric coats, including smart, newer effects in moleskin and in plush, has been placed in this tremendous coat selling event for Monday. Motor coats also are included and the sale in a whole is one no woman who wishes a $35 coat can afford to miss.

Hat Special, $8.50 Values for $4.75

An unusual sale as the result of a very unusual purchase of hats. Most of them samples. These were made to sell for $8.50 to $9.00, and strongly evidenced among them you'll find the new models in the tango shades, the new greens, the later colorings in brown, and the ever popular black and whites.

Waist Special, $2.50

These are in voile or batiste. They are made with either high or low collars. The sleeves and shoulders and every line of the waist partake of the very latest fashionable ideas. They are elaborately lace-trimmed and they form as strong a waist bargain as we have ever offered.

Waist Special, $5.00

We doubt if you can duplicate these waists in any other store under $10, for value in the material or for merit in the making. They are in all of the light fancy colorings, in silk, crepe de chine and cotton crepe. There are satin stripe and plain stripe effects, and there are solid colors as well.

Special Sale of $5.00 Fitted Top, All Jersey, Silk Petticoats at $3.75

We Are Painless Dentists

And yet there are people who go to their dentist, wait in an agony of apprehension for their call to his chair, and sit in justified fear and trembling while he probes and grinds and cleans and scours and hurts, hurts, HURTS! Simply because they have not been made to appreciate to the full how absolutely unnecessary is any pain. Yale Dentists, 444 S. Broadway, 3rd Floor, Parmelee-Dohrmann Bldg.

WE ARE MAKING

a special offer on a $6.00 set of teeth that we know cannot be equaled elsewhere under $12.00. We know it so well that we are willing to make you this proposition—bring us a sample of ANY dentist's $12.00 set of teeth and we will duplicate it for $6.00, or make you a $12.00 set free.

A Woman's Glory Is Her Beauty

What Science Has Done for Beauty; Remarkable Changes for Womankind Accomplished In Recent Years

Beauty is within every woman's reach. That is a scientific fact so widely demonstrated today that the art of cultivating good looks has become the special study of eminent men in many countries. Nature intended that all women should have an attractive appearance. Only the habitual neglect of woman has brought the defects often so apparent in the personal apperance of the sex. It is a shock to a man to see a woman with an excellent figure whose face is deficient in beauty, or a woman with the face of an angel whose figure shows glaring defects.

Women used to accept all these shortcomings as a matter of course, but thanks to the skill and science of a few able men, a revolution has come over the matter of female beauty, and no woman need to despair.

Every woman wants to look well—should look well. A comely woman is the pride of her husband, her brother.

To those unacquainted with the method this may seem a broad statement, but we are prepared to prove it by the same men and women whose appearance speaks for itself.

Our method has created a genuine sensation here and abroad, and in this city, by entirely restoring the youthful appearance in a number of bad cases of long standing after all else had failed, and they were given up as hopeless. If you have wasted your time and money using massage creams, rollers, plasters, etc., this method will prove a revelation to you, and we want you to test it and judge for yourself. Here's what it will do:

It Makes Old Faces Young.

Removes All Lines and Wrinkles.

Corrects a Flabby or Withered Skin.

Makes Thin Faces Plump.

Fills Out Hollow Cheeks.

By our wonderful achievement the following facial disadvantages can be immediately overcome. Don't say "it can't be done," for it can, if you select the right place. Call or write.

A. A. Span, Manager and Director.

He Corrects: Sagging Cheeks, Protruding Ears, Mouth Corners, Flabby Necks, Baggy Chins, Fallen Brows, Hollow Cheeks.

He Removes: Ugly Frown Lines, Mouth-to-Nose Lines, Flabby Eyelids, Crowsfeet, Pock Pittings, Hump Noses, Scars, Scars, Pimples, Birthmarks, Moles, Warts, Veins, Superfluous Hair, Red Nose, Blotches.

If you cannot call, write. Many conditions can be corrected in one visit. It costs you nothing to find out. All answers sent in plain sealed envelope. Address

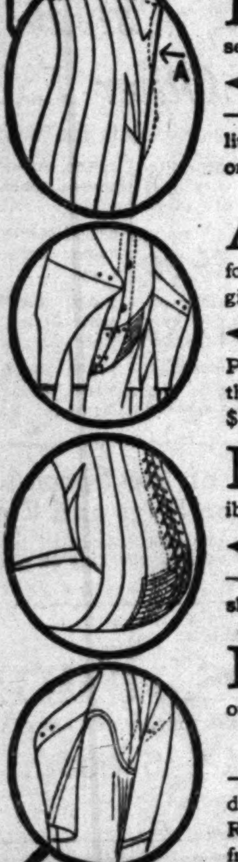
Nemo Corsets BRING FASHION INTO HARMONY WITH STYLE

NEMO CORSETS are in a class alone, and must be considered entirely apart from all others. The exclusive and unequaled style and comfort of the Nemo is due to the many patented Nemo inventions and devices which all other corsets lack. Each has its purpose, and does something for you that NO OTHER corset can do. For example:



FREE BREATHING, relief from all pressure or "digging in" of even a "topless" corset, is secured by the ingenious—

←NEMO "BRIDGE" CONSTRUCTION

—one of the greatest Nemo features, yet one but little known. No Nemo ever causes pain by pressing on the gastric region. Used in ALL Nemo Corsets.

A MULTITUDE of physicians are now prescribing Nemo Corsets No. 522 and 523, at $5.00, for patients requiring the perfect abdominal support given by the

←NEMO LASTIKOPS BANDLET

Produces a stylish figure and gives better support than the best separate abdominal band that costs $10 to $15.

MODISH long corsets are uncomfortable and unhealthful unless the skirts are made flexible. This is done by the —deep back-gores of semi-elastic Lastikops Cloth, as shown. Used in a dozen Nemo models from $3.50 up.

←NEMO LASTICURVE-BACK

EVERY woman wants her long corset to fit snugly, yet spread easily, and not to ride up or show through a thin gown. The new

NEMO DUPLEX REDUCING BANDS→

MRS. J. P. M'PHIE, a sister of Prescott F. Cogswell, and daughters, Dorothy and Mary are guests of the Cogswell family at their Mt. View home. They reside in Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. Edith O'Neil of Toronto, Can., is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Charlesworth, and will remain for several months.

An unusually interesting programme was given Tuesday at the Shakespeare Clubhouse. A roll call consisting of a favorite recipe was met with a hearty and enthusiastic response and note books and pencils were much in evidence. Following the roll call of the travel story of Peru was made most interesting and instructive by Mrs. Grace Williams, who spent several years in that most fascinating of South American countries. Tea was served and a pleasant social hour followed the programme.

The Church Federation held an interesting session on Monday night. Among other important plans proposed and adopted was one for increasing the attendance and efficiency of the Sabbath-schools of the town by a competitive canvass of the town for members.

Mrs. E. A. Farrington attended the meeting of Eschscholtzia Chapter of the D.A.R. in Los Angeles Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood and Miss Jennie Perry were dinner guests of the Farrington family on Saturday evening.

MRS. JOHN C. WALKER entertained recently in the afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. Harry Bovee, who is visiting her from Canada. The house was beautifully decorated in yellow acacia and smilax. There were thirty-six guests present and a pleasant afternoon was spent in playing Five Hundred, Mrs. Elmer W. Hart winning the prize. The color scheme of yellow was carried out in the refreshments also. Each table was lighted with yellow candelabra and a delicious two-course luncheon was served. The guests present were Mmes. W. A. Johnstone, B. H. McCurdy, R. W. Teague, H. E. Walker, E. H. Bixby, Frank McLean, T. R. Hobbs, O. S. Tillman, C. L. Compton, H. E. Howard, Hadyn H. Jones, R. M. Brown, William Smith, Samuel Jewell, Miss Emma Hawks, Misses Vivian Faulder, Lucile Findlay, Bernice Mills of Seattle, and Mrs. John Findlay of Pomona.

Mrs. E. A. Spencer entertained the Rev. and Mrs. Stickle at a beautifully appointed "orange luncheon" last Saturday, at her charming home on Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. Argus Fugate entertained at dinner last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Fugate and Sergt. James B. Fugate.

Mrs. E. W. Hart entertained at luncheon last Wednesday in honor of Mrs. H. A. Brown and her daughter, Mrs. Fred Reynolds of Pomona. A few San Dimas ladies were also guests.

Last Monday the meeting of the Study Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hart with Mrs. Lucien S. Taylor as leader, was probably the most interesting ever held by the club. Mrs. C. DeWitt read a paper on French art, from its beginning down to the nineteenth century. Mrs. W. A. Johnstone gave one on Gobelin tapestry; Mrs. Tillman one on the twelve famous pictures in the world's history, and Mrs. E. W. Hart, one on French porcelain. Each paper had been most carefully and intelligently prepared by the reader and was a most comprehensive review of the subject. Next Monday the club will meet at Miss Emma Hawks's, with Mrs. Dewitt as leader.

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. George Yarbrough was the scene of a most enjoyable affair on last Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Yarbrough are noted for their dinners, and this occasion but added to the list of happy times at their lovely ranch home. During the evening some of the guests were called upon to entertain with readings and music, and they responded most graciously. Donald DeWitt gave several numbers on the piano, including selections from MacDowell, Grieg, Chopin and Beethoven. Miss Mary Huntington rendered a number of beautiful songs. Rev. Lawless gave readings from Clarence H. Doty, Alice Cary, Sam Walter Foss and Paul Lawrence Dunbar. The delicious repast, the perfect sociability and the artistic programme rendered made an evening never to be forgotten by the favored guests. The guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Tillman and sons, Rev. John N. Lawless, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton DeWitt and sons, Miss Mary Huntington and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davenport.

At mid-week a luncheon was given by Mrs. J. M. Whitsel, assisted by her sister, Miss Myra Whitsel. The decorations were in yellow and white, acacia being used in profusion. The guests included Mrs. D. J. Osborn, Mrs. Vermont Baugh of Whittier, Mrs. J. J. Morgan, Mrs. J. D. Reed, Mrs. W. B. Nye, Mrs. W. M. Griswold of Covina.

Rialto.

THE members and guests of the Rialto Woman's Club assembled Wednesday afternoon for the annual art day. Several important business matters were disposed of at the opening of the enthusiastic gathering. The musical programme was well carried out. An enjoyable piano selection, given by Miss Kathleen French, was the opening number, and those who sang were Mrs. B. S. Casey, accompanied by Mrs. Lee Rice, and Mrs. Grace McGaughey with Mrs. H. C. Lash as accompanist. A most excellent and instructive address on "Pictures and Artists We All Should Know" was given by Miss Marian Harris, district chairman on art. Mrs. Miguel Estudillo, State chairman of art, held the audience with deep interest while speaking on American artists and their work. Many copies of noted pictures were exhibited by both speakers. During the social hour, which closed the afternoon, many copies of famous artists were viewed by the company through the kindness of Mrs. Estudillo. Beautiful pink carnations and dainty baskets of fragrant violets with smilax were used in the pretty decoration of the room and tea table. A suggestion of St. Valentine's Day was found in the strands of crimson hearts, which were combined with the floral decorations. The programme was arranged by Mrs. F. D. Lockwood and Miss Babette Gagel, and hostesses were Mmes. W. W. Dalgleish and H. I. Van Frank, assisted by Mrs. Emory Randall and Miss Marcia Turner.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or, as the German folk call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—[Advertisement.

SOCIETY.

Beethoven's "Minuet" and Schubert's "Serenade" were other numbers played most artistically by Mr. Rice.

Mrs. W. L. Leihy and Miss Minnie Childs were hostesses Wednesday morning at 11:30 o'clock at a violet breakfast at which the members of the Tustin Household Economics Club were the guests. Violets shed their fragrance throughout the artistic Childs's home, and a silver bowl of violets and ferns, and place cards of hand-painted violet design adorned the handsomely appointed breakfast table. Simplicity marked the menu which included salmi of fruit served with whipped cream, cream of wheat, State puffed omelets, crisp bacon, Saratoga chips, hot biscuits and aromatic coffee. A delightful atmosphere of hospitality marked the charming morning event.

TWO pleasant gatherings of ladies associated in the auxiliary of All Saints' Episcopal Church have been held recently, when on consecutive Fridays Mrs. John Scott and Mrs. Gordon Maddock gave Kensingtons at their foothill homes, followed by elaborate 4-o'clock teas. Another gathering which was replete with pleasures for the ladies of the Methodist church was the reception last Friday afternoon by Mrs. B. Leffler at her home on Oak. Assisting Mrs. Leffler was Mrs. Milliken, wife of the pastor of the church.

Among the Duarte ladies who were guests of Mrs. C. F. Moore at a Five Hundred party Tuesday were Mrs. E. Northup, Mrs. Bruce Radabaugh, C. H. Sarwine and Mrs. Joseph

The little lads and lassies of Duarte to the number of thirty were tendered a charming children's party Saturday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock by Mrs. Arthur T. in honor of her daughter, Ruth, the eleventh anniversary of whose birthday fell on that date. It was in the nature of a surprise for the honoree, who, with the assistance of her mother, provided suitable pastimes in the way of old-fashioned games and contests which were heartily entered into and punctuated with merry shouts and laughter. A prettily-decorated birthday cake was one of the features of the bountiful collation served at 4 o'clock.

The thirty-five ladies of the Duarte Sewing Circle were entertained with their February reception by Mrs. Williams Bushnell at her pretty country home on Tuesday. Readings were contributed by Mrs. John and Mrs. Baylis W. Gerhart, which were followed by a delightful hour with the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Northup assisted by their daughter, Miss Northup, Monday evening in entertaining at Five Hundred in honor of a delightful circle of friends, who under the caption of the "Silver" Inglenook, the country home of the Northups, which is surrounded with orange groves, was prettily adorned with roses and other cut flowers and greenery, and the dinner table about which the guests assembled at 6:30 o'clock, was prettily appointed. The list of guests included Mr. and Mrs. George M. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Willard of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Slosson, Mrs. E. Conable and Messrs. Jack and Edward E. Kuepper.

Redlands.

IN HONOR of Mr. and Mrs. Conduit and Miss Conduit of Nutley, N. J., who are Redlands visitors for the winter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fisher gave a brilliant "dansant" at "Casa Morisca" Friday afternoon. There were 150 guests. The ladies who assisted the hostess in entertaining were Mrs. Auchincloss, Mrs. D. C. Lefferts, Mrs. Orrin T. Higgins, Mrs. John Gill, Mrs. S. Y. Wynne, Mrs. W. E. Rabbeth and Mrs. W. R. Severance. At the punch bowl were Miss Sylvia Allen, Miss Lois Lehmann, Miss Dorothy Davis, Miss Persis Williams and Miss Helen Humphrey. The decorative effect produced in the art gallery was entrancing. Palms, ferns and smilax, with poinsettia blooms, were used. A six-piece orchestra furnished the music. The latest fancy steps were danced.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Puffer, who knew that on last Tuesday they had been married twenty-five years, gave them a silver wedding surprise. Twenty-five of them traveled to the Puffer home at Bryn Mawr by automobile and spent a pleasant evening. The entertainment included a little speech by the Hon. J. E. Harris, the father of Mrs. Puffer, who, as justice of the peace, married his daughter to Mr. Puffer in his Nebraska home twenty-five years ago. In behalf of the company, J. J. Suess presented the couple with a silver loving cup, suitably engraved. Mr. and Mrs. Puffer left Nebraska a few years after their marriage and have resided in Redlands since. The surprise party was arranged by Mrs. W. F. Mills and Mrs. McIntosh.

At her new home in Colton Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Hugh T. Osborne, one of the season's brides in Redlands, informally received her friends. Mrs. John W. Davis of this city, Mrs. Osborne's mother, assisted. Since returning from their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Osborne, who formerly resided here, have been living in their new home on North Ninth street, Colton.

The marriage of Miss Jean Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver H. Norris, to Charles Curtis of San Bernardino, was quietly celebrated at the home of Miss Norris's parents Monday afternoon, the Rev. Herbert Murkett officiating. The only guests were the parents of the couple. The house was decorated with ferns, carnations and potted plants. Soon after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for Los Angeles, where Mr. Smith is working. The former Miss Norris was a graduate of the 1912 class of the Redlands High School. Later she attended the Cumnock School of Expression in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Yount celebrated their china wedding anniversary Monday at their home on Orange avenue. Dinner was served at tables decorated with violets and ferns. About forty were present, chiefly relatives of the host and hostess. The house decorations were roses, marguerites and ferns.

The Misses Minnie and Edna Arth have returned to the city. They started for San Francisco just before the recent flood, expecting to board an oriental liner there to start on a trip around the world, but were delayed so long in Los Angeles that they missed the vessel. They will leave here again for San Francisco next Tuesday, sailing from there February 12. Dr. Howard Hill, who also expected to sail for the Orient, has returned.

Twenty men belonging to the Country Club met at the clubhouse Monday night for the regular monthly dinner and smoker. Dr. E. A. McDonald, president of the club, presided, and Raymond Hornby, captain of the golf team for many years, spoke briefly, urging more practice and enthusiasm. George Lawson gave an illustrated talk on "Putting."

The regular meeting of the Contemporary Club was held Monday afternoon, Mrs. S. L. Beiler presiding. Five new directors are to be elected at the annual meeting, and the following names have been offered from which to make the choice: Mrs. J. P. Fisk, Mrs. Jewett, Miss Bertha King, Mrs. Taltavall, Mrs. Frye, Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. C. E. Ide, Miss Eddy and Mrs. A. H. Collins. Miss Henriette Shrake gave an address on "Ellis Island."

Miss Sarah Dudley was hostess Friday evening at a dinner dance she arranged for twenty friends. At 6 o'clock dinner was served in the private dining-room of the Casa Loma. Following dinner, the young people and their chaperons, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Stowe, motored to Harlem Springs, where they danced for the rest of the evening. In the party besides the hostess and chaperons were Miss Helen Field, Miss Sema Black, Miss Ora Porter, Miss Mabel Carpender, Miss Sue Ruggles, Miss Wilson, Miss Helen Seager, Mrs. Churchill, Wallace Beebe, Roy Shrewsbury, Dan Carpenter, Ira Thomason, Allen Whitney, Roy Churchill and Milner Blowers.

The Country Club promises to be the scene of much activity during the spring months. Two brilliant affairs are planned for the near future. Mrs. Halsey W. Allen will be the hostess at one. The other will be a fancy dress ball, at which Mrs. F. P. Morrison will entertain her friends. The new officers of the club have made a few changes in the committees. Mrs. A. C. Cameron has succeeded Mrs. W. D. Bethel as chairman of the House Committee, H. H. Garstin being on the same committee. Silas Williams Raymond Hornby is head of the Greens Committee, Morris Phillips and Gregory Palmer being his assistants. The Tennis Committee is Leslie Gay, Miss Janet Moore and Miss Rachel Hemingway. Mrs. Halsey W. Allen is chairman of the Tea Committee, Mrs. H. H. Garstin and Mrs. G. W. Wilder being the other members.

Claremont.

MISS CATHERINE RICH was the hostess at a delightful Five Hundred party given to a number of classmates, at her home, last Friday evening. The guests included Misses Susie Case, Esther Parsons, Louise Richards, Esther Romick and Grace Hamilton, and Messrs. Rex Ragen, Howard Parsons, Stuart Wheeler, Allen Blaisdell, George Cree and Karl Jenter.

The Claremont Auction Bridge Club met at the home of G. C. Griswold last week, where they were royally entertained. The members include Mmes. and Messrs. B. A. Woodford, B. L. Taylor, A. W. Richards, E. P. Hawley, J. E. Hundley and G. C. Griswold.

The Sigma Tau Fraternity held an institution meeting at the home of G. L. Ash Tuesday evening, for the purpose of initiating two new members. They were Prof. H. R. Bruce and Paul Daggs. A bountiful feed was much enjoyed after the business of the evening had been concluded.

A number of girls in the eighth-grade grammar school walked to Wolfskill Canyon last Saturday, and spent the day, returning by way of Coble Canyon. Those who went were Misses Irene Stonecypher, Julia Wagner, Bulah Kryger, Esther Smith, Elizabeth Eakin, Nettie Sturges, and Helen Pell.

The Philomathia Debating Society held a meeting at the High School Tuesday evening for the purpose of initiating two new members, Emmanuel Young and Clifford Smith.

Prof. Robert M. Staples, assisted by Miss Mabel West, appeared in a recital last Saturday evening at Holmes Hall. It was called a sonata evening and certainly proved enjoyable to those who heard Mr. Staples's talented playing.

Mrs. E. F. Goff has been spending this week with friends in San Diego.

After spending a week in Claremont with his parents, John Sanford has returned to his work at Tehachepi.

Miss Dorothy Greenleaf of Indianapolis, Ind., is spending the winter in Claremont with her aunt, Mrs. F. F. Palmer. She has entered High School in Claremont also.

An all-day gathering of the Gamma Theta Club was held at the home of Mrs. Frank L. Miller last week. The color scheme of yellow was beautifully carried out with feathery acacia branches. At the 6 o'clock dinner the husbands of the members were also present and the evening was very pleasantly spent in playing Five Hundred. The members of the club including their husbands, who were present, were Messrs. and Mmes. J. A. Clayes, W. N. Beach, H. V. Jones, J. Reimers, M. J. Asher, Dean Sterritt, J. C. Whiting, Walter Griffin and F. L. Miller.

The Merry Wives were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Howard Geer Tuesday, where they spent their time in tying quilts for the hostess. Delicious refreshments closed the afternoon.

Downey.

DR. J. H. BARNEBEE and wife are at home after a visit down in the Imperial Valley.

Mrs. Fannie Kerns of Los Angeles was a visitor last week with friends and relatives.

Miss Beth Weiss spent the week end as guest of Margaret Bartels.

Col. J. R. Gordon and wife are spending a few days in Elsinore Hot Springs, where they joined Dr. Gordon and family, all coming back by auto the first part of the week.

Upland.

THE G. T. Club was most happily entertained at the home of Mrs. Charles Allen on Thursday afternoon. The form of entertainment was a "pass-it-along" party, and numerous guests were entertained by Mrs. Allen besides regular club members. A most happy time was spent in conversation and fancy work by the ladies present, who were Mrs. M. L. Thompson, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mrs. Bert Spicer, Mrs. N. I. Hamer, Mrs. Wilbur Spicer, Mrs. R. R. Wisely, Mrs. John Short, Mrs. H. O. Blohm, Mrs. Earl Maurer, Miss Mabel Myers, Mrs. Mark B. Shaw of San Bernardino, Mrs. W. E. Westland, Mrs. A. H. Johnson, Mrs. LeBaron, Miss Larter, Mrs. Fred McMullen, Mrs. A. H. Maxwell, Mrs. W. M. Garrett, Mrs. Scofield, Mrs. C. F. Troeller, Mrs. Charles Silcox, Mrs. G. H. Clem, Mrs. G. W. Kirk, Mrs. Harry Nafius, Mrs. DeForrest Walton, Mrs. George Sturdivant, Mrs. T. M. Nichols, Mrs. Lyman Clark.

Miss Edith Hanson and Kenneth Hanson entertained with an informal dance Saturday evening.

C. M. Sikes was surprised Wednesday evening on coming home to find guests in the house who had been invited by Mrs. Sikes to help celebrate his fortieth birthday anniversary. Fourteen sat down to the 6 o'clock dinner, the centerpiece being an immense cake. Those who enjoyed the good things placed before them were Mr. and Mrs. M. V. B. Bradford of Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Maurer,

Owes His Life to This Lung Remedy

If you neglect a continued cough or cold, you are in constant danger of easily contracting serious Lung Trouble. The cough or cold which does not yield to ordinary treatment should be a warning to you and preventive measures should be taken as soon as possible. In many cases Eckman's Alterative, a remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, has brought permanent recovery. Read this:

Catherine Ave. and Ascot Place,
Queens Court, L. I., N. Y.

"Gentlemen: In the year 1908 I was taken with a heavy cold and a nasty short cough. I went to several doctors, who gave me a lot of medicine. Finally, I went to a specialist, who gave me creosote that made me sick of all kinds of food; consequently I failed in health. I then went to the Catskills, and seemed to get better, but the cough still kept up. I stayed there for one year, and then went to a farm near Jersey City, a very sick man. About the time of my return, my brother recommended Eckman's Alterative to me very highly. It is now nearly two years since I first took it. I am now well, and I dare say that I would have been buried long ago if it had not been for Eckman's Alterative."

(Affidavit) JOSEPH J. TROESCHER.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by The Owl Drug Co., and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

COMPETITION IS THE LIFE OF TRADE

At a meeting of the Managers of all the Pacific Coast Eastern Outfitting Company Stores the question was raised: "Which is the most popular of all our Stores?" It was then decided to find out—and this week we are all going after the biggest week's business in our history. We intend to make Los Angeles head the list—and for that reason we are making wonderful concessions in prices and in terms.

Competition is a mighty good thing—The Eastern Outfitting Company Stores believe in competing among themselves. We believe that competition among the furniture houses of Los Angeles is a good thing—it means buying at lower prices and in consequence selling at lower prices to our customers. It will pay you to visit the Eastern this week—pay you to open an account—we are determined to add 1000 new customers to our books.

Don't believe everything you hear in this world. It's far better only to believe what you see. If you see the same thing happening day after day and week after week, and if it always happens the same—then believe it. It's pretty sure to be true.

Day after day Fels-Naptha Soap will do your cleaning for you. It will do it better than it has ever been done before, in half the time, with quarter the effort.

Week after week it will make washing a pleasure instead of a nightmare. It will dissolve the dirt, leaving only the smallest and easiest part of the work for you to do. If we could only give it a pair of hands, it would do it all. But you have to supply the hands. Fels-Naptha Soap has everything else. It has the power to help you. It works for you in cool or lukewarm water. It does away with hard rubbing and boiling. And it does the same kind of work—the best work—all the time.

A Grateful Woman Thanks 'Anty Drudge

Mrs. Progressive—"Anty Drudge, I have you to thank for starting me to be an up-to-date woman. I was a slave to the washtub and my house until I learned from you that all women can do their work well and keep house right and still have time for outside interests if they will use Fels-Naptha Soap. I am never without it, and it has made me a different woman and John a happier man."

Anty Drudge—"Many a man has thanked me for telling his wife about Fels-Naptha Soap, and the women say they wouldn't believe it was possible that their work could be made so much easier."

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, ACTORS—ALL SPEAKERS SHOULD USE HYOMEI

It Quickly Relieves Hoarseness or Stuffed-up Head, Strengthens the Voice, Soothes and Heals the Inflamed Membrane of the Nose and Throat.

Hyomei is the discovery of R. T. Booth, once an international lecturer in the cause of temperance. After years of speaking in England and America he developed a serious lung and catarrhal trouble. On the advice of physicians he went to Inland Australia where night and day he could breathe the antiseptic balsams given off by the forests, especially the eucalyptus trees. Mr. Booth completely regained his health, and always attributed his recovery to nature's healing balsams and antiseptics which he had breathed. He then conceived the idea of making a combination of certain antiseptic oils that could be breathed through an inhaler, and as near as possible create the same health-giving air that had restored his health.

Hyomei is the result of his study, and for twenty-five years sufferers from catarrh, bronchitis, laryngitis, husky voice, and frequent head colds, have been getting effective, safe and quick relief from this direct-to-the-spot remedy. No stomach dosing—you simply breathe an antiseptic and germicidal air — nothing easier or more pleasant. Hyomei being medicated air, immediately reaches the raw and inflamed membrane, quickly relieves the congestion, and soothes and heals the sore and diseased tissues. The first breath of Hyomei will convince you of its virtue—it will touch the spot.

Do not suffer needlessly with hoarseness, weak voice, that choked-up feeling, or dangerous catarrh. Begin the Hyomei treatment now. Ask your druggist for the complete outfit, $1.00 size. Free sample on request from Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

SOCIETY.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Manker, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Brest, Harold Moore, Lloyd Purvis and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sikes.

Mrs. F. H. Manker, the president of the Woman's Club, and her appointed delegates, Mrs. C. F. Troeller and Mrs. P. H. McQuillen, will attend reciprocity day with the Colton Women's Club Tuesday. The subject of county federation will be brought up.

Long Beach.

BRIDES-ELECT are claiming the lion's share of attention in society. During the past week several charming daughters have been entertained because of their approaching nuptials, and the engagement of others has been announced.

A pretty affair of this nature was the announcement party given by Mrs. Ralph Core, when the news that her sister, Miss Mabel Mildred Vale, teacher in the Daisy-avenue school, would wed William Hunter of Los Angeles, was announced. Miss Vale is the daughter of Mrs. I. E. Vale of No. 837 Daisy avenue. She is a member of the Phi Beta Phi Sorority and the Entre Nous Society of the University of Southern California.

Miss Leitha Galliher, a bride-elect, was guest of honor at a well-appointed dinner party given by Miss Margaret Waite and Mrs. Forest M. Whittaker at the Waite home, No. 843 Olive avenue. The table was set for ten guests.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Finney have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Finney, to Robert Fisher Belcher. The happy affair is to take place the last of March, in Long Beach.

Kathlyn Grace Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Wilcox, and Paul Cameron Graham of Long Beach, were married at the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Los Angeles, Wednesday, Rev. C. E. Locke officiating. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party motored to Long Beach, where a wedding supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Griswold, the bride's grandparents. The Grahams will live in Long Beach.

Members of the domestic science section of the Ebell Club enjoyed a luncheon followed by the usual programme. A paper on home-making by Mrs. John M. Edgar was enjoyed. Violets decorated the tables.

Friday evening the El Rodeo Club gave the first dance given at Hotel Virginia in months. The patrons of the affair were Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bixby, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Long, and Mr. and Mrs. P. S. MacNee. The Dance Committee was composed of Frank Vial, Oscar Swengson, Lemuel Hancock and R. Johnstone.

Mrs. Bert Trimbel entertained the members of the Thimble Club at a Kensington. When the needlework was finished, flinch was played.

Mrs. P. T. Gregory entertained at Five Hundred in a charming manner in honor of Mrs. Charles Pringle of Toronto, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Pringle is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Moncton. Mrs. W. G. Hanson won the trophy.

A family reunion was held by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bewley of Lime avenue in honor of the sixty-seventh birthday anniversary of Mrs. Anna Bewley, their mother. A buffet supper was followed by an evening of music.

In compliment to his week-end guest, Weslie Henzie, Samuel Holloway entertained at Five Hundred at his home. Music and refreshments followed the games.

Mrs. Walter H. Case entertained a number of the young friends of her 4-year-old son, Nelson, at a charming affair Tuesday afternoon. Little Nelson was the recipient of many compliments on the occasion of his fourth birthday anniversary.

Lordsburg-La Verne.

THE wedding of Miss Anna Hart to John D. Tiedemann, a well-known La Verne orange grower, took place in Los Angeles Thursday. The couple were schoolmates in Germany, but had not seen each other since Mr. Tiedemann came to America in early youth. Two months ago Miss Hart came to Los Angeles to visit friends. Mr. Tiedemann learned of her presence there, the old acquaintanceship was renewed and after a brief courtship the wedding day was set. They will make their home on Mr. Tiedemann's ranch north of Lordsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Goetz entertained a merry party of young people from the Baptist Church, San Dimas, Friday evening, the event being in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Harwood, who are moving to Illinois. Elaborate refreshments were served.

Rev. and Mrs. T. H. Broad entertained at 6 o'clock dinner Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hill, who returned this week from their wedding trip to Catalina and the beaches.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church spent all day Thursday at the David and Margaret Home, taking their lunches and devoting the day to sewing for the children of the home.

Mrs. Clara Driscoll of Kalamazoo, Mich., is the guest of Mrs. D. B. Abbott.

J. D. Walker of New Plymouth, Idaho, is visiting his nephew, W. P. Walker.

W. H. Myers and C. T. Noffsinger of Pennsylvania left Thursday for their eastern home, after visiting friends in Lordsburg and Inglewood.

Frank Cahoon of Canton, N. Y., is visiting his sister, Mrs. F. G. Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Harrell, after spending some weeks with relatives here, returned this week to their home in Nocona, Tex.

A. J. Morrison is receiving a visit from his sister, Mrs. Margaret Downs, of Grafton, N. D.

SUFFRAGISM.

Miss Clara Cynthia Munson, who was Mayor of Warrenton, Or., served one year, and despite the fact that her constituents wanted her to run again, she declared that she had had enough of it. "Mayorships are no positions for women," she said. Nothing could induce her to have the office again, she said.

Mrs. Minnie Patterson of Rosamond, Ill., was elected by the township board last week as Tax Collector to succeed her husband, who died a few weeks ago. This is the first time a woman has been an office holder in the county from which she was elected.

Miss Ida Woods, store clerk and former telephone girl, has been elected City Recorder of Newberg, Or., defeating W. W. Nelson, who had held the office for ten years. Miss Woods is the first woman to hold office in Newberg. Her majority was 68, in a total vote of several hundred.

In Wyoming one of the most important State appointive offices, deputy of the commission of public lands, is held by Winifred Stewart.

Mrs. Kate Wood Ray, who was offered the chairmanship of the Board of Safety of Gary, Ind., and declined, says that she could not have accepted and obeyed the law. "We respect the law," she said, "even though it is against us, but we hope to change it."

ACTIVE WOMEN.

Miss Alice Schille of Columbus, O., was one of the five artists who was awarded the $500 prize at the Chicago exhibition of western artists. The other four were men.

Mrs. John Clarence Lee, author of "Across Siberia Alone," finds Siberia largely a pioneer country with ideals much like those of frontier America.

Eleven-year-old Aleen Fell of Sharon, Pa., has been declared the winner in the corn-growing contest in which several hundred boys participated.

Miss Eda Ek of Brockton lays claim to the shortest name in the United States. In Paris some years ago was a cafe kept by Mme. Theresa O.

Miss Bertha May Boody was elected dean of Radcliffe College last week to succeed the late Miss Mary Coes. She was graduated from Radcliffe in 1899 and received her master of arts degree from Columbia in 1912. She studied in Rome and the University of Cambridge in England. She has been an associate professor at Radcliffe for the last year.

Miss Ida Tarbell said the other day in a lecture in New York that there would be no civilization if it were not for women. "Man is a disorderly wind, roving about the earth," she said. "He is an adventurer, the inventor, the creator, but he jumps from one task to another with an absolute lack of any social conscience."

Miss Alice E. Jones possesses the distinction of being the only law librarian that Washington county ever has had. She was appointed by President Judge J. A. McIlvaine in November, 1900, at the completion of Washington county's new million-dollar Courthouse, and has served continuously ever since. Following the original appointment the retention of her poistion has come through annual elections by the Washington County Bar Association.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Charles Page, the 55-year-old multi-millionaire oil man of Tulsa, Okla., has seventy children, and is hoping to have a thousand. They are really adopted children, but he is kinder to them and has given them more than most real fathers could have given them.

Sam Gordon, the messenger in the Governor's office at Trenton, N. J., has just commenced serving his fourteenth Governor in Mr. Fielder. Sam began work as a messenger in 1872 under Gov. Parker, and has been on the job without a break since.

The youngest probate judge in the United States is thought to be Fred M. Breen in Wexford county, New York, who is 25 years old. A curious fact is that fifteen years ago, an orphan, he was sent to the State institution by the same court over which he now presides.

Resignation of Judge James W. Whitten, chief law officer of the General Land Office since it was created, more than twenty years ago, has been accepted by Secretary Lane. Mr. Lane expressed deep regret that the department was to lose Judge Whitten's "most conscientious and efficient services." Judge Whitten will practice law in Washington. In his letter of resignation he said that the salary received was not an adequate compensation for the work demanded.

Capt. Harndon, who commanded the British steamship Rappahannock when that vessel went to the rescue of the steamship Volturno afire in midocean, is in a hospital here suffering from nervous breakdown.

Prothonotary S. B. Drake of Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, gets to work in his office at 6:30 o'clock every workday morning.

Gen. Francisco Villa, former bandit and now one of the forces striving to overthrow the Huerta regime in Mexico, is uneducated, crude of speech, and before he took up the life of an outlaw owned a small ranch in Chihuahua, about 200 miles south of El Paso, Tex. As a ranchman he was a failure, and in time became a bandit. He was one of Madero's strongest adherents for a time, but jealousy turned him, it is said. At one time he went to El Paso to obtain revenge on Garibaldi, the Italian who for a time cast his lot with the revolutionists. Mayor Kelly, learning of the plot, ordered Villa across the border at once. Villa went.

ADS TO LURE TOMMY ATKINS.

BRITISH WAR SECRETARY IS BURNING UP SPACE.

Publishes Book to Show Prospective Recruits Advantages of Joining Army, Where It Is Declared Soldiers Can Lay Up Good Sum in Seven Years' Service.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The British War Secretary, with the help of an old soldier, Henry Le Bras, the advertising expert, is on the war path for recruits.

In obedience to a hint from Lord Northcliffe, the millionaire newspaper proprietor, he has just started to issue page advertisements explaining "What the British Army Offers." And there is a nice little coupon in the corner indicated by a big and generous-looking hand. If this be filled in, a copy of a thirty-two-page illustrated book, "The Army and What It Offers," will to any inquirer be mailed free. Perhaps, though, the crowning joy is that nobody need put a stamp on the envelope.

One and all are bidden to mark the communication "On His Majesty's Service" and the British postoffice will bow down before this—and no stamp money will be required.

This is the kind of lure that Col. Seely, the War Minister, holds out to possible recruits:

"What are you earning now, and what are your prospects in civil life? Can you look forward with certainty of getting more than $6 a week if in town, or $5 if in the country? And even with these wages, what have you left for yourself at the end of the week after paying for your lodging, for transport to your work, for your food, for your insurance, and for the clothes and boots you wear while at work or at leisure?

"And now consider the soldier. He is charged 6 or 8 cents a day for his groceries and vegetables, to meet which he is given a "messing allowance" of 6 cents a day, and has to pay 3 cents a week for his insurance, but practically all the rest of his necessities are provided for him free—lodging, rations and clothing. In the infantry the average balance of pay at the disposal of a private soldier immediately after enlistment is $1.62 per week; after serving for two years, if in the first class of proficiency, a private has at his disposal $2.50, a corporal $3 and a sergeant $3.50.

"Remember, too, that if a soldier likes to save while he is with the colors, he can do so to some purpose. An infantry private drawing first-class proficiency pay could spend $1 a week on himself and if he put the balance of his pay in the post-office savings bank could save in round figures $500 after seven years' service. And there is another point—a man has opportunities while serving of learning work that will be useful to him when he leaves the colors.

"The soldier has exceptional opportunities of seeing the world free of cost to himself. The British army is in garrison all over the empire, and Gibraltar, Malta, Egypt, Hongkong, Channel Islands, India, the West Indies, and South Africa may all be visited by him."

New Zealand, like Canada and South Africa, has long possessed a bilingual Parliament. In 1887 Maori members were for the first time admitted to the House of Representatives and allowed to address the Assembly in their own tongue.

PORTUGUESE ROYAL TOMBS.

Are Falling into Decay, but Visitors Are Shown the Decomposing Bodies of Past Rulers.

[Cologne Gazette:] Under the title of "Modern Barbarians," a correspondent writes from Lisbon:

"As one approaches the capital by sea the eye is attracted by a great church of two towers, which stand out clear cut in their dazzling whiteness against the blue of the sky, the church of St. Vincent de Fora. The church in itself has no features that should claim our attention, but it happens to be the home of the royal tombs. These words have a solemn, imposing ring, calling up visions of mighty cypresses standing guard over a holy sepulchre. The actual reality is wretched.

"A cold path, paved with granite setts, on which the footsteps ring harshly, leads to an oak door. On this is an ugly bronze plate, which tells us that we stand before the sepulchre of the Braganzas.

"Without ascending a single step we walk straight in and find ourselves in a kind of hall. A low gallery runs round it and on this stands a row of peculiar shaped coffins, some of them covered with shabby, moth-eaten velvet, while others are draped in a shabby black cloth.

"The atmosphere is damp and heavy. No smell of withered flowers overpowers the senses; instead, the air is impregnated with a horrible musty odor. The wreaths that hang on the walls are of artificial flowers, covered with dust, and, like the prestige of Portuguese royalty, falling into decay.

"Each of these coffins holds the body of a royalty. The guide comes up, bringing a step ladder with him. This he puts up against the wall, motions you with a wave of his hand to draw near, and draws back the covering cloth. Don Fernando lies before us in the uniform of a general. The wax-colored face has fallen in and is covered with small patches of mildew.

"Next to him is Don Luiz, the grandfather of the unlucky Don Manoel. And so we go on down the row; Dom Pedro II, the last Emperor of Brazil, and so on. The guide rattles out name after name, and the English girl in the company which has entered with us plays with her walking stick and ejaculates, 'How pretty he is!'

"In the middle of the hall are two baldachinos. The stepladder is planted against the first, and Dom Luiz Filippe, eldest son of Dom Sarlos, murdered on February 1, 1908, is exposed to view. That once-handsome and prepossessing face is disfigured, blackened, twisted and ruined by the bullet of the assassin, and the art of the physician has not been able to arrest the progress of decay. Still more grewsome is the countenance of Dom Carlos.

"Outside the mausoleum, the cries and laughter of the market fill the air, for we are in Lisbon's rag fair and the clatter serves still further to degrade the place where kings take their last rest."

Longest Way Round.

[Springfield Republican:] Traveling in Peru Harry A. Franck has written letters of his experience to his publishers, one of which, says: "I kept on striding and sliding and swimming down the crest of the Andes, struggling against the countless short roads that at every town attempt to carry you down to the coast, like the Pacific slope streams. If a Peruvian lives in Chota in the Andes and wants to go to Cajabamba, sixty miles due south, he rides seventy-two miles horseback to a coast port, waits seven days for a steamer, drifts along the coast in that four or five days and then lands and rides sixty-seven miles up into the country to his destination."

Too Much Ability Wanted.

[The Sample Case:] A country grocer put an ad in the city paper for a bright young boy to help him in his store and home. The applicant's appearance pleased the grocer, but in order to have no misunderstanding, the following conversation ensued:

G.—I can pay you but five a week and board.

B.—That will be enough for a start.

G.—Now as to your duties. Can you harness and drive a horse?

B.—Perfectly at home there.

G.—Can you measure potatoes?

B.—Sure. Peck, half peck, etc.

G.—Weigh and bag sugar?

B.—Certainly.

G.—Cut cheese?

B.—Yes, sir.

G.—Wrap eggs so they won't break?

B.—I will try.

G.—Dress a chicken?

A pause—then from the boy: "Not on five dollars a week."

Ruling.

DRIED FRUITS AND NUTS MAY GO BY PARCEL POST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERKELEY, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dried and cured fruits and nuts may be shipped to any part of the country or world by parcel post, according to a decision given today to the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce by the Third Assistant Postmaster-General in Washington. The ruling will be of particular value to growers in California in districts where express facilities are absent or limited.

The local chamber recently wrote to Congressman Knowland, asking that fruits and nuts as well as other California products be given advantages of the parcel post. In the reply it is stated that dried or cured fruits and nuts, when prepared for mailing in the manner indicated, are regarded as coming within the provisions of paragraph 5, section 469, postal laws and regulations, and may be accepted at the fourth-class or parcel post rate.

NUTRITIOUS AND ECONOMICAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Housewives are overlooking a very nutritious and economical diet in dried fruits, according to the Department of Agriculture. Dried fruits, it says, are especially useful when the supply of fresh fruits is limited.

The amount of dried fruit produced in this country increased 575 per cent. between 1899 and 1909. California produces more than four-fifths of the yearly output. It is estimated that each person consumes on an average five or six pounds of dried fruit a year. The value of the product rose from $4,000,000 to over $21,000,000 in ten years. The average wholesale price, however, has not advanced with the increased demand—on the contrary, it has dropped from 5½ to about 4½ cents per pound.

SHAKESPEARE'S DAUGHTERS.

Biographers Treat Them as Illiterate, but Social Evidences Indicate Them to Have Been Far Different.

[Julia Marlowe in New York Sun:] It is strange that almost all biographers of Shakespeare dismiss his daughters, Susannah and Judith, as being illiterate and incapable of writing their own names. It comes as a shock to the modern mind that neither Shakespeare's mother, Mary Arden, nor his wife, Ann Hathaway, was capable of writing her name to a legal document.

In the case of Ann Hathaway there might be some excuse, but that Mary Arden, daughter of a distinguished family, could not write her name is most surprising. However, Andrew Lang, in his posthumous work, "Shakespeare, Bacon and the Great Unknown," points out that the daughters of several distinguished men of the time were equally incapable.

There is much doubt, however, that this can be said of Shakespeare's daughters, Susannah and Judith. While there is no doubt whatever as to Susannah's ability to write, there is some as to Judith's. There are in the Birthplace Museum of Stratford excellent signatures of Susannah, which prove that she could write with facility.

Were it a fact that these two daughters of the Bard of Avon were the illiterate girls that they are so often pictured, it is rather surprising that each should have married a man of learning and distinction.

When Susannah Shakespeare was 24 years old, in June, 1607, she married Dr. John Hall, a distinguished physician, then residing at Stratford. Dr. Hall was one of the most eminent men of the time in his profession. He was a writer on medical subjects and practiced as a physician in the noblemen's houses in the neighborhood. Dr. Hall not only built up an extensive practice, but was elected burgess of the town, and in 1633 became the vicar's church warden.

When Dr. Hall died, in 1635, his skill as a physician was fittingly recognized at his burial. That he was a man of distinction and good family is proved by the coat of arms on his grave in the chancel of Trinity Church. In his will he left his "study books" as well as his manuscripts to his son-in-law, Thomas Nash.

Now it seems incomprehensible that a man of Dr. Hall's distinction would have married the illiterate daughter of a strolling player, as some writers would have us believe. That Mrs. Hall was a woman of some standing in the community is proved by the fact that in 1642 Henrietta Maria, Queen of Charles I, stayed three days with Mrs. Hall at New Place. When she died, on July 11, 1649, she was buried in Stratford, and the following lines appear above her grave:

"Witty above her Sexe, but that's not all;
Wise to Salvation was good Mistress Hall.
Something of Shakespeare in that, but this
Wholly of Him with whom she's now in blisse.
Then, passenger, ha'st ne'er a teare
To wepe with her that wept with all?
That wept, yet set herself to chere
Them up with comforts cordiall.
Her Love shall live, her mercy spread,
When thou ha'st ne'er a teare to shed."

Of what we know of Judith Shakespeare we have good reason to believe that she was equally capable and a brilliant woman. Judith, in 1616, when 31 years old, married Thomas Quiney, a vintner of Stratford. Thomas Quiney's father was an old friend of Shakespeare.

That Thomas Quiney was a man of some distinction in his town is proved by the fact that he acted as counselor from 1617 to 1622, and became chamberlain in the latter year. The Quineys lived in a house on Bridge street, called the Cage, which is still standing. The only letter to William Shakespeare extant was written by the father to his son-in-law. This letter can be seen in the library at New Place.

Judith lived to be 76 years old and survived her husband, her children and all near relations. She died in 1661 and was buried in Trinity Church.

The last of Shakespeare's descendants was Elizabeth Hall, the only child of Susannah and Dr. Hall. She was born February 21, 1608, and died in her sixty-fourth year, in 1672.

These facts prove conclusively that Shakespeare's daughters were far from being the illiterates that many have supposed.

A mill chimney at Darwen, Eng., said to be the most magnificent in the world, is a copy of the famous Campanile of Venice. It was erected fifty-five years ago at a cost of $60,000.

Every Home Needs This Great Remedy.

No Home Can Afford to Be Without a Mild, Reliable Laxative Tonic.

No well-regulated home should be without a laxative, for there is scarcely a day in a family of several persons that someone doesn't complain of a headache, of sleeplessness, or show the first signs of a cold.

A laxative then becomes a necessity or what was a trifling congestion at the beginning may run into a serious cold or fever. No harsh remedy is needed, but simply a mild laxative-tonic that will make the liver active and stir up the bowels. People who have tried a great many things and are themselves heads of families, who have seen the little ills run to big ones, will tell you that there is nothing better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the family size.

Among the great believers in Syrup Pepsin for constipation in old or young, and as a general household emergency remedy, is Mrs. M. F. Smith, 710 N. Cherry St., San Antonio, Tex. To use her own words, she says she will bless Dr. Caldwell to her dying day for she believes that through his remedy, Syrup Pepsin, she found the way to permanent good health.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is scientifically compounded and its purity is vouched for. Mothers give it to tiny babes, and grown people, taking a little larger amount, find it equally effective. It is mild and gentle, pleasant-tasting and free from griping.

MRS. M. F. SMITH

It does not hide behind a high sounding name and is absolutely free from any prohibited ingredient. Families who once use Syrup Pepsin forever after avoid cathartics, salts, pills and other harsh medicines, for these only do temporary good, are nauseous and a shock to any delicate system. Such things should never be given to children.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

CALIFORNIA STOMACH SUFFERER TELLS HOW HE GOT QUICK RELIEF

L. C. Jones of Martinez Says Mayr's Remedy Gave Him Surprising Results.

L. C. Jones of Martinez, Cal., suffered from stomach troubles for a long time. He tried many remedies. At last he took Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. The results surprised him.

In a letter telling of his experience Mr. Jones said: "I took Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy with most pleasing and surprising results. My trouble has been principally gastritis, with gas around my heart, at times so bad I thought I was going to die. My wife is also taking your remedy with pleasing results."

From all parts of the country such letters come by the thousands. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is known everywhere. The first dose proves—no long treatment.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and poisonous matter. It brings quick relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations; many are sure it has saved their lives.

Because of the remarkable success of this remedy there are many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to the Owl Drug Company's stores and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing—or send to George H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

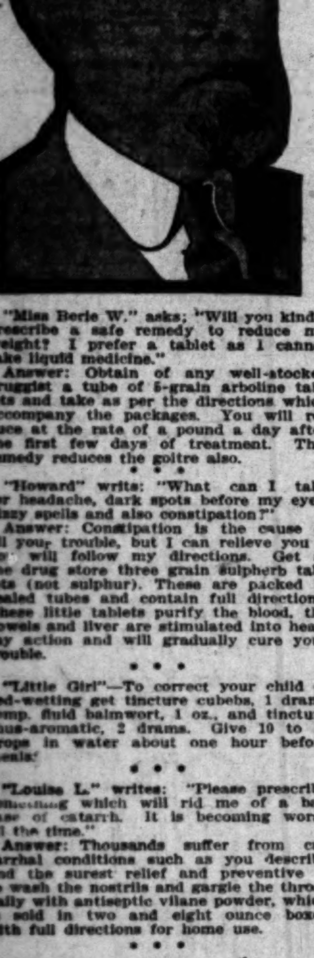
How to Tell If You Need Fruitola

Read These Symptoms and Have No Hesitation in Trying a Bottle.

It is an old proverb that trouble follows when doctors disagree. And yet they often disagree. In such circumstances, where one cannot decide which doctor is right, or if any of them are, it is best to take the situation in your own hands and do what seems best to you. In this connection, a very perplexing form of ailment is that which often afflicts the liver. The bile hardens into stones and forms in the gall bladder. The result is excruciating pain on the margin of the ribs on the right side, and frequently over the shoulders and abdomen. There may be vomiting and chills and fever. If not promptly corrected jaundice may follow in two or three days.

That was the situation with Mrs. J. D. Fuller of No. 104 West Ninetieth street, New York City, but some doctors told her she was suffering from "nerves" and others from gall stones. Not knowing which was correct she took the advice of a friend who recommended Fruitola, the reliable California remedy recommended for just such symptoms. She procured a bottle from her druggist and took the contents at one dose, which is the way to take Fruitola. She writes a detailed letter describing what she passed and how well she feels now after her thorough cleaning out. The main point is that Mrs. Fuller is entirely well today and she is positive in her assertion that she owes it to Fruitola. Many others who have taken it will say the same.

This unusual remedy is prepared only by the Pinus Medicine Company, Monticello, Ill., for whom this is published, and can be obtained at any drug store; but, as with all good things, there are imitations and it is important that you ask for Fruitola and see that you get it. It is the original and time-tried remedy for these purposes.



The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Elwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious names will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Miss Berle W." asks: "Will you kindly prescribe a safe remedy to reduce my weight? I prefer a tablet as I cannot take liquid medicine."

Answer: Obtain of any well-stocked druggist a tube of 5-grain arboline tablets and take as per the directions which accompany the packages. You will reduce at the rate of a pound a day after the first few days of treatment. This remedy reduces the goitre also.

"Howard" writes: "What can I take for headache, dark spots before my eyes, dizzy spells and also constipation?"

Answer: Constipation is the cause of all your trouble, but I can relieve you if you will follow my directions. Get at the drug store three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). These are packed in sealed tubes and contain full directions. These little tablets purify the blood, the bowels and liver are stimulated into healthy action and will gradually cure your trouble.

"Little Girl"—To correct your child of bed-wetting get tincture cubebs, 1 dram; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., and tincture rhus-aromatic, 2 drams. Give 10 to 15 drops in water about one hour before meals.

"Louise L." writes: "Please prescribe something which will rid me of a bad case of catarrh. It is becoming worse all the time."

Answer: Thousands suffer from catarrhal conditions such as you describe and the surest relief and preventive is to wash the nostrils and gargle the throat daily with antiseptic vilane powder, which is sold in two and eight ounce boxes with full directions for home use.

"Kathryn" writes: "If you know of anything that will stop premature baldness, cure dandruff and itching scalp. I should appreciate a reply."

Answer: The following simple remedy will stop dandruff and promote a luxurious growth of hair. Ask for plain yellow minyol which can be had in 4 oz. jars and use regularly according to directions. I have seen the most astonishing results from its use that I heartily recommend it to all who suffer with any diseases of the scalp.

"Mrs. A. F." Writes: "Really if I could find a true remedy to increase my weight, I should be the happiest woman alive. I am so thin and scrawny, it is a shame. Why cannot I be like other women? I do not work hard and have pretty good health."

Answer: You can "be like other women" if you will follow my advice, which is to use three grain hypo-nuclane tablets packed in seal cartons with directions, and most widely prescribed by intelligent physicians everywhere. They improve the nutrition, add red blood corpuscles to the blood, improve the complexion, but thorough and regular use must follow to get these good results.

"Mr. Ben" writes: "My joints are becoming so stiff from rheumatism that I can scarcely walk. Is there any help for me?"

Answer: Of course there is help for you and for all others who suffer from rheumatism. Take the following and you will be entirely relieved. Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, ½ oz.; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., and syrup sarsparilla, 5 ozs. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again at bed time.

"Mary J." says: "Every winter I have a cold which lasts till spring. I have tried several doctors but they do no good so I ask you what to do."

Answer: The best medicine to relieve colds and coughs is made by mixing the contents of a 2½ oz. bottle of essence mentho laxene with honey or home made sugar syrup. Full directions for making are given on the bottle and also how to take. You will find this will cure your cough in a very few days and it is perfectly harmless and pleasant to take.

"J. T. C." writes: "I have tried numerous remedies for stomach disorders, indigestion, gas, pains after eating, and have found no relief. Please prescribe."

Answer: The best and most effective treatment is tablets triopeptine. Obtain in sealed carton with full directions.

"Nerve Wreck" writes: "Is it possible to find a medicine which by its tonic or nutritive powers will bring the glow of health and ambition back to a man who has everything in the world but health and happiness. I am dull, forgetful, despondent, weak, trembling, short of breath and suffer more or less with pain in spine and back of head."

Answer: Your condition indicates the need of a strong, harmless tonic nutritive, to restore nerve equilibrium, which in turn fortifies and strengthens the organs of nutrition, thus vitalizing the blood and promoting new cell and tissue to take care of the waste forces. Three grain cadomene tablets packed in sealed tubes with full directions are recommended in all such cases.

"Mr. C. P." writes: "What should I do to relieve a severe case of kidney and bladder disease? Urine is dark, foul of odor, and passage is irregular, painful, etc. Have depression, fever, chills, pains like rheumatism, and soreness in region of bladder."

Answer: For such symptoms as you describe, I prescribe my favorite formula under the name of balmwort tablets. This is a splendidly efficacious remedy for such abnormal conditions. Begin their use at once as per directions on each sealed tube.—[Advertisement.

NEGLECT THE CARE OF YOUR SCALP AND YOUR HAIR WILL BECOME A DISGRACE

The hair is more exposed and hence more liable to accumulate dust and dirt than any other portion of the body.

In spite of this, the hair receives, as a rule, the least attention and no real effort is made to keep it in a clean, sanitary condition.

If dandruff contagion is not combatted the scalp soon becomes encrusted with scale-like accumulations. Result—the hair dies and falls out.

There is no cause for surprise in this phenomenon; it is natural and happens in every instance where the care of the hair and scalp is overlooked.

You can fortify yourself against hair loss and keep your scalp in a clean, healthy condition by the intelligent use of Newbro's Herpicide.

The eradication of dandruff is only one of the many benefits which may be derived when Herpicide is regularly applied. The absence of falling hair, a cessation of that terrible itching of the scalp and an increased beauty and life of one's tresses are all evidences of the great efficiency of Newbro's Herpicide. It has an exquisite odor and is a delightful hair dressing.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50-cent and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

THE ADVENTURES OF KATHLYN.

BY HAROLD MAC GRATH.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.

Kathlyn Hare believes her father, Col. Hare, to be in dire peril in Allaha, a principality of India. The King of Allaha has recently died, and because the colonel had once saved his life he names him as his successor. Umballah, pretender to the throne of Allaha, loves Kathlyn and has forged a message summoning her to her father, whom he has thrown into prison. She leaves her home in California to go to him.

On her arrival in Allaha she is informed by Umballah that her father is dead and that she is the Queen. An elaborate durbar is arranged, the central figure of which is Kathlyn, protesting and grief stricken. When the crown is placed upon her head Umballah announces that she is to be married to him forthwith. Her refusal infuriates him, but as Kathlyn's beauty and spirit have made a strong appeal to the people he yields the point for the time being. A priest announces that no woman may rule unmarried, but because the young Queen is not conversant with the laws of the State she will be given seven days to decide.

When Kathlyn reiterates, at the expiration of the week of grace, her refusal to marry Umballah she receives sentence from the supreme tribunal that she is to undergo two ordeals with wild beasts. If she survives, she is to be permitted to rule without hindrance.

Through the pluck and resourcefulness of John Bruce, an American and fellow-passenger on the boat which brought Kathlyn to Allaha, and who has come to her assistance, she escapes unharmed from the two ordeals. With Bruce she flees from Allaha. The elephant which carries her becomes frightened and runs away, separating her from Bruce and the rest of the party. After a ride filled with peril she reaches what she believes is a haven.

The photo-drama corresponding to the installments "The Adventures of Kathlyn" may now be seen at a number of the leading moving picture theaters. By this unique arrangement with the Selig Polyscope Company it is, therefore, possible not only to read "The Adventures of Kathlyn" in this paper, but also to keep pace with each installment of it at the moving picture theaters.

CHAPTER VI.

THE TEMPLE OF THE LION.

IN THE blue of night the temple looked as though it had been sculptured out of mist. Here and there the heavy dews, touched by the moon lances, flung back flames of sapphire, cold and sharp. To Kathlyn the temple was of marvelous beauty. She urged Rajah toward the crumbling portico.

It was a temple in ruins, like many in Hind. Broken pillars, exquisitely carved, lay about, and some of the tall windows of marble lace were punctured, as if the fist of some angry god had beaten through. Under the decayed portico stood an iron brazier. Near this reposed a cracked stone sarcophagus; an unusual sight in this part of the world. It was without its lid. But one god now brooded hereabouts—silence. Not a sound anywhere, not even from the near-by trees. She saw a noiseless lizard slide jerkily across a patch of moonshine and dissolve into the purple shadow beyond.

What was this temple? What gods had been worshiped here? And why was it deserted? She had heard her father tell of the ruined city of Chitor. Plague? . . . Kathlyn shuddered. Sometimes villages, to the last soul in them, were brushed from existence and known no more to man. And this might be one of them. Yet indications of a village were nowhere to be seen. It was merely a temple, perhaps, miles from the nearest village, deserted save by prowling wild beasts, the winds, the sunshine, and the moonshine. She looked far and wide for any signs of human habitation.

She commanded Rajah to kneel. So held by the enchanting picture was Kathlyn that the elephant's renewed restlessness (and he had reason, as will be seen,) passed unobserved by her. He came to knee, however, and she got out of the howdah. Her legs trembled for a space, for her nerves were in a pitiable condition. Suddenly Rajah's ears went forward, he rose, and his trunk curled angrily. With a whuff he wheeled and shuffled off toward the jungle out of which he had so recently emerged.

"Halt!" cried Kathlyn. What had he heard? What had he seen? "Halt!" But even as she called the tall grass closed in behind the elephant. What water and food she had disappeared with him.

She paused by the brazier, catching hold of it for support. She laughed hysterically; it was so funny; it was all so out of joint with real things, with everyday life as she had known it. Weird laughter returned to mock her astonished ears, a sinister echo. And then she laughed at the echo, being in the grip of a species of madness. In the purple caverns of the temple she suddenly became conscious of another presence. A flash as of moonlight striking two chrysoberyls took the madness out of her mind. This forsaken temple was the haunt of a leopard or a tiger.

She was lost. That magnetism which ordinarily was hers was at its nadir. She hesitated for a second, then climbed into the empty sarcophagus, crouching low. Strangely enough, as she did so a calm fell upon her, and the terrors of her position dropped away from her as mists from the mountain peaks. She had, however, gotten into the hiding place none too soon.

She heard the familiar pad-pad, the whiff-whiff of a big cat. Immediately into the moonlight came an African lion, as out of place here as Kathlyn herself; his tail slashed, there was a long, black streak from his mane to his tail, where the hair had risen. Kathlyn crouched even lower. The lion trotted round the sarcophagus, sniffing. Presently he lifted his head and roared. The echoes played battledore and shuttlecock with the sound. The lion roared again, this time at the insulting echoes. For a few minutes the noise was deafening. A rumble as of distant thunder, and the storm died away.

By and by she peered out cautiously. She saw the lion crossing the open space between the temple and the jungle. She saw him pause, bend his head, then lope away in the direction taken by Rajah.

To Kathlyn it seemed that she had no longer anything to do with the body of Kathlyn Hare. The soul of another had stepped into this wearied flesh of hers and now directed its physical manifestations, while her own spirit stood gratefully and passively aloof. Nothing could happen now; the world had grown still and calm. The spirit drew the sleeves of the robe snugly about her arms and laid Kathlyn's head upon them and drew her down into a profound slumber.

Half a mile to the north of the ruined temple there lay, all unsuspected by Kathlyn, a village—a village belonging solely to the poor, mostly ryots or tillers of the soil. The poor in Asia know but two periods of time, for rarely do they possess such a thing as a watch or a clock; sunset and sunrise. Perhaps the man of the family may sit awhile at dusk on his mud doorsill, with his bubbling water pipe (if he has one,) and watch the stars slowly swing across the arch. A pinch of very bad tobacco is slowly consumed; then he enters the hut, flings himself upon his matting (perhaps a cotton rug, more likely a bundle of woven water reeds,) and sleeps. No one wakes him; habit rouses him at dawn. He scrubs his teeth with a fibrous stick. It is a part of his religious belief to keep his teeth clean. The East Indian (Hindu of Mohammedan,) has the whitest, soundest teeth in the world if the betelnut is but temperately used.

Beyond this lay a ruined city, now inhabited by cobras and slinking jackals.

Dawn. A few dung fires smoldered. From the doorway of one of the mud huts came a lean man, his naked torso streaked with wet ashes, his matted hair hanging in knots and tangles on his emaciated shoulders. His aspect was exceedingly filthy; he was a holy man, which in this mad country signifies physical debasement, patience, and fortitude such as would have adorned any other use. A human lamprey, sticking himself always at the thin and meager board of the poor, a vile parasite, but holy!

The holy man directed his steps to the narrow, beaten pathway which led to the temple, where, every morning, he performed certain rites which the poor, benighted ryots believed would some day restore the ruined city and the prosperity which attends fat harvests. The holy man had solemnly declared that it would take no less than ten years to bring about this miracle. And the villagers fell down with their foreheads in the dust. He was a Brahmin; the caste string hung about his neck; he was indeed holy, he who could have dwelt on the fat of the land, in maharajahs' courts. The least that can be said is that he performed his duties scrupulously.

So, then, the red rim of the March sun shouldered up above the rolling jungle as he came into the beaten clay court which fronted the temple. The lion stalked only at night, rarely appearing in the day time. Once a month he was given a bullock, for he kept tiger and leopard away, and the villagers dwelt in peace. The lion had escaped from Allaha, where the species were kept as an additional sport. Since he had taken up his abode in the temple there had been fewer thefts from the cattle sheds.

The holy man was about to assume his squatting posture in the center of the court, as usual, when from out of the sarcophagus rose languidly a form, shrouded in white. The form stretched its lovely arms, white as alabaster, and presently the hands rubbed a pair of sleepy eyes. Then the form sat down within the sarcophagus, laid its arms on the rim, and wearily hid its face in them.

The watcher was the most dumfounded holy man in all India. For the first time in his hypocritical life he found faith in himself, in his puerile rites. He had conjured up yonder spirit, unaided, alone. He rose, turned, and never a holy man ran faster. When he arrived, panting and voiceless, at the village well, where natives were coming and going with water in goatskins and jars and copper vessels, he fell upon his face, rose to his knees, and poured handfuls of dust upon his head.

"Ai, ai!" he called. "It is almost done, my children. The first sign has come from the gods. I have brought you in human form the ancient priestess!" And he really believed he had. "O, my children, my little ones, my kids! I have brought her who will now attend to the sacred fires; for these alone will restore the city as of old, the fat corn, the plenitude of fruit. Since the coming of the lion two rains ago, the leopard and the striped one have forsaken their lairs. One bullock a month is better than fire, together with the kids and children. Ai!" More dust.

Naturally the villagers set down their water skins and jars and copper vessels and flocked about this exceptional Holy Man. They wanted to believe him, but for years nothing had happened but the advent of the lion, whence no one exactly knew, though the Holy Man had not been backward in claiming it was due to his nearness to the god Vishnu.

They followed him eagerly to the temple. What they beheld transfixed them. A woman with skin like the petals of the lotus and hair like corn sat in the sacred sarcophagus and braided her hair, gazing the while toward the bright sun.

The intake of many breaths produced a sound. Kathlyn turned instantly toward this sound, for a moment expecting the return of the lion. Immediately Holy Man and villagers threw themselves upon the ground, striking their foreheads against the damp clay. The alien spirit still ruled the substance; Kathlyn eyed them in mild astonishment, not at all alarmed.

"Ai!" shrilled the Holy Man, springing to his feet. "Ai! She is our ancient priestess, rising from her tomb of centuries! Ai, ai! Oh, thou unholy children, to doubt my word! Behold! Henceforth she shall share the temple with the lion, and later she will give us prosperity, and my name shall ever be in your households."

Having secured a priestess, he was now determined that he should not lose her. The future was roseate, indeed, and when he took his next pilgrimage to holy Benares they would bestrew his pathway with lotus flowers.

"Wood to start the sacred fires!" he commanded.

The villagers flew to obey his orders. He was indeed a Holy Man. Not in the memory of the oldest had a miracle such as this happened. Upon their return with wood and embers the Holy Man built the fire, handing a lighted torch to Kathlyn and signifying for her to touch the tinder. The spirit in Kathlyn told her that these people meant her no immediate harm, so she stepped out of the sarcophagus and applied the torch. The moment the flames began to crackle the villagers prostrated themselves again, and the Holy Man besmeared his bony chest with more ashes.

A second Holy Man appeared upon the scene, wanting in breath. His jaw dropped and his eyes started to leave their sockets. Knowing his ilk so thoroughly well, he flung himself down before the brazier and beat his forehead upon the ground, not in any chastened spirit, but because he had overslept that morning. This glory might have been his! Ai, ai!

Later the two conferred. During the day they should guard the priestess, because, having taken human form, she might some day tire of this particular temple. At night she would be well guarded by the lion.

Several awe-stricken women came forward with bowls of cooked rice and fruits and a new copper drinking vessel. These they reverently placed at Kathlyn's feet.

Gradually the spirit which had comforted Kathlyn withdrew, and at length Kathlyn became keenly alive. It entered her mind clearly that these poor, foolish people really believed her a celestial being, and so long as they laid no hand upon her she was not alarmed. She had recently passed through too many terrors to be disturbed by a bit of kindness, even if stirred into being by a religious fanaticism.

Kathlyn ate.

By pairs the villagers departed, and soon none remained save her self-appointed guardians, the two Holy Men. Kathlyn felt a desire to explore this wonderful temple. She discovered what must have been the inner shrine. The chamber was filled with idols; here and there a bit of gold leaf, centuries old, glistened upon the bronze, the clay, the wood. The caste mark on the largest idol's head was a polished ruby, overlooked doubtless during the loot. She swept the dust from the jewel with the tip of her finger, and the dull fire sent a shiver of delight over her. She was still a woman.

As she wandered farther in her foot touched something and she looked down. It was a bone; in fact, the floor was strewn with bones. She quickly discerned, much to her relief, that none of these bones was human. This was, or had been, the den of the lion. There was an acrid, unpleasant odor, so she hurried back to the brazier. Vaguely she comprehended that she must keep the fire replenished from time to time in order to pacify the two holy men. At night it would fend off any approach of the lion.

Where was Bruce? Would he ever find her? That philosophy which she had inherited from her father, that quiet acceptance of the inevitable, was the one thing which carried her through her trials sanely. An ordinary woman would have died from mere exhaustion.

Bruce, indeed! At that very moment he was rushing out of the Kumar's presence, wild to be off toward the road to Allaha, since Kathlyn had not been seen upon it. He found where Rajah had veered off into the jungle again, and followed the trail tirelessly. But it was to be his misfortune always to arrive too late.

To Kathlyn the day passed with nothing more than the curiosity of the natives to disturb her. They brought her cotton blankets which she arranged in the sarcophagus. There were worse beds in the world than this; at least it shielded her from the bitter night wind.

She ate again at sundown and builded high the sacred fire and tried to plan some manner of escape; for she did not propose to be a demigoddess any longer than was necessary. From Pundita she had learned many words and a few phrases in Hindustani, and she ventured to speak them to the Holy Men, who seemed quite delighted. They could understand her, but she on her part could make little or nothing of their jabbering. Nevertheless, she pretended.

Finally the Holy Men departed, after having indicated the sacred fire and the wood beside it. This fire pleased Kathlyn mightily. While it burned brightly the lion would not prowl in her immediate vicinity. She wondered where this huge cat had come from, since she knew her natural history well enough to know the African lions did not inhabit this part of the globe. Doubtless it had escaped from some private menagerie.

The fire, then, giving her confidence, she did not get into the sarcophagus, but wandered about, building in her fancy the temple as it had stood in its prime. The ceilings had been magnificently carved, no two subjects alike; and the walls were of marble and jasper and porphyry. A magic continent this Asia in its heyday. When her forefathers had been rude barbarians, sailing the north seas or sacrificing in Druidical rites, there had been art and culture here such as has never been surpassed. India, of splendid pageants, or brave warriors and gallant kings! Alas, how the mighty had fallen! About her, penury, meanness, hypocrisy, uncleanliness, thievery, and unbridled passions. . . . What was that? Her heart missed a beat. That pad-pad; that sniffing noise!

"The Holy Man was about to assume the squatting posture in the center of the court when from out of the sarcophagus arose languidly [illegible] shrouded in white."

She whirled about, knocking over an idol. It came down with a crash and, being of clay, lay in shards at her feet. (Unfortunately it was the holy of holies in this temple.) How she gained the shelter of the sarcophagus she never knew, but gain it she did, and cowered down within. She could hear the beast trotting round and round, sniffing and rumbling in his throat. Then the roaring of the preceding night was repeated. The old fellow evidently could not find those other lions who roared back at him so valiantly. Evidently fire had no terrors for him. For an hour or more he patrolled the portico, and all this time Kathlyn did not stir, hardly daring to breathe for fear he might undertake to peer into the sarcophagus.

Silence. A low roar from the inner shrine told her that for the present she was safe. Tomorrow she must fly, whither did not matter. Toward 4 o'clock she fell into a doze and was finally awakened by the sound of voices raised in anger.

Poor sheep! They had discovered the shattered idol. It did not matter at all that the return of their ancient goddess was to bring back prosperity. She had broken their favorite idol. Damnation would come in a devil's wind that night.

The holy man who had missed the chance of claiming the miraculous appearance of Kathlyn as a work of his own now saw an opportunity to rehabilitate himself in the eyes of those who had made his holiness a comfortable existence. With a piece of the idol in his hand, he roused Kathlyn and shook the clay before her face, jabbering violently. Kathlyn understood readily enough. She had unwittingly committed a sacrilege.

The natives gathered about and menaced her. Kathlyn rose, standing in the sarcophagus, and extended her hands for silence. She was frightened, but it would never do to let them see it. What Hindustani she knew would in this case be of no manner of use. But we human beings can, by facial expression and gesture, make known our messages with understandable clearness. From her gestures, then, the holy men gathered that she could re-create the god. She pointed toward the sun and counted on her fingers.

The premier holy man, satisfied that he understood Kathlyn's gestures, turned to the justly angered villagers and explained that with his aid their priestess would, in five suns, re-create Vishnu in all his beauty. Instantly the villagers prostrated themselves.

"Poor things!" murmured Kathlyn.

The holy men sent the natives away, for it was not meet that they should witness magic in the making. They then squatted in the clay court and curiously waited for her to begin. There was a well in the inner shrine. To this she went with caution. The lion was evidently foraging in the jungle. Kathlyn filled the copper vessel with water and returned. Next, she gathered up what pieces of the idol she could find and pieced them together. Here was her model. She then approached one of the fakirs and signified that she had need of his knife. He demurred at first, but at length consented to part with it. She dug up a square piece of clay. In fine, she felt more like the Kathlyn of old than she had since completing the leopard in her outdoor studio. It occupied her thoughts, at least part of them, for she realized that mayhap her life depended upon her skill in reproducing the hideous idol.

As the two old hypocrites saw the clay take form and shape and the mocking face gradually appear, they were assured that [illegible] the ancient priest[illegible] in their souls they [illegible] thing of the awe [illegible] spired in the poor, [illegible]

RAILROAD BUSINESS [illegible]

The Steam Railroads [illegible] Short Hauls to Electric [illegible] Are Increasing Long [illegible]

[Pittsburgh Dispatch:] [illegible] expectations of railway [illegible] length of the average [illegible] senger increases with the [illegible] population, instead of [illegible] is the case in Europe. [illegible] figures just at hand, the [illegible] ney on American steam [illegible] 1911 was 33.4 miles, as [illegible] 28½ miles in 1901 and [illegible] 1891, and this despite the [illegible] the number of passenger [illegible] ice per mile of road [illegible] 75,000 in 1891 to 89,000 [illegible] 139,000 in 1911. Thus, [illegible] ing an increase of 85 per [illegible] senger density, the average [illegible] ride increased 39 per [illegible] years. The explanation [illegible] is to be found in the [illegible] velopment of the urban [illegible] ban electric railway [illegible] section of the country, the [illegible] capitalization of which [illegible] than quadrupled since [illegible] mileage of such lines, [illegible] 10,363 and the capital [illegible] $1,300,139,711, compared [illegible] miles and $5,545,853,611 [illegible] 1913. She plays havoc with the sedentary habits of Hollidge, whom she calls "Dick" on the second day, induces him to invite a man to the house whom he heartily dislikes, and finally, in her unique, but not unmaidenly way, makes her "second cousin" understand just exactly what he most needs and desires.

SAFETY IN KNOWLEDGE.

BIOLOGY OF SEX. By T. W. Galloway, Ph.D. D. C. Heath & Co., New York, Boston and Chicago.

THIS little book is another of the numerous appeals that are now going forth for better sex instruction among boys and girls and young men and women. The author has taken the occasion in frank talks to college men and women of the Christian associations to arrange a brief series of questions which the students were requested to answer, the answers being unsigned. There was, therefore, no reason for hesitancy in the utmost frankness. These young men and women were among the average intelligent, self-respecting products of moral homes. Prof. Calloway was able to discover among answers from seventy young men and ninety-six young women at what age the subject of sex was brought in a striking way to their attention, through whom it was brought, what effect the information produced, whether good or bad, whether their beliefs were that fuller and more authoritative information, given in the right spirit, would have been any help, and in what way. The results are extremely interesting, and will prove to parents that in this age of precocity no amount of precaution is likely to shield a child from early sex knowledge, many children coming into it as early as 6 years of age. In the face of this fact the urgent plea of Prof. Galloway and others to win and hold the voluntary confidence of one's own child, and give him knowledge as his inquiring mind demands it, should cease merely to flutter our personal opinions, and become a moral obligation of all parents to their children. The author goes on to demonstrate wherein ignorance exposes a boy or girl to the deterioration and sometimes the destruction of his or her own body, and subjects the future progeny to grave dangers. "It is not enough to prevent marriage and reproduction on the part of defective and habitually criminal individuals," writes Dr. Galloway. "It is incumbent on society that our young people should be so educated as to understand that it is their duty to handle in a sane and scientific way the physical and moral plagues that cluster about sexual immorality. The venereal diseases, which are strongly communicable, are much more harmful and dangerous to the human race than smallpox or scarlet fever."

It is difficult to conceive how, in the face of facts, instruction in these matters should nave been suspended in the public schools of such a metropolis as Chicago.

ANNALS OF ART.

THE MASTER IMPRESSIONISTS. By Charles Louis Borgmeyer. Fine Arts Press, Chicago.

IN THE Fine Arts Journal during the past year have appeared a series of articles upon "The Master Impressionists," by Charles Louis Borgmeyer, recently published in book form with many excellent illustrations. The subject is so simply, so interestingly given, the general reader may find much to appreciate.

Mr. Borgmeyer is well known to art lovers, through "The Luxembourg and Its Treasures."

In "The Master Impressionists" he traces, step by step, the progress of those painters who, more than fifty years ago, revolted against the traditions of the old masters, and fought for light and atmosphere, instead of dark and somber color schemes. In a broad and perfectly-unbiased manner, he writes of these innovations and results obtained by them in breaking away from the influences of academic instruction. He groups them and carries them along in chronological sequence to the painters whose work has so recently been seen at the International Exhibition of Modern Art in New York, Boston and Chicago.

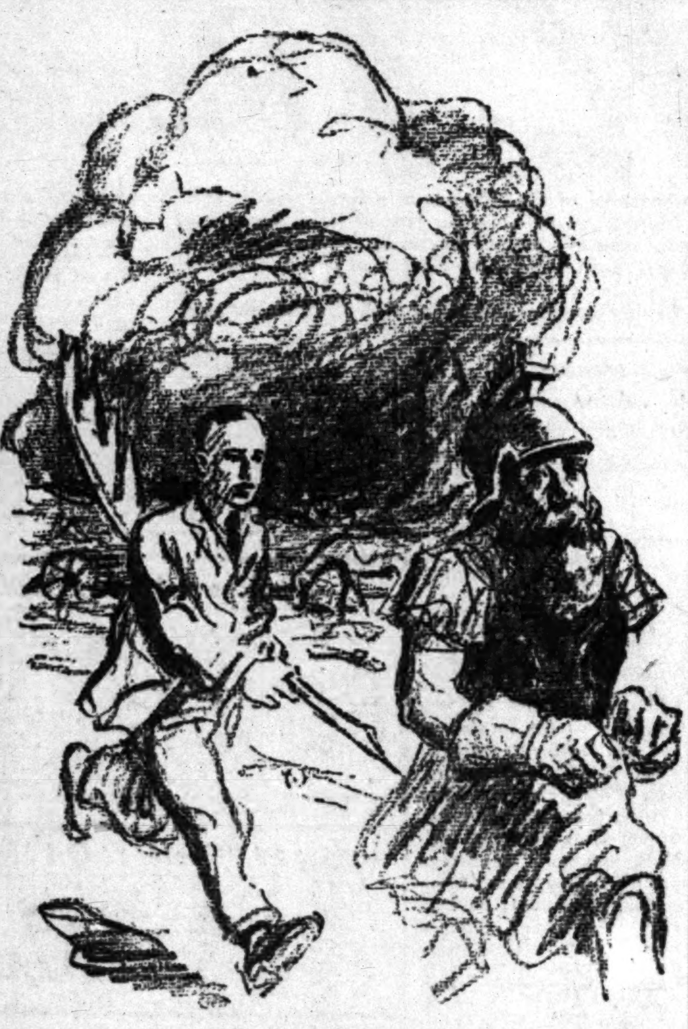
The author tells us who were the master impressionists, and that, whether we admire their pictures or not, we ought at least to know about them, what they did and why they did it. Of his own attitude he says: "Curiosity led me to the study of their works, not a spontaneous liking. Repeated visits to exhibitions of impressionists' works, a study of their purposes and their lives and the opinion and judgments gained from others, have given me a feeling of admiration for the sincerity of the men who never once gave up their ideals to please the public. This very sincerity makes their work impressive."

He suggests that all approach such study as would a child, forgetting that which has been acquired from other sources that something may be learned from them. It is this quality of sympathy and insight, this power to perceive and to analyze, which enables him to bring the reader into accord with these masters, who put their heart and soul and head into their work. The author's first idea was to confine himself to the pictures of the Caillebotte collection at the Luxembourg, but this he considers unfair for both the artist and reader. Therefore, he broadens the scope and draws illustrations from the collections, not only in Paris, but the cities in America.

The opening chapters reveal the dominating influence of Monet and the splendor of his genius. He was the leader of this group, who contended that sunlight was the creative source of color. Claude Monet's picture, "Impression; Soleil Ievant," gave to the impressionists their name. The name was given accidentally and derisively at the first historic exhibition, and the impressionists accepted it without a word of protest.

Seeming to divine and to respond to what is deeply and humanly felt, the author has traced this brilliant group through opposition to definite victory, and says:

"The change that Zola speaks of as having taken place between the Paris salon of 1883 and of twenty years before has continued, and the salon of today, as compared with the salon of thirty years ago, is like a bright May morning compared with a dark November day."



As Alfred Noyes,
The youngest famous bard in England fancies himself.

The Caillebotte legacy referred to in the beginning was a collection made by the strongest sort of a partisan, an amateur, who aided greatly these masters by buying their pictures. The collection was left at his death to the Luxembourg. Illustrations and descriptions of the pictures that fill the Caillebotte legacy-room form a highly-interesting part of the book.

It is now seen that in studying these pictures new beauties are opened up, and the principles for which the impressionists fought have made so strong an appeal that the author has become an enthusiast. In the closing chapter he refers to the personalities in the various art movements and ends the series stating the aims of all.

"Orthodox art in painting: the invitation of things."

"Impressions: painting the effect of things, concentration on atmosphere."

—"Post-impressionism: painting the psychological feeling or sensation of things."

"Cubism: painting of forms lineally in planes, concentration on form."

"Futurism: painting of 'States of Mind' and glorification of movement."

The book is a readable and valuable volume, both to the professional artist and to all lovers of art. It traces the history of the movement through all its various vicissitudes and gives an analysis of the methods and work of the impressionists. These men rendered a true service to art. They brought light, atmosphere and color into painting. Their discoveries directed toward new beauty, and from them has evolved the great modern art of today.

MAKING OF A MAN.

WILLIAM AND BILL. By Grace MacGowan Cooke and Caroline Wood Morrison. The Century Company, New York.

THIS story of two southern boys, from infancy to manhood, marks an interesting contrast between two diametrically differing natures. William is the son of a timid, sentimental, quavering little widow, full of apprehensions of every variety, and particularly in all matters pertaining to her son. The consquent precocious propriety of the youth, his readiness to do all things as he is bidden, his studiousness, his lack of masculine initiative, his lack of sturdy health all are the result of his over-anxious mother's restraining hand.

Bill's mother is different. She leaves her boy more or less to his own devices, with the result that he spends most of his time out of doors, in intense and healthful activity. At one period, left in the hands of Cousin William's mother, he proves altogether too much for that gentle lady. The healthy young animal gormandizes, and makes his own hours for sleeping, with the result that he very soon falls out of condition. Aunt 'Melia, with fear of "tuber-closes," and guided by bad medical advice, humors every whim of the child, with the result that he grows worse both physically and morally. The climax comes when he throws a stone through the window of a doctor's office, a doctor who at once takes the young man in hand explodes the "tuber-closes" theory, and finds his boyhood sweetheart in Aunt 'Melia. Bill is at once put on a diet, and restricted hours, so that when mother returns she finds him not quite what he would have been had not "Uncle Doc" come upon the scene.

It may readily be guessed that Bill—willful, determined, aggressive—is the real hero of the story, his ladylike cousin serving as an excellent foil. It is interesting to watch how William tries to approach the standards of Bill, and how Bill, where girls enter into the question, is more or less guided by the gentler William. The masterpiece of the whole book is the chapter where the two young men, in their first long trousers, make their first call. Without the courage to ask for the girls, the two boys stay and stay, being herded in to dinner, and finally upstairs to bed. In the morning, hypnotized, half-terrorized, with the whole family alive to the humor of the situation, the black servants grinning in the hall, William bolts for the gate, but Bill declares manfully, "We came to see the girls!" and bravely kisses the daughter of the house on her pretty mouth. The ice is broken, and Bill departs as a conquering hero.

Great, big, hard-muscled Bill develops a large-hearted chivalry toward women, through his sympathies almost falling victim to a designing young divorcee, but finally finding a sweet little meadow flower—also, by the way, beauty in distress. The whole story is refreshing, absorbing, and compels the reader to see what the authors saw. It might prove a book of revelation to mothers of boys. Some of the touches are infinitely delicate and beautiful.

DILUTED REALISM.

THE STORY OF LOUIE. By Oliver Onions. George H. Doran Company, New York.

THE most conspicuous thing about Mr. Onions's writing is his style. It is obtusely simple. He scarcely takes the trouble to explain the story to the reader. If the reader happens to divine it by a sort of sixth or seventh sense there is no harm done, but Mr. Onions doesn't seem particularly concerned over the matter. "The Story of Louie" is the last of a trilogy of which "In Accordance with the Evidence" and "The Debit Account" are a part. Those who have read the first two will be better able to understand the last (although it is far from being unintelligible,) as they include the same characters and treat of many of the same incidents.

"The Story of Louie" deals with a young woman who is the daughter of a prize fighter and a lady of England—a real lady with an appellation attached. Louie is rebellious and willful; she cares not a whit for the opinions of others. At the horticultural school which she attends she breaks the rules for the fun of the thing, shocks all of her friends by openly acknowledging the prize-fighter as her father, and also allows a young man to make love to her.

Later Louie leaves to enter a business school and there meets Mr. Jeffries. She loves Mr. Jeffries, but his interest is in an insipid maiden who, even though engaged to him, does not remain faithful.

Louie leaves the business school and goes to her father, who does the manly thing upon learing that his daughter is soon to become a mother. Louie still keeps in touch with her friends at the business college. Jeffries goes into business, succeeds, marries the girl he wanted first. Louie gets one job after another and quits or loses them. At last she enters the employ of Mr. Jeffries and Mrs. Jeffries tries to make herself annoying. The ending is dramatic.

The story is built block by block, and we are more interested in watching the author work than in what he really accomplishes. Many characters appear and each has a distinctive individuality. Mr. Onions is a master at portraying personalities, and while there is little that is charming about Louie, even against our better judgment, we are likely to be in sympathy with her.

DULL REMINESCENCES.

THINGS I REMEMBER. By Frederick Townsend Martin. John Lane Company, New York.

IN his latest book Mr. Martin appears as a rather tedious social gossip. It is true he has known many people of importance among the royalty of Europe and the "400" of the United States, but little personal sketches of them and records of their commonplace talk is scarcely reason for writing a book.

Space is taken up to tell us that by some mistake his "Uncle Frederick" was not invited to a family funeral, but came anyway and took his stand at the rear of the church with the servants. Afterward the uncle announced to his distressed relatives that no matter who died in the future he would not again attend the funeral.

Mr. Martin also tells of one Alec Yorke who was a "wonderful mimic" and imitated Queen Victoria. The Queen heard of it and ordered him to perform before her. Yorke was "dreadfully" put out because he heard afterward that the Queen said she did not believe he could be so vulgar. All of which may have been of absorbing interest to Mr. Martin or his friend Yorke, but is scarcely worth the reading public's consideration. And it is practically the same with all of the anecdotes related.

THE BARD OF AVON.

THE FACTS ABOUT SHAKESPEARE. Edited by William Allan Neilson and Shaley Horace Thorndike. Macmillan Company, New York.

THIS little volume is published in the edition uniform with "The Tudor Shakespeare" and contains practically everything that is known of the dramatist—and even the most exhaustive researches bring but scant reward.

"The Facts About Shakespeare" is of exceptional value to the students of his plays, for as a companion volume to them the editors have, with excellent judgment, included an index of all the characters, a bibliography of commentators on Shakespeare and his works and also gives references to those authors who have written upon the history of the stage.

WITH THE AUTHORS.

Harper & Bros. announce for reprintings: "The Ivory Gate," by Walter Besant; "Highland Cousins," by William Black; "A Pair of Patient Lovers," by William Dean Howells; "Japanese Homes and Their Surroundings," by Edward S. Morse; "The Golden House," by Charles Dudley Warner; and "Bently," "Byron" and "Goldsmith," from the English Men of Letters Series, edited by John Morley.

Lee Foster Hartman, author of "The White Sapphire," recently published, and the author's first venture into fiction, was born in Ft. Wayne, Ind., 1879, and was graduated from Wesleyan University in 1901. In 1904 he removed from the staff of the "Associated Sunday Magazine" to enter the service of Harper Bros., and since 1908 has been a member of the editorial staff of "Harper's Magazine."

Houghton Mifflin Company have been obliged to make a second printing before publication of Mary Roberts Rinehart's latest novel, "The After House" in order to fill the large advance orders which have followed in the wake of its announcement.

Now that his new novel, "A People's Man," is off the press, E. Phillips Oppenheim has gone to the south of France for golf. In the near future Mr. Oppenheim contemplates spending a year in Africa, shooting big game.

Eden Phillpotts's new novel, "From the Angle of Seventeen," published January 3, by Little, Brown & Co., has reached a second printing.

The Hon. Dean C. Worcester's book, "The Philippines," which the Macmillan Company will have ready shortly, was in 1887 and 1890 a prominent member of scientific expeditions to the isalnds, later, as is well known, becoming a member of the United States Philippine Commission, and Secretary of the Interior to the Insular Government. His "Philippine Islands and Their People" was published in 1899.

Houghton Mifflin Company announce the publication, on February 28 of "Terry's Japanese Empire," a guide book on the Baedeker model to Japan, Korea and Formosa. Mr. Terry's book compresses into a small pocket volume the matter which one must unusually sift from a dozen to twenty books.

E. P. Dutton & Co. announce "Fishing Stories," contributed to by sportsmen and women of the English nobility, and sumptuously bound and illustrated; "Korean Folk Tales;" "An Expert's Report on Farming as a Business," by Dr. A. D. Hall; and "New Ideals in the Gospel" by Dr. Herman Schell.

The Macmillan Company announce "The Crock of Gold," by James Stephens; "How to Sing," by Lilli Lehman; "The Flight and Other Poems," by G. E. Woodberry; "The Reformation in Germany," by H. C. Vedder; "On Politics and History," by Lord Morley; "The Battles of Peace," "The Heresey of Cain" and "Christianity Between Sundays," by Dean George Hodges.

The Page Company will shortly publish a new Miss Billy book, "Married," in which Mrs. Porter leads her popular heroine to the altar.

The Bancroft Company announce "The New Pacific," by Hubert Howe Bancroft, whose purpose is to give the romance and reality of this region, its climates and industries, its wealth and potentialities and its "assured destiny."

MAGAZINE NOTES.

The National Geographic Magazine for January devotes the entire contents to "Here and There in Northern Africa," by Frank Edward Johnson. The article contains sixteen pages of photogravure and 114 illustrations, and fills almost 130 pages. Mr. Johnson has written with charm and out of the fulness of rare information.

Scribner's for February devotes much space to articles of especial interest to automobile enthusiasts, including "Scenes on Old Trails," by Earle Harrison, which describes the transcontinental roads of tomorrow; "Motorized Highway Commerce," by Rollin W. Hutchinson, Jr.; "Transcontinental Trails" and what their development means to this country, by Henry B. Joy (president of the Lincoln Highway Association.) A few stories of fiction, several short poems and other articles are also included.

The Century for February is a good number with an abundance of excellent fiction, including "The Temple of a Thousand Gods," by John Luther Long. Johnston Forbes-Robertson writes on "The Theater of Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," and Richard le Gallienne writes "Forbes-Robertson: An Appreciation." "The Mexican Menace," by W. Morgan Shuster is of especial interest to those who are closely watching the destiny of the southern republic.

The Atlantic Monthly for February presents "The Philosophy of Dancing," by Havelock Ellis, who contends that dancing and architecture are the two primary and essential arts. John Mitchell defends "The Economic Necessity of Trade-Unionism." "The Street," by Simeon Strunsky (literary editor of the New York Post,) is a delightful essay of the kind we seldom see. An autobiographical account of Abraham Mitrie Rihbany is "In New York With Nine Cents"—illustrating what a Syrian immigrant can do.

The Sunset for February has a picture of the Washington Rock of the San Fernando Valley as the cover design. "Yesterday and Tomorrow in Alaska," by Walter E. Clark and Franklin K. Lane is a statement regarding nearly a half century of neglect of that territory and a forecast of the future — when Alaska's needs are officially recognized. "Looking Into the Future," by Winfield Hogaboom, deals with the Panama-California Exposition at San Diego. Portor Garnett describes "The Merritt Home at Pasadena," and Peter B. Kyne has a clever story on "Tainted Wealth." L. Clare Davis is the author of a delicate bit of verse entitled "In Lullaby Land." The number also includes many other articles and stories.

Everybody's Magazine for February has the second installment of "Little Eva Edgarton," a serial story by Eleanor Hallowell Abbott, which bids fair to be one of the finest bits of fiction even that clever writer has turned out. William Hard raps the United States Patent Office severely in his article on "Better Business"—which, by the way, shows that business can be discussed and not always complimentary, without wielding a muckrake. George A. Birmingham writes a snappy story, "The Violinist," and E. W. Hornung has "One Possessed." Alfred Noyes presents a rather long poem, with profuse illustrations, on "The War-Makers." The illustrations are good.

The Strand (English publication) for February, presents an article on "Captain Gates," that most gallant of heroes, by Commander Evans, who gives personal recollections of his brave comrade. "A Doll's Palace," by Mrs. Herbert Vivian, describes the most expensive mansion for manikins in the world. C. R. Macauley and his work (Macauley is the cartoonist on the New York World) is discussed in "An International Cartoonist." The Strand includes the usual number of stories.

The Red Book for February opens with the first installment of a new novel by Elinor Glyn; the title is "Man and the Moment." Clinton Yorke has another experience with babies and calls it "The Maiden Avenue Baby Club." "The Case of Larry Doyle," by Frederick R. Bechdolt is a strong story showing that lawlessness is often an expression of wholesome energy. A half dozen other stories are also included.

Lippincott's for February has a complete novel, "The Message of the Sword," by Clinton Dangerfield, which is based on the Mexican situation. "A Discourse on Modern Sibyls," by Lady Ritchie (Mrs. Anne Thackeray Ritchie,) dealing with authors; "The Dream Minstrel," by Kenneth Rand, is a good bit of verse, and the "Walnuts and Wine"—comedy in verse and repartee—are among the many other features.

Physical Culture for February has several strong editorials from the pen of Bernar Macfadden, dealing chiefly with hygienic prudery; contributions from Annette Kellerman on "Dancing for Health and Beauty," from Horace Fletcher on "Mind, Muscle and Diet," from Senator Benjamin R. Tillman on "My Fight for Life and Health," as well as articles and stories from the pens of Elbert Hubbard, Upton Sinclair, Jack London (continued story) are among the contents.

The Popular Magazine for February has a short story, "The Saber-Tooth," by George Sterling — and it is a far cry from "The Wine of Wizardy" to a yarn about lovers who lived when evolution was in its cradle. Peter B. Kyne appears with "The Joy of Living," describing how a new kind of insurance company tries to be popular. Many other stories are included, but none better than "Fear of Home," by Theodore Goodridge Roberts.

LITERARY CHIT-CHAT.

BY GENEVIEVE FARNELL-BOND.

Peace—it seems a word beloved in the hearts of both prose-monger and poet, even with Mexico bumping her bellicose head on the ceiling of the first floor below the United States. Of all the wild war songs that were ever written, none, in my opinion, have had a higher note of triumph than Edwin Markham's "Peace Over Africa." Have you read it? No? Then it will be worth while to sweep into the abandon of the opening stanza:

"O bugles, ripple and shine!
Ripple and rapture down the wavering line!
Praise, praise, praise
For the last of the desperate days!
Shake out the lyrical notes
From your cavernous, silvern throats!
Burst into joy-mad carols once again
To herald the homing men!"

Then hear the prayer of the closing lines:

"And cannon, worn out with their work of hell,
The brief, abrupt persuasion of the shell—
Let the shrewd spider lock them, one by one,
With filmy cables glancing in the sun;
And let the throstle in their empty throats
Build his safe nest, and spill his rippling notes."

All of which has the throbbing organ note of the closing phrases of a triumphant oratorio.

Frederic B. Copley conveys the same sane sentiment in his reply to an inquiry from a group of Los Angeles teachers, in regard to his book, "The Impeachment of President Israels," a reply touched with high, fine sentiment and principle: "My dominant idea was to tell a good story," he declares, "and I think I should like to have it judged primarily as a story. I hope, however, that it is an argument for international peace. I hope it will enable people to realize that a saner and better way of international dealing is quite possible. I hope it shows that race prejudice is senseless, and I should dearly love to have it help people realize that God still acts through human agents, urging them to sacrifice themselves for the sake of eternal progress. So far as I am able to judge, the fundamental meaning of President Israels is that while God has all eternity to work in, and we who dream of a better order must not be in too great a hurry to realize it, while we must ever keep in mind that what may be vicious for the comparatively enlightened may be virtuous for the comparatively unenlightened—still between people who have advanced no farther than the mass of people in such nations as Germany and the United States, war, as a means of settling disputes, can be made to look ridiculous, and that, right now, through the simple device of making a direct appeal to the moral law."

Again, we have Mrs. Trask, in her drama, "In the Vanguard," striking a similar note—indeed, so truly and ringingly that Maj. Lunn of Schenectady—an active worker in the cause of international arbitration—has been moved to read the play twice in public, the second time at the Mohawk Theater. And it evidently won the public mind in its well-patronized presentation. "It is doubtful," says a local paper, "if any one other literary achievement is contributing so much to the peace cause at this time as is Mrs. Trask's work."

Yes, yes, good authors, let us have peace by all means, even if we must fight for it—with the quill, of course, and with every chance of winning out according to good old tradition, over the sword—presumably the gun, too.

George Hamlin Fitch—who is arranging a course of lectures on "The Great Spiritual Books of the World," in the art gallery of his publishers, Paul Elder & Co., San Francisco—advances the opinion that "all great books are spiritual, the messages of men of genius; that all great writers have a direct spiritual message to every one who reads their literary products with open mind." Mr. Fitch evidently does not belong to the band of puritans to whom all things are impure. It is needless to state the positive interpretation of this negative. But what about the "Odes of Anacreon," some of the sensuously beautiful psalms, and the "Sonnets"—full of the luxurious languor of excessive feeling, and the melancholy joy of expression for the sake of expression? Mr. Fitch goes on to contend that next to the Bible, Shakespeare gives the largest material for spiritual study. We might timidly venture the wondering query if the author of this statement has really read the great dramatist and poet carefully from cover to cover. Of course, we hasten to admit that spiritual lessons may be drawn from any circumstance, however foreign in nature, in a negative way, when nothing else is possible. Did not a good man of the cloth go slumming in New York to see if it all was "really so bad," and to be the better equipped to warn all others? The writings of blessed old "Bill" are full of red blood, and human nature—the full scale and gamut. And if one be a good New Thoughter, he may be able to juggle his terms of qualification.

Mr. Fitch's subjects will be "The Influence of Spiritual Books," "Books by Great Churchmen," "Shakespeare and His Plays," "The Great Poets," "The Great Novelists," and "Some Great Inspirational Writers." The good old poets will be lined up, and their relative positions settled by comparison for good and all, with due wonder why brainy lecturers cannot resist the temptation to stir up professional jealousy across the Styx. Why not leave each poet to his own particular pedestal, with honors uncontested?

The offering of prizes for literary prowess is a goodly and stimulating proceeding. As in the boiling of grapes the seeds are sent to the top, and may be skimmed off, when only the rich, jamming substance is left, free of grit. John Masefield won the Royal Society of Literature's annual Edmund de Polignac prix of $500 last year, and this year it goes to James Stephens. "The Crock of Gold" is the humorously philosophic novel that has carried off the honors.

A Six Hundred-Acre Mint Bed.

[New York Times:] The first work of converting a 600-acre farm in Cass county, Michigan, into one immense mint bed has just been completed, the mild weather of the last few weeks permitting workmen to plow 100 acres on the farm of former United States Senator William Lorimer, in Wayne township, and prepare it for planting.

This farm occupies a section in the township a few miles from this city. Lying along the lowlands bordering the Dowagiac Creek, it is very fertile, with natural drainage. The high prices paid during the last season for peppermint oil in this vicinity have induced scores of land owners to turn their attention to the product.

Within the next three years it is believed the Lorimer farm will be planted entirely to mint, excepting a few acres for pasturage and for garden purposes.

TWO YOUNG BUCKEYE POETS.

[TED ROBINSON, IN THE CLEVEAND PLAIN DEALER.]

London has no more than two poets worthy of the name, say certain prominent critics.

New York has only one poet, we are credibly informed.

Cleveland has only three or four. What's the matter with our centers of civilized population?

The village of Kent, O., has two poets—two perfectly good poets in a town of less than 5000 population. This ought to be looked into. Let us look into it at once.

Ralph Heighton, 22 years old, fruit grower, orchard expert, professor of apples. He lives on the pleasant shores of Pippin Lake—he has always lived there. He is a slender young man with curly hair, dark, expressive eyes and a ready blush. At once you see that he is the ideal type of the rural poet. He lives next to nature, he dreams, he sings, he creates.

James Alexander Tully, 26 years old. By trade, a chain maker; by training, an athlete; by birth, an Irish Buckeye. An amateur pugilist of ability and muscle. He, too, is curly-headed, but his locks are red, his eye is blue, his shoulders are broad. He has lived in cities; he has sweated with factory laborers. He is the antithesis of Poet Heighton—and yet, he, too, has lived in Arcadia. He has drunk of the Pierian Spring.

Kent is a pretty town and an old one. There are historical spots there; the old inn where Garfield used to stop is pointed out to the stranger; the house where this President slept and that poet took his noonday meal. Walking through its streets, you shall meet the oldest inhabitant—age 103, mind you, and hale and hearty. He has lived in this county ninety years; he worked as a carpenter till a few months ago. He hears distinctly, he talks entertainingly, he walks his mile a day. He looks like a well preserved man of 75. This is Uncle George W. Austin. When he celebrates his one hundred and twenty-fifth birthday, Kent intends to hold a celebration, and both the local poets will write odes. He's so spry now that nobody regards him as worthy of occasional verse, yet awhile.

Night on the Water.

Night, in its myst'ry, hangs over the lake,
And only the stars and I are awake!
The waves lap softly against my boat,
As it rises and falls like a fisherman's float.

The rushes whisper among themselves
Of a secret learned from the water-elves,
And the dead leaves blown from the aspen tree,
Like fairy shallops, drift out to me.

The low wind wafts me the faint, sweet smell
Of meadows fragrant with immortelle,
As the light waves under the alders break—
'Tis night in October, upon the lake.
—[Ralph Heighton.

Indian Summer.

Indian summer! Soft blue skies
That melt into a purple haze;
O'er wood and hill and meadow lies
The dream-fraught stillness of the days
That comes like summer's afterglow
Ere winter's night of chill and snow.

The sunset clouds suffused with light,
A south wind stirring lazily;
The west aglow with colors bright,
And twilight setting hazily
O'er wood and lake, o'er hill and lea;
And then, dear love, a dream of thee!
—[Ralph Heighton.

On Holy Ground.

No more to me since yestere'en,
Like some fair land all unexplored,
With all its glories left unseen;
Or like a sealed book's hidden word
Seem sacred thoughts and hallow'd things,
For I have heard an angel's wings!

And, standing in a sacred place,
With something more than mortal sight
My eyes have seen a seraph's face,
And caught the gleam of garments white.
One hallow'd hour my life has crown'd,
For I have trodden holy ground!
—[Ralph Heighton.

Revenons a nos moutons—or, in plain Buckeye, let's get back to our poets. If the foregoing remarks have seemed to savor of lightness and frivolity, they were certainly never meant that way. Because there is a serious word to be said about thtese young poets of Kent, Ralph Heighton, first and foremost, has caught the spirit of the country lyric—the spirit that was with Suckling and Waller and those fellows, to inspire the freshest breaths of English psychological love poetry. Witness this:

To a Water Lily.

Dawn-kissed upon the lake's smooth breast,
Thy petals to the sun unfold,
In waxen white, dew-jeweled, dressed;
And lo! a heart of sunset gold!
Sweet scented as the breeze that blows
In Arcady, at twilight's close.

Ah, rarest flower of summer days,
Thou'rt like the princess of my heart;
Sweet as thy perfume are her ways,
Lovely her face as thou, too, art;
Yet, pure as is thy dear design,
Her heart is purer gold than thine!

That is a sample of Ralph Heighton's lyric. Simple and sweet, and taken from the things that bloom in his very dooryard.

A few more words about the author. He was born in Kent—or near there—and he has lived there all his life. This winter he is going to Cornell, there to learn something more about the raising of apples. He is taking the orchard course in the agricultural school—for, in his worship, the muse must divide honors with Pomona. To live in an orchard! What real poet would refuse such a destiny?

James Alexander Tully is an Ohio man, though he did not originate in Kent. He was born in St. Marys, but when he was yet a child he found himself selling papers on the streets of Chicago. It was in the Newsboys' home that he first found friends who recognized his talent and capabilities, and it was there that he wrote his first rhymes. He will always be glad to remember that his first printed verses were a tribute to Mrs. Post, the matron of the home. Crude as those verses may seem to him now, he treasures them; and, having read them, we can say that they ring true.

It was in that Newsboys' home that Tully learned the manly art of self-defense. He soon became the best boxer in the place and eagerly looked abroad for new worlds to conquer. Matches were easily arranged for the young featherweight, and it wasn't long before he became the most promising kid in Chicago. He was young and enthusiastic; there was a brain behind his fists.

Meanwhile, he was learning a trade. He became a chain maker. His muscles and endurance and Irish grit came in handy here. When the chain factory was started in Kent, James was on the job. And there he met the girl he was to marry.

Well, Mrs. Tully appears to have taken James Alexander by his brawny neck and rubbed his nose in a wholesome mess of facts. She made him drop the boxing game for one thing. The Kent chain factory closed down, you know, and there were a lot of openings for a boy who was handy with his dukes. But Mrs. James, the poetic muse and a little bit of a new baby put the cleaner on that stuff. And so—well, when a fellow can't make chains and can't enter the squared circle and has a wife and a big strong baby, what's he going to do? The answer is easy—do the only thing left in his repertory—write poetry. James Alexander Tully is now writing poetry, and mighty good poetry at that. Think this one over:

To a Dead Atheist.

Poor weary soul, that doubted unto death,
What are thy visions on the other shore?
Does life continue, or did thy last breath
Waft thee to nothing, which thou wast before?

Does old Khayyam in anguish beat his breast
And mutter curses to the God of all?
Or does he sleep, unconscious of his rest,
Beneath the roses by the garden wall?

Have brilliant Ingersoll and Great Voltaire
Found peace at last, or have their mighty brains
Been used by Satan's diabolic snare
To lure men downward to eternal pains?

Or, doubting sleeper, have you in the end
Found what we ask for as a last behest—
That Christ doth still remain the loyal friend
To earth's blind children who but do their best?

The Glory of "Kismet."

demands a rich conjoining of all these parts of its perfection.

Most of all, it waits upon purpose and animation.

To write the simplest play well a man must have formulated a clear philosophy of his own up to the level that he has carried himself and he must possess an equal clarity of expression. Only the man who can see life in large and definite pictures is adequate. Give him this vision and I will trust his characters and their words upon the stage.

* * *

There is nothing remarkable in the plot of "Kismet." It is quite simple, entirely human and very yellow. We are snared partly by the golden lure of an extravagant setting, the more appealing for our unfamiliarity with it, but largely Knoblauch, its author, has been successful because he brings us under the spell of his power to visualize something as it might have occurred.

It stands before us as a fact. It is a most unbeautiful fact, yet one draped with a consummate artistry which sweeps us upon the shining flood of its surprising loveliness.

Nothing is better in man than his desire for beauty. He loves truth, too, and he is not to be fooled by sophistry nor yet by the merely transient.

It is perhaps beside the question, yet it is for this reason that marriage will never go out of fashion nor the home be abandoned. In a world of ceaseless change, man will always seek permanence; in a realm sick with lies, he will always strive for abiding truth.

"Kismet" is a good play as much because of its old-fashioned plot as in spite of it.

Love, revenge and the fondness of adventure are rooted in the depths of our being. Their exemplification will never grow old.

The plays that last are not those that treat best with questions of the hour, but those that deal with the everlasting principles which govern life. A play on eugenics, suffrage, social conditions or any peculiar phase of a particular day, will find no lasting favor. It is not made of the stuff that endures. That sort of play will die with its emergency.

Neither is it pure art because of its palpable intention. A play may have purpose and succeed, but this design must have identity with past and future, and must deal soundly with the unchanging passions of life as man always has and always will express them.

John McGroarty's "Mission Play" will stick because of its spiritual aspiration. It is grounded on man's search for the divine. Anything based on humanity's yearning for the completeness of life will last for a long time, providing it possesses other elements of practical success.

This play lets you look upon the birth of a commonwealth. You are present at the discovery of California. You witness the laying of its cornerstone. You are entranced at this stepping back to the threshold of something magnificently constructive. You are in the grip of the impulse which inspired a golden achievement. Your spiritual hunger is appealed to; the pioneer that is in you looks with prophetic eyes across the vistas of a vast and golden domain ripe for conquest.

This appeal will be the same to everybody in all lands, and is not peculiar to you, because you happen to live in and love the State which is used to localize motives and principles that are deathless.

As much clear-sightedness and good technique are required to create a successful musical comedy or a happy light opera as are needed for the production of a dignified drama or a great tragedy. The world is ever in need of master builders. Those who construct wisely employ the same principles in all effort, regardless of the plane upon which their endeavors are pitched.

Ideas of worth are paralleled in many directions. The great idea is careless of whether it is made into a horseshoe, a poem or a cathedral, and the same idea may be made into all three. This is only a question of method, and method is ever a secondary consideration.

* * *

The fool fun crowded into "The Ham Tree," which McIntyre and Heath brought to the Majestic two weeks ago, had every mark of the perfectly good mind. It was so simple a matter of brains at play.

Of course, nobody expected to find a ham tree, much less a forest of them.

You see, I am compelled to say forest, not being sure whether ham trees would belong properly in a garden, a grove or an orchard. For all I know they might be out of place anywhere except in a vineyard or in a marine garden. They may be the proper product of a swamp, or they may grow with their roots in the sun and their branches and fruit in the soil.

I simply never saw a ham tree, which is exactly why I went to the Majestic and laughed for a week about it afterward.

When I did see one, it was only a lot of absurdly-large sandwiches piled around the painted roots of a painted tree, but I was just as pleased at this sudden coming upon something that I knew did not exist as I used to be to wake up and find the treasures left by a Santa Claus who had to exist as long as I believed in him.

Ham trees and Santa Claus are of vast importance to the world. They contain beauty, laughter and surprise.

For a minute they appease my unquenchable longing for everything that I have not, do not deserve, yet confidently demand and expect.

I will never surrender my belief in ham trees, and I refuse to believe that any play is good which does not contain at least a plot of ground where a perfectly-healthy ham tree might take root.

I am crazy about roses, too, and I want no play without a splash of red that would look well on a rose's petals or a woman's cheeks. I want it also touched with the lily whiteness that would do for other roses and a woman's brow. I want a trembling expectancy that would be like the stir of a rose bending with dew at dawn, or like a woman's sigh and catch of breath when love surprises her with its kiss.

Oh, I think I should demand much of a play which invites thinking men, beautiful women and eager children to devote to it anything so precious as three hours of their famished leisure.

What Is a Kiss?

[Philadelphia Telegraph:] Some wag with plenty of time on his hands has conceived the idea of hunting through the works of all the prominent English and American authors for the purpose of gathering all the adjectives with which they qualify the word kiss. The result of his labor is that kisses can be as follows:

Cold, warm, icy, burning, chilly, cool, loving, indifferent, balsamic, fragrant, blissful, passionate, aromatic, with tears bedewed; long, soft, hasty, intoxicating, dissembling, delicious, pious, tender, beguiling, hearty, distracted, frantic, fresh as the morning, breathing fire, divine, satanic, glad, sad, superficial, quiet, loud, fond, tricky, criminal, heavenly, execrable, devouring, ominous, fervent, parching, nervous, soulless, stupefying, slight, careless, anxious, painful, sweet, refreshing, embarrassed, shy, mute, ravishing, holy, sacred, firm, trembling, electrifying, ecstatic, hurried, faithless, narcotic, feverish, immoderate, lascivious, libidinous, sisterly, brotherly and paradisaical.

The task seemed interminable and he gave it up at this stage.

tempt for the other sex extends even to herself, but who later wins his respect and grows up among his dissolute companions, learning to drink, smoke and swear as freely as any of them, till the derision of the man she loves at her masculine manners and dress prompts her to renounce them forever and become a Lady of Quality. Miss Loftus has a capable part. This five-act comedy-drama affords delightful entertainment, humor and pathos are intermingled and beautiful settings add to the pleasing effect. It is one of the best of the Famous Player pictures.

The great pipe organ and orchestra will be very much in evidence next week, one organ number, "The Storm," being worthy of special mention. A special scenic setting is being arranged for it.

—o—

Clune's.

"The Royal Slave," the fourth of the famous wild-animal series of the Selig company, "The Adventures of Kathlyn," will be shown at Clune's Broadway Theater as a headliner attraction for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

This is a two-reel production, and every foot of the 2000 is said to be chuck full of realism, pathos, heart interest, thrills and romance. Kathlyn Williams, the Selig star, is said to be at her best in this picture, and the situations being tense and dramatic give her splendid opportunity for some of her superb acting.

Movie fans who have been following the adventures of Kathlyn will flock to Clune's this week to see her latest exploits. The jungle and harem scenes are said to be scenically spectacular.

In addition a number of single reels of unusual interest will be shown along with the Pathe Weekly, illustrated songs, vaudeville turns and musical novelties by the famous Clune Theater Orchestra.

—o—

Hamburger's Arrow.

Hamburger's Arrow Theater shows for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the fourth of the great Selig series of "The Adventures of Kathlyn," same being in the newspaper serial by Harold McGrath. The title of the fourth is "The Royal Slave" and like the others is in two reels. So far this is the best yet produced and full of exciting instances.

During the taking of this picture Kathlyn Williams, who has the title role, experienced a real adventure which happened at the Selig plant right here in Los Angeles. She tells of it in her own words: "There have been dangerous episodes in my life as a film actress, but none approached my experience with this herd of elephants, either in the proximity of fatal results or surging emotions. I was a passenger on one of the animals when the entire aggregation stampeded."

—o—

Mozart.

"The Blind Power," a remarkable three-reel Lubin masterpiece, will be the featured attraction at the Mozart Theater all next week, commencing tomorrow matinee, with a bill of new motion pictures of unusual diversity and photography.

"The Blind Power" is the peculiar and yet inspiring story of a young man who has become addicted to the use of morphine and is about to become totally blind from the use of the drug; he discovers that with his

TRANCE, with Questions

PERSONAL—
MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, England, may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST. by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.
The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.
PALMISTRY HONESTLY PRACTICED WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.
Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of healt hand domestic life, financial conditions and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.
MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

EXPERT AUTOMOBILE REPAIRING
FREE OF CHARGE.

To merchants, doctors and men of moderate means, read this advertisement and profit thereby. I have been in the gas engine and automobile business for 23 years. Have established a large, modern plant at 2901-3-5-7 Central ave., with all modern garage equipment, traveling crane, blacksmith shop, etc., and can take care of any proposition. I have 50 good mechanics to do your bidding, under three capable foremen and myself as superintendent. To get acquainted with you, I will overhaul your car or truck, or do any repair work you want done, change your tires, vulcanize your tubes—free of charge for one month. Only asking you to furnish any new material or parts needed.

COME AND SEE ME AND AT LEAST SEE WHETHER I AM GIVING YOU HOT AIR OR NOT.

I will inspect any second-hand car you are buying and give you expert advice that you can depend on, free of charge.

I will tow you in free.

[illegible]—

Careful selection of our stock by our expert enables us to offer you the best the market affords.

This is no small task, as we are only able to secure one good car out of about every 25 offered at a reasonable price.

This should be appreciated, especially by those who know nothing about mechanics. By such careful and expert selection we are able to give our [illegible] SIX MONTHS' GUARANTEE.

No other dealer can offer you a guarantee like ours.

On [illegible] cars sold last we were only called upon to [illegible] under our guarantee, an average [illegible] per car. Quite good, don't you think?

FOR SALE—PIONEER INCUBATORS, THE INCUbator they are all talking about, made, sold and guaranteed under our own patent. Mr. O. B. Hubbell, one of the largest and most successful poultrymen of Petaluma, is now establishing a 10,000-hen egg-laying plant at Van Nuys. He has run all kinds of incubators for years. He bought ELEVEN Pioneer machines after inspecting every incubator for sale. It pays to follow the man who knows what an incubator is and should be. We have the best-made and highest-class hot-water incubator in AMERICA, and we bar none. We will place them side by side of any other machine at any price on any sort of a contest. Visit A. G. Rowe's plant at Inglewood and see 30 of the large Pioneers, hatching every Sunday. Ask him what he thinks of them. Free 32-page catalogue. Send or ask for one. We sell on payments to reliable people. THE PIONEER HATCHERY, 112 E. 8th.

FOR SALE—

CONKEY SAYS
It is time to mate up your pens and get ready for the hatching season.
Pick out for this purpose the strong, vigorous birds, that come closest to perfection—one male to each six to ten females, according to the breed. Begin right now to feed
CONKEY'S LAYING TONIC
to promote this stock. It tends to promote health and vigor, and the production of fertile eggs. Feed to all of your stock now if you want eggs when eggs are high. Prices 1½ lbs., 25c; 3 1-4 lbs., 50c; 7 lbs., $1; 12-lb. pail, $1.60; 25-lb. pail, $3. The best way to avoid the loss from disease is to insure against disease. As a preventive measure it is wise to give to the flock once or twice a week in the drinking water; the birds take their own medicine. Use it daily if any birds have the disease. It works while they sleep. Prices 25c, 50c and $1. For sale by dealers everywhere. Ask for Conkey's big poultry book. It's free.
CONKEY'S ROUP REMEDY,

MINING—

HENRY WHITE AND F. P. O'NEILL OF PASADENA, former owners of the Granby copper mines and Ruth mines, respectively, of British Columbia, wish to sell an interest, for development, in a very high grade copper, silver, gold mine in Southeastern Arizona. We need $1000 a month to sink a new shaft, on the ore. This is an exceptional opportunity to get into a mine of great promise. We court the fullest investigation of ourselves and mine. Address F. P. O'NEILL, R.R. No. 2, Pasadena.

$6000 WILL BUY QUARTER INTEREST IN mother lode mine, Mariposa county; 3 to 5 foot vein, contact formation of diorite and slate. Ore runs $6 to $10 a ton. Have recently found ore that runs $100 or more a ton. Machinery part of five-stamp mill on ground, but have not sufficient funds to erect it or to install available electric service. The money will be spent to equip property; it will pay from the start and become a reliable producer. This is a good business proposition. No agents. E. C., 670 ELIZABETH ST., San Francisco.

OKELL CORE DRILLS DO THE WORK PROPerly and economically, and test your ore bodies. If you really want to know the truth about that property and what it contains, get one of the machines and extract a core that is five inches in diameter, and you need not guess one minute. Write us for particulars.

FOR SALE—

BIG PIANO BARGAIN.
THIS WEEK AT
FITZGERALD MUSIC COMPANY.

We are going to sell pianos and player pianos at prices so low that you cannot afford to buy a piano without first coming in and looking over our immense stock of over 500 pianos. We must dispose of this large stock of pianos to make room for our new spring shipments now arriving, and rather than put them in the warehouse, we will sacrifice our present stock at prices ranging from $65, $95, $115, $125, $130, $140, $160, $175, $185, $210, $225, $248, $265, $285 and up.
Among the many pianos we are offering are following makes: Weber, J. & C. Fischer, Kimball, Everett, Behning, Steger & Sons, Krell, Story & Clark, Miller, Gabler, Decker Bros., Gilbert, Hardorf, Bradley & Sons, Stodart, Haines, Mehlin, Knabe Angelus, Gerhard, Victor, Willard, New England, Davis & Sons, Regent, Salyer-Baumeister, Fitzgerald, Smith & Barnes, Marshall & Wendell, Royal, Singer, Burbach, A. Kohler, J. H. Shale, Baus, Kline, J. Doll & Sons, Ellsworth, Smith & Nixon and other makes.
All pianos sold on easy monthly payments.
Pianos rented $3 and $4 per month.

CRANK ON DIETETICS.

Young Angeleno Asks to Be Locked Up Eight Days at Monrovia that He May Fast.

Friday night a young man appeared at the City Jail at Monrovia and asked Chief of Police Newman to lock him up for eight days. He explained that he wanted to fast for that length of time, and thought that city bastile a good place to stay, as he would be sure of lodging every night. He gave his name as Jack Douglas, and said he came to California from Chicago, and had been in the West about four months. The Chief, being of an obliging nature, locked the young man up, and Douglas spent the night in company with Ben McLain, a colored character, arrested yesterday for attempting to use a razor on his mother and sister.

Yesterday morning the Chief requested Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, the city health officer, to drop around at the jail and examine Douglas. Dr. Pomeroy talked with the man for some time and in conclusion decided that he is sane, but a crank on dietetics. He advised against allowing him to try his experiments in the jail, however, and the authorities turned him loose this afternoon. Upon regaining his freedom, which apparently pleased him very much, Douglas went to the city library and asked the loan of some books to road in the park. He was asked to make a deposit on the volume he had selected, and turned over to the librarian 90 cents and a key which he said belonged to his suit case. He told the librarian, at length, of his efforts to fast, and said that his name was not Douglas, but Irvin Boettner, and that he lived in Los Angeles. He said that he had come to Monrovia to try an experiment of living without working or spending money. When asked how he proposed to do this, he said that that was a secret, and if he told he would be sent to an asylum for the insane. His manner was such that the librarian is firmly convinced the man is mentally abnormal.

Boettner, or Douglas, whichever, later told the marshal that he is an accountant in the Santa Fe offices. His principal theme of conversation is upon various sorts of edibles and systems of dieting.

Last evening he returned to the library, paid a 50-cent deposit upon a book for over Sunday, and left, later telling the night officer that he might go to Riverside or San Bernardino, and not to worry if he didn't turn up in a day or two. He gave Chief of Police Newman the address of Paul Deutsch, who is to be notified in case he becomes ill.

Huntington Beach Manufacturing Concern Working Out Plans for Trebling Size of Oil Cloth Plant.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 7.—The Pacific Oil Cloth and Linoleum Company has decided upon an enlargement of its plant at Huntington Beach. Its buildings are now being planned to cover fifteen acres instead of five acres, as originally proposed. The working capital has, it is announced, been correspondingly increased. Large quantities of material are being hauled to the site, and work has started on the superstructure of the first buildings.

All the machinery of the plant will be built in this State, principally in Los Angeles, where orders have already been placed with the Llewellyn Iron Works and other factories. The majority of the raw material to be used will also be secured in California and Pacific Coast points. The motive power will be electricity, secured from the Pacific Light and Power Company, which has just entered Huntington Beach.

The operation of the plant, it is said, will require about 300 men. About thirty experienced men will have charge of the different divisions of the work, the remainder of the employees being unskilled laborers. The plant will be the first and the only factory of its kind in the West. Gustav Frenkel will be assisted by George Hedge in the management of the factory.

OFFICES REOPENED.

The offices of R. B. Young & Son in the Lankershim building, temporarily closed on account of the recent death of R. B. Young, senior member of that firm, have been reopened by Frank Wilson Young, son of the late president of the Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architects and junior member of the partnership. The business will be continued under the old firm name. The junior partner practically had charge of the office for many months prior to his father's death and had superintended the building operations of the firm for several years.

TO MANAGE BULLETIN.

The board of governors of the Los Angeles Realty Board has appointed Warren McIntire publicity manager for that organization. McIntire will have charge of the board's weekly bulletin, "The Million Maker," in which miniature newspaper will be chronicled the various activities of the realty men.

IN NEW QUARTERS.

The Monarch Investment Company has secured spacious quarters at No. 623 South Spring street and is enlarging its business facilities. The company has employed C. S. Kious to take charge of its land department activities.

OPEN BUREAU.

With the idea of furnishing homeseekers with reliable information about the Fontana district, the Fontana Chamber of Commerce has opened an information bureau at No. 625 South Hill street.

DENUNCIATION PROMISED AKED.

Long Beach Pastor Will Score Northern Preacher:

Renunciation of Immaculate Conception Creates Rift:

Republicans Secure Former Following of H. Johnson:

LONG BEACH, Feb. 7.—Rev. Henry Kendall Booth, considered by many to be the dean of the Congregational clergy in Southern California, now that Rev. William Horace Day of Los Angeles is absent from home, will voice the opinion of the ministers of his faith in this section tomorrow morning, when he will deliver a scathing denunciation of the utterances of Dr. Aked of San Francisco, whose renunciation of the doctrine of the immaculate conception has stirred California churchmen. Dr. Booth is the head of one of the largest congregations in Long Beach.

Dr. Booth considers the position of Dr. Aked on this question untenable. He thinks that a minister who, publicly, has declared his disbelief in one of the most acceptable of Bible features, is unfit to be the head of any organization of Congregational churches. It is hinted that he will go farther even than this in his sermon tomorrow morning in the First Congregational Church.

DESERT HIRAM'S BANNER.

"Progressives" of Long Beach are ready to concede that this, their former stronghold, has deserted the banner of Hiram. Today's tabulated returns from the registration deputies show that the staunch Republicans are away in the lead. There are 1737 Republicans registered, 1040 of Holy Hi's party, 807 Democrats, 337 Prohibitionists and 121 Socialists, with 354 not stating their preferences.

HOPE IS GONE.

There is no chance for an appropriation for a Long Beach Federal building at this session of Congress. A dispatch from Washington conveyed this information. But President Rominger of the Chamber of Commerce and other boosters believe that it is not too late, and are about to organize an effective lobby to get the bill through.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCY.

The Associated Charities of Long Beach will open an employment bureau. At a meeting of the association, a committee was chosen, composed of M. F. McNie, C. L. Bachman and Mrs. Alice Graydon, the secretary, to select a proper office for the bureau, and to solicit jobs for the unemployed. It is stated that Long Beach was less affected by the recent slump in employment than most Southern California cities.

NEWS BRIEFS.

W. T. Lizenby, cashier of the water department, was named as head of the department at the weekly "round-table" conference between the Mayor and city employees today. It was also planned to drill a water well in the downtown district and near the sea, to test the water table hundreds of feet below the surface. Steps were taken to prevent a repetition of the water famine which afflicted the city under the former administration.

Postmaster Walter J. Desmond was tendered a banquet tonight on the roof of Hotel Alexander by the employees of the local office, fifty men and two women. The "feed" was in the nature of a general communication on business of the local office, and as an appreciation of Postmaster Desmond, who is held in high regard by his clerks and carriers.

Booker T. Washington will be guest of honor at a banquet at Hotel Virginia March 12, when the delegates to the State convention of the Y.M.C.A. is being held here. One hundred and fifty tickets will be apportioned, and many prominent local men will eat with the famous negro.

On complaint of C. H. Paschall, a brother of Capt. A. Paschall, that he had been robbed of his purse and a considerable sum of money tonight as he was getting off a Pacific Electric car, the police arrested a man who gave his name as George H. James. Paschall identified him as one of the men who jostled him and relieved him of his wallet. The police are searching for the second man.

WANT RIGHTS DEFINED.

South Pasadena Trustees Contend that the Have a Right to Create Residential District Lines.

SOUTH PASADENA, Feb. 7.—Much depends upon the decision which the State Supreme Court will give in the case of R. A. Throop, who is testing the constitutionality of the so-called "residential district" ordinance passed by South Pasadena. Throop has maintained a rock crusher in the Arroyo Seco at South Pasadena, and a district ordinance was passed to prevent its being conducted there. Throop was arrested for failure to comply with the ordinance and has sued out a writ of habeas corpus. This writ the State Supreme Court has made returnable at San Francisco, March 2. Joined with Throop in this appeal are a number of manufacturers who object to the ordinance.

The case is of interest in this locality, for it will determine the right of South Pasadena to pass ordinances creating industrial districts. If the State Supreme Court holds the rock crusher ordinance illegal, it would have a direct bearing upon the case.

There has been an accepted understanding in cities that the right exists to define what is a residential district and to prevent the establishment of manufacturing plants in such a section.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Rev. C. W. Jackson, recently called to the pastorate of the Memorial Baptist Church of this city, arrived last evening and will hold his first services tomorrow. The minister comes from Brandon, Manitoba, where he has been pastor for some years. Norman F. Marsh, E. T. Randall, M. O. Tuttle, Leon Berry, Mrs. Nannie Boeknoogen, Mrs. W. E. Tussing, Mrs. L. K. Stamps, Mrs. K. S. Thacker and Mrs. W. A. Cochrane, members of the church, made up the Reception Committee for the evening. Plans are being made for a general reception to be given in about two weeks, to meet Rev. and Mrs. Jackson, to which the residents of the city will be included.

Mrs. E. Conde Jones has fallen heir to one-half of a $3,000,000 estate left by her father, Frank W. Jones, who died Tuesday at Hartford, Ct. There were no public bequests and practically the entire estate is divided between Mrs. Jones and her brother, F. W. Jones of Hartford. Miss Grace McRobb, housekeeper for Jones, received $50,000. E. C. Jones is engaged in the real estate business in Los Angeles and he and Mrs. Jones are well known in this city. They reside in a pretty bungalow on La France avenue and have a 2-year-old son and an infant daughter.

Members of the Woman's League of the Holy Family Church are planning a bazaar which will be given the afternoons and evenings of February 17, 18, and 19 in Ong Hall. Mrs. A. R. Smith, the president of the league, is in general charge and there are a number of subcommittes. Booths for the sale of various articles will be erected, with Miss Helen Smith in charge of the candy; Mrs. Henry Treff, fancywork; Mrs. H. D. Lanfair, aprons; Mrs. J. H. Chilcote, homemade jellies, preserves and other delicacies, and Mrs. F. A. Stone of the miscellaneous booth.

ENTHUSIASM IS MANIFEST.

ORANGE COUNTY REPUBLICANS BUCKLING ON THEIR ARMOR.

Registration Thus Far Indicates that the Party of Patriots Will Have Big Lead in the Coming Campaign—Widow Wins Case Involving Sixty Thousand Dollars.

SANTA ANA, Feb. 7.—At a high pitch of enthusiasm this early in the campaign, the Republicans of Orange county are organizing for a vigorous fight in this county for the principles of the Grand Old Party. Today the Republican County Central Committee held its first meeting of the year with an attendance that indicates the deep interest that Republicans all over the county have in the party's success. One of the most spontaneous bursts of applause came when J. C. Burke, secretary of the committee, announced the registration in this county up to date: Republicans, 3632; Progressives, 1495; Democrats, 1930; Prohibitionists, 711; Socialists, 286. declining to state, 891; independent, 27.

Among those who filled the Council chambers at the City Hall were many old war-horses of the party, as well as many of the younger generation of voters. W. W. Wilson of East Newport was selected for chairman and J. C. Burke, secretary.

Determination to give a big Republican majority to Republican candidates for State and Federal offices marked the meeting. Rousing addresses in which it was declared that all over the county the Republicans are already in the harness working for the party's good were made by R. Y. Williams, J. S. Howard, J. P. Greeley, F. C. Spencer, Dr. Royer, S. Armor, R. D. Richars, J. W Duckworth, L L. Shaw, J. C. Burke and A. Hermes. In his talk, Armor said that the Progressives had taken a good old dictionary word and had used it in such a way that it has become obnoxious.

Several speakers emphasized the necessity of this county standing solidly Republican because through that party only can protection be secured for Orange county oranges, sugar beets, lemons, walnuts and other products.

The Central Committee is to meet again March 14, and probably once a month after that.

Today over 300 signatures of men and women voters signed a call for a meeting of Republicans of Orange county for next Thursday night to form a Lincoln Republican Club of Orange county. With that meeting, there will be two Republican meetings next week. On Wednesday night Samuel Shortridge is to speak at the Princess Theater.

WIDOW WINS.

By a decision today, Judge West rules that $60,000 in notes and bonds concerned in a contest in the settlement of the estate of Richard T. Harris belongs to the widow, Maria L. Harris. Harris had all his notes and stocks made out to "R. T. Harris or Maria L. Harris."

Mrs. Harris claimed the property as her seperate property, declaring that as the property was covered by an agreement between her and her husband it passed to her on his death. Mrs. Clara Fulsom of Garden Grove, a sister of Harris, took action in an endeavor to have the property declared as belonging to Harris's estate, to be distributed to the heirs, including sisters and brothers of the deceased. Judge West decided against the sister. Harris was one of the best known men of the county. He was its first Sheriff and later a County Treasurer.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The first graduation exercise held in the new intetrmediate school was held last night, and diplomas were given to thirty-one pupils, who will enter the Polytechnic High School next week.

Today W. P. Webb and Frank Machieb, both of Anaheim, paid $5000 into the county treasury. They were bondsmen for Herbert Dyer, charged with mistreatment of his step daughter, who disappeared. Webb and Machieb are protected by a second mortgage on Dyer's ranch at Anaheim.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 7.—The Huntington Beach Company has offered free to this city a site for a City Hall and other municipal buildings. The site is situated on Seventeenth street, and is valued at $15,000. No action towards its acceptance has yet been taken by the City Trustees.

Acreage on the plateau surrounding Huntington Beach is being sold to homeseekers in one to five-acre tracts at a rapid rate. There is little if any sale for speculative purposes, and this fact is taken to prove that the people who are buying these small ranches intend to become permanent residents of this section.

There will be three candidates for the office of City Clerk here when the election is held in April. They are the present incumbent, C. E. Lavering, and Charles R. Nutt and J. B. Irwin. The place pays $50 a month.

RANCHER SLAIN.

FRESNO, Feb. 7.—Hans P. Hansen, a prominent rancher near Tranquility, fifty miles from Fresno on the west side, was shot and instantly killed this afternoon by his neighbor, Charles Stricklin. The motive for the killing is unknown, but, according to reports received here tonight, Hansen and Stricklin quarreled about two weeks ago. Both men are married. Deputy Sheriffs left for the scene of the murder late this afternoon. Hansen, according to telephone information, was in his front yard, when Stricklin came out of his barn and shot at him three times. Stricklin is said to have surrendered to the officers. The body of the rancher and the murderer will be brought to Fresno late tonight.

WOULD REDUCE 'PHONE CHARGES.

Max Thelen Hears Triangular Plaint at Redlands.

Thief Steals Brass Medals, Believing Them Gold.

Redlands Elks Plan to Put on Corking Show.

REDLANDS, Feb. 7.—A switching charge of 5 cents on all long-distance telephone messages sent out of this city was the cause of a hearing at the City Hall today before State Railroad Commissioner Max Thelen. The complaint was brought in the name of the city of Redlands, but it is understood that the Southwestern Home Telephone Company of this city is backing the municipality.

The city alleges that the switching charge is discriminatory. The local telephone company is willing to do away with the charge, but in return asks the commission for the right to increase the percentage it is allowed on the long-distance business it does in conjunction with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and the United States Long Distance Telephone Company. The local company is willing to save its patrons the 5-cent charge if it can get the equivalent out of the two long distance companies with which it does business. It acts as agents for the two companies here.

The city was represented today by City Attorney F. A. Leonard; the Southwestern Home Telephone Company by E. G. Pratt; the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company by James T. Shaw, Felix T. Smith and John G. Mott, and the United States Long Distance Telephone Company by Arthur Wright and C. H. Temple, general manager.

Carl D. Rolfe, superintendent of the local company, was examined this morning. From his testimony it appears that the company's contracts with the two long-distance companies are different. In the agreement with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, the local company on long-distance business gets in addition to the 5-cent switching charge 20 per cent. of the receipts collectable in this city. It makes no difference whether the message goes from here to outside cities or comes from outside points here as long as the bill is collected here.

In the local company's contract with the United States Long Distance Telephone Company, the local company gets 25 per cent. of the receipts instead of only 20 per cent., but only on business originating here, no matter where collected. Mr. Rolfe testified that the local company wishes to drop the switching charge, but that in order to do so without losing money on long-distance connections it would require an increase in the percentage allowed by the two other companies to 30 per cent. He went thoroughly into the cost of acting as agents for the two companies in handling long-distance business.

Attorney Wright for the United States Long Distance Telephone Company made objection to the commission's going into what he called the "sacred contractional rights" of the companies involved, but Commissioner Thelen said he thought it proper and within the jurisdiction of the commission to bring out such information when it has direct bearing on the point at issue.

The complaint against the 5-cent switching charge was first made at the Chamber of Commerce, business men objecting to paying 20 cents for telephoning to San Bernardino, when it costs only 15 cents to telephone from that city here. The Chamber of Commerce after going into the matter decided to drop it, and then it was taken up by Mayor Williams and the City Trustees.

The hearing was adjourned this afternoon for fifteen days at the request of the attorneys of the Southwestern Home Telephone Company and the United States Long Distance Telephone Company, who wished more time to go into the new issues brought out at the hearing. It is possible that in the meantime the complaint will be satisfied. It was filed by the city against all three companies. Attorneys for the two long-distance telephone companies explained that the 5-cent switching charge had really nothing to do with them as it was made independently by the local company and without the knowledge of the other two.

STEALS BRASS MEDALS.

Thinking they were $20 gold pieces, a sneak thief who entered the home of Rev. J. G. Thompson on Eureka street last night, stole half a dozen brass medals, used as tithing pledges in the church. They are almost duplicates of a $20 gold piece. On one side is the incription, "One-tenth Belongs to the Lord." When the thief discovered his mistake, he left the medals on a window sill near the police station, possibly with the intention of buncoing the police, but a newspaper reporter found them instead. The thief stole a little change in the Thompson home. Miss R. Huxtable was in the house at the time, upstairs, and heard the thief walking around, but thought the noise came from the house next door.

TO ENCLOSE ATHLETIC FIELD.

For the purpose of holding the annual track meet of the Citrus Belt High School League next March in this city, a campaign has been started to raise $500 by public subscription for building a fence around the athletic field at the University of Redlands.

A committee of university students, backed by the trustees, is out after the money. Twelve-foot sections of the fence are being sold for $5 each to business men. For the last two years the meet has been held at Pomona, but this year Redlands has the right to have the meet held here if it desires. The grand stand at the university field is to be enlarged to twice its present capacity.

SEEKING AGED FATHER.

The story of the breaking up of a home, the separation of father and children and their efforts at this late day to bring about a reunion is contained in a letter received today by City Marshal Larmore. It was sent by Mrs. Mary Bott Keatley of No. 2230 Benton street, St. Louis. She asks the police to help find her father, C. F. Bott, a shoemaker now 70 years old, whom she has traced from Denver to Albuquerque, and believes to be now in Redlands or vicinity. She explains that father and children were separated many years ago in the break-surprisingly large number of ty owners in Los Angeles have to grasp the important fact that man who would make a complete out of any investment in an property must have a constant the proper upkeep of his holdings. These owners quite frequently heard to express their wonder man can make good with an ment-house or flat while another with a property fully as situated, only half succeeds, or fails. For their own good and for of the city, it is time that individuals were waking up.

FACT AND COMMENT.

Fact and Comment man has than once found himself baffled to fathom the mental processes of some careless owner who was his property deteriorate, while him newer places were in the attention of tenants. To the inclined observer, it would that such a fellow was in need guardian. The law is quick to and punish the man who attempts suicide, but, unfortunately, it takes no account of the owner who commits financial by neglecting the investment bought with his own hard money. The latter is permitted to ruin himself and to harm him, without a word of reproof from the authorities.

condition in which some of the ment-houses of Los Angeles are nothing short of disgraceful. some owners apparently feel to do is to turn over a completed structure to a lessee, thereby their hands of the whole business. The lessee who will by while the apartments on he has staked his fortunes deteriorate in a structural way is more than the fellow who will the space around his place to littered with the ever-accumulating refuse that is always to be where many families live in He will sit idly by some sightly piece of lawn with neglect or becomes with weeds. apartment-houses and flats in that are really prospering attracted and kept their are practically without exception places that are scrupulously good condition. They are the that are able to command that are the despair of the lessees of sloppy methods. is becoming more and more discriminating year by year. The unkempt and poorly-maintained apartment-house (such as a recently-built one in the Westlake district) may thrive for a while, but its tenants, if the proprietor but realized it, are generally only waiting for a decently cared-for and surrounded place to be established in the same neighborhood as an excuse for decampment.

Los Angeles is growing more and more metropolitan every month and there is some reason for believing that in spite of the tremendous advance in population, the building of apartment-houses has been a bit overdone. It is the man who will offer his patrons a spick and span establishment that is going to survive, once it comes to a show-down. The other type, one is almost tempted to believe, doesn't deserve to succeed, for he harms not only himself, but his neighbors and the city at large.

There isn't much excuse for the man who, having neither civic nor personal pride, at the same time lacks the common, every-day gumption to keep his income improvements in decent order.

FOR CLOSE-IN SITE.

Four-Story Hotel Projected at Corner of Sixth and Wall Streets. Apartment Plans Under Way.

Plans are being drawn by Architects Walker & Vawter for a four-story brick hotel building to be erected by D. F. Hill at the northwest corner of Sixth and Wall streets. The structure will be 120x80 feet in size and will contain storerooms on the ground floor, with 110 sleeping-rooms above. There will be forty baths.

L. L. Jones is preparing plans for a three-story brick apartment-house projected by C. W. Howard for a site on the west side of Fremont avenue between Third and Fourth streets. The same architect is completing designs for a three-story brick apartment-house to be built by Hackel & Gutterman at No. 1142 West Tenth street.

TO BUILD FINE CAMPUS GROUP.

CALEXICO TO EMULATE OTHER VALLEY TOWNS.

Little Place on International Line Soon to Boast One of the Most Up-to-Date High Schools in Imperial Section—Plans Now Being Prepared.

Following the exclusive publication in this department two weeks ago of Architect Norman F. Marsh's sketch for the splendid new Brawley High School, The Times is authorized to print a perspective of the beautiful new scholastic group planned by Allison & Allison of this city for Calexico. This modern high school at the extreme southern end of the Imperial Valley will round out the educational provisions of the progressive American Nile district, making it fully as well equipped in this respect as any similar area in the State.

Calexico has for some time had two up-to-date grade schools, but has had hitherto only the poorest of high-school facilities. To accommodate the rapidly-growing school population, the Calexico Board of Education has been forced to rent old frame buildings that came far from meeting the requirements of the district. The little city on the international border has, however, for several years been reserving a ten-acre plot in the center of the town as a site for the High School its citizens expected some day to build. The first definite step toward the realization of the dream was taken late in the past year when a $50,000 bond issue was voted to meet the cost of the first building of a contemplated high school group.

Allison & Allison were named as architects immediately after the success of the bond issue was assured. Their plans, submitted to the Calexico board a week ago, were given the final stamp of approval yesterday.

The central or academic building only will be erected at this time, although full working plans for a domestic science building and a manual arts building, destined in the future to flank the main structure on each side and to be connected with it by pergolas, are now being planned. For the time being, the one building will house all the work of the school.

The academic building will be a handsome structure 182 feet in width and sixty-two feet deep. It will be of a massive burned clay tile construction, the walls being made hollow, with wide air spaces, on account of the heat prevailing in the Imperial Valley at certain seasons. The exterior will be plastered with white cement. The roof will be of clay tile.

The building will contain the executive offices of the school, twelve classrooms, a large study hall, a domestic science department and laboratories for chemistry, physics and biology. The work of the manual arts department will be housed in a small wooden building at the rear of the grounds.

One of the features of the school will be an open-air auditorium arranged at the back of the building and similar in character to that of the Monrovia High School, which was planned by the same architects. This auditorium will have a stage and full equipment for illumination at night.

The Calexico school board is composed of the following members: Judge James B. Hoffman, president; J. E. Peck, clerk; A. S. Carr, Mrs. James L. Rutherford and Mrs. Stewart Swink. Floyd I. Writtenour is the principal of the High School.

HOLD OPEN HOUSE.

Owners of Splendid New Marsh-Strong Building Hosts to Many Visitors Yesterday.

The formal opening of the splendid new Marsh-Strong building took place yesterday, commencing at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and lasting until 9 o'clock last night. A large number of visitors inspected the twelve-story structure from basement to roof, partook of refreshments and carried away souvenir guide books of Los Angeles, especially prepared by Robert Marsh and Frank R. Strong, owners of the building. Orchestral music and elaborate floral decorations added to the festivity of the occasion.

The Marsh-Strong building is the pioneer structure of the southern end of the business district, being situated at the intersection of Ninth, Spring and Main streets. The building was planned by Fred R. Dorn and is of reinforced concrete and steel construction. The exterior is faced with white terra cotta and the interior is finished entirely in white marble and mahogany. The main lobby is strikingly beautiful and unusually spacious, white marble and bronze being used exclusively. Every modern device which would add to the convenience of tenants has been installed.

VALLEY ACTIVITIES.

"Model Farm" Bought by Alaska Miner—Santa Rosa Man Buys Acreage Near Van Nuys.

The Janss "model farm" on the Van Nuys-Lankershim lands of the San Fernando Valley, which was established simultaneously with the opening of that great ranch, has been sold to William Young, an Alaskan miner for a reported consideration of $10,500 cash. The farm is one of the show places along Sherman Way, the asphalt boulevard that runs through the valley. The property comprises five acres, has a seven-room bungalow and garage and many ornamental trees and shrubs.

Col. E. Sherman of Santa Rosa has purchased twenty acres of Van Nuys-Lankershim property one mile east of the town of Van Nuys, on Cortez avenue. He will improve the acreage with a six-room bungalow, and has ordered 1600 deciduous fruit trees from the Van Nuys Nurseries.

Ten acres fronting on the State highway and near the Owens River aqueduct trunk line, have been purchased through the Janss Investment Company by C. E. Packman, president of the Mission Furniture Company. The property is deeded to Anna Packman, his wife, and will be improved with an attractive home.

PALOS VERDES RANCH KEEPS SCHADER BUSY.

Broker Who Sold Former Bixby Ranch Has Hands Full With Its Management for New Owners. Son in Charge of Extensive Santa Monica Interests.

Owing to the fact that practically all his time is occupied in connection with the great development operations being carried out by Frank A. Vanderlip and his associates on the Palos Verdes ranch, Carl F. Schader, who handled the negotiations leading to the recent sale of this great holding and who has since been actively interested in the plans for the subdivision and improvement of the property, has decided to dispose of all of his extensive Santa Monica interests, comprising Seaside and Vicente terraces and other important Crescent Bay holdings.

Schader has recently signalized his intention in this respect by turning over to his son, Carl J. Schader, and C. E. Wells, comprising the firm of Schader & Wells, the sole management of his beach properties. The younger Schader and his partner have already turned one good deal and have others pending.

The deal closed involved the formation last week of a syndicate to take over 196 feet of ocean frontage lying between the Kensington apartments and Vicente terrace and extending back from the shore line to Ocean avenue, a distance of 700 feet. The syndicate will grade and otherwise improve the tract and will at once place it upon the market as a high-class shore subdivision. Announcement was made yesterday that J. W. Livingston, formerly of the Keystone Iron Works, had bought an ocean front site in the tract and would at once begin the construction of an attractive apartment-house.

PICO AND HOPE.

Detroit Investor Pays Large Sum for Close-in Corner Property Improved with Two Garages.

Robert A. Fowler has sold to Charles Warren Pickell of Detroit the southwest corner of Pico and Hope streets. The lot has a frontage of 110 feet on Pico and a depth of 150 feet to a twenty-foot alley. The property is improved with a two-story garage on the fifty-five feet at the corner and with a one-story garage on the inside fifty-five feet.

The negotiations in the deal were conducted by L. J. Durnerin, with W. W. Mines & Co., and Guy F. Bush. The consideration is given at $200,000. Pickell bought for investment.

GETS STORE PERMIT.

South Pasadena Investor to Build Attractive Brick Building on Valuable Corner in that City.

SOUTH PASADENA, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Gertrude Ozman has taken out a permit for a two-story store and office building to be erected at the corner of Mission street and Fair Oaks avenue. The building will be 79x105 feet in size, and will contain seven storerooms on the first floor. Arthur B. Benton of Los Angeles is the architect.

Work will be started March 1 after the one-story structure now on the site has been removed. The new building will be ready for occupancy June 1. The cost is estimated at $16,000, which added to the price of the lot, purchased by Mrs. Ozmun from Murary Bayles for a reported consideration of $14,000, brings the investment up to $30,000.

Another January permit was that for a ten-room two-story house to be built by A. G. Bohannon at No. 2036 Oak street. The place will cost about $8000. Mrs. J. Hargraves of Pomona has begun the erection of a two-story flat building at No. 614 Fairview avenue. Other permits taken out during January bring the total up to $29,275.

OUR idea of a home is one both PRACTICAL and ARTISTIC. By careful thought we manage to instill certain INDIVIDUALITY into each home.

It quite frequently happens that the PROSPECTIVE BUILDER'S IDEAS and PURSE do not correspond. In such cases our PRACTICAL knowledge comes to the rescue, and often where others have hopelessly FAILED, WE SUCCEED.

We build homes from the modern five-room cottage, at $900, to the most elaborate dwelling. It rests with the INDIVIDUAL, entirely, what his home will cost. By concentrating our PURCHASING POWER, combined with our PRACTICAL knowledge, and being in a position to DISCOUNT our BILLS, we can, for a given quality of work, discount our competitors' prices.

We build either by contracts on a fixed fee of 10 per cent. of estimated cost of work, or on our own lots in Los Angeles, Hermosa Beach and San Pedro, on easy terms.

We make no additional charge for our Architectural services if we build, or if we fail to satisfy you both as to price and design.

Our REFERENCES are PEOPLE for whom we HAVE BUILT, who FREELY indorse us.

We make liberal building loans.

WHAT IS A BARGAIN?

$5500.

This 7-room, two-story house, has the sweeping roof lines that give charm to so many Los Angeles homes. It is located on West Adams Heights, on a good street, and close to car service. The arrangement is perfect, rooms all large and sunny, and everyone is completely appointed; hardwood floors, furnace, large closets, garage and big lot. It's a fine comfortable, livable home. There is not far from $7000 worth of value in it. This is what we call a bargain.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

ON MANHATTAN PLACE.

$6000.

A more charming bungalow home could not be found in all Wilshire. It is built on broad, attractive lines, with a large veranda, and a great living-room opening on the south with many windows. There are seven rooms, with hardwood floors all through, many French doors, a sun porch, immense closets, a breakfast room, an upper balcony bedroom with dressing room adjoining, an automatic water heater, a furnace, and a garage. Nor is this all. We must show you, for there is only one place like it in Wilshire.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

THIS IS THE HOUSE.

$8000.

A handsome, roomy house located in the closer-in portion of Wilshire, near Mariposa and Third sts. It's a splendid neighborhood and a splendid house, brand new, up-to-date, and with a big lot finely improved. Hardwood floors all through, furnace pipes, hot and cold water, balcony room, garage and drive. It's a locality of nine and ten thousand dollar homes, and we consider the property a big bargain. The same thing is offered you a mile and a half farther out for the same money.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

LARGE VALUE HERE.

$11,500.

No ten-room property in the city offers more to the discriminating purchaser than this house on St. Andrews Place. The lot is 60x150, well improved, with garage, shrubbery, etc. The house is of the handsomest chalet type, somewhat modified, with large porches and cement columns. The interior finish is oak and mahogany, the best of hardware, and every room large and sunny. In addition to living-room, library and dining-room, there are breakfast-room and maid's quarters below stairs. There are four bedrooms on the second floor, two baths, hardwood floors throughout, attic, furnace, automatic water heater, etc.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

ON NORMANDIE HILL.

$25,000.

This beautiful residence stands at the highest point in Wilshire, and few homes in the city have been built with the care and thoroughness it displays. The lot is 75x150 ft., lying where an outlook may be had across a large part of the city, and it is surrounded by properties of the highest class. There are fourteen rooms in all, three baths, and eight bedrooms. The first floor includes living-room, library, dining-room, breakfast-room, sun parlor, pantries, kitchen and laundry, all very completely appointed. The second floor has five bedrooms, two tiled baths, shower and balcony sleeping room, every one of which presents a charming view from its windows. The third floor is much more than an attic, is reached by a wide open stair, and has three good bedrooms and large bath. In addition to what has been mentioned are the usual comforts and necessities of every large home, but in this one the owner has paused at nothing to make it complete. The house may be purchased furnished, if desired. A good garage for two machines, with large room above, is on the property.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL.

$32,500.

It is a distinct pleasure to write an ad about so beautiful and perfect a property as this. It stands on a northwest corner, 75x150 ft., with a view down two streets of handsome homes. The construction is entirely of white cement plaster, with dull red tiled roof, and the lines of the building are somewhat broken here and there to give charming artistic angles. Broad cement steps in two terraces lead to the spacious veranda, and the entrance is to a lower floor entirely finished in the best hardwoods. Brief mention only can be made of the extraordinary living-room with its sumptuous appointments, to the cosy den, or library, to the handsome billiard room on the ground floor, to the spacious dining-room, and all the very complete domestic arrangements. The second floor includes 5 sleeping apartments and two baths, both tiled, with showers, linen room, big closets, etc. We must take you through the property to point out the hundred points of careful, thorough construction and the thousand points of excellence everywhere. This is, without doubt, the best built home in Wilshire, and we are confident the man who knows will appreciate it.

ELEGANT WILSHIRE HOME.
$2000 UNDER VALUE.

$12,500. $12,500. $12,500.

This beautiful 10-room house just finished, there is nothing else that can touch it for the price in all Los Angeles. One of the biggest bargains we ever saw in our many years' experience in real estate business here. Owner is overloaded and must sell something, is only reason for this sacrifice. Exterior is most attractive, plenty of porch room. Finish is select mahogany and oak. Sunny breakfast room is very charming. Sleeping rooms are very fine. There are three fine baths. Handsomely decorated throughout. Furnace, hot water heater, garage, etc. Large lot, 60x155 feet, high ground; in fact, nothing is lacking. Bank loan of $7000 can remain; terms on balance if necessary. Don't delay.

BEAUTIFUL PLASTERED HOUSE.

$10,500. $10,500. $10,500.

This elegant 10-room house is one of the best ever had at this price. New, just completed, well built, handsomely finished throughout. Rooms on first floor finely done in mahogany, which includes besides the living and dining-rooms, a reception hall, library, breakfast-room and maid's room; four large, beautifully finished and decorated sleeping-rooms, besides two good bathrooms. There is also furnace and automatic water heater; garage; cement drive; in fact, nothing lacking. A big bargain.

WEST NINTH BARGAIN.
WAY UNDER VALUE.

$7750. $7750. $7750.

Right on West Ninth street, close in, biggest bargain in Westlake district. Lot is 50x135, improved with good 9-room house. Property worth $10,000, and if you have been waiting to get away down bargain in choice part Westlake, don't delay seeing us about this at once. Certain conditions enable us to deliver at this low figure. Lot alone worth the price.

BEAUTIFUL KINGSLEY DRIVE.
7-room Bungalow.

$7000. $7000. $7000.

The owner of this charming 7-room bungalow, who has gone East to reside, instructs us to sell. The location is choice, being on Kingsley drive, among some of the best homes in the city. Lot is 50x150 feet. Interior is very beautiful and finished in very best of taste throughout. Large living-room, 3 sleeping-rooms, also delightful breakfast-room. There is a furnace and hot-water heater. Garage and drive, in fact nothing lacking. A bungalow for one who is discriminating. We dare say there is nothing in the city to equal this property in real value, and must be seen to be appreciated.

FOR SALE—

WILSHIRE DISTRICT.

A beautiful home, 6 bedrooms, 3 baths, new and modern, never occupied, 60-foot lot, near Wilshire, $11,500. This is an especially attractive place and a real sacrifice.

Another real sacrifice and without doubt one of the finest, most modern and up-to-date mansions in the Wilshire district. It is one of the largest homes in the city, on a 100-foot lot; a description would not do the place justice. It is finished in birch and mahogany, immense rooms throughout, 6 or 7 bedrooms, 5 baths, servant's quarters and every kind of a room and all built-in conveniences that go to make a modern place. Finished with the finest of workmanship and materials throughout. The owner needs real money and I can buy this place at a reduction of several thousand dollars from what you can. It is in the highest class residence section of the city.

SPECIAL PROPOSITION.

Read this carefully. I have on my desk a list of most every new unoccupied house for sale in the Wilshire district. I have made a specialty of that section for years, have subdivided property, built many homes and have a real education along those lines.

Do you want someone to act as your agent and appraiser, not the agent for the owner, go out and help you select and purchase a home the same as you place your order through a stock broker?

If you are a bona fide buyer and want such an agent and appraiser who will obtain for you absolutely the lowest price, best terms and at the same time obtain for you a net price, then I am the man you are looking for.

I can furnish you a list of almost every desirable new, unoccupied house, give you the keys and you can look around yourself, or if you prefer, my time and machine are at your disposal.

I will act strictly as a buyer for you; guarantee to obtain the net price; accept no commission from the owner; but if I can suit you in a home you pay me a reasonable figure for my services, time and knowledge.

If you find a home which is not on my list and you want information on it, I will look into the matter for you on the same basis. I will be honest and candid in my opinion as to the cash value of any lot or property which I may submit or which you may refer to me and act strictly as your broker and work for your interest.

I am perfectly sincere in this statement, will give you the best of bank references and will carry forward for you a straight legitimate deal. No lists given over the telephone, but you can call on me or I will call at your home or office and explain my proposition further.

If you want to buy, a man who is sincere, honest and has a thorough knowledge of values both of lots and houses, and knows the inside of a deal, can save you money. He knows the game, and I can assure you in every way that I will save you money and at the same time give you the best value that can be had in the city. For further information call.

DO YOU WANT A HOME?

I mean a real home. A modern home. A home that appeals to a woman's heart and a man's comfort. Not plastered all over with "ginger-bread" decorations, but possessing everything that appeals to quietness, peace, contentment and refinement. In a word, as I said before, it is a real home and an excellent bargain, as I have to sell it very quickly, my plans necessitating a business change. I won't bore you with a lengthy description, as on paper they all sound alike, but briefly. It has seven rooms, hardwood floors, open fireplace, furnace, cement porch, pergola over driveway to garage. Cost $6500. If you can pay $3500 cash, you can have it for $5250, at which price I am really making you a present of $1750. My name is C. S. BLACK. My home is at 2131 Third avenue. I have asked Mr. Chandler, a friend of mine, with The JAMES R. H. WAGNER COMPANY, 631 So. Spring st., to attend to this for me. EL SEGUNDO,
THE STANDARD OIL
"Payroll City."
Many excellent buys are open in El Segundo. Great, intense activity is being shown in every way. The railway building, numerous additions to the Standard Oil Company's present refinery, new homes, and stores are being built, and many are to follow. Many millions of dollars are being spent; great interest has been shown and many sales have resulted. El Segundo is the home of 800 industrious people; only the first unit of the Standard Oil Refinery is completed and in operation, yet the pay roll of El Segundo is between thirty and forty thousand dollars monthly; every day forty carloads of oil leave Segundo for all parts of the world. Profit by this great activity. Decide to visit El Segundo at once. Our autos leave twice daily.

Residence lots	$250
Business lots	$400
1-2, 1-4, 3-4 acre lots	$500

$10,000 buys right now a site excelled by none (a pretty strong statement) in western part of city, overlooking mountains and commanding view of district and surrounded by beautiful homes. It's a double clean corner and ideal for a home for an exacting person who wants and can afford the best. Good car service and every convenience. STRONG, DICKINSON & M'GRATH, 1015 Marsh-Strong Bldg.

FOR SALE— City Lots and Lands.

FOR SALE—
I have secured a genuine bargain in a block of strictly choice, beautifully located residence lots, highly restricted and with every modern convenience, and am prepared to share with one or two others who wish to invest in an exceptional money-making proposition, or who desire to buy an ideal home site. These lots occupy a commanding position, have a magnificent view of ocean and mountains, and are in line of the city's most rapid growth and development, directly on car line with splendid rapid transit service, with beautiful, well-paved street lined with shrubs and flowers, cement walks and curbs, and with city water, sewers and electric light lines all installed, an absolute assurance against any subsequent expense whatever. Owing to the exceptional location and the unusually attractive surroundings this property is destined to an immediate and marked advance in values, and an inspection is all that is needed to have these facts fully appreciated. To any one wishing to investigate with a view to purchasing one or more lots if everything is found sufficiently attractive upon inspection, I shall be glad to offer an auto ride over a delightful drive through the choicest portions of Los Angeles, with no obligation whatever to purchase unless you are so thoroughly pleased with this property after a personal inspection that you will want to join in owning some of it. This is a really exceptional opportunity. For appointment to inspect this property, address immediately, owner, L, box 485, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

GRAND OLD
GRAND AVENUE.
A sure money-maker. Yes, right here you can make a big profit. Owner forced to sell. I guarantee a great big snap bargain in 75 feet on Grand at Pico. This also fronts 75 feet on Palm street, which is an extension of Olive street. 150 ft. of street frontage at price of Grand frontage; yes, way below. Over $200 per ft. under adjoining property; ripe for business right now. How would you like to own this in 1920 when we will have over one million people? You can make a fortune in six years. Nothing so sure and safe as this buy at the low price. Don't be like thousands of people who look back only two years and kick themselves. Chicago property was always too high priced (to majority of people) but the man who bet on his judgment is the man who got rich on inside property. Buy a snap bargain while you can. This piece will soon sell, and price advance over $200 per foot.
ALSO
Have several choice corners for 90-year ground lease, flat rate.
7 ACRES INDUSTRIAL
On Alameda. Joins Pioneer Paper Co., S. P. and Santa Fe trackage.
ALSO A SHOW PLACE,
HOLLYWOOD FOOTHILLS.
About three acres, foothill slope, fronting King's Highway or Cahuenga Boulevard. North of Paul De Longpre's place. 800 feet from car line. 700 feet east of Frank Mortimer's high sightly mansion, which burned last fall, and opposite Summer mansion. Can be made the show place of the foothills. Owner looked for three months for a foothill to fill all the requirements. This is the only one that could be found. Absolutely a rich man's proposition, and sure to suit the man who wants to make a show place. Come in and talk it over; glad to give full information.

SUBURBAN FOOTHILL ESTATES

THE COUNTRY HOME PLACE DE LUXE.

What are your requirements for that ideal country home you have in mind? Do you demand a location easily accessible to Los Angeles? Soil fertility which cannot be questioned? Climatic conditions enabling you to grow everything possible to Semi-Tropic California? Paved boulevards in every direction lighted by electroliers at night and shaded by giant oaks in the day? From your front porch, vine covered in a season's growth, an incomparable panorama of fertile valley, sloping foothills and rugged snow-capped mountains?

DO YOU BELIEVE IT POSSIBLE to secure 10 acres combining all these features for

$300 to $500 PER ACRE

ON EASY TERMS?

The Suburban Foothill Estates is now ready. The choicest section of the San Fernando Valley, located on the State Highway, "El Camino Real," is open for inspection. We want you to see it. The proof of our statements is the property itself. We have no other argument.

FOR SALE—
GOOD LAND AT RIGHT PRICE.
The careful land buyer looks below the surface of the ground for he knows he must have a good subsoil in order to grow good crops. Gravel beds don't usually produce good grain or fruit. We want to sell a few hundred acres of land which we own at Zelzah in the San Fernando Valley, a part of the well-known Hubbard & Wright ranch, and we will be glad to show you that it is as good all the way down as it is on top.

It is located just right for irrigation, having good drainage, and is near railroad station, school, store and postoffice.

At $350 an acre there is no better buy in the valley. We will make terms to fit your pocketbook.

Country Property.

FOR SALE—NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY RANCH property near San Diego, and it is cheaper now than it ever will be again. Do you know that country property can be purchased near San Diego at about one-third to one-half the price you would pay around Los Angeles? Remember, San Diego has over eighty thousand inhabitants and will be a much larger city. Perhaps there is no section in the world with a finer climate and where conditions for living are more favorable or more healthful. Delightful in summer or winter. I have orange and lemon groves, chicken ranches, land for alfalfa, olives and fruits of all kinds. Large and small tracts, improved and unimproved, near San Diego and more remote.

JAMES W. GOING,
415 Union Bldg.,
San Diego, Cal.
Member San Diego Realty Board.

$1200—Or a trifle over $6 an acre, is the price for one hundred and sixty-four acres, 26 miles east of San Diego and four miles from country town. Good road all the way. At least seventy acres choice plow land and suitable for fruits and grain of all kinds. Well 21 feet deep, with an abundant supply of good water. Fifty or sixty stands of bees included in price. Live oaks and sycamore. This is a good place and very, very cheap.

$4000—Or $50 an acre for 80 acres, suitable for alfalfa, fruits and grain. Only one-fourth mile from postoffice and store, with fine roads all the way to San Diego. Fine live oaks. Great abundance of water available.

$12,800—Or $40 an acre, for 320 acres, about 23 miles east of San Diego, with a boulevard almost as smooth as a paved street, all the way. Close to 100 acres good creek bottom, and another 100 acres with gentle slope, and unsurpassed for fruits of all kinds. In all about 200 acres of as good land as can be found in this section, and a great abundance of water, that can be easily developed. A grove of majestic live oaks. Less than one mile from country store and postoffice and about seven miles to good railroad town. Unimproved land a short distance nearer town would cost you at least $250 an acre. I believe you would prefer the forty dollar an acre land, even at the same price. Easy terms.

$8000—Or a trifle over seventeen dollars an acre, will buy four hundred and sixty-five acres about 40 miles north of San Diego. About 160 acres suitable for intensive cultivation. Perhaps fifty acres would be good alfalfa land. A good country for fruit. Elevation three thousand feet. About two miles from small town and a fine road all the way to San Diego. Live oaks scattered over place. Adjoining this land, I have about seven hundred and fifty acres for $12 an acre. The two places could be sold together or separately. Easy terms.

$9600—Is the price for four hundred and ten acres, about one-half of which is good plow land, with soil of unsurpassed fertility and abundance of water. Now, this is a remarkable proposition. I know that it is one of the best properties for the money that I have ever listed. Fair house, cement silo, barn and other outbuildings. Plenty of timber and several acres in orchard. The owner has perhaps $500 worth of wine which he made from grapes grown on the place. One year the turkeys yielded $900. This is a practical farm that will provide a good annual income. It is also a wonderful investment at the price. It is some thirty-four miles northeast of San Diego and about four miles from a good town with excellent boulevard all the way. If I expressed my opinion of this place, you might think I was too enthusiastic. I am confident that an examination of the property will confirm my judgment and my statements. Favorable terms.

$30,000—For one thousand acres, about four miles from Julian and in a section where there is an abundance of rainfall and irrigation is not required. Apples that win prizes in competition with the world are grown here. Several hundred pine, cedar, fir, and oaks scattered over the place. Owner estimates about six hundred acres are suitable for cultivation. Rich soil and running water, the year around. The elevation is about forty-five hundred feet, with a magnificent view and a climate that would be difficult to describe, in winter as well as summer. Look all over Southern California and where can you duplicate this proposition? Such ranches are not on the market. Favorable terms.

$10,000—Will buy fifteen acres, about four miles north of Broadway and Fifth sts., San Diego. Here is a farm in the city. Some six acres now in alfalfa. Good new, five-room bungalow with bath and other modern conveniences, besides an older house. Good barn, pumping plant and inexhaustible supply of water. The owner has just made a reduction of $2000 in the price, in order to make an immediate sale. Choice alfalfa and fruit land. Owner refused $50 a month rent from Japanese for truck garden purposes. Favorable terms.

$53,100—Or $45 an acre, is the price for 1180 acres, about 35 miles northeast of San Diego and only about one mile from good town. The land is nearly all level as a floor, and suitable for intensive cultivation and desirable for alfalfa, olives, grain, in fact, fruits of all kinds, with water at a depth of a few feet, and several springs. This is a choice tract of land, only about two hundred acres being unfit for cultivation. Good for stock ranch or for farming purposes. I do not know of a finer tract that is available in the entire county.

$60,000—Or $30 an acre, for 2000 acres, some 60 miles north of San Diego and near the Los Angeles boulevard, with fine roads all the way to both cities. Good house, barn, and other improvements. Several hundred acres being in cultivation. Very productive soil and fine water in abundance. Well and springs. A beautiful place in good condition and very desirable for a stock ranch or for the growing of all kinds of fruits, grain, alfalfa, in fact, everything. Easy terms.

A SPECIAL BARGAIN.

IN THE BEAUTIFUL PAJARO VALLEY, SANTA CRUZ COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, WHERE IS FOUND ONE OF THE RICHEST AND MOST PROSPEROUS AGRICULTURAL COMMUNITIES IN THE WORLD. THE GREATEST APPLE DISTRICT WEST OF THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS, SHIPPING 4000 CARLOADS A YEAR.

An exceptionally high-class property, highly improved, famous for its production of high-grade fruit. 33 acres, in full bearing, one-half Newtown Pippins and the other half Bellefleurs, the most profitable varieties of apples grown. Close to the city of Watsonville, on an asphalted street; modern dwelling of 9 rooms, 7-room house for help, garage for two machines, large barn, shed, chicken runs, etc. House furniture and ranch equipment included. This property, the home and investment holding of a gentleman lately a resident of the valley, is offered as a purchase of the most solid, substantial and profitable character, and the fortunate buyer will obtain one of the most beautiful homes and one of the best paying commercial orchards in the county at a price assuring a high rate of yearly income, with certain increase in basic value. Within a year the Panama Canal will be open. The Pajaro Valley, already famous for its high-class fruit, will then hold the most advantageous position of any apple growing district in the world. The canal will assure lower freight rates and superior shipping facilities, and these in turn will insure greater returns to the orchardists, and a great increase in land values; to buy today is to gain this certain profit. The price of this fine property is $30,000, which is below the bank appraisement. Terms, $10,000 down, balance on time at 6 per cent. For further information address T. FOR SALE—SAN FERNANDO VALLEY LANDS. Poor land may do for speculation but the best is none too good for a home.

We own and offer for sale a few hundred acres of the best land in the west central part of the San Fernando Valley, a part of the well known Wright & Hubbard ranch, located on the Main Coast line of the Southern Pacific Railroad at Zelzah.

Wright & Hubbard were pioneers in the valley and had many thousand of its virgin acres to select from when they made their home on this land nearly forty years ago.

The soil, a warm, mellow loam without a trace of alkali or hard-pan, is perfectly adapted to the production of the choicest fruit and vegetables, and its altitude, about 800 feet, and perfect drainage insure success with poultry.

Zelzah has a good school, fine new depot, general merchandise store, postoffice, and lumber yard. Our price $350 an acre, is right and terms easy. Call, phone or write for full information.

PLANTED OLIVE AND ORANGE ORCHARDS.

$5 AN ACRE DOWN

AND $5 AN ACRE PER MONTH.

AT DELANO FARMS

We have set our 400 acres of the finest of Delano Farms with olives and oranges. Orchards of selected trees, cared for by our experts and under a specially constructed irrigation system. With each 5-acre grove an interest at the water system is included. Olives are piling up magnificent returns —$300 to $500 an acre and the crops bought on the trees on 10-year contracts. That's what the packers think of the olive orchards.

Think of

A SPLENDID INCOME FOR LIFE

on these remarkable terms. $25 cash for five acres and $25 a month. No experimenting—no loss from "not knowing how." You can remain at your present position. We will care for your orchard for you. Your orchard increases annually $100 an acre and in five years begins to pile up an independence for you.

This is the land of early products—vegetables, berries, melons and fruit ripen weeks ahead of other districts.

Grow them between the trees—$100 to $150 an acre extra profits.

Come in and learn more about these planted Delano Farms. Learn how you can NOW start towards an absolutely sure permanent income.

THE REASON WHY

WE ARE PLEASED TO SHOW OUR

NORTH WHITTIER HEIGHTS

ORANGE, LEMON, GRAPE FRUIT AND WALNUT LAND SUBDIVISION.

IS BECAUSE WE HAVE A PROPERTY OF WHICH WE ARE PROUD.

We invite a comparison of this subdivision in every essential condition of soil, water, air drainage and foothill protection, which gives it an equable climate, and in general location, with any other citrus property now being offered on the market in the State.

Successful citrus orchardists and nurserymen are investing at North Whittier Heights, which means that we have the conditions necessary for growing "citrus groves that pay" and that the price is right.

We are selling the property in planted or unplanted tracts of 5, 10, 15 and up to 50 acres and on easy terms if desired. We will also contract to care for groves for non-resident purchasers.

Call for, phone or write for full information and descriptive folder, or better still, let us take you out by auto to see the property and district.

R. S. BASSETT.

Fine Subdivision Proposition.

About 15,000 acres in the citrus belt of the Sacramento Valley, where the oranges ripen six week earlier than in the southern district. Not far from a large orange proposition of 10,000 acres, where there is already 2000 acres set to orange trees, water conditions good. Many living springs. Four miles from main line of railroad, 7 miles from county seat, with a population of 4000. About 6000 acres comparatively level land. About 2000 acres covered with trees, oak, pine, cottonwood, willow and manzanita. Five groups of buildings, now on the property. Net income from this property last year was $38,000. But there had been two dry years in succession, and they are expecting $50,000 for the coming year. This property is owned by an estate and must be sold. A friend of mine has an option on this property and has sent me the above information and description of the property, and says it can be bought for $27.50 per acre. I have not seen the property myself. But, say Reader, if you are interested, and want something of this kind, call and see me. Let's go and see it. I'll go if you will. What say you?

OUR
WILL LOCATE YOU ON THE "CREAM" OF THE GOVERNMENT LANDS NOW OPEN FOR LOCATION IN SOUTHERN NEVADA
ON RAILROAD LINE.

A nice home and a prolific farm of 80 or 160 acres can be taken up on homestead entry by persons who have not yet exercised their right. These lands are located in a beautiful and healthful valley in the State of Nevada, convenient to railroad. Vegetables, cereals, beef, mutton, butter, eggs and poultry are in demand at high prices in the Great Southwest and throughout the State of Nevada.

These lands are classified as desert, but in reality misnamed—almost an oasis in the desert—the altitude being 3600 feet. Experiments show that apples, peaches, pears, plums, walnuts and vines thrive and produce without irrigation.

The soil is the result of wash deposit of decomposed granite, silt and vegetable formation, with just a sufficient percentage of volcanic ash to make an agricultural soil suitable for all kinds of vegetation to attain its perfection and maturity. It is just the soil and climate for the spineless cactus. The deposits of soil vary in depth from six to fifty feet to rock bottom. Water can be had by bored or drilled wells, with an assurance of water at from 150 to 200 feet in sufficient qualities for domestic and light irrigation. Experiments demonstrate that cereal crops can be raised from the natural rainfall, an average of 14 inches, during the months of June, July and August each year. The lands being level, the soil retains the moisture. The climate is mild and healthful; seldom a continuation of very hot weather during the summer or exceedingly cold during the winter. In its present wild state, bunch, Grama and Gietea grass in abundance, affording feed for stock the year through. Some few scattering Yucca trees and thinly scattered patches of Chemise brush, which is easily and cheaply cleared, owing to the land lying perfectly level. Cereal crops thrive well when planted in the spring months, so as to get the benefit of the summer rains. Owing to the soil being mellow, and the entire absence of foreign weeds, plowing is not required. It is the best kind of soil for the growing of Tokay raisin grape vine, which thrives with a light rainfall and continued cultivation.

WESTERN EXPLOITATION COMPANY,
"YOU WILL SAVE AND MAKE MONEY"
506 VAN NUYS BLDG.
Seventh and Spring sts.
Los Angeles, Cal.

LET US HELP YOU MAKE SOME MONEY NOW. You have been reading our advertisements from year to year. Consider this SPECIAL OFFER. We will send you at once by registered mail, lists and description of about TWO HUNDRED PIECES of State land that we can help you buy direct from officials THIS MONTH, at prices far below selling prices of adjoining land. These pieces were neglected and overlooked years ago. Improvements on adjoining land make this land much more valuable, some supposed to belong to absent owners. This land is offered to you for a small price, regardless of present value. Sold to you without appraisement. Shall we help you buy direct from officials without subdivision profit, making the profit yourself that you would pay others? You can get deed and sell any time. One man bought and sold the same day at over $900 profit. Another bought for $100 property he refused fifty times the cost almost at once. A third bought a section of level alfalfa land for less than one hundredth of its value. WE LIVED IN MISSOURI. LET US SHOW YOU these bargains. Stop reading this paper and write us to send you at once lists and descriptions of about 200 pieces of State land, all in Los Angeles county. Many, not all, are on or near CAR LINES, and not far from the center of most all good towns in Los Angeles county. Ask us also to send you lists of 100 pieces of valuable Indian allotments, selected years ago by the first NATIVE SONS of California, now for sale for $2 an acre and up. You may now buy 40, 80, 160 or 8000 acres of Indian land allotments. Write us to send you valuable lists of State land now for sale in any three counties; also ask us to book your order for lists of school land in any three counties, to be sent you about 60 days before over a million acres of this school land comes on the market at $2.50 per acre on long-time payments as provided by the new law. Take all the time you want to send for our new 1914 booklet (second edition revised.) Write all our references—satisfied customers, banks, Dunn & Bradstreet—if you desire. But, remember, best bargains will go soon, so it will pay you to send your order at once with $5, by personal check, or any way convenient; then see, select and buy your choice. We trust you to pay us $10 more after you buy each piece. We work hard to make you a satisfied customer. Satisfied customers make us more business than these expensive advertisements. Five dollars will give you lists, description and particulars how to see, select and buy your choice.

Time is money. Use present time to order. Then buy, to sell or to keep. We continue to give you service until 1916. We help you all we can now, and send you something extra good from time to time. We are public searchers of State and United States records. We are specialists. Do you want the results of our years of searching? Try an order today.

Yours for service.

ALFALFA LAND.
50 CENTS AN ACRE.
Under $1,000,000 irrigation system.
Last allotment of U. S. government land under famous Delta project of Central Utah; on main line of Salt Lake route. Open to all who have not exercised their Carey Act right—except married women. Title to land perfect; passes from U. S. Government to State, and from State to the settler. Total cost of land and water is actually less than cost of operating a pumping system on a California farm. Pay 25 cents an acre down and remaining 25 cents within three years. State has limited price of water to $60 an acre, payable $7 down and remainder in 13 annual installments. You file on 40, 80, 120 or 160 acres—conditional upon developing the land. Perpetual water right. Delta is 134 miles from Salt Lake City; 20 hours from Los Angeles; this is a 30-year alfalfa country; settled district; many former California ranchers on project; new branch railroad now building through land. The State wants real, earnest, practical settlers—no speculators; you should have enough money to establish yourself; land should soon pay for itself with alfalfa, grain, cattle, hogs, dairying, sugar beets, potatoes, etc. Good schools, eager markets, fine climate, pure water; $75 to $100 per acre netted from alfalfa seed; 40 bushels of oats per acre from land one year from brush; 12 tons of sugar beets to the acre; one man states he raised 260 bushels of potatoes per acre first year; California man says $200 an acre would not buy his land. Write or call for folder giving facts, figures, crop records, testimonials, etc. See exhibit of products in windows of Salt Lake R. R. office, 6th and Spring sts. Wonderful opportunity for practical people with a little money, who are willing to work. Land is going fast. Better act at once. WESTERN SECURITIES COMPANY, 1119 Hollingsworth Bldg., 6th and Hill sts. Broadway 7561.

BIG GOVERNMENT LAND OPENING ON THE GILA RIVER IN SOUTHERN ARIZONA will take place within next few weeks. About 48,000 acres, 5000 of which is rich river bottom silt soil; abundance of water for irrigation, 10 to 20 feet. This land was withdrawn from entry more than 10 years ago, and is just being restored. Will grow anything in abundance that is planted in the ground. On main line Southern Pacific railroad near railroad station. Land can now be seen and location selected. There are also a few choice pieces of river bottom land in the vicinity that can be filed on now. 35,000 acres of government land has been located in Yuma country the past 3 months. Country on the boom. Go where the rush is. That is the place to make money. See me at Westminster Hotel, 4th and Main, Monday or Tuesday. Excursion to Arizona Tuesday, 3 p.m. MURRAY J. MORLEY, Secretary, Southern Arizona Development Assn.

U. S. GOVERNMENT LANDS—
Applications for government land are the heaviest ever known, millions of acres still open to entry in Southern and Northern California. I am not a locator; my business is supplying information that will assist people to locate themselves and save hundreds of dollars thereby. OIL PROPERTY—

UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY—
in the
FULLERTON OIL FIELD.
190—ACRES—190
Will be sold to HIGHEST BIDDER
FEBRUARY 20, 1914, by the SOQUEL CANON OIL CO., at its office,
409 Wilcox Bldg.,
Los Angeles.

The property consists of 190 acres of land, about 6 miles northeast of Fullerton, in Soquel Canon, and about a mile east of Olinda, the terminus of the branch line of the Santa Fe R. R., which runs from Richfield to the productive oil territory belonging to the Santa Fe Company.

No development work has been done on this 190 acres; but for a safe investment, with the prospect of proving valuable oil territory, this bona fide sale to the highest bidder offers an unusual opportunity for an oil company to add to its territory, or for an individual or syndicate to acquire land with a good prospect of great increase in value.

The Company makes this offer because the stockholders are not financially able to develop the territory.

The property is entirely free from any incumbrance, and perfect title will be furnished.

For further particulars see or write to R. W. POINDEXTER, President, Soquel Canon Oil Co., 409 Wilcox Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

FOR SALE—MIDWAY FIELD—
80 acres deeded land.

FOR SALE—

"ORANGE GROVES THAT PAY."
FOR SALE BY FRANK WHEELER,
CLAREMONT, CAL.

10 acres, $20,000; all Navels; one of the prettiest foothill home ranches to be found in California. Surroundings are superb; elevation 2000 feet; grand view of the whole valley and of Catalina. A good 7-room house with sleeping porch; all furnished ready to occupy; also garage. One-half cash will handle this, no trade. To see this place is to buy it.

10 acres, mostly navels, full bearing, an ideal country home, modern in every respect with porte cochere. On Euclid avenue, Upland. Pacific Electric connection to Los Angeles. This is one of the finest propositions to be found anywhere. Price with crop $33,000.

20 acres, Valencias, navels and lemons. The best producing grove on Euclid avenue, Upland. This grove has a record few groves can show. There is a $12,000 crop on the trees. Fine 10-room house, barns, garage and helper's cottage. Team and implements go with the property, and extra water stock. This place has cost the owner $75,000, but business interests elsewhere compel him to move, and for a few days I can sell this fine country home and grove for $65,000.

20 acres, $12,500. Are you looking for "something for nothing?" Here it is. Ten acres full bearing, mostly navels. Five acres 2-year-old navels, and five acres good orange land ready to plant, and enough water for the whole 20 acres. Crop on trees included. Close to foothill boulevard. Can you beat this for a bargain?

20 acres, $30,000. A $40,000 grove near the foothill boulevard, beautiful locality. Owner forced to retire. Six acres Valencias, balance navels; 12,000-box crop on trees. Good buildings. Just see this, that's all we ask.

Remember, now is the time to buy an orange grove. NOW, while you can get the crop. In a few days, these crops will be reserved. Why not make this profit yours?

This hotel during the quiet months last summer never cleared less than $250 above all expenses. Right now they are netting about $600 per month and getting better all the time. You can secure a ten-year lease and the rental is only a trifle over $7 per room. Present lessee is in a very critical physical condition and that is the only reason that this hotel is offered at this sacrifice price. If you are looking for a hotel that will make you a fortune in the next five years, see this at once and convince yourself.

I HAVE A PROPOSITION TO PRESENT TO A business man, an absolutely fool proof domestic ice-making and refrigerating machine. You can put it in your ice box at home, in your butcher shop, in your ice cream parlor, any or every place ice is used, and it will do the work; just touch a button and the machine does the rest. I am demonstrating this machine in Los Angeles every day. It will surprise the most critical investigator, absolutely fool proof, fully protected by United States patents, cheapest possible construction, design simplicity itself. Very cheap to operate, nothing to wear out and can be sold to the public so cheaply that most every home will have one. This is not something in the future but is ready now for your most critical inspection. If you have or can produce real money and want a real clean-cut business proposition presented to you, ring up F6684 or Broadway 3474 mornings from 10 to 12. Ask for W. C. PLEASURE AND PROFIT COMBINED.
KINDLY READ THIS.
IT IS DIFFERENT AND INTERESTING.

A little coterie of gentlemen of means and discernment, with a thousand acres of land, near the seashore, at command, desire to establish from 50 to 100 gentlemen's homes of five to ten acres each, improved, ready for occupancy; on rail way and automobile highway; expense modest and a good investment; unique plan. Golf links, inland lake, beach facilities, hunting grounds in mountains, an hour away.

About ten congenial friends desired to form each neighborhood combination.

Full information furnished only to gentlemen giving evidence of genuine interest, financial ability and social standing. Address or consult MR. LYONS, 603 Security Bldg.

ANNOUNCEMENT—

H. E. Teter & Company announce that they have secured the placing of the treasury stock of the McAnders Oil Company. This property is exceptionally located in the midst of activities of the great Fullerton field, and consists of a 30-year lease on 40 acres of patented land with one-eighth royalty in Section 24. In this same section (No. 24) Amalgamated, Union, Petroleum and others have nine producing wells, two new wells coming in and nine more wells drilling.

The McAnders Company is fully equipped and is now drilling their No. 1 well at a depth of over 700 feet. This well is to be driven to the oil sands as rapidly as is possible by two crews working day and night. The opportunity to invest in the Fullerton district has been limited almost entirely to the stocks of the large producing companies, whose shares are among the highest priced on the list.

We are placing this block of treasury stock of the McAnders Company at 20 cents per share. Of the total amount of treasury stock to be sold one-fourth has been subscribed before the issuing of this announcement. Complete data, map, etc., will be furnished upon request.

HARRY CHANDLER,
Assistant General Manager, The Times.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 5th day of February, 1914.

[Seal] T. L. CHAPIN,
Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

A. L. Dennis, being duly sworn, declares that he is and has been for twelve years Superintendent of Circulation of the Los Angeles Times; that the above detailed statement of circulation for the month of January, 1914, is correct, and shows the circulation of The Times for each day of the month named.

A. L. DENNIS,
Superintendent of Circulation, The Times.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 5th day of February, 1914.

[Seal] T. L. CHAPIN,
Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

The Times is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that does not make a practice of permitting agents, newsboys and dealers to return unsold copies of its issue. Neither does it misbrand or predate its editions, or inflate its circulation by printing more copies than are actually necessary to supply its patrons.

The Times' entire circulation is practically net, and it is more genuine and superior in every respect to that of any other newspaper.

CROP SCARE IS MINIMIZED.

SEVERE WEATHER WEST HOLDS SELLERS IN CHECK.

After Modest Advances Prices Close Easy, With Corn at a Net Loss—Snow Covering of Sufficient Extent to Halt Any Excited Buying of Wheat.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Severe weather west held in check today short sellers of wheat, but the crop scare did not sufficiently develop to start a big bull market. After a modest advance, prices closed easy at exactly last night's level. Corn showed a net loss of ¼@⅜ to ⅜@½ cents; oats finished unchanged, and provision were down 2½ to 2½@5 cents. Snow covering, whether heavy enough or not to prevent crop damage, was of adequate extent to halt any excited buying of wheat. Increased country offerings with prospects for bigger receipts led to a break in the corn market. Oats were sustained by fear that the Texas yield would suffer harm from the temperature falling suddenly 65 deg. Expected large supplies of hogs next week made the provision market easy. Longs were more inclined to take profits than to give prices support.

New York Cotton Market.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The session today was quiet. Closing prices were 3 to 5 lower. The trading was mainly for switching account and was supposed for undoing straddles. Covering by March shorts put that month up to 40 points over May, but a leading spot interest supplied the cotton and an easier tone ensued. The buying of 5000 to 10,000 May before the close by a Wall-street house steadied the market.

HARBOR ITEMS.

Having completed her cargo with California products, the American-Hawaiian freighter Georgian, which arrived last night from Tacoma, direct, proceeded to Salina Cruz this afternoon.

Lumber carriers arriving today were the steamer James S. Higgins, from Fort Bragg, via Redondo Beach, and the Alcatraz, from Greenwood, with 300,000 feet of redwood for various wholesalers. The Higgins sailed for Fort Bragg tonight in ballast. These are the first steamers to arrive from Mendocino ports since the recent stormy weather, which delayed their loading. The Mandalay, which was delayed nearly three weeks, is at Redondo Beach and due here tonight. Two steam schooners sailed for Puget Sound tonight in ballast to reload lumber. The Cricket sailed in ballast, after discharging a cargo for the Consolidated Lumber Company, and the William Chatham took a partial cargo of crude oil for the General Petroleum Company.

New York Curb Stock.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Oil stocks were inclined to be heavy, although there were good bids at the low level. Coppers were firm with trading limited. Boston coppers opened a shade off and eased fractionally on profit-taking. The market was slow during the entire session, but rallied fractionally during the last half-hour. Granby was the weakest, selling off 1¼ on odd-lot business. Superior sold down to 35; with increased trading at the bottom, and then rallied. Alaska sold down with limited activity. The market was fair at the close.

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

Florence Drops Five Points—Jim Butler Is Strong Feature of Tonopah List—Business Fair.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—In the Goldfield list Florence lost 5 points, Jumbo Exchange was up 2 and the rest were unchanged. There were no changes in Manhattans. In Comstock list Consolidated Virginia and Sierra each lost 1. In the Tonopah list Belmont was down ⅛ and Jim Butler was very strong, closing up 7½ points, at 1.07½, a new high for this movement; Merger gained a point, Montana was up 5, and West End 2⅛; the rest were unchanged. In the outlying-camp list Round Mountain was up 1. The volume of business was fair for Saturday.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Market Continues to Reveal Improvement—Midway Northern Is Strong—Union Firm.

The underlying tendency toward strength continued to make itself felt yesterday morning on the Stock Exchange. Except in the case of Midway Northern, which was up 6 points at the close, none of the advances was considerable, however. Union held at $65, the "high" of the previous day. Western Union continues a strong feature. National Pacific was unchanged. Los Angeles Investment is firm. Home Telephone securities improved in tone a little, and bonds showed upward tendencies in some instances.

The cause for Midway Northern's strength was the news that arrangements had been agreed upon that will allow the company to operate its property, which is on government land, provided all earnings over and above operating expenses are placed in escrow pending a decision in the government suits.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Receipts of eggs yesterday morning totaled 1119 cases, the heaviest arrival of eggs posted in several months. Of this number, about half were from Petaluma, 200 cases from the East and a few from San Francisco, the other being strictly home product. The call for eggs was very good and there was no decline here. In San Francisco the market was 35½ cents. The heavy shipment of Chinese eggs expected, will never get here, for the reason that this stock, instead of coming to Los Angeles, was diverted to Canada and billed for Calgary, where prices are much higher than here at this time.

The butter market was weak and declined 2 cents, creamery extra going to 27 cents. In San Francisco the market dropped to 29 cents, but reports show that production in the southern part of the State has been far better than the northern during the past two weeks. Receipts were 24,680 pounds.

Cheese arrivals were 1930 pounds. The call for this product was mostly in Oregon varieties, which continue high and firm. A report from San Francisco puts California full cream back to 19 cents in the quotation there, while here it is at least a cent lower in jobbing and even more.

The potato market is still weak. Yesterday only 350 sacks of spuds were received and this helped to keep the market from any deep cutting.

Onions with receipts of 925 sacks, showed still more weakness than several days ago and some were selling as low as $3.75. The Mexican Bermuda crop, if there is any to speak of and if it can be shipped, should begin to arrive within the next week or two. Imperial Valley growers expect to begin shipments within three weeks. With onions pouring in from all parts of the country and even from Spain on account of the high prices here, there is little likelihood that prices will reach the $5 mark that was predicted by some of the dealers. Sweet potatoes were also off fractionally in the quotations. Receipts have been large and yesterday 519 sacks were reported in.

Apple arrivals were 1531 boxes. The call for them is very good and outside of grapes and tropical fruits, they furnish the only palate tickler on the market.

Local Stock Market Activities

Prices of local securities were well maintained throughout the week, although trading was in somewhat diminished volume. Oil stocks hold the chief interest and the largest advance was scored by Western Union, which sold above $100.00 for the first time in several years. A few weeks ago this stock was quoted around $65. The company is now paying regular monthly dividends at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum and pays an extra this month of 1 per cent.

Union Oil held just about steady at its recently advanced quotations, the price range for the week being around $62.50 to $65. Amalgamated and Associated were slightly reactionary, the former showing a loss of about $3 a share at yesterday's closing figure of $84. Producers' Transportation Company stock was also off about $3 at around $76. United Oil and Maricopa Northern were lower.

Standard Oil of California created something of a sensation in eastern trading by a further spectacular advance to $330 a share. Six months ago this stock was selling around $180. The quotation ten days ago was $265. Mexican Petroleum also scored a further advance of ten points Wednesday to $72.50, later reacting slightly. There is no question as to the rapidly extending interest in California oil stocks and many who have watched the market closely expect to see lively trading in these issues within the next few months.

Trading in local bonds continues brisk at hardening prices and local dealers are now pretty well cleaned out of the issues they have been carrying. Pacific Light and Power Corporation 5's are now quoted at 83 to 84 and Union Oil 5's are strong at 87. Los Angeles Railway Corporation 5's and Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation 5's are up about a point each from last week.

Time loans in New York are down to 3½ per cent. Local money conditions also continue to show improvement.

Bank stock transactions during the week were light. There were a few sales of Security Trust and Savings at $390 and small transactions in German American around $370. Citizens' National was a trifle stronger at $232.50 bid.

All leading stock markets of the world are showing great improvement. This week's reports from London indicated the largest volume of trading in many months with rapidly advancing prices in practically the whole list of investment stocks. Berlin and Paris reports also told of eager investment buying in a the best grade securities coupled with great improvement in speculative trading. The world-wide money stringency seems now definitely over and the beginning of a new optimism is reported from all quarters.

A MODEST MASTER OF MILLIONS.

The Story of Henry E. Huntington, Who Had So Large a Hand in Putting Southern California on the Map.

[The Times prints on the merits this following graphic and authoritative sketch of Mr. Henry E. Huntington and his striking career, compiled with a fine appreciation of his business methods, character and achievements.]

A BIG man, broad of shoulder and deep of chest, with blue eyes and a white military mustache, sometimes sits at a plain roll-top desk in a room on the thirteenth floor of a Broad-street skyscraper in New York, where his ears are assailed by the incessant tumult of the money mills. Curiously enough, though he seems to be in Wall street at intervals, he is not of Wall street. Unobserved and not widely known, he passes among the captains, whose fame and fortune are widely exploited, yet few individuals rank with him in volume and distribution of personal wealth. He has a process of financing peculiarly his own. Though his family name is linked with overmastering corporate conquest, he has habitually kept in the background, remaining by choice and inclination one of the really few aloof but dominating figures in the most fascinating of all games. Such is Henry E. Huntington, favorite nephew of the masterful Collis P. Huntington. The former's recent marriage to the widow of that "Colossus of Roads" not only set up a new mile-post in the march of American fortune, but attracted public attention to a career which has been as remarkable, in many ways, as it has been unheralded.

Because he happened to be the nephew and heir of a prince of capital, there is an impression that good luck coddled him in her luxurious lap and made his life, almost from the start, a bed of gilded ease. As a matter of fact, Henry E. Huntington was a wealthy man by his own efforts long before the massive figure of Collis P. Huntington yielded to the burden of years. California knew him as a resolute steam and electric railway operator; as a discriminating investor; as an active developer of natural resources and sections of steam road "back East" long before his western career began.

When vast legacy did come to him it was simply harnessed up to activities planned or already well established. Into a decade he crowded what most men do not accomplish in a lifetime. He went far and worked hard to put Los Angeles on the map, and is today the largest realty owner in Southern California. A whole traction domain calls him lord; his influence is strong in half a dozen railroads; by his historic sale of the control of the Southern and Central Pacific to E. H. Harriman he gave that creative wizard the most essential principality in his then widening empire. He owns, with his wife, outright, the largest private shipyards in America; he is a king in power production; fifty-three directorates—East and West—that touch all kinds of business in some way, know his counsel and sometimes his presence. And as an esthetic side diversion he has accumulated perhaps the finest private library in the world, alongside of which Mr. Morgan's heralded book treasures are, with some exceptions, almost commonplace.

What sort of man, then, is this one who, in a time of strident publicity and in the face of all this achievement, can escape the fierce light of exploitation that beats about the very rich?

For one thing he is naturally modest and reserved. His methods, too, are very quiet. Where his mighty uncle loved the clash and turmoil of spectacular conflict, he works without friction and almost in seclusion.

Now, for the first time are revealed the intimate facts of his life. It is a narrative of typical American performance, studded with the drama of well-nigh incessant action. All through it lurks the craggy presence and influence of Collis P. Huntington. Uncle and nephew worked closely together and with a common vision. They were, in a measure, the inheritors of the same renown. They had the rare genius of being able to wait for results; they builded for the morrow. In short, Henry E. Huntington is a sort of reincarnation of Collis P., with the same thrift, foresight and constructive energy, although lacking, in some respects, the tremendous and commanding personality of the creator of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

AN EARLY RESPONSIBILITY.

Since this is the first real glimpse, and the truest, into the Huntington career, let us begin at the beginning.

Probe the boyhood of men of affairs and you find the qualities that shape large careers. Following the best traditions of the self-made, Henry E. Huntington began as clerk in a country store at Oneonta, N. Y., where he was born. Here his father and his father's brother, the masterful Collis P., had their first merchandising experience. In a way, C. P. never ceased to be a merchant. His whole theory of business was summed up in a single sentence: "Anything that can be bought for less than the cost of production, that is not perishable, and that is an article in general use, is worth buying and holding." It is part of the H. E. Huntington philosophy, too, as we shall soon see.

Where Henry H. Rogers and Russell Sage handled their first money over sugar and eggs, Henry E. Huntington wrestled with the more difficult problem of hardware. The way he got his first job was characteristic. When he was 17, the leading hardware merchant of the place, who had just stocked up his establishment, fell sick. He was distrustful of most people, but he liked young Henry, who had run errands for him. He sent for the lad and said to him:

"Henry, I am sick. You've got to run the store."

"But I don't know anything about running a store," said the boy.

"Never mind," responded the merchant, "you're honest and you are apt."

The net result was that this mere child took charge of the place and ran it successfully for a month. It was the first of many experiences of his that were to prove that instinct and not training is sometimes the best essential to business. He liked the hardware store so much that he remained in it for nearly two years, fitting himself for life just as his uncle had.

Meanwhile, the name of Huntington had flashed across the continent. When Henry was 19, his uncle had helped to make possible and had participated in that epoch-making ceremony out on the Utah plains when the last spike of the Central Pacific was driven, linking East and West with bonds of steel. The boy's imagination was fired by this stirring event, so he started out to make his way in the world. By means of correspondence he got a position in a big wholesale hardware store in New York City.

Here came the first serious contact between uncle and nephew. Collis P. Huntington, who still conducted his store in Sacramento in connection with Mark Hopkins, often came to New York to buy goods or to raise money for those constantly widening railroad projects, in which he had become increasingly powerful. He would drop into the store where his nephew worked, buy a bill of goods and then casually inquire how the boy was getting along. Always he got good reports.

One day when the lad was still under 21, he said to him: "Edward, I guess you had better come with me." Whereupon the boy answered: "How much will you pay me?"

This question was unsentimental, but somehow it pleased the big-bearded man who had begun to make history in the East, even as he had already left the imprint of his power in blazing the railroad way across the western Sierras. For he had just acquired what came to be called the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad in Virginia. The State had been trying to complete it from Richmond to a western connection, and several contractors had become bankrupt in the attempt to cross the Blue Ridge. But C. P. Huntington loved difficult tasks. As he looked into the situation he found out one reason why the contractors had failed. They were being gouged to death on their supplies, and in order to prevent this, he sought the aid of the alert bright-faced young nephew who was clerking in the New York hardware store.

One of the first evils that he sought to remedy in his new eastern construction was the excessive price of ties. In some places the lumbermen were charging a dollar apiece.

"I'll cut my own ties," said Mr. Huntington. So he bought a mill on Cold River at St. Albans, W. Va., and offered Henry the job of running it.

"I don't know anything about a sawmill, but I'll do my best," he said. Once more, an untrained man, he was put up against a responsibility that required technical experience.

The seasoned "lumber jacks" laughed at the beardless boy when he took hold. But he soon changed their laugh. One night a courier came racing down the valley with news that a flood was coming. The old lumbermen shrugged their shoulders and went about their business. But Huntington leaped on a horse, roused his men and set out to make fast his rafts in which a young fortune was tied up. After working all night, the first fury of the flood broke loose. The other sawmill men were caught napping, but Huntington's logs, through his incessant watchfulness, which lasted three days and nights without sleep, held fast, and he did not lose a stick. Most of the other rafts were sent scattering down the raging river.

Huntington ran the mill so successfully that he reduced the price of ties from a dollar to twenty-eight cents.

Early in the seventies, C. P. Huntington sold the sawmill. To his surprise he found that one of the new buyers was his nephew. Soon the young man manifested a quality which has been with him ever since, even in his largest enterprises. He felt that the best way to proceed with any business is by complete possession. He wanted all the profits and was prepared to accept all the responsibility. So he borrowed enough money from his uncle to become proprietor. It was a sad time for business: the panic of 1873 was coming on apace, and times were hard. But the young man weathered all the storms; paid his uncle in full (and with ample interest) and retired after three years with his first real financial nest-egg.

THE FIRST RAILROAD BUILDING.

Meanwhile, C. P. Huntington was pressing the Chesapeake and Ohio onward across the wooded stretches of West Virginia, down through Kentucky, on to Tennessee. It was part of a vast vision that saw in the end the glistening line of steel that would stretch unbroken from the Virginia tidewater to the shores of the Sunset Sea.

But it was hard sledding. Railroads may be finished, but systems are never completed. The bearded magnate had to pick up a line of complete rails here, build a stretch there. There was a yawning gap of sixty-five miles down in Tennessee, on what came to be the Chesapeake and Ohio Southwestern, joining Louisville and Memphis. It had to be filled up at once.

Again the master builder turned to that shrewd resourceful nephew, who had successfully run the sawmill in West Virginia. He said to him while on a visit to New York, where he was wrestling with the money gods of Wall street:

"Edward, some one will have to build that stretch of road down in Tennessee, and I guess you are the man to do it."

For the third time a job that demanded seasoned experience was put up to Henry Huntington, and again he accepted. The nearest he had ever come to railroad building was to cut ties. But his shrewdness, his ability to organize men and his sense of economy came to his aid. He was launched as railroad builder.

He set up his headquarters in a freight shed at Trimble (the line ran from that place to Covington) and despite the fact that he knew nothing of practical engineering, he finished the task two months ahead of the schedule time. Several incidents of that first railroad construction show the bent of the man and the reason why he has succeeded in whatever his hand has touched.

Once he was out on horseback inspecting a section. He saw a group of men unloading ties from a wagon. They stood alongside, lifted the heavy beams above their shoulders and then threw them to the ground. It was a slow and laborious process. Stopping the laborers, he said:

"You are doing that wrong. I'll show you an easier way."

He mounted to the wagon, and, with one foot on the tongue and another on the ties, showed how easy it was to push them rather than lift them up.

Soon after he encountered a gang spacing ties. Forty men were engaged in the job. They fairly fell over one another as they walked back and forth. He sent away all but sixteen; formed them in military line and showed how much quicker and easier it was to do the work under some system and order.

These apparently simle episodes merely marked the application of what the world now calls scientific business methods, which by any other name are just common sense, efficiency and economy of time and effort in any work.

GALVANIZING DEAD PROPERTY

Such a good account did Henry Huntington give of himself in this piece of construction that his uncle pressed him for further service. Collis P., in the interim, had pushed his enterprise to the Virginia coast by creating the port of Newport News and extending the Chesapeake and Ohio to the eastern sea. The great Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company was soon to rise there, further tribute to the Huntington genius.

One by one he had gathered up central and southern lines to form the chain to New Orleans, where it was to meet the Southern Pacific as it swept eastward from the Coast. The transcontinental dream was soon to be realized.

Among the roads that passed under his masterful hand was a feeder to the Chesapeake and Ohio, called the Kentucky Central, running south from Cincinnati and connecting up half a dozen important Kentucky towns, chief of which was Lexington. Mr. Huntington offered his nephew the post of vice-president and general manager.

"Do you want a figurehead, or some one to really run the road," asked the nephew.

"Go ahead and run the road your own way," was the great man's instruction.

Henry E. Huntington now established himself at Cincinnati and then proceeded to examine the property. He found it staggering unde debt, with broken-down equipment, and with less than 10 per cent. of the business to Lexington.

Here he showed another of the characteristics that seem to have marked his whole conduct of affairs, for he said:

"If this road is to earn money, then the tools with which to earn it must be in the best possible condition." It was likewise the rule of Collis P. Huntington.

He overhauled the property, put in new equipment and made the roadbed safe. The inevitable receivership came, but on being made receiver he brought the road out of its troubles, and when he left it, after four years, it had a surplus and was doing 90 per cent. of the business to Lexington.

By instinct quiet and aloof, he once showed during those Kentucky Central days that he is a man not to be trifled with. He found it necessary to make a 10 per cent. reduction of wages, and began with himself. But the yard crew over at Covington, just across the river from Cincinnati, protested and went on strike without notice. The men thought they had the vice-president at a disadvantage because all incoming and outgoing trains had to pass through these yards. But Mr. Huntington said:

"I'll man the trains myself."

Calling in office clerks and levying on even the district freight and passenger agents for crews, he brought in the first train himself. He stood on a freight car with a lantern to see that there was no interference. This example of firmness and determination broke the spirit of the strikers. The next day they humbly came back to work.

You may be sure that this record of quiet achievement did not fail to make an impression on the virile old man who now practically held the transportation of the State of California in the hollow of his hand. He added to his nephew's railroad responsibilities in the East and several other lines passed under his management. They are now part of the Chesapeake and Ohio system.

Perhaps the most important of these later eastern assignments was the general direction of the Newport News and Mississippi Valley company, which controlled all the Huntington lines from Kentucky to New Orleans, now part of the Illinois Central system. To this larger sphere he applied the same genius of detail and organization that had marked all his previous work, and to such a satisfying extent that Mr. Huntington now felt that the young man's place was at his own side.

ON TO CALIFORNIA.

Thus it came about that early in the nineties Collis P. Huntington made Henry E. his chief aide, installing him as direct personal representative in Central and Southern Pacific matters at San Francisco. Nominally he was "assistant to the president;" in reality he was the right-hand man and confidential agent of the dominating personality who was then perhaps the most discussed individual in the far West.

Modest as was Henry E. Huntington's advent on the Pacific Coast, yet it was filled with far-flung significance for the people and the prosperity of that whole sunlit region. It meant the beginning of a whole fresh constructive era.

All his railroad experience, his genius in handling men and his shrewdness in sensing situations came to his aid now. C. P. Huntington was master of a vast, far-reaching empire, and H. E. Huntington touched it at every point. In succession he became second and first vice-president of the whole Southern Pacific system.

Perhaps no step of that early life in California was more important in shaping his later career than his connection with the Market Street Cable Railway of San Francisco. Here he came into direct contact for the first time with city transit. His swift and unerring business judgment told him that here lay the real future of transportation in this country, a process free, in a measure, from the irritating and costly perquisites of steam travel.

The instinct of rejuvenation which is a passion with him found expression at once. With his faculty for organization he was able to recast the city system and make of it a standardized and efficient unit.

The restless desire for corporate expansion which constantly spurred his uncle on to new activities, now stirred in the nephew. He was casting about for new fields to develop, when, in 1900, came the unheralded event which changed the course of his life and gave him the means to fulfill the dream of individual conquest that had been beckoning ever since he set foot in the golden land.

Collis P. Huntington died, and when his will was opened it was found that Henry E. Huntington was one of the two residuary legatees of the vast estate. The other was the widow. Not less than thirty millions were now at his disposal. It was as if a sudden flood of gold had rushed in on artisan hands ready to fashion it into new and helpful enterprise.

It was an hour full of destiny, too, for E. H. Harriman. That marvelous man of destiny, who more than once had lingered at the business threshold of C. P. Huntington, coveting the Central Pacific for his own, now saw the opportunity to realize his cherished desire. With that restless tenacity of purpose which soon after carried him to a complete overlordship of the railway map, he now besieged the co-heir. Logically, Henry E. Huntington was the successor to his uncle as head of the Southern Pacific system. But already his own vision had beheld another goal, so he sold the control, carrying the Central Pacific with it, to Harriman, bade farewell to steam transportation and set in to create a whole new epoch in electric transit.

TO PUT A CITY ON THE MAP.

With characteristic prudence and foresight, he had already staked out a domain for development. As he journeyed up and down the State on tours of inspection, he had had frequent occasions to visit Los Angeles, in those days a city of barely 100,000 people. Some of its inhabitants even believed that it had reached the limit of expansion.

But Huntington had an instinct that here was the opportunity for a large exploitation. For one thing, he realized that the Los Angeles climate was perfect. "People will inevitably seek the best climates," he said. So, even before his heroic uncle had been garnered by the reaper, Time, he had set in to buy the street car lines, three in number, then anything but a successful system.

Once free from Southern Pacific responsibilities, he now moved to Los Angeles, and thenceforth his name and his fortune were to be bound up in the destiny of this city of destiny. He found it in only an embryonic state of prosperity, but ready to he galvanized it into one of the most thriving communities of its size in the world. Huntington's whole success as city rejuvenator simply confirms the old theory that the way to real prosperity is along adequate and competent transportation lines. They are the inevitable highways to success.

Having bought the street car lines on a basis very advantageous to himself, he set in motion his most striking rule about development, which is complete personal ownership. He poured his own millions into a rehabilitation of the companies, gridironing the city with such a network of tracks that it came to be a byword in Los Angeles that you couldn't turn a corner without having to dodge one of the Huntington cars. Always he proceeded with the ironclad Huntington conviction that the best equipment and service are in the end the best investment.

Nor did he leave this development to engineers and others. His recasting of the Los Angeles city lines followed a definite and interesting policy, which is in itself a revelation of the methods of the man. Before he bought the roads he made an intimate study of the situation. He rode on the cars at all hours of the day and night; he talked with motormen, conductors and passengers; in brief, he got a real line on the needs and weaknesses. When he made the final purchase he knew more about the traction problem of Los Angeles than all the officials combined. On this information, gathered with such accurate precision, he was able to develop the properties along lines that produced results. In a word, here, as elsewhere, he left nothing to chance.

Many people thought that the lavishness with which he threw millions into the lines was folly; that it could not bring returns. But, like his uncle, he is good at the waiting game; he was creating for the morrow, and that morrow came with a golden dawn.

Los Angeles awoke as from a dream. Population poured in, business bustled. The new rails that glistened everywhere pointed the way to a constantly-widening civic progression. The city stirred from end to end. In ten years the number of inhabitants trebled; today it is half a million. The clang of the bells of the Huntington cars had indeed been the call to action. Southern California, which had been accustomed to achievement, wrought in the name of a Huntington, now realized that the family prowess had not died with Collis P.

A NEW INTERURBAN EMPIRE.

Most men would have been content with having revived Los Angeles. But the Huntington instinct, as the life of the builder of the Southern Pacific well showed, is one of restless and continuous conquest.

Huntington turned to the country adjacent, where he saw another large opportunity for expansion. "We will join this whole region into one big family," he said. Just as he gridironed Los Angeles, so did he now join the countryside with hooks of steel.

Before many years he had built one of the largest interurban systems in the country and the greatest yet owned by any individual. He pursued the same policy as in the city, flinging his own millions into the highest construction and equipment.

History repeated itself in the country as in the town. As soon as the interurban system harnessed the smallest community up with the foremost city, it began to grow. Long Beach is only one of the many examples of amazing expansion under electric connection with Los Angeles.

The whole area within a radius of seventy miles of Los Angeles took on a new life. Villages became towns; towns blossomed into miniature cities. Farm and fireside profited mightily by swift and comfortable access to the centers of commerce, trade and culture.

This huge interurban system, which was operated under the title of the Pacific Electric Railway, came to be one of the largest and most powerful of the Huntington properties. In 1910, however, Huntington disposed of it to the Southern Pacific Railroad, but retained complete ownership of the Los Angeles city lines. A typically Huntington procedure marked this change. Huntington owned half of the Pacific Electric and half of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation. So great is his desire for absolute ownership that he traded one-half of one company for complete control of the other.

But Huntington was doing more than joining the large part of Southern California with an adequate transportation system. Wherever he sent his pioneering rails he bought real estate. Acre upon acre piled up to his credit, until he became the largest owner of realty in the State.

Here he again proved the efficiency of his policy of being able to wait. In the vicinity of Pasadena, for example, he bought up land, peopled only by live oaks, for a few hundred dollars an acre. Today that property is worth a fortune. So it went in town and country. Knowing in advance which way the transit lines were to be operated, he was able to purchase in the path of the greatest progress.

He did not wait for unearned increment, either. He swept more millions into improvements. On a bare lot, removed from activity, he erected a huge building. But before long the people pitched their houses about it and it became a new center of industry. Beaches, hotels, parks, residence subdivisions, all came to know his constructive vision and his masterful development.

So vast became the Huntington holdings that the Huntington Land and Improvement Company was organized to hold title to the fast-growing domain. Though it has a nominal capitalization of $100,000 (all owned by Mr. Huntington) it controls property worth not less than $20,000,000.

The completeness and omnipresence of his domination is best expressed, perhaps, by an incident that happened not long ago in Los Angeles. A mother took her little girl for an outing down at the sea. On the way the child asked:

"Whose street car are we riding in?"

"Mr. Huntington's," was the reply.

Passing a park, the little one asked: "What place is that?"

"Huntington Park."

"Where are we going, mother?" continued the girl.

"To Huntington Beach."

Arriving at the sea, the child, impressed by the sameness of all the replies, ventured one more query:

"Mother, does Mr. Huntington own the ocean, or does it still belong to God?"

A POWER KING.

With all his network of traction lines, it was inevitable that Mr. Huntington should become a power in power. With the acquisition of the initial Los Angeles street car companies, he also took over a power company which was furnishing energy in a restricted way.

Once more he saw a fresh avenue for development. The net result is another triumph for the Huntington genius in the shape of the Pacific Light and Power Corporation, which not only furnishes the power to operate virtually all the street and interurban systems of Southern California, but for a myriad other things. Its present capacity of 148,000 horse power is to be increased by approximately 200,000 more horse power. The new development is in the Big Creek section, not far from Fresno, which will make necessary a transmission of over 200 miles.

An incident of the Big Creek development again shows the rare foresight of the man. The total waterfall of this development is nearly 5000 feet, distributed along various stages. This, of course, made mountain construction necessary. The engineers were about to engage huge trucks for hauling supplies, when Mr. Huntington said:

"No, let's build our own railway to haul them."

It seemed almost ridiculous to put $1,000,000 in a railway that might have to be abandoned sooner or later. But the wisdom of the builder has been proved by the fact that the road is now a common carrier—the San Joaquin and Eastern—is making money, and is opening up a whole new region for commerce. Several towns have been started along the line.

That the Huntington policy of equipment is effective was shown in a picturesque incident not long ago. The Redondo steam plant in Los Angeles, which produces power for the entire street railway system, broke down and was out of commission for three days. Without "juice" not a car-wheel could turn, and city business would have been at a standstill.

A telephone message was sent to the Pacific Light and Power plant, 20 miles away up in the mountains, and enough electric energy soon came spurting back to start the cars again. There is nothing particularly startling about this fact, in itself, but it becomes of great interest when it is known that prior to the delivery of that emergency current, the lines had not even been tested.

INTERNAL FINANCING SYSTEM.

Through all this girding up of a wide domain with rail, annexing a whole principality in real estate, the production of enough power to run half a dozen cities, and all the subsidiary development that such expansion naturally brings about, Mr. Huntington has done a very unusual thing, well worthy of emphasis. He has neither required nor desired partners. In other words, he has practically financed every one of these immense projects. The result is that he controls them absolutely. He has never gone to capitalists nor to the public with his stock. All requirements have been met out of his own large fortune and out of the proceeds of a few conservative bond issues, in which he has always taken a large part for his own investment. He has almost invariably kept away from Wall street when he wanted money to develop his properties, preferring the conservatism of old-line investment bankers. He is able to command their services, because with his tremendous personal assets and his high pride of personal credit he is prepared to meet their requirements, however exacting.

When you come to sum up this immense stock ownership, you begin to get some hint of what the proportions of the Huntington fortune really are. In five corporations, of which he and his immediate family own practically every share of capital stock, the total capitalization approximates $50,000,000. The companies include the Pacific Light and Power Corporation, the Los Angeles Railway Corporation, the Huntington Land and Improvement Company, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company and the Safety Insulated Wire and Cable Company.

This stock in the aggregate could doubtless be sold in the public market for more than its par value, yet it is only part of the Huntington wealth, because, as already intimated, his real estate is assessed for over $20,000,000, and he owns as much more in the stocks and bonds of seasoned corporations, including standard railroads, express companies and banks throughout the country. The fact is that Henry E. Huntington is one of the richest men in the United States.

The Huntington system of what might be called internal financing is somewhat unusual. Only one other instance in the United States is here recalled. It was furnished by the late Henry H. Rogers, who built the Virginia Railway to the tidewater with his own money. In Canada, the most conspicuous examples have been Sir William MacKenzie and Sir Donald Mann, who actually own all the stock of the Canadian Northern Railway, and as such they are the only individuals in the world who are the proprietors of a transcontinental railroad system.

GREAT BOOK COLLECTION.

Nor is all the Huntington achievement amid the clash and glamour of financial prestige. In a quieter way he has drawn to himself a peculiar distinction, for he owns what is generally regarded as the finest private library in the world. It numbers more than 50,000 volumes, and represents an outlay of millions of dollars. The mere cost of cataloguing the collection ran into the thousands.

The first spectacular evidence of this fact, and incidentally the public's first glimpse into his book-buying methods, was when he bought the famous Gutenburg Bible for $50,000 at the celebrated Robert Hoe sale in New York. Then people suddenly awoke to the realization that here was a man who was willing to pay a record price for a really great book treasure.

But this Bible is only a part of a collection that is the delight of the bibliophile. For one thing, Mr. Huntington has the largest and most complete Americana yet assembled. To enumerate even some of the most priceless treasures would require a long catalogue, but among the prizes is the original manuscript of Benjamin Franklin's autobiography, well thumbed and marked up by the great philosopher-printer. No one approaches him in completeness or extent of Washington manuscripts. He has that rarest of law books, called "The Bradford-New York," which alone is valued at $25,000. He has the only complete collection of papers of the Dutch West India Company, the publication of which would change all the present histories of New York City. No library can vie with him in the number or value of primers and almanacs, and so, too, with a hundred other kinds of books.

His collection of Shakespeare is almost second to none, for he has all four folios and forty-three quartos. He has the first edition of the "Sonnets," one of the most valued of the Shakespeare first editions. He has the first book printed in color, and a wealth of other first editions, from Homer down, to bewilder and dazzle even the most superficial lover of books.

Famous as is the late J. Pierpont Morgan's collection of books, it only surpasses Mr. Huntington's in two details—in the completeness of its Caxtons and in its illuminated manuscripts.

Mr. Huntington keeps most of his books in safety vault compartments in New York City, but they are easily accessible and had you visited him at the Metropolitan Club, where he resided before his marriage to Mrs. Huntington, or could you see him now at the house that his uncle built on Fifth avenue, you would be apt to find him fondling some of his book pets.

THE MAN HUNTINGTON.

Let us take a look at the man behind all this individual performance. Meet him accidentally on the street, without knowing his identity, and you will take him for a retired army officer, for he is tall, erect, and his white mustache gives him somewhat of a military look. He has the Huntington bigness of bulk, the Huntington jaw of force and power. His eye is blue and kindly, his voice is low and even. His uncle loved to dominate the crowd: Henry E. Huntington avoids the multitude. He would rather do business with one man than half a dozen. Swift of judgment and decision, he never prepares himself for an interview, and is apt to let the other fellow do all the talking.

When asked to tell the rule which lay beneath all his development, he said: "There is really no rule. Being prepared and being on the job all the time—this is the surest way to succeed."

His theory of railway operation, whether steam or electric, may be compressed in a single sentence: "Put and keep your property in the best possible condition. Then you can operate cheaply and profitably."

Like his uncle, he is an almost unerring judge of men. It has enabled him to build an organization that binds, with amazing ease, the far-flung interests that stretch from coast to coast. If he is not sure a man can fill a post beyond him, he makes him fill it temporarily. The new responsibility often brings out talents hitherto unknown.

Perhaps his most characteristic trait is an infinite capacity for waiting. Collis P. Huntington used to say: "Nothing in the world can beat me waiting but the Catholic church." The grizzled old pathfinder had the highest admiration for the business ability of the Church of Rome. So, too, with Henry E. Huntington. When he unleashed his millions at Los Angeles, many thought it was a mistake, because there could be no immediate returns. But Huntington simply said: "I believe in this proposition, and I am willing to wait." Paraphrasing the Arab proverb, patience with him is not only the key to paradise, but the way to big returns.

Linked with this genius for waiting is his remarkable aloofness, which in the end accounts for the fact that, though he has more than doubled his princely inheritance during the last twelve years, though he has visited New York hundreds of times, often remaining there for long intervals, he is yet scarcely known in the East.

He is really at home in California. There the people have taken his measure and admire his constructive genius. At San Marino, in the heart of the domain that he has developed, he has built himself a twentieth century den. He calls this $5,000,000 palace a "bungalow!"

The fact that Henry E. Huntington could have proceeded all these years with his remarkable empire building almost without aid from Wall street, is another emphatic evidence of the West's growing economic independence. It proves, too, that a big man can do a big job quietly and alone. He has set a new mark for financial achievement, in which the public has not been called upon to pay, but to profit.

BONDSMEN TURNED DOWN.

Court Officer Would Be Sure that Surety Is Collectable in Dr. Lyman's Case.

E. A. Lynn, assistant secretary of the Panama Development Company, and other close friends of Dr. John Grant Lyman, the convicted promoter, were chasing over the city and county yesterday trying to get bondsmen to qualify in $20,000 required for the release of Lyman. A number of proffered bondsmen were examined as to their qualifications, but none accepted. It appeared from the investigation that Lyman is offering to pay $250 to anybody qualified who will be willing to take a chance on his appearing when his appeal is disposed of.

T. M. Winston, an orange grower of Redlands, was among those presenting themselves for qualification, but he was not accepted by Special Counsel Regan and it is understood the refusal will be called to the attention of Judge Wellborn in chambers tomorrow morning. Lyman's attorney, Paul W. Schenck, asserts that Winston qualified as owning property valued at more than $50,000.

Regan said: "When I approve a bond in behalf of Dr. John Grant Lyman it will be an instrument that can be recovered on if he absconds."

A supersedeas bond must be approved by the court.

CATTLE RUSTLER CAUGHT.

Tamale Vender Steals Cows and Sells Them—Served Term at Folsom for Burglary.

Mysterious disappearance of cows from the neighborhood about Denker and Western avenue, in the southwest, has been accounted for through the capture by Deputy Sheriffs Anderson, Moody and Right of a tamale manufacturer, L. D. Smith of Second avenue and Fifty-fourth street. After being taken into custody Smith confessed to his part in the affair, stating that he did not use the cows in his business but sold them immediately after leading them away from the pasturage. Those who have suffered through Smith's operations are W. A. Tidball, Joseph Enger, J. S. Carr and John Stuart. Smith has a wife and two children residing at No. 954 West Fifty-fourth street. According to Deputy Sheriff Wright, Smith served a term in Folsom for burglary. He is in the County Jail.

That the syndicate means business is evidenced by the fact that Olmstead Brothers, of Brookline, Mass., world-famous engineers and landscape architects, have been engaged to lay out and beautify a strip of land three-quarters of a mile in width and extending along the Palisades from a point just above San Pedro to the edge of Clifton-by-the-Sea. It is certain therefore ,that the fourteen miles of high bluffs along the short line of the Palos Verdes will shortly be the site of a fashionable residence colony. It is practically certain, too, that the fifty men in the syndicate will themselves constitute the nucleus of the proposed colony by building their own homes in the tract. The final decision in the latter respect will shortly be made public.

The men in the syndicate, great bankers, corporation heads and others of similar wealth or prominence, are for the most part close friends and have for a number of years been contemplating the establishment of an exclusive colony of their own in a climate more agreeable than that of Tuxedo Park or Newport. They have been quietly investigating various likely sites throughout the southern half of the United States, and even in Cuba. It is said on good authority that Florida has been eliminated from consideration and that the millionaire colonists have definitely decided upon California as the site of their settlement. Thus far, too, the Palos Verdes ranch seems to have been the only location seriously considered in this State.

The syndicate members are moving with extreme caution. They intend that the location of their select colony shall boast climatic conditions and scenic and other advantages as nearly perfect as can be found. At the present time, their engineers and landscape experts are engaged in keeping daily barometer and thermometer records at temporary weather stations established at different points over the property. Experiments are being made with hundreds of different forms of plant life at altitudes varying from the beach level to the crest of the 1400-foot peak in the center of the ranch. Equal attention is being given to the question of securing an adequate supply of pure water.

When all the data is at hand, the fifty wealthy men will make their final decision. No doubt exists concerning the fact that if this decision is favorable to the Palos Verdes ranch itself, Southern California will shortly be the site of the world's most splendid and exclusive residence estate subdivision.

The syndicate members will immediately upon the acceptance of the location begin the construction of half a hundred beautiful homes and the laying out of as many private parks of from one to as high as a hundred acres each. One of the features of the project will be a great country club, with polo grounds, tennis courts, golf links and other facilities for sports. A boathouse with provision for a fleet of yachts will also be erected. Everything that money can buy in the way of comfort and elegance will be provided for.

Rapid progress is now being made in the surveying of the great ocean-front holding. The new owners of the ranch expect to construct fifty miles of fine boulevards with scores of linking roadways and drives. An enormous sum of money is to be spent in these improvements, regardless of whether the syndicate members finally decide to establish their own long contemplated colony along the high bluffs overlooking the Pacific, just above Los Angeles harbor, or to look elsewhere. They intend that in any event the Palisades shall be crowned with a sightly residential development.

To look after the interests of the syndicate and to handle the property after it is subdivided, Jay Lawyer and W. H. Kiernan of New York, men who have long been identified with the real estate activities of the Vanderlip interests, have, with Carl F. Schader, of this city, established offices in the Title Insurance building. Schader, who acted as broker in the sale of the great Bixby property to Vanderlip and his associates, will have the sales management under the arrangement.

Schader left the city for New York on Wednesday t ob e gone for a period of two weeks. Before departing, he declared that he might have a number of interesting announcements to make in relation to the syndicate's plans upon his return to Los Angeles.

FOR EASTERN BANKER.

Retired New York Financier Building Handsome Dwelling in Chapman Park District—Large Lot.

An attractive house has been started by the Cooper-Pyle Clopine Company on the west side of Kenmore avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, for Evans W. Mosher, a retired banker of New York. The dwelling, which will be one of the finest in the Chapman Park district, will contain ten large rooms, three tile baths, a living porch in the rear, and a veranda across the front of the building.

The reception hall, living-room, dining-room and stairways will be finished in quartered oak, the floors throughout being of hardwood. The conservatory will have tapestry brick walls and brick and tile floor. The bedrooms will be finished in ivory enamel, excepting the doors, which will be of birch, stained mahogany.

The outside walls will be of twelve-inch tapestry brick, set with wide joints, on the first story, and of stucco with half timber effect on the second. The roof will be of cedar shingles and will have a thatched effect on the verges and eaves. The site of the residence has a frontage of 100 feet by a depth of 150 feet.

TO HANDLE TRADES.

Charles N. Green has taken charge of the exchange department of O. A. Vickrey & Co. Green has had several years of experience in the realty business in this city.

LOS ANGELES AHEAD.

Leads San Francisco in Building Totals for January—Contracts Let for Sixteen Exposition Structures.

San Francisco, like Los Angeles, fell behind its 1913 building reports in the totals for January. This city, however, led the northern place by a substantial margin, both in the number and valuation of permits taken out during the past month.

In comparison with the 855 permits and $1,183,246 valuation of Los Angeles, San Francisco boasted for the month only 379 permits and a valuation of $902,816. In the Bay City fourteen permits were granted for class C brick buildings to cost in the aggregate, $275,360; for 130 frame structures to cost $514,973, and for 235 alterations costing $112,-483. Los Angeles issued twenty-four permits for class C structures to cost in the aggregate $153,165; 405 permits for frame buildings costing $766,592, and 293 permits for alterations valued at $220,097.

Contracts were let during January for sixteen of the great exposition buildings of the San Francisco exposition. The total cost of these structures will be $6,127,000. The permits for these buildings were included in the 1913 figures for the Bay City's building activity.

PLANS MODERN HOTEL.

Company Incorporated to Build Five-story Brick Hostelry in Hollywood—Apartments for Westlake.

For the purpose of building a five-story brick store and hotel building at the northeast corner of Whitley avenue and Hollywood boulevard, in Hollywood, there has been incorporated a company known as the Foothill Hotel Corporation. The project is being handled by C. N. Clinch. Sketches for the contemplated building have been prepared by L. L. Jones. The structure is designed to contain three stores, a barber shop and billiard room, seventy guest rooms and ten baths. The site is 65x90 feet in size.

Another project now taking shape is that of Claude L. Ross to build a $50,000 brick apartment-house on Alvarado street, near Seventh. Plans for the building, which is to be three stories high and of the mission style, have just been completed by the C. F. Borton Company. The structure will contain eighty-four rooms in two and three-room apartments and will be attractively finished in hardwoods.

NEW WILSHIRE MANSION.

Arizona Mining Man to Build Handsome English House in This City—Other West Side Building.

W. H. Brophy, a retired mining man from Bisbee, Arizona, is having plans prepared by Elmer Grey of this city, for a two-story, fourteen-room house to be built at the corner of Wilshire boulevard and Ardmore avenue. The dwelling will have extreme dimensions of 70x75 feet and will follow the English style, the first story being of brick and the second of plaster and half timber. The place will contain four bathrooms. Tile-paved porches will be a feature. There will be a two-story garage in keeping with the residence. The grounds will be entirely surrounded by a concrete retaining wall and will be attractively laid out with brick walks, pergolas and pools.

Eisen & Son have just completed plans for a fifteen-room house to be built on Virgil avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, for E. H. Kennard. The place will have a cement plaster exterior and will be attractively finished throughout. The same architects are preparing designs for a nine-room residence to be built on Van Ness avenue, between Fifth and Sixth streets, for Eleanor Sutch.

Plans for a fourteen-room frame and plaster residence to be built on Harvard boulevard between Wilshire and Sixth, by S. W. Belden, are being prepared by F. M. Tyler. The place will contain five baths. The finish of the lower floor will be in oak and mahogany.

TO DIVIDE RANCH.

Investment Company Buys Large Tract Near Hemet—Will Establish Townsite and Sell Acreage.

The Monarch Investment Company of this city has purchased from Nathan Snow Charnock the Charnock Rancho in the San Jacinto Valley. The property lies in the center of the alfalfa district to the west of Hemet, being two miles from that place and about thirty miles east of Riverside. The Santa Fe runs through the south end of the ranch and has a siding on the land.

C. E. Price, general manager of the Monarch Investment Company, announces that it is the intention of the new owners to start a townsite at Eagan Station. The company will subdivide the ranch itself into five, ten, twenty and forty-acre tracts, each carrying water rights. The land is to be sold either planted or unplanted, at the option of the purchaser.

TO ADDRESS BOARD.

I. F. Peters, formerly president of the Memphis Industrial League, will address the Los Angeles Realty Board at its weekly luncheon next Thursday on "Los Angeles from the Viewpoint of a Manufacturer." Peters has lately come to Los Angeles to live, and has devoted much time to studying the industrial resources and possibilities of this city. The Rev. E. Stanton Hodgin, pastor of the First Unitarian Church, will address the board on "Commercial Idealism."

REALTY DEALERS ARE OPTIMISTIC.

GREAT ACTIVITY REPORTED IN PORTERVILLE FIELD.

Large Alfalfa Tract Bought by Syndicate of Investors—Banker Is Buyer of Fine Property—New York Capitalist Acquires Bliss District Lands.

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 7.—Real estate dealers and property owners of this district believe they see in the activities of the past week a promise of exceptional activity in all real estate lines in this section during the coming spring season. Not during the past three years have there been more inquiries for properties of all kinds, and the volume of trading of the past week compares favorably with the best similar periods of last year, the best year in the history of this district.

Quite the largest transer of the week was the sale of the W. P. Clarke ranch in the Goshen district to W. R. Pigg, a banker of Exeter. The Clarke property is one of the old ones of this county and includes 1225 acres, a large percentage of which is first-class alfalfa land. The price paid was reported at $79,625, or at the rate of $65 per acre. It is stated that Pigg is representing a syndicate of investors who expect to cut the property into twenty-acre tracts for marketing during 1915.

E. L. Scott, a Porterville banker, has sold a forty-acre tract of alfalfa land near Rockyford school to Q. C. Stevens of Los Angeles. It is reported that $7000 was paid for the tract. Stevens expects to make his home on the property and will make several improvements with the purpose of establishing a dairy.

Ranking second in point of size this week was the purchase of the Shannon lands by G. H. Englands of New York City. The property comprises 600 acres of alfalfa property in the Bliss district. The price is said to have been $40,000, practically in cash. Englands will probably establish an office in Tulare and will develop his new holding in the near future.

L. M. Lyman of Buffalo, N. Y., made a considerable investment in Tulare county land when he purchased of L. E. Atkinson of Pasadena a 140-acre tract of orange land situated at the base of the foothills in the Ducor district. Lyman paid $24,500 for the property, or at the rate of $175 per acre.

Daniel P. Kuns of Whittier has purchased eighty acres of alfalfa land in the Farmersville section from J. D. Pritchard. Kuns was formerly a resident of South Dakota. He expects to engage in dairying.

J. O. Garrison of Exeter has sold his 140-acre property in the Woodlake orange district to Fred Balaam, an Exeter business man. The property includes ten acres of young orange orchard in partial bearing.

J. E. Purser of Los Angeles, associated with J. B. Charles, a young Scotchman lately from the old country, have acquired 372 acres of orange lands in the Deer Creek Hills just south of this city, and have organised a partnership under the name of Purser, Charles & Co., for the development of the property. They are in this section at this time letting contracts for the leveling of 150 acres of the tract, which is to be planted to Lisbon lemons and early navel oranges this spring. They have also let the contract for the installation of a complete, concrete-pipe irrigation system, together with necessary wells and pumping plant.

TAKE FINAL ACTION.

Glendale Trustees Provide for Vacating of Strip of Street for School Purposes—Additional Buildings.

GLENDALE, Feb. 7.—The Board of Trustees of this city have just taken the final action necessary for the erection of additional school buildings on the grounds of the Glendale Union High School, by vacating Maryland avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets. The space occupied by the street will be used as a part of the school campus. The houses located on a strip of land on the west side of Maryland avenue are now being sold for what they will bring. Plans for the two new buildings have been presented to the board of school trustees and accepted. The two will cost about $65,000, and it is expected that they will be ready for occupancy by the opening of the next school term. Additional ground was recently purchased for high school use at a cost of $25,000.

E. H. Merker, formerly secretary of the Glendale Valley Improvement Association, has disposed of his property at No. 1027 West Seventh street, consisting of three houses and a large piece of real estate to Dry W. Nicoles, the consideration given as $5000.

ACQUIRES ACRE SITE.

Prof. Paul E. F. Gottschalk, director of the Gottschalk Conservatory of Music, has purchased a corner site in Ramona Acres adjoining, through B. L. Clegston of the Janss Investment Company. The acre lot is not far from the Midwick Country Club and overlooks the San Gabriel Valley. Prof. Gottschalk will not build immediately, but later plans a fine home.

SIGHTLY DWELLING.

New Home of Los Angeles Banker in Glendale Follows Chalet Types. Contains Fourteen Rooms.

One of the sightliest houses recently completed in Glendale is the new home of Charles H. Toll, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank of this city. The dwelling is designed along chalet lines and was planned by Charles E. Shattuck. Frank E. Hartigan was the builder.

The residence contains fourteen rooms, three baths, a billiard room and a workroom for Toll's sons. The interior is finished in oak, birch and mahogany. The exterior trimmings are of tapestry brick. All the walks and approaches are paved with rustic tile. The total cost of the improvements on the place is given at $20,000.

COMMITTEE TO MEET.

A special committee of the Los Angeles Realty Board, appointed to take up the problem of working out a plan for an initiative petition to place on the ballot at the November election the proposition to issue bonds for $1,000,000 for the erection of a State building in Los Angeles, will hold its first meeting tomorrow afternoon. This committee, as appointed by President James R. H. Wagner at a meeting of the board of governors, is comprised of Guy M. Rush, chairman; Sidney L. Briggs, W. H. Akin, Phillip D. Wilson and Warren McIntire.

The Realty Board gave indorsement and pledged moral support to the proposition of locating a State building in Los Angeles more than a week ago. Since that time several plans have been suggested whereby the board may actively foster the campaign for circulating the necessary petitions, and these suggestions will be taken up by the committee.

NEW VERMONT SQUARE.

Of the seventeen homes now being built in New Vermont Square, seven were begun during the last week of the month, the following being the builders: G. Dombrowski, $3000 bungalow, southwest corner Forty-third place and St. Andrews; R. F. Davis, $2500, seven-room chalet, Forty-second place, between Western and St. Andrews; O. W. Lake, seven-room chalet, Forty-third street, between Western and St. Andrews, $2400; R. B. Higgs, seven-room bungalow, Forty-second place, between St. Andrews and Gramercy; F. H. Redpath Company, six-room bungalow, Forty-first street, between Western and St. Andrews, $2000; Theodore Stromberg, six-room bungalow, Forty-first drive, between Gramercy place and Van Ness, $2500, and R. L. Wilcox, seven-room bungalow, Forty-first drive, between St. Andrews and Gramercy, $2500.

OFFICER BUYS HOME.

Army Man Engaged in Managing a Large Orange Grove Purchases a Fine Redlands Home—Other Deals.

REDLANDS, Feb. 7.—Austin & Clark, M. W. H. Williams and Carl McIntosh report the sale of a ten-acre orange grove on West Lugonia avenue for Mrs. H. J. Kennelly to John P. Moorehead. The grove is in full bearing navels. The consideration is given at $16,000.

Col. A. E. Sharp, a retired army officer of Denver, has bought a house on Alvarado street near Cypress, from E. J. Rhoda, through Gill & Rabbeth. The reported consideration is $6000. The house contains eight rooms. Col. Sharp is the manager of a grove of 100 acres of oranges at East Highland, owned by a number of army officers.

Jesse Simpson reports the exchange of what is known as the Brookings house at No. 402 Fern avenue, for C. C. Reasoner to W. M. Freeman for twenty acres of improved alfalfa land near Downey. Freeman has since traded the Brookings house in a three-cornered deal consummated by C. H. Wilkins, the house passing into the hands of Guy L. Hunter of Los Angeles. Hunter traded his home at No. 749 Kingsley drive, Los Angeles, valued at $10,000, to U. W. Murphy for the latter's house at No. 450 Cajon street, valued at $8000. Hunter then traded the house he got from Murphy to Freeman for the Brookinigs house.

A. E. Springborg has sold two acres at the corner of Cypress and Sunnyside avenues, planted to seedless grapefruit, to the Co-operative Land and Trust Company of San Francisco for a given considertaion of $4000.

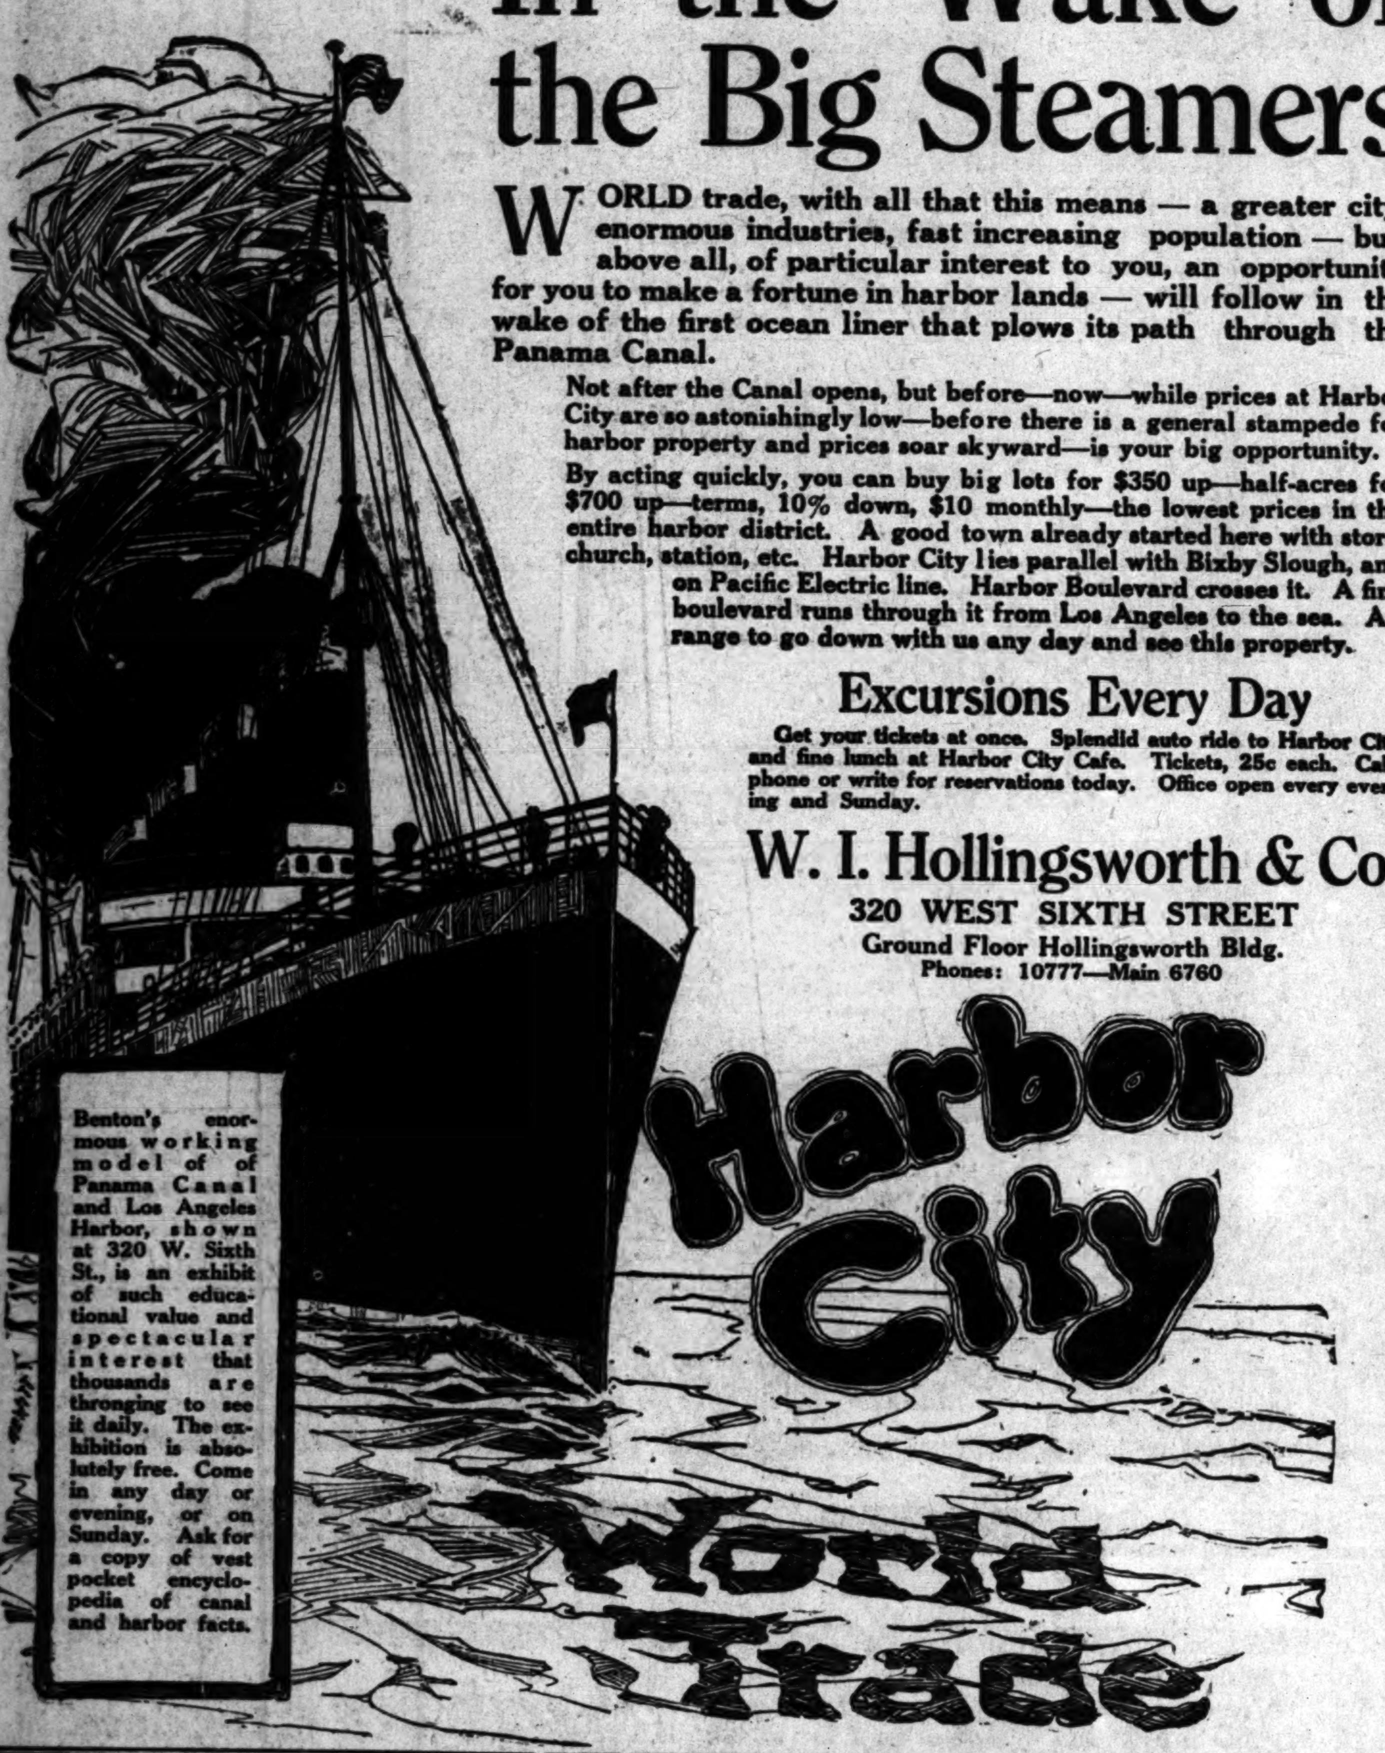
In the Wake of the Big Steamers



WORLD trade, with all that this means — a greater city, enormous industries, fast increasing population — but, above all, of particular interest to you, an opportunity for you to make a fortune in harbor lands — will follow in the wake of the first ocean liner that plows its path through the Panama Canal.

Not after the Canal opens, but before—now—while prices at Harbor City are so astonishingly low—before there is a general stampede for harbor property and prices soar skyward—is your big opportunity.

By acting quickly, you can buy big lots for $350 up—half-acres for $700 up—terms, 10% down, $10 monthly—the lowest prices in the entire harbor district. A good town already started here with store, church, station, etc. Harbor City lies parallel with Bixby Slough, and on Pacific Electric line. Harbor Boulevard crosses it. A fine boulevard runs through it from Los Angeles to the sea. Arrange to go down with us any day and see this property.

But What About the Dry Years?

Yes, it's been raining at Patterson. It's been raining everywhere. So crops will be good THIS year. Farmers will be more than prosperous.

But you are not buying land for this year only. If you are not familiar with the district, be sure to ask about the water supply during dry years. Find out how farmers have fared during the past three seasons.

Remember, no matter how good the soil—what the transportation facilities are—where the land is located, if you cannot have a dependable water supply—in dry years as well as wet—don't buy that land.

On a

Patterson Irrigated Farm

you have, at your command, one of the finest irrigation systems in the United States.

During the dryest seasons, Patterson farmers have always had water—just when they wanted it.

The dependable San Joaquin River—fed by the eternal snows of the high Sierras—is ever ready to distribute its life-giving waters through the great system of canals and laterals of the gigantic Patterson project.

SYNDICATE HAS FINE SHOWING.

Big Copper Ledge Found at Keating Property.

Free Gold Found Near Ray in Latest Strike.

International Awards Contract for Smelter.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

CLIFTON (Ariz.) Feb. 6.—An eighteen-foot ledge of 5 per cent. copper ore has been developed on the property of the Keating Copper Syndicate of London, which is working seven claims two miles above Metcalf, adjoining the Coronado mines of the Arizona Copper Company. Several smaller and richer veins also have been cut. Development has been carried on through two connected shafts, 250 feet deep, with much ore blocked out between. Plans for marketing the product will be made when several London directors of the corporation arrive next week.

General Manager Bennie of the Shannon Copper Company has made the statement that his company practically maintains no ore reserves, the heavy nature of its ground making it inadvisable to keep the property opened up much more than thirty days in advance of extraction. This is no new condition, but there is never need for any apprehension of a future supply for the smelter.

Shannon Hill, at Metcalf, is mineralized perhaps more generally than any other similar eminence in Arizona. It has been worked in the past by the Arizona and Shannon companies largely by contract, a system under which Mexican miners have extracted the richer ores in a manner that has left the hill very much honey-combed.

Little ore thus brought out has run less than 15 per cent. and much of it has gone over 50 per cent. That worked by the Shannon through its own mining production is of good profitable average. Left behind, however, are millions of tons of low-grade, in addition to about 2,000,000 tons on the dumps that will average at least 2 per cent.

It is believed there will come a time when some new process will permit the profitable working of these ores and, in fact, of the whole hill. During the past year the company produced about 13,500,000 pounds of copper, at a net profit of $250,000.

FREE GOLD SHOWING.

BIG STRIKE NEAR RAY.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Feb. 6.—Details of the late gold strike near Ray tell that it is comprised within a ledge of quartz twenty feet wide, with much visible free gold. It lies about five miles northeast of Ray, in an isolated and rough section thus far unpenetrated by roads. Nine claims along the ledge have been located and are being worked by the discoverer, Walter Riggins, who has sold a two-thirds interest to L. S. Cates and John C. Devine, respectively, manager and assistant superintendent of the mines of the Ray Consolidated Company.

The district has long been known as one carrying copper, but the only gold heretofore found has been in placer form in the gulches. Development work has been started with vigor on the new find.

A prize of $5 is offered by the Ray Consolidated management to every employee who offers a practical suggestion that will tend to obviate or lessen the dangers of mining and with the money goes a special button of distinction for the wearer. Very little loss of life has occured in the Ray mines, but no cessation of vigilance will be known because of past immunity from serious accident.

Rich gold float, with narrow quartz seams, was found in the desert west of Arlington thirty-five years ago by Sam F. Webb, who occasionally ever since has tried to find a larger orebody. A month ago, at the depth of four feet, he uncovered a five-foot ledge, filled with seams of very rich gold quartz, similar to the float. He has taken out fifty sackfuls, which will be shipped to El Paso for thorough sampling. He has traced and located the ledge for a mile.

RUSH TO PLACERS.

CENTRAL ARIZONA.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Feb. 6.—The rains of the past fortnight have caused a rush of placer miners to the hills of Central Arizona. A score of Mexicans occupy the cupped top of Rich Hill; they are again working ground that has been developed almost every year for forty years, yet always with remuneration for the labor involved. Two years ago one Mexican placero there found a nugget worth $180 and many of lesser value have been uncovered lately.

At least 100 Mexican placer miners work—when a water supply is afforded around the old camp of Weaver, along the middle reaches of the Hassayampa and in the Santo Domingo section. The Mexicans have no mechanical equipment of value and their discoveries are more or less accidental. But they are working under gravel banks that average well in gold and that will some day be washed by modern and economical methods.

On Lynx Creek, near Walker, the Lafayette Placer Gold Company is conducting bedrock tests that have been most successful, as shown by local production of two large bottles filled with gold dust. A sluicing plant of novel design has been tried by the company, with such profit that its capacity is to be quadrupled.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

TO BUILD SMELTER.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) Feb. 6.—A contract for the building of the new smelter of the International Smelting and Refining Company, near Miami, has been awarded to the American Bridge Company of El Paso, Tex., which is preparing to complete all the necessary building this year. Four firms were in competition for the work.

A dozen steel-framed structures, some of them of immense size, will be required to house the smelting and power plants. One of the two steel smokestacks will be 300 feet in height and twenty-two feet in diameter; the other will be 200 feet high and fifteen feet in diameter.

The whole plant will have capacity for the daily handling of 500 tons of concentrates and 300 tons of ore, with three modern reverberatory furnaces equipped also for waste-heat steam generation. There will be five converter stands and the flue dust chambers will be unusually large and effective. Comparatively, the plant will be larger than either of the new smelters at Hayden or Clifton.

With sixty men and a score of teams preparing for it a broad road, a large steam shovel is being hauled to the summit of a tall hill near Miami, where the Inspiration Company will dig one of the largest private reservoirs known, 343 feet long, 143 feet wide and thirty-two feet deep, providing storage of water for the concentrator and for fire needs, under a 200-foot pressure.

Work has been abandoned by the South Live Oak Development Company upon the Schulze group, which will revert to the sellers. Exploration by drill had developed only a limited amount of low-grade ore. The Development Company has spent about $100,000 on the property.

NOTABLE ACTIVITY.

BISBEE DISTRICT.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) Feb. 6.—An immense amount of most interesting development work is now in progress at depth in this district. Following the methods that have proved uniformly successful here, stringers and small bunches of ore are being followed until they lead to large bodies. This development is especially notable at present in the Hoatson, Briggs, Cole and Junction ground.

In the Briggs much greater facility for the raising of its product will be afforded by a motor drift being run from the 1400 level of the junction, which will hereafter be called upon to raise 550 tons a day of its own mining and 850 from Briggs ground.

Operations have been resumed in the old Pittsburgh and Duluth ground, where the ores once were esteemed too highly silicious for profitable handling. Now just such ores are needed and desired by the Douglas smelters. The Pittsburgh and Duluth product will be raised at the Cole shaft. There is little guesswork about the product, as the ground has been explored with drills. In the Cole about 200 feet of drifting in new mineral-bearing ground has demonstrated the value of one of the best copper bodies of the camp.

Though more miners are employed than ever before in the camp, there is somewhat of an over-supply of available men.

Cananea's January output was 6,444,000 pounds of copper, about evenly divided between the local product and the concentrates from Miami.

Tonopah.

TWO BENEFIT BY LATEST STRIKE.

JIM BUTLER AND RESCUE EULA SHARE IN LUCK.

Values Discovered on Old Stone Cabin Claim Run High—Butler Company May Enter Dividend-Paying List This Year—Midway Runs Into Good Ore.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

TONOPAH (Nev.) Feb. 6.—Jim Butler and Rescue Eula share in the advantages of an important strike made by the former property early this week. On the old Stone Cabin claim an entirely new vein was opened from the 750 level that gives promise of surpassing any of the many good ore shoots of the "Jim."

Values run high, but the development has not been followed far enough for any one more than to surmise what will be the outcome of the find. However, it appears very likely that this ore body will be picked up in the Rescue which has been regarded as a sort of forlorn hope without ancestry or posterity to recommend it.

This week Manager Chandler of the Rescue began cross-cutting from the drift he had been running in hope of leading into the Valley View ledge, which had faulted in the workings of the Tonopah Mining Company and which was never found after the intrusion of the faulted ground. Now the Rescue management is making toward the Stone Cabin ledge, with every prospect of getting a reward that has been anticipated with little hope for the last four years.

It was only last week that the Jim Butler opened another body of ore in the Wandering Boy shaft which, coupled with the more recent discovery, may make the "Jim" one of the big mines of the camp. Jim Butler stock is held closely by the same group of Philadelphia capitalists who control the Tonopah and the Belmont, and it is predicted that this year will see the company enter the dividend-paying lists.

The Midway came into good ore this week, with a ledge that has been penetrated fifty feet without reaching the footwall. The values are not as high as were expected, but the magnitude of the ledge will more than offset the lesser values so far obtained. The veins have not been identified with any other known ore body of the district. One is supposed to be the eastern extension of the Merger vein while the other two are believed to be entirely new veins.

Development of the Murray vein on the Tonopah Extension continues to engage attention on account of the production of a very good tonnage of fair mill ore. On the 965-foot level of the new main working shaft there are now six working faces in ore. These workings are exposing a great tonnage. During the week the best ore was encountered in a faulted section of the ore body. The different workings are furnishing between sixty and seventy tons daily to the mill without any stoping, but it is proposed to open stopes on both the 850 and 950-foot levels.

Drifting west on the new ore shoot opened in the Merger last week on the 1170-foot level is still in progress on the footwall side of the vein and is exposing some very rich ore. The main shoot has not yet been entered. The drift is now out about sixty feet from where the shoot was first encountered and shows recurring levels of very rich ore two to three feet wide. Samples from these streaks have yielded as high as $185 a ton across a width of two to three feet, these being rich enough to make the whole face of very good grade. As drifting advances the streaks are becoming more frequent.

Ore of Silver.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 15.—Q.: Under separate cover I send you samples of from Horse Mountain, near Eagle, Colo. Is the silver present in form of a chloride? Is uranium in commercial quantity? The is found in the Dakota sandstone; No. 1 being part of the barren rock.
J. N. G.

A.: Very glad to hear from you. a correspondent does not get promptly, in this column, let understood that we are hard at on quantitative analysis on samples submitted.

and around Eagle, Rifle, De Palisades, Grand Junction, and the Uinta country, of Colorado, is hunting ground of the writer, it is well, when samples are offered for test from any of the localities, to expect surprises in mineral and metal results.

No. 1 consists of two samples, the specimen is dolomitic and quartzitic. A trace of (brittle silver ore,) with of dendritic manganese, is in The gray-black sandstone termed No. 1 is also calcareous, iron oxides; manganese and trace of lead. No. 2 is up of two specimens, and the sample runs well in silver. In of both of these sandstones iron and manganese, occurs, with microscopical of Cerargyrite (silver or "hornsilver."

uranium content in this rock trace only; the radio- therein contained being in- for photographic results.

Asphaltum.

Amphibole.

ANGELES, Jan. 15.—Q.: let me know what these minerals through your "In the column.
A. H. S.

A.: It would be appreciated if correspondents would give approximate of their finds; it helps. No. 1 is amphibole. No. 2 chiefly magnesia, soda, trace iron oxides and aluminum No. 3 amphibole. No. 5 low-grade

Iron-Manganese.

LUDLOW, Jan. 16.—Q.: Ore samples from near Ludlow, Cal.
T. W.

A.: Chiefly a mixture of manganese with iron oxides; calcite present, and a trace. Not tested for gold

Crystals.

ALAMOGORDO (N. M.) Jan. 16.—Q.: I am an interested reader of your in The Times. I am sending you two samples of crystals that from the conditions under which they are found I judge to be crystallized from alkaline solutions in connections with gypsum and salt. No. 1, the pink-colored, has some of the appearances described in Dana's Mineralogy for Monazite, and I think with samples Nos. 1 and 2 may probably be boracite, but they may contain acids even more valuable. Have they a commercial value?
J. F. M.

A.: Glad to hear from you. The samples do not carry a trace of boracite, and there is no monazite present. Tungsten absent.

No. 1 is chiefly lime carbonate with variety Dolomite, manganese (as native carbonate) in the mass; jasper present. No. 2 is on the order of No. 1, but it is chiefly lime carbonate.

In both samples we find low per cent. phosphoric acid.

Chiefly Limestone.

JOHANNESBURG, Jan. 15.—Q.: Am sending one sample of rock in separate package; is it of any value? This is found in the Randsburg district, and from a ledge from six to eight feet wide.
W. A. W.

A.: As limestone the sample has a certain value. In the mass we find traces of boron, soda and Scheelite, and the last named is present in bare trace only.

Aluminum Silicate.

POMONA, Jan. 16.—Q.: I mail with this letter a sample of quartz which is full of metal. I will appreciate to read in The Times an analysis of same.
W. C.

A.: Mica, hematite, ilmenite and magnetite are sparingly present in microscopical forms throughout the mass. Traces of bismuth and antimony in the coating.

Epsomite.

WINNEMUCCA (Nev.) Jan. 16.—Q.: One hundred and ten miles southeast of this town is a dry lake from which I took a lot of specimens last September. I send you a few of the samples and will be glad to see them named and described in the "In the Earth" column. Good luck to you and The Times. I count you both as the best friends the prospectors have.
D. B. A.

A.: Glad to hear from you. That is a mighty nice compliment of yours, and it is appreciated. The Nevada boys, of which you are one, are mighty good fellows, and taken as a "bunch" they are strenuous and "live wires," sure.

The sample is one of nature's best gifts to man, especially when so-called sickness has the floor, as it were.

Epsom salt (native epsomite,) like samples, is in botryoidal masses, with streak and color gray-white; in part transparent. Taste saline and bitter. Of brittle tenacity. Hardness slightly over 2 sp. gr. 1.75. The samples are not easily fusible, and are soluble in less than double their weight of cold water. When purified the salt is used as a purgative medicine.

Feldspathic Matter.

POMONA, Jan. 17.—Q.: I mail with this letter a sample of ore which I believe to contain gold, silver and copper. Hoping to read the values of same in your much esteemed paper.
J. H.

A.: Free gold absent. Copper a trace. Not tested for silver. Iron oxides present. Iron alum trace.

Asphaltum.

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) Jan. 17.—Q.: I hand you herewith a sample of sandstone that is from Southeastern New Mexico; we think it is indicative of oil surroundings. Will you kindly let us have your views on the matter in an early issue of The Times? Thanking you heartily in advance.
A. H. G.

A.: While we would not like to go on record so far as to state that petroleum is associated with bitumen and coal measures, we have no hesitancy in pronouncing the samples of more than usual interest in indicating the possibility of oil being near the locality where the specimens were obtained, and this belief is founded on other matter present in the rock.

Just what rocks (country rock) is at the locality cannot be referred to, for the reason that you failed to include them with the sample. In Colorado and in many western States cretaceous rocks are good "indications."

"The fresh fracture of oil-bearing sandstone is, as a rule, of a darker color than that of adjoining rock."

Placer Dirt.

COHUILLA, Jan. 17.—Q.: I am sending by mail a sample of dirt (placer) that the Indians has worked for many years (when they have water.) Please let me know if you can find any gold in it, and also whether there is any practical way of obtaining the gold without water?
"A SUBSCRIBER."

A.: A doubtful proposition without some water. The sample carries auriferous quartz in minute sizes, with hematite, ilmenite, aluminum silicate, feldspathic matter, traces of microscopical mercury globules and mica.

If "dirt" were at hand (exactly like sample,) it would be our endeavor to obtain some water, and a few empty whisky barrels. With a small size roll, the dirt would be run to about 30 mesh; 100 pounds of the milled dirt would be placed in each barrel and covered with water almost to the top of the barrel at the inside of the container. Into this mixture we would add one pound commercial hydrochloric acid and one pound of mercury. Stir the mixture once every three hours for twelve hours, then wash out the mercury and squeeze it through chamois. The gold, with certain impurities, will be found in "the innards" of the chamois.

The water and acid mixture to settle in other tanks or containers, and when the supernatant liquid is clear run it off and use it over again, adding thereto one-half pound of hwdrochloric acid to each subsequent treatment. The acid will not injure the mercury, and the liquid metal can be used over and over again.

Naturally, some of the mercury will be wasted; not much, however. Simply keep the barrel charge up to one pound mercury.

Only One.

OASIS (Utah) Jan. 13.—Q.: I am sending you under separate cover two samples of rock. Will you please test them for me? What do the samples contain? Are they of any commercial value? Thanking you for analyzing the last sample I sent you, I am a subscriber,
W. R.

A.: It is a great pleasure to hear from you. The writer met you in Utah, once upon a time. Now, about those samples. But one specimen (No. 2,) sewed up in a muslin bag, has been received. Maybe the package "busted" on its way, as it were. This sample is a light-brownish mixture of lime carbonate with iron carbonate (siderite,) and the only requisite to make the sample ankerite, is that it carries no manganese.

It will be a very great pleasure to test further for you at any time, and we will be glad to have you send us a sample of the lost mineralogical sheep, No. 1.

STOCKS LAX IN THEIR RESPONSE.

New Ore Bodies Increase the Camp's Output.

Record of Mining Activities for the Week.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Feb. 6.—The past week's developments in the Goldfield mines have been of a most encouraging character and have been reflected only in small measure by the stock quotations. The market has been apathetic for so long that its awakening could not have been expected to be any more lively than it has been, and profit-taking by stockholders who have been holding for just such an advance as has occurred, has been potent as an obstacle preventing a further rise.

The "boost" element, always a deterrent to legitimate activity, has had its inevitable influence upon Goldfield stocks, and those who are best acquainted with conditions here question if the opening of another Hayes-Monnette bonanza would receive due credit and would not be attended by a "bull-con" reaction.

The production of the camp has been materially increased by the opening of new ore bodies at several points, particularly those discovered lately in the Florence Goldfield and Jumbo Extension mines. The Florence discovery is without doubt one of the most important developments recorded in the Goldfield district in a long time, and the fact that the Jumbo Extension is now operating on a profit-earning basis and has a large tonnage of commercial ore in sight is likewise of great importance to the camp.

Goldfield Consolidated.

Goldfield Consolidated maintains its large output of gold bullion, shipped direct to the United States mint, and in smaller quantity ore is being produced and shipped at other points in and about the district. Shipping ore is being produced from the deepest levels of the Grizzly Bear mine, and has been exposed down to the 1400-foot level, where it has been followed to the boundary line of the St. Ives claim of the Merger Mines Company. The great vein, that has produced millions of dollars worth of ore farther to the north and west, is now being explored on this level.

Arrangements have been made for the exploration of the Kewanas property from the Laguna shaft of the Consolidated, and this work will start shortly. The December report has been issued and shows that a large amount of development work is being done, and while the ore treated in that month was below normal grade, the operating costs have been held down to a low figure and the company is making sufficient money all the time to maintain dividend payments and will probably be able to indefinitely.

Atlanta.

The cross-cut on the 1750-foot level of the Atlanta, driven from the St. Ives or main shaft of the Goldfield Merger Mines Company, has made good progress, but lately work was suspended for a few days while a larger and better ventilating plant was being installed, and the miners were engaged in easing and adjusting mine timbers throughout the workings. Some time ago the cross-cut, after reaching a point about 140 feet inside Atlanta territory, passed out of the shale and into latite, the ore-bearing formation of the deep mines in this district. This formation has shown the presence of a considerable amount of copper and it is the hope of the management that when the main fissure is penetrated the enrichment will be such as to make bodies of commercial ore.

Merger Mines.

The Merger Mines Company's property is being operated jointly with the Atlanta, under the management of K. M. Simpson, managing engineer in charge of the Wingfield properties in the Goldfield district, and the Atlanta is paying for the use of the Merger shaft. Eastern mining and financial publications have become obsessed with the idea that the Atlanta is getting its work done for nothing, but the Atlanta company's affairs are being conducted by people who know that it costs something to make a mine, and who are not attempting to use money other than the Atlanta company's.

The formation showing on the 1330-foot level of the Merger is promising. Seams of good ore have been exposed here. On the 1400-foot level the main ore body of the Grizzly Bear mine of the Consolidated has been followed to the Merger boundary. The property is to be thoroughly explored on the 1750-foot level.

Florence Goldfield.

The most important development in the Goldfield district in many months has been reported during the past week on the Florence property, one of the great gold mines of the country. It is apparent that the company, which has already paid liberal dividends, will make large profits from this discovery of high-grade. On this occasion the company will get the benefit instead of all the profit going to lessees. The Florence company has been unfortunate in many respects.

Sandstorm-Kendall.

The ore is said to be holding up well in the drifts on the 500-foot level of the Sandstorm-Kendall Consolidated, and the work is to be expedited as much as possible. The big pump, with a capacity for 200,000 gallons daily, is now in commission, and the compressor, of sufficient power to operate all the machine drills that can be used, is being installed, and will be operating soon.

Other Properties.

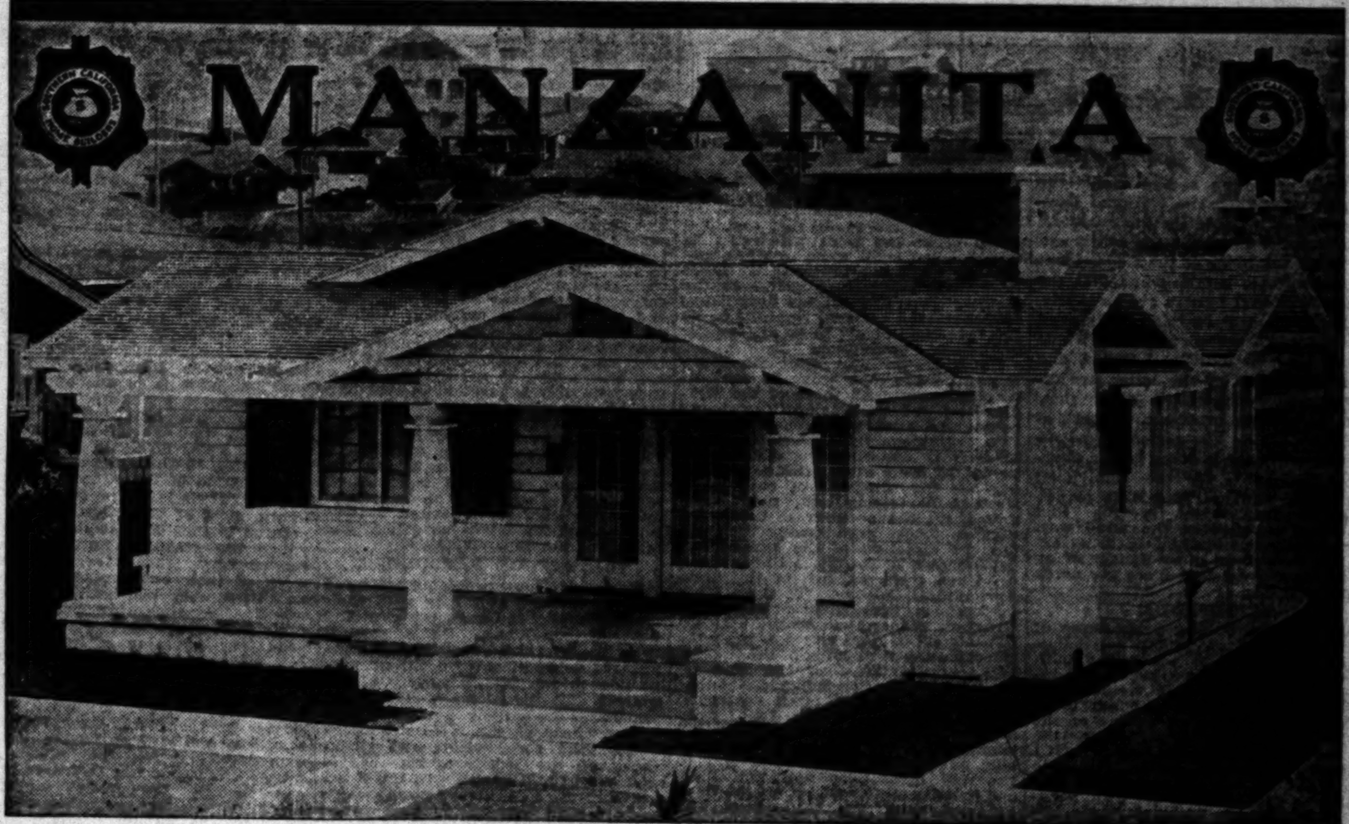
Reports from the Blue Bull property continue encouraging and it is stated on good authority that the ore is holding up well in both the north and south drifts on the 500-foot level, while the cross-cut to the east, on the 700-foot level, is apparently nearing the same vein, and that to the southwest is being extended in Victor ground.

The C.O.D. Consolidated work, conducted by the leasing company, the Nevada Co-operative Mining Company, which is controlled by Charles S. Sprague of Goldfield, continues to show up quantities of low-grade ore that some day will be treated at a profit, as well as small seams of higher grade material.

On the Diamondfield Black Butte property some good assays have been obtained on the Millard lease, where the true throw of the big Quarzite fault has apparently been determined at last. It is reported that another lease has been let on ground adjoining the Millard, where some rich ore has been found in the past. The Silver Pick is preparing a station and will explore its big main ledge on the 485-foot level. The Combination Fraction is being worked under lease by the Goldfield Consolidated on a royalty basis that is distinctly favorable to the Fraction company. The New Jersey Mines Company is developing its Excelsior group in the eastern-central part of the district and has some excellent assays. The Talmage group is being developed by C. W. Hays, and has some good ore in sight.

Goldfield Oro.

The management of the Goldfield Oro is greatly encouraged over the showing in the main shaft, at a depth of about 650 feet, where the hanging wall of a strong vein has been penetrated. At about this depth it has been expected that the shaft would encounter the wall of the vein exposed on the 350-foot level. Apparently the vein is affected by the Columbia Mountain fault movement, as talc is freely mixed with the contents. Sinking will continue to the 1000-foot level unless the shaft enters an ore body before that depth is reached.



It requires "class" for a house to stand out in sheer supremacy, without the aid of a shrub, a vine or even a flower.

Every prospective buyer of a Bungalow in Los Angeles should see Manzanita Heights before deciding where to live or what kind of a house to buy.

Location is one of the best in the city, in the rolling foothills towards Hollywood; is not an ordinary subdivision, but a beautiful little park in the making, exactly three miles from 5th and Hill Streets.

It is one block from the intersection of Sunset and Santa Monica Boulevards with Manzanita and Defrees Streets. Every Pacific Electric car from Hill Street Station, going Hollywood way, must stop here.

Separated from the Hollywood traffic, Manzanita Heights has privacy and a view, both worth money to the buyer. The houses are the best of their class in Los Angeles.

Prices from $4,150 to $5,000. Monthly payments $35 to $50. Take Hollywood or any car going that way. Five cent fare. Fifteen minutes' ride. Four minute service. Get off at Defrees Street. Or, telephone and we will call for you with automobile.

FOR THE MAN ON THE LAND.

III.

What the State Is Doing for the Farmer.

BY LEWIS R. FREEMAN.

IN A preceding article under the title of "What the National Government is Doing for the Farmer," I endeavored to give some outline of the work and plans of the Department of Agriculture, pointing out that the activities of that bureau are most naturally directed along lines that are of importance to the country as a whole rather than to individual States, and that the efforts of the latter are directed and concentrated upon their own immediate problems. Most of the work which the national agricultural department is doing is of a character impossible for the individual estates to perform, and it is principally in experimental research that both are engaged in the same way. Fortunately the latter field is so extensive that there is no danger of an economic loss on this score for many years to come.

IT DEPENDS.

The success of any programme of agricultural improvement will hinge upon the extent to which the individual farmer can be reached and interested, and this fact would seem to indicate the State's (I am using that term as referring to one of the forty-eight units constituting the United States, not to the nation itself,) natural sphere of action in helping to carry out such a programme. The State, as a student of its own peculiar agricultural problems, in addition to such experimental work as is necessary to supplement that carried on by the national Department of Agriculture within its borders, should devote itself to passing on the result of its research to the farmer, to getting nearer to the man on the land. This is a huge, complicated and endlessly ramified undertaking, the many knotty problems presented by which will have to be met and disposed of as the work proceeds. In this article I shall write of what several of the most progressive States have done in "getting nearer to the farmer," reserving for my next paper the discussion of what appears to be the "practical ideal" to be striven for in the same connection.

Some States have done far more than others in their work for agricultural advancement, those of the Middle West and the Pacific Coast being rather the most progressive. Tentative beginnings have usually been made with experiment stations, supported by State appropriations, working out the problems of cultivation, seeding, harvesting and plant and animal disease peculiar to their own regions These have usually been under the direction of the agricultural departments of the State Universities, or, when these existed, of the State Agricultural Colleges. To these State institutions, with their practical instruction, rather than to the national Department of Agriculture, is probably traceable the awakening of the present broadening interest of the man on the land in scientific farming. Not that the farmer himself often attended them, schools, and not that very many of him had much faith in the beginning in the "school-book" methods; but his sons found their way to the new institutions now and then, and these became ready converts. They in turn converted the fathers, and perhaps the neighbors, and so, slowly at first, more and more rapidly as time showed the value of what was being taught, scientific agriculture gained the confidence of those whom it was designed to help. There are some doubters and scoffers still, but, by and large, the farmer who rejects the advice and instruction of the State agricultural extension experts is looked upon by his fellows a good deal as they would regard a drowning man who did not know enough to take a life-rope that had been thrown him.

This does not mean that the majority of our farmers are taking full advantage of the instruction that is being offered them—unfortunately, this is far from being tha case—but only that the days of skepticism are past and the inability of the farmer properly to master the details of the advice that is put at his disposal rather than a disbelief in its intrinsic soundness is responsible for his slowness to act. As I may have mentioned before, the American farmer is the most conservative citizen of this republic, and he is prone to make his changes with great deliberation. That his confidence in scientific agriculture has been won is a good deal more than half the battle; to get him to follow it is now only a question of teaching him how by more graphic media than the printed page of the bulletin or report. The experimental work that has been going on for the last decade and more may be likened to laying the foundation of scientific agriculture, while the inducing of the farmer to follow the methods indicated by this experimentation might be called the raising of the superstructure.

VARIETY OF RESOURCES.

The agricultural problems presented to the various States vary with their crops, climates and meteorological and physical conditions. As a general rule, the work becomes more complicated and difficult in direct proportion to the State's variety of resources. The problems of the Southern States are largely concerned with cotton, those of the Middle Western States with corn, wheat and stock; those of the Northwestern States with wheat and apples. To the Eastern and New England States, with their denser population and huge manufacturing industries, agriculture is of less relative importance than to those of the South, Middle West and West, and their problems are usually those of the small "mixed" farmer. On account of the many degrees of latitude covered by California, and its diverse climates and altitudes, its great variety of resources are responsible for an array of agricultural and horticultural problems equal to those of all of the rest of the States of the Union combined. That in spite of the vast volume of the work to be done, agricultural progress in California is abreast of that of any other State speaks volumes for the efforts of those who have its advancement in charge. I will discuss the remarkable success of the university extension in agriculture work in California presently.

The simplest agricultural problems have been presented to those States having the greatest homogeneity of topography and climate, and, therefore, of agricultural production. One is not surprised to learn, consequently, that the great States of the level plains of the Mississippi Valley, a quarter-section from one of which is pretty sure to be like a quarter-section from any other, are, generally speaking, well ahead of nearly all of their sister States in the work of inculcating in their farmers a belief in the value of scientific agriculture. The overwhelming importance of corn in the most of these States naturally pointed to that crop as the one upon which the greatest effort should be concentrated, and a record of the work of their experiment stations is an almost unbroken list of corn seed selection, corn-planting, corn-cultivation, corn-silage, corn-judging contests, corn-fattening of hogs and so on. This concentration on one crop, coupled with the fact that to solve the problem of one farmer was to solve the problem of every other farmer in the State, was productive of speedy and striking results, in consequence of which the effects of scientific farming may be traced much more clearly and proved far more conclusively in the enhanced crop returns of the Middle Western States than anywhere else in the country. This success with corn has won the farmer so completely to scientific agriculture in these States that the way for the improvement of the methods of growing their less important crops, and of adopting up-to-date methods in breeding and fattening stock, in marketing and in their business affairs generally has been made much easier.

IOWA, FOR INSTANCE.

Of these several Middle Western States, those which have achieved the most noteworthy results from improved farming methods are Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas. Of this number, none will serve better to illustrate how the work has been carried on than Iowa, which is, perhaps the most thoroughly farmed State in the Union. I shall, therefore, before writing of progress in California, outline briefly how the good work has been carried on among the wide-awake farmers of this fertile portion of the Mississippi Valley. Of the still more advanced methods of "getting nearer to the farmer," which have been put into operation in Illinois and North Dakota, I will tell in my next paper.

Something over half of Iowa's population of 2,500,000 people are engaged in agriculture, and most of the remainder are more or less dependent upon it. In the early days when land was worth but $10 or $15 an acre and every farmer had several hundred acres of it, careless agricultural methods were of little moment, but with that land advancing to from $100 to $200 an acre there was no margin left for wastefulness. It became necessary for a farmer greatly to increase his production or fail. The State had been doing considerable experimental work all through the nineties, but it was not until well toward the end of that decade that the faculty of the State College of Agriculture arrived at the conclusion that their greatest problem was to get closer to the experienced farmers. Only a few hundred could be regularly graduated from the college each year, and most of these were eagerly sought by corporations to manage creameries and big farms, or by other institutions to act as teachers. To teach the man on the land to farm with the head; to realize that no farmer could succeed by mere brute strength, and that drudgery is labor without thought, this progressive institution inaugurated the first of a number of rapidly succeeding movements, which have given Iowa leadership in agricultural education.

The first step was a "short-course" in stock breeding, which was given at the State college in the first two weeks of January, 1899. It was open to all the world, without restrictions as to age or other qualifications. Prof. John Craig, who was in charge of the course, is entitled to rank as the pioneer in putting live stock teaching in practical pedagogic form.

The success of this first "short-course" was so striking that it was shortly extended to include corn and grain judging, dairying, horticulture and domestic science. The attendance soon began running to over 1000 annually, many farmers bringing their wives to allow them to take advantage of the domestic science course. For the first few years there were students from every State of the Union, these gradually falling off, however, as one State after another began offering similar instruction on its own account.

GETTING NEARER.

The next step in "getting nearer to the farmer" was taken several years after the inauguration of the "short-courses" at the State college. This came about through a desire which arose among the farmers in the vicinity of the little town of Red Oak to have a "short course" of its own. The success of some of those who had been assimilating "book farming" had awakened the envy of their less fortunate neighbors. Inquiry at the State college assured them that instead of discouraging what its promoters feared might be considered a rival school, the directors of that institution were eager to help, even volunteering to furnish the faculty. The business men of Red Oak co-operated, and a guarantee fund of $3000, in $25 subscriptions, was pledged for expenses, which included $800 in prizes for the best corn. Ten or twelve members of the State College faculty and as many advanced students acted as lecturers and instructors, charging only for their actual expenses. The school opened Monday morning and ran six days. The first year, 1905, the attendance was 240, and from that time on it has increased at the rate of over a hundred a year.

The departments of this school are: Corn, animal husbandry and domestic science. The fee for the latter was $1, and for all the other work, $2. Every one enrolled was entitled to compete for one of the corn prizes. With the lectures of the evening and the regular course work of the day classes, nearly every phase of farm life is touched upon with enlightenment. This school has always paid expenses, without calling on the guarantors.

A judge of the Iowa Supreme Court, a resident of Red Oak, and one of the active organizers of the "short course," writing a few months ago of the effect of the latter, says: "Good judges tell me that the yield of corn has increased at least five bushels per acre as the result of this corn school. The results educationally have been very great. The farmer down here—and better than that, the farmer's boy—has concluded that his business is as honorable and worthy as any other, and that it takes just as much brains to be a good farmer as to excel in anything else. The result will be and has been to keep the boy on the farm. He holds his head as high as anyone; and down here we no longer speak of 'Hayseeds.'"

Several more "short course" schools similar to that at Red Oak were established within the next few years, the demand finally becoming so great that the college asked for and received a special appropriation from the State to further the work. This and similar work for the direct benefit of the farmer is now handled by a Department of Agricultural Extension, formed by the State college for that purpose. The work of this Iowa department is, in fact, very similar in character and scope to that of the University extension in agriculture which is doing so much for the farmers of California.

EXPERIMENT STATIONS.

Another Iowa idea for bringing agricultural instruction nearer to the farmer that is most worthy of emulation is that of establishing local experiment stations on the various county poor farms. The first one was established in Sioux county, in the remote northern part of the State, in 1903, and since then practically every county in Iowa has fallen into line. The County Board of Supervisors appropriates the small sum—from $500 to $1000—that is necessary to cover expenses, and the work is done under the supervision of an expert from the State college. In the fall a farmers' picnic is held to discuss results.

The seed used in these county experimental stations is taken from the planter boxes of as many farmers in the vicinity as possible, is planted without testing, and given the same treatment as that bestowed on the ordinary fields in the neighborhood. Each man's corn is planted in an identified plat. Each farmer whose seed has been used comes in the fall to the picnic to see how his own compares with his neighbor's corn. More convincing proof could not be offered. The man who has given no heed to his seed and sees a miserable stand of inferior stalks, and still more inferior ears, concludes as he gazes with envying wonder on the large, strong, uniform, well-eared plants of his seed-testing neighbor, that he will not be caught that way again. Very likely he begins to see in this some explanation of his neighbor's better home, freedom from debt and general prosperity. The influence of these county experiment stations is said to have been immediately noticeable, not only on the corn crop of Iowa, but in raising the standard of farming in every way. On account of the great size of many of the California counties, to say nothing of the fact that there is no dominating crop like corn to experiment with, this particular scheme is not especially applicable to this State, but it stands as one of the best plans yet evolved for bringing the farmer to a realization of his shortcomings by holding what might be called a "mirror of his labors" up in front of him.

Another milestone in agricultural progress, which I believe is also to be checked up to the credit of Iowa for planting, is the special "demonstration train." Under the name of the "Seed Corn Special," such a train was put on by the Iowa State College, in co-operation with the railroads, in 1904, its mission being similar to those of the "short course" and county experiment station, that of "getting nearer to the farmer." As I shall write presently of how this idea was taken up and extended in California, I will not go into detail of its work in Iowa here. The "demonstration train" is now a familiar sight in all parts of the country, and although it is but a stepping stone to a system which shall get still nearer to the farmer with practical instruction, it has been, and will continue to be for some time, an important factor in extending agricultural education to the land.

Wanted-A Million Dollars

The Rich San Xavier Mission in the Rich Santa Cruz Valley

The rich Santa Cruz Valley of Arizona is to have a restricted MISSION CITY.

WATER, LAND AND CLIMATE are the foundations of this city. They are the three factors in developing an immense project of this kind.

This announcement is the first of a series of educational advertisements which will mark the opening of a $100,000 campaign to bring before the public a RESTRICTED, CLEAN, MODERN CITY, built in mission style, a monument to the aims and purposes of the old mission fathers. This city will be non-sectarian, however, but will be so conducted as to make it an ideal spot for home life—the "white" city of the West.

NO SALOONS, NO BILLBOARDS; ALL BUILDINGS WITHIN the city limits must be mission style, and of cement.

That Southern Arizona has the climate and the soil has never been questioned.

The Climate is the finest in the world. Three hundred and fifty-two days of sunshine and delightful weather is the record of last year, and sunstroke unknown. Elevation is ideal, 2100 feet.

The Soil is a wonderful productive silt, producing a wonderful crop.

Water is wealth in itself in Arizona. That the Tucson Farms Co. could not have been a success without water is positive. That they are a success, is proof that they have an abundance of water, practically gravity water, or artesian well water.

The development of this vast agricultural PRINCIPALITY adjoining our MISSION CITY PROJECT, has been entirely developed by private capital. Because their project is adjoining our project, and their soil conditions are the same, it is reasonable that we should refer to them, showing what the development will be around MISSION CITY.

Alfalfa will produce seven cuttings, from one to one and a half tons each, and is worth at Tucson, from $15.00 to $18.00 per ton. One field of 185 acres returned $14,976.00, besides the tonnage used in keeping the work horses.

An eighty-acre alfalfa tract on the Tucson Farm Co.'s property gave a gross income of $10,000 in a single year.

The CALIFORNIA & ARIZONA LAND & WATER COMPANY—controlled by THE CITY BUILDERS INVESTMENT COMPANY, will develop MISSION CITY.

MISSION CITY will be on the main line of the Southern Pacific, near Tucson. The City will be built on 80 acres. Adjoining our city project five to-forty acre tracts will be sold to colonists as IMPROVED FARM LANDS.

Our plans call for the building of ranch houses and outbuildings. The colonists will find "READY-TO-OCCUPY" little farms, for their selection.

The first unit to come under the first canal, will mean the opening of approximately 5000 acres of land.

Opportunity Has Not Yet Distributed All of Her Choicest Gifts

An OPPORTUNITY COUPON is attached to this first announcement This coupon should be signed by you if you have from $100 to $5000 to invest in MISSION CITY.

We believe that $1000 invested in this project will yield $10,000—$100 invested will yield $1000. We don't guarantee this. We are sure, however, that $1.00 invested will yield $2.00. The first statement is what it should do. The second statement is what we expect it will do. Every $1.00 invested makes 100 per cent. and pays 8 per cent. interest during the period of investment. That ought to be good enough for anyone.

Have you ever noticed the crowded conditions of the new city hotels, How many times you have said, "If I had only bought that corner lot when the city site was laid out for $500." That same lot is worth $5000 in less than two years. How many times you have said to yourself, "What a mint there is in that picture show. I wish I had been the man to have started it."

Have you ever noticed the crowded condiions of he new city hotels, and haven't you wished you had built the hotel?

The opportunity for making money in an enterprise of this kind, is unlimited. Our project appeals to the small and to the big investors.

We want to see a million dollars invested in enterprises at MISSION CITY.

Our project is a big one—the opportunities are many.

To arrive at just how this can be a money-making opportunity for you, cut out the OPPORTUNITY COUPON and we will send you what may be termed our INSIDER'S OFFER. We will show you how, if you have from $100 to $5000 to invest, you can get in on an equal basis, on the profits from:

THE DEVELOPMENT OF A WATER SYSTEM.
THE BUILDING OF A TEN TO FIFTEEN-MILE IRRIGATING CANAL.

Employers Say Normal Conditions Will Return in BLACKLISTING.

An Employer May Give an Employe's Record, If Not Maliciously, and May Hire Whom He Pleases.

[American Employer:] One R. H. Seward sued the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company in the courts of North Carolina to recover damages for preventing or attempting to prevent him from obtaining employment as a locomotive engineer. The suit was based on the provisions of chapter 858, Acts of 1909, which provides a penalty in case any person, agent, company or corporation, after discharging any employee from its service, shall prevent or attempt to prevent by word or writing of any kind such discharged employee from obtaining employment elsewhere, but does not forbid the giving of a truthful statement in writing, on request, to any person to whom the discharged workman has applied for employment as to the reason of such discharge. Seward had worked for about two years for the defendant company. After his discharge he applied for employment with three other companies, each of which, with his consent, wrote to his former employer requesting his record. The reply to the three companies was practically the same, showing various suspensions for refusing to go out, for damage to engine, on account of accidents, and for minor offenses, and dismissal finally for having left the station on the time of another train, which resulted in a head-on collision. In addition to the above it was stated in one of the reports that this man is now suing the Seaboard Air Line for personal injuries.

Seward was non-suited in the Superior Court of Wake county and appealed, contending that the company had no right under the statute to give his record, and could do no more than state the reasons for his discharge, and that, even if, under the statute it could give the record of the plaintiff, it had not stated it truthfully and was actuated by malice. The company contended that its communications were privileged and not actionable in the absence of malice and that there was no evidence of malice. The opinion of the Superior Court of the State was to the effect that there was sufficient evidence to take the case to the jury, and a new trial was ordered. Judge Allen, who delivered the opinion of the court, spoke, in part, as follows:

"When we look to the common law we find that the employer had the right to employ whom he pleased, and to discharge with or without reason, and that the employee could select the person whom he would serve, and had the right to quit the service at pleasure; the only limitations upon the exercise of the right by either being the terms of the contract of service. An employer has a right to select his employees according to what standard he may choose, though such standard be arbitrary or unreasonable. An employer certainly has a right to refuse to employ anyone whom he knows to have left another employer in violation of a reasonable rule which both employers are seeking to enforce.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) Feb. 7.—Reports of large numbers of unemployed on the Pacific Coast will not deter transcontinental railroads putting into effect March 15 their annual colonist rates to the West. This information was received today by Gerrit Fort, passenger traffic manager of the Union Pacific Railroad. These rates are made on second-class tickets only and usually result in extensive emigration to the Pacific Coast.

"There was some doubt whether the railroads would make this annual concession," said Fort, "in view of reports from Pacific Coast States that all the large cities were overrun with unemployed men, but commercial organizations and others interested in industrial conditions in the Coast States insisted that the usual spring rate be made.

"These gentlemen claim that industrial conditions have not changed in their section more than in other parts of the country and that opportunity is as good as it ever was. The railroads are being governed in the matter generally by the wishes of the business interests of the Coast."

A COLLEGE OF COMMERCE.

New York Accepts Offer of $700,000 to Erect the Building Which the City is to Maintain.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—An offer by the Chamber of Commerce to erect here a college of commerce and administration costing $700,000 was accepted yesterday by the board of estimate. The money was collected by the Chamber of Commerce from anonymous contributors. The plan is to make the college a public institution subject to the control of the State Board of Regents.

The building will contain a museum of commerce and civics, which will be a permanent municipal exhibit. The city is to provide a site and maintain the institution.

GRAPE GROWERS BAN AGENTS.

Will Market the Table Product in the Future Solely by Their Own Efforts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Feb. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hereafter the table grape growers of San Joaquin county will market their product without the aid of agents. This was decided at the annual meeting of their association which was held at Lodi.

The association was organized in 1909, and heretofore has marketed its fruit through the John Denny Company of Chicago, but the members now feel that they are in a position to enter the marketing end of the game with every assurance of success. This is a new departure, and may mean a complete change in the handling of the fruit from this section.

The financial report of the association put all the members in a good humor, as it showed the book value of the stocks to be $100, with a cash value of $70. This stock has cost the present owners $25 per share, and at this meeting a dividend of $5 per share was paid them.

Immediately after the annual meeting adjourned, the new directors met and elected G. W. Ashley, president; A. S. La Salle, vice-president, and W. C. Brown, secretary.

Furuseth Criticised.

[Washington Herald:] The London Spectator in an article on the international conference on safety at sea, which it describes as "a memorable creation," says:

"We suppose that the resignation of Andrew Furuseth from the American delegation was caused by the regulation providing that all members of a ship's company, whether deckhands or not, shall be compelled to acquire efficiency in handling lifeboats. Mr. Furuseth is the president of the American Seamen's Union, and if his act was provoked by this clause, it is an instructive episode at least, in showing that to many the exclusiveness of trades unions comes before the question of the safety of human life."

UNION LABOR DITTIES.

A picket once was drowning. He couldn't swim a stroke.
The people all about him thought 'twas nothing but a joke.
At last a lifeguard reached him and seized him by the hair:
The dying picket rolled his eyes and croaked, "Unfair, unfair."

A picket died and Satan came to take his soul away.
"I want to go to heaven," cried the picket in dismay.
"Ho! ho!" laughed Satan, "what a joke; could I but get you there,
I'd make you walk the golden streets and yell 'Unfair, unfair;'
But heaven's the home of decent folk, who scatter smiles and love;
For such as you, my 'unfair' friend, there's no room up above."

The Picket.

The decent labor union men, who earn their bread by work,
Have got to pay this lazy bum to stand around and shirk;
He poses as a martyr to the labor union cause;
But fifty cents an hour he gets to simply work his jaws.

"Unfair, unfair," is all he knows;
Like the ceaseless "caws" of the senseless crows.

A picket went to heaven and saw some angels there
Who hadn't joined his union, and so he cried "Unfair!"
St. Peter told him kindly to cease his senseless yell;
And when he stubbornly refused he kicked him down to hell.

A Fable.

A frog that lived in a stagnant pool
Sang gaily with every breath.
He thought it the finest pool on earth;
But to others it meant but death.
He swelled with pride to his very hide
Whenever he looked it o'er:
He loved the green of its velvet scum
Which stretches from shore to shore—
So when the people the menace found
And started to dig a drain,
The old frog croaked 'till he almost choked
And this was his sad refrain—
"Unfair! unfair! how do you dare
To drain this water and spoil my lair?
Unfair! unfair! unfair! unfair!"

MARRIED MEN BARRED BY COMPENSATION ACT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Contractors will hesitate to employ married men because of the increased risk under the Workmen's Compensation Act, according to a statement made to the Board of Works today by Edward Malley, a contractor, who was the lowest bidder for construction of the Mile Rock sewer.

Malley asked that he be released from the contract, declaring that in making his bid he did not know that the Board of Works required that he take out indemnity insurance, which he estimated would cost him an additional $10,000.

In answer to questions from President Reardan of the board, Malley affirmed that because of the required insurance he would employ only single men if required to go ahead with the contract.

President Reardan expressed surprise at this effect of the compensation act, stating that it would work a hardship on married men who were most in need of employment, and that if contractors generally followed the plan of Malley that the act should be amended.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen La Forge of Fair Oaks, N. Y., are mourning the loss of their twenty-second child, which was born on Sunday. Mr. La Forge is 72 years old, and his wife is 46, and they fear that no more children will come to them. Fourteen of the twenty-two children born to them are living. Mr. La Forge has been the father of twenty-seven children, having been married twice and having five children by his first wife, all of whom are grown up.

Labor's Unrest.

STRIKES AND STRIKERS OF THIS BUSY WORLD.

LONDON is face to face with a severe crisis in its enormous building trade by reason of the strike of 100,000 of the workers in that industry, which strike affects 100,000 other workers, or 200,000 in all. This great strike is the result of a dramatic move by the London master builders in requiring individual employees to sign an agreement with a penalty clause, not to take part in future strikes against non-unionists. There are 177 federated firms of employers, employing about 100,000 of the 200,000 men affected by this strike, or lockout, as some suppose it to be. At this distance one cannot decide which came first—the strike or the lockout. That does not matter as anyway 200,000 men are idle, and that, in the middle of a cold English winter. Much difference of opinion as to the wisdom of the strike exists among the trades union leaders. The workers with one exception are badly organized. The exception is the Carpenters' and Joiners' Society, which claims to have in its ranks over 90 per cent. of the skilled joiners engaged within a radius of twelve miles from Charing Cross—that is, Trafalgar Square, with its monument of Nelson and its crouching lions. Oddly enough, this society is the one that is inclined to be least belligerent in its attitude. It has refused to recognize or assist men striking against non-unionists in the way that has been objected to.

Leaders of all London unions frankly concede that the strikes against non-unionists, of which the employers complain, are quite contrary to the existing work and wages agreement, which requires that no stoppage of work shall take place for any cause whatsoever until the matter in dispute is brought before the conciliation board. This is but another of the many recorded cases of union men not abiding by their agreements, while they hold employers to the strict letter of such agreements.

The sectional British strikes against non-unionists, of which the employers justly complain, are admittedly due to the activity of a little band of syndicalists, whose text is that of "fiery-cross" Larkin, "to hell with contracts." That is the English adaptation of the "no God, no master" motto of the American I.W.W. By the union rules in England only one hour is the legal notice necessary to call a sectional strike, or "down tools," as the slogan now is. This short notice, really no notice at all, does not give employers any chance or show in the matter. For months past these syndicalists have been holding informal meetings of men on particular jobs, calling for a show of union cards, and if one man is found in arrears for dues or without a union card, "down tools" has been the order, and the union men, like silly sheep, obey such orders, tyrannical though they be. The present attitude of the London building trades employers is the natural result of these syndicalist methods of stirring up strife. Those disturbers of industrial peace tried these tactics with a high hand at the London dockworkers' strike, and subsequently in Dublin and Leeds, failing utterly of result (heavy wages losses excepted,) in each case. The circumstances associated with these disputes, the wild language used, the incitement to wholesale war upon capital, and the bitter attacks on the recognized leaders of trade-unionism made by the syndicalists have all tended to alarm employers, and in self-defense they have been compelled into action as to demanding the agreements above referred to as the cause of this strike. You cannot go on talking about revolution without alarming the class you are threatening to attack.

The recent strike of 10,000 coal carriers set London shivering during the few days it lasted. Medical students loaded and carted coal to the hospitals. Automobiles, taxicabs, landaus, carts, hand barrows and even baby carriages were used for carrying coal. Hotel employees in gold-braided uniforms, chauffeurs, fatigue parties from several of the regiments of guards, tradesmen, and even women were among those working in the coal yards. The strikers got what they wanted—namely, a raise to 20 cents a ton for loading and delivery, an increase of 2 cents a ton.

Portugal has a general railway strike. The chief grievance arises out of the company's pension system.

The New Zealand coal strike is ended after three months' loss of wages—no other result. The decision to resume work is regarded as a significant defeat of the unionists.

Buffalo is seriously threatened with a general building trades strike which, if it occurs, will tie up all building in that city. The mason contractors absolutely refuse to accede to the exorbitant demands of the hoisting engineers' union—hence the trouble. These engineers demand a full week's pay, $24, whether they work six days, or three days, or less. Such a demand is outrageous.

The strike of municipal employees in the various public utilities of Leeds, England, is over. The terms of settlement constitute an unconditional surrender on the part of the strikers. It was a fool strike anyway, indignantly resented by all the citizens (except the strikers.) Many new men were put on permanently during the strike, and they will not be turned out to reinstate strikers. The latter lose their good jobs permanently as a result of their foolishness in striking.

There is a strike of 3000 chair and furniture makers at High Wycombe, Eng. The British Board of Trade is trying to settle it through the efforts of Sir George Askwith, the government's official strike mediator.

In one county (Hereford) of England eighty schools are closed because the teachers are on strike for more pay. They want a minimum salary of $500 a year (an increase of $50) and they ought to have it. The county education department refuses and commits itself to a "no surrender" policy. The National Union of Teachers guarantees the striking teachers full salary as long as they are on strike, up to five years. This is the first strike of its kind in the United Kingdom.

British postal, telegraph and telephone employees (government) are still agitating for more pay under threat of strike. It's folly to talk strike against government work.

All that now remains to the strikers of the great Dublin strike is debt, starvation and misery, with union-labor's wages money still supporting syndicalist James Larkin in luxury and idleness—just as it did Haywood, Ettor, Giovanni & Company, in Lawrence.

Meeting at Glasgow, Scotland, the Women's Labor League talks of big strikes (bigger than ever) to come, to be led by women.

The I.W.W. was at the bottom of the disturbance and disorder among the unemployed garment workers of Chicago on the night of January 27. I.W.W. organizers made inflammatory speeches to the rioters.

Indianapolis associations of employers are banding themselves together for protection against the labor unions, whose actions in that city have been (and are) outrageous. In its programme the "banded" employers declare opposition to strikes and to the closed shop. Indianapolis is headquarters for seven national and international labor unions, each of which has made strike trouble there from year to year. Chandler and Taylor, founders, went through a strike for the open shop for five years and won out. Persistently for three years the non-union employees have been the victims of assaults by union men. The decree has gone out hat Indianapolis must be unionized and the employers there feel that the real struggle has only just begun. Absolute supremacy and command of the city is the aim of the labor organizations. It was in the head offices in Indianapolis of one of these organizations that the MacNamara dynamite plots were hatched and financed. Last fall the city had a serious street car strike, followed immediately by an equally serious teamsters' strike. Indignant citizens bestirred themselves, got rid of a weak Mayor (Shank) and broke up both strikes, but not until great loss to the city business had been incurred. Several other smaller strikes occurred during the year. It was a bad day for Indianapolis when, some years ago, the city invited these "union headquarters" to make their home within its limits.

Van Nuys
The Center of the San Fernando Valley

HELP WANTED!

Southern California Needs You

Southern California should raise more poultry and eggs. It imports millions of dozens of eggs and hundreds of thousands pounds of poultry every year.

It all brings high prices. Why not keep that money at home, especially as the industry can be carried on under ideal conditions at Van Nuys, "The Petaluma of Southern California?"

Poultry raising can be made profitable from the start. Nor need one be dependent upon the one industry. This is the Van Nuys way:

Buy from 2½ to 10 acres at North Van Nuys, the poultry center of the great San Fernando Valley, WITH WATER FOR IRRIGATION. Set the land to deciduous fruits, and raise poultry while waiting for the trees to mature.

Come out and see what is being done. Inspect the model poultry ranches. Our land buyers have free of charge the advice of Mr. O. B. Hubbell, the poultry expert, formerly of Petaluma, who is now raising poultry on an extensive scale at North Van Nuys. It will cost you nothing to investigate. You will be more than glad you came.

We Offer at $250 Per Acre
Acreage along the Trunk Line of the Owens River Aqueduct. This land is admirably adapted for growing deciduous fruit. Investigate!

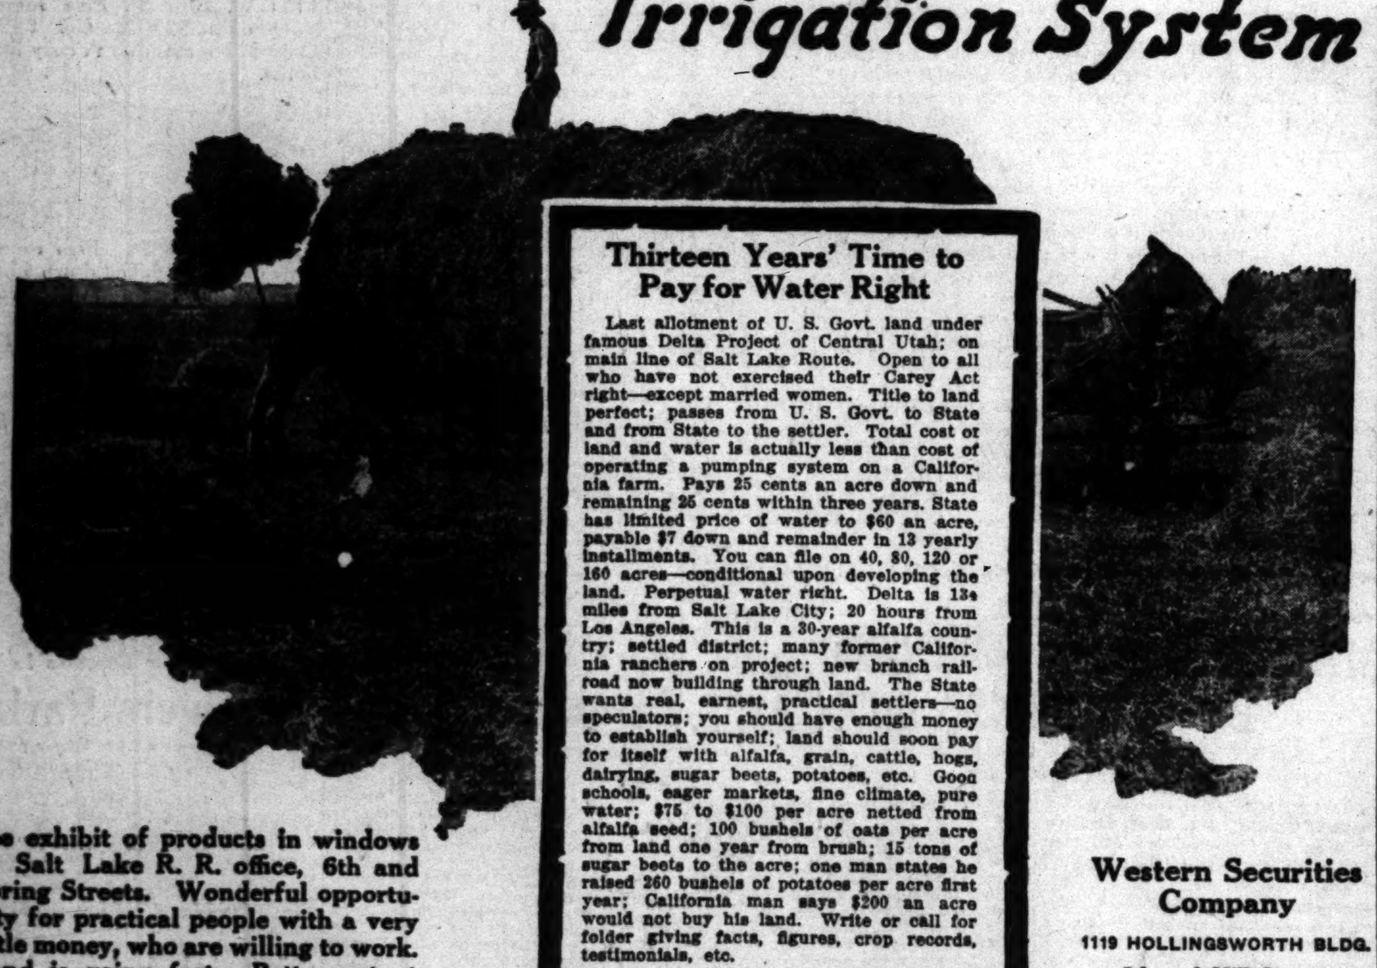
Carey Act Land
50 cents an Acre
Under $1,000,000.00 Irrigation System



Thirteen Years' Time to Pay for Water Right

Last allotment of U. S. Govt. land under famous Delta Project of Central Utah; on main line of Salt Lake Route. Open to all who have not exercised their Carey Act right—except married women. Title to land perfect; passes from U. S. Govt. to State and from State to the settler. Total cost of land and water is actually less than cost of operating a pumping system on a California farm. Pays 25 cents an acre down and remaining 25 cents within three years. State has limited price of water to $60 an acre, payable $7 down and remainder in 13 yearly installments. You can file on 40, 80, 120 or 160 acres—conditional upon developing the land. Perpetual water right. Delta is 134 miles from Salt Lake City; 20 hours from Los Angeles. This is a 30-year alfalfa country; settled district; many former California ranchers on project; new branch railroad now building through land. The State wants real, earnest, practical settlers—no speculators; you should have enough money to establish yourself; land should soon pay for itself with alfalfa, grain, cattle, hogs, dairying, sugar beets, potatoes, etc. Good schools, eager markets, fine climate, pure water; $75 to $100 per acre netted from alfalfa seed; 100 bushels of oats per acre from land one year from brush; 15 tons of sugar beets to the acre; one man states he raised 260 bushels of potatoes per acre first year; California man says $200 an acre would not buy his land. Write or call for folder giving facts, figures, crop records, testimonials, etc.

See exhibit of products in windows of Salt Lake R. R. office, 6th and Spring Streets. Wonderful opportunity for practical people with a very little money, who are willing to work. Land is going fast. Better act at once.

The Oil Industry.

MANY BIG WELLS IN FULLERTON.

Output Is Greatly Increased by New Gushers.

Union Has Fine Spouter in Brea Canyon.

Record of Developments in Kern Fields.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

FULLERTON, Feb. 6.—Fullerton oil field is forging to the front as a gusher section, and the record of big wells during the past few months has been an enviable one. The output of the district has been greatly increased during this period and the latest developments promise an even more rapid growth in production.

Chief among the big producers still remains the Standard Oil Company's Emery well which is now doing about 7500 barrels a day. The company also has several other wells on this tract, which in the aggregate yield over 12,000 barrels daily, besides its Murphy lease output. Preparations are also being made to bring in some of the wells which are now nearly completed.

The most sensational of the recent gushers has been the Union Oil Company's big well on the Stearns lease in Brea Canyon. This producer is doing about 3000 barrels per day. Near by the Brea Canyon Oil Company's No. 11a is all but finished, and will probably equal in capacity the great Union well.

The Amalgamated Oil Company's new well, which has been so beneficial in proving up that company's territory, is still doing about 600 barrels daily. The oil is 25-gravity. About a mile distant, the California-Oklahoma Company's well is making a good record for itself, with a production of nearly 1000 barrels a day, the oil being 23.5 gravity.

Besides these new wells, the Birch Oil Company's famous gusher continues flowing about 1500 barrels daily, while the Columbia Producing Company's well on the Orange lease is making about 1200 barrels.

KERN COUNTY FIELD NOTES.

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 6.—The Sunset Monarch Oil Company's well on section 26, 12-24, is going down rapidly, with a rotary drill, having already reached a depth of over 1750 feet. The twelve and one-half-inch casing will be landed a depth of 2000 feet.

No. 5 well of the Security Oil Company, on section 15, 31-22, will soon be finished.

The St. Helen's Petroleum well No. 5, on section 16, 32-24, is down over 1000 feet, and No. 1b, on the same section, is down 2500 feet. The rig for well No. 6 will soon be up.

The last of many cementing jobs on well No. 14 of the Kern Trading and Oil Company, on section 23, 31-22, is a success, and the well is now perfectly dry. The well has been put on the beam and is doing a good 100 barrels of oil per day.

The General Petroleum Oil Company has abandoned well No. 12, on section 32, 32-24, in the Midway division, and the ten-inch casing is being pulled from a depth of 400 feet. Well No. 7, of the same company, on section 15, 31-22, on the Bankline division, is to be drilled soon.

Well No. 3 of the General Petroleum is nearing the oil sand.

After standing cemented for two weeks, well No. 9, of the American Oil Company, on the Section Two Syndicate division on section 2, 32-23, has been baled down and drilled through and found to be perfectly dry. The six-inch casing will be landed at 3000 feet.

The Comstock Crude Oil Company's well No. 1, one-half mile from the Obispo gusher, on the Maricopa flat, is looking encouraging. At a depth of 2665 feet a fine brown shale was encountered with a good showing of oil.

When drilled through the cement, well No. 5, of the M. J. and M. and M. Oil Company, section 36, 12-24, was found dry.

Well No. 1 of the Wilkes-Head Oil Company has encountered bottom water at a depth of 3200 feet.

The St. Lawrence Oil Company's well No. 1, on section 5, 32-23, has been successfully cemented and drilling has been resumed.

Drilling will soon start on well No. 5 of the Union Oil Company on the Regal lease on section 14, 32-13.

FINE SHOWING IN EXPORTS.

Total Petroleum Shipments to Foreign Parts Valued at Over Two Billions in "Thirteen."

[Oil City Derrick:] According to preliminary figures given out by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, the exports of petroleum and its products in 1913, passed the two-billion mark, the aggregate amount being reported as 2,106,159,259 gallons, with a value of $147,047,187. It has been anticipated for several months that the exports of oil for last year would pass this high point, and that this estimate is now confirmed by the statistics is a matter of pride to the whole trade.

It was not until 1905 that the exports passed the billion-gallon mark. From 1897 until 1905 the amount shipped from this country changed very little. It seemed to be a stagnant peroid for the trade abroad, and also many of the markets were monopolized by Russia.

But in 1905 the amount aggregated 11,165,440,249 gallons, and here only eight years later another billion gallons has been added to the annual figures. This marks a wonderful expansion of the business, one which would not have been possible a few years ago because the industry lacked the facilities for handling that quantity.

Two Colorado Labor Inspectors Said to Have Been Deported From Sopris By Militia.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Feb. 7.—Two inspectors of the State labor department who were investigating reports that contract labor is being employed in the Southern Colorado coal fields, were deported from Sopris by the militia, according to reports reaching the headquarters of E. V. Brake, Deputy State Labor Commissioner.

The inspectors were George R. Howe and Eli M. Gross of Denver.

GOOD THINGS IN STOR FOR THE OIL OPERA

Anticipated Higher Prices for Petroleum W in Reaping of Long-Delayed Harvest of The Prospects for a Bumper Year Have Brighter—Demand for Oil Everywhere Is

BY L. C. BLAKESLEE.

THE California oil operator is about due to get that to which he believes he is entitled. For years he has "stayed with the game," reaping barely more than he has sowed. He has been selling his product at a price far below that which the hazard of his business warranted. The consumer has been getting the "cream" at the price of milk. The over-production bugaboo has literally been worked to a finish, for the finish is in sight.

Never in the history of the business have the prospects for a bumper year been brighter. The new year has hardly opened and production and consumption figures are found to be practically equal. This, notwithstanding the fact that during the past twelve months production was increased by 7,000,000 barrels over the previous year. The marketing companies have extended their markets until approximately 8,000,000 barrels of California crude are absorbed each month.

With the big gushers now in action, eliminated, there would be a big shortage of oil. Oil men are familiar with the habits of gushers. They can not continue flowing indefinitely at the same rate. Unless new ones are drilled in and in considerable numbers there is certain to be a big decline in production within a short time.

No one can foresee when other big wells will be brought in, of course, and they are a possibility, apparently, at any time, but not certain by any means. The trade cannot depend on gushers to keep up production. The consumers of 8,000,000 barrels of oil a month require some other assurance of a permanency of supply than these sensational but rather unreliable wells, no matter what the capacity.

BIG FOREIGN DEMAND.

The marketing concerns have done their part. The foreign demand for California fuel oil has been so great that during the past four months there has been a shortage in tank ships and the marketers have been handicapped in making deliveries. The home demand for refining oil has increased to such an extent that for several months past there has been an actual shortage in this grade of petroleum.

While it is true that California oil is still considered from the standpoint of a fuel proposition, it is estimated that 65 per cent. of the entire production of the State is now subjected to some refining process before being placed on the market. Recent events indicate that it will not be long before the low-grade oil will also be "treated," and that the use of pure crude, whatever the gravity, as a fuel will not long continue.

The recent advance made by the Standard Oil Company in the price of low-grade oil, and that company's evident desire to buy all it can secure of the heavy product, after having refused it at any price, is taken by many oil men as an evidence that the big concern has devised a method successfully to treat the heavy oil.

The gradual and constant advance in the price of Independent Producers' Agency oil and the announcement that hereafter the agency will make no more contracts with consumers at less than 50 cents per barrel at the well, undoubtedly influenced the Standard to offer a higher price. Whatever the cause, 40 cents for low-grade oil to the producer is encouraging.

COMPETITION STIMULATED.

The recent entry of large foreign interests into the California fields has already stimulated competition between the marketing companies and all are strengthening their respective positions. All are evidently making preparations for the anticipated increase of foreign business with the opening of the Panama Canal.

The growth of the refining business and the marketing of by-products of California petroleum is one of the striking features of last year's developments in the oil industry, and there is no doubt but that there will be an invasion of the eastern and European trade centers by our large marketers.

One item in point. The Standard now has three asphalt plants—one at the Point Richmond and another at the El Segundo refineries, and one in Kern River field. The Pacific Coast could hardly absorb the output of one of these plants if in full operation, and the Standard no doubt intends to sell some asphalt elsewhere than on this Coast. With water transportation the California manufacturer can compete successfully with the Trinidad product on the Atlantic seaboard.

The output of California gasoline is increasing at such a rate that it is not improbable that shipments will be made to England and other European points.

THE FOREIGNERS.

The plans of the Royal Dutch-Shell Company and the General Petroleum, Ltd., of London, have not been divulged in detail, but enough is known of these concerns to warrant the statement that they propose to go into the business in no small way. If it should happen that the Shell interests would absorb the Associated Oil Company and if the General Petroleum, Ltd., interests should take over the Union there will be three immense marketing concerns in California, each with an equipment strong enough to take care of its own interests in good shape.

One thing, at least, may be said in connection with the coming of foreign interests—new foreign markets, heretofore untouched, will be opened up to California oil. That is the important feature in the trend of recent events.

REVIVAL DUE.

The situation, therefore, at the present time, in the opinion of the best-informed, points to a revival in field work in the near future. There is a feeling among oil men generally that the present stocks on hand should not be disturbed. The surplus at the close of the year was about 48,000,000 barrels, according to the Standard Oil Company's statistics, and this amount, which at the present rate of consumption, is only six months' a Oil Field ready to fall over upon it, so near and steep are they. Across the waters of Gastineaux Channel the thickly wooded hills and mountains of Douglas Island (where the great Treadwell mines are located) shut out the sunlight from its streets long before the sunset hour. You can stand upon its docks and see for more than ten miles southward down Gastineaux Channel.

One has missed a great deal of the most beautiful American scenery who has not visited Alaska. In the spring, summer and fall, its great rough mountains stripped of their snow except that about the summits, stand out in bold, dark relief against the brightest of sunny skies. It is then that its old and fast diminishing glaciers sparkle in the sunshine, and snap and roar with the breaking of the ice when they are at the water's edge. Far up between the rocky ridges their blue ice may be seen peeping through the patches of snow. One must spend some time and wander around among the rough old hills and canyons to appreciate truly the tremendous area of this country, and see to the best advantage the wonderful and awe-inspiring pictures its colossal piles of rock and stone present; one must climb over the thickly wooded mountains and peep into the mysterious corners among their streams and lakes to know what magnificence is hidden there, and what fantastic forms the glacier age has left behind; and in the delightful warmth of a summer sun one must stand at the base of those mountain-enclosed remnants of the old glacier days of ages ago, before he has seen Alaska in her most bewitching mood.

Sitka, the former capital of Alaska, is a very sleepy old town, but there will be always a great deal to say in its praise. It is situated upon the northwestern sides of Baranog Island, and lies in crescent form on the shore of Sitka Bay—hidden from the storms of the north and east, and protected from those of the west and south by scores of wooded, rocky islands that sturdily guard it from the winds and surf of the mighty Pacific. The sun smiles upon it in spring and summer, and the snows of winter make very few visits there. From almost any point in the town one can look out between the islands and see the ocean's surface rise and fall. But all is quiet in the bay. The island guardians are as faithful as they are picturesque. Chieftain of them all is great, rugged Kruzov Island, standing farthest to the westward, and from its inland shore like a giant watch-tower over the town, rises the crater-shaped dome of Mt. Edgecomb.

The old Russians chose their townsite wisely, with an eye to beauty as well as to comfort. There are but few of the old aristocratic Russians left now, to enjoy this home of their fathers' choosing. Gradually they have drifted away as Americans have increased. The Greek church with its beautiful, costly ornaments and paintings is there, a haven for the faithful who are left; and in the center of the town is the great log building of huge rafters and beams that was the old Russian trading post. Baranoff Castle, the home of Baron Baranoff, is gone (since March 17, 1894;) the trading post of years ago is now a general store; and the Baranoffs, and Chicagoffs, and Cuprianoffs, and Kruzovs and Kostrometinoffs are slowly disappearing. The Stars and Stripes have long floated over the barracks. The bugles and drums and signal guns of another nation have for many a year awakened the mountain echoes, and despite its drowsiness there is quite an American air about the once Russian capital.

OROSI FARMS SALES.

C. H. Antrim, local representative of the Orosi Farms, reports the following sales: Milo Allen, Whittier, 110 acres; Samuel Williams of Los Angeles, forty acres; T. D. Faust of Temple, Tex., ten acres; E. B. Linn of Temple, Tex., thirty acres; Mrs. Williams of Seattle, forty acres; C. B. Johnson of Whittier, eighty acres; C. F. Williams of Seattle, forty acres; A. J. Hiatt of Whittier, seventy acres; J. A. Williams of Seattle, forty acres; H. Mann of Whittier, twenty acres; E. V. Hand of Whittier, seventeen acres; Charles Dean of Los Angeles, ten acres; Manley Cox of Whittier, thirty acres; Miss Ida Kipp of Whittier, ten acres. These sales amount to a total of 547 acres at a reported aggregate of $99,760. All preliminary plans for the new townsite of East Orosi have been completed and contracts have been let and work started on the street work, concrete sidewalks and the planting of shade trees. The new $6000 building which will be used temporarily as a company office is nearing completion and will later be presented as a public building to the town.

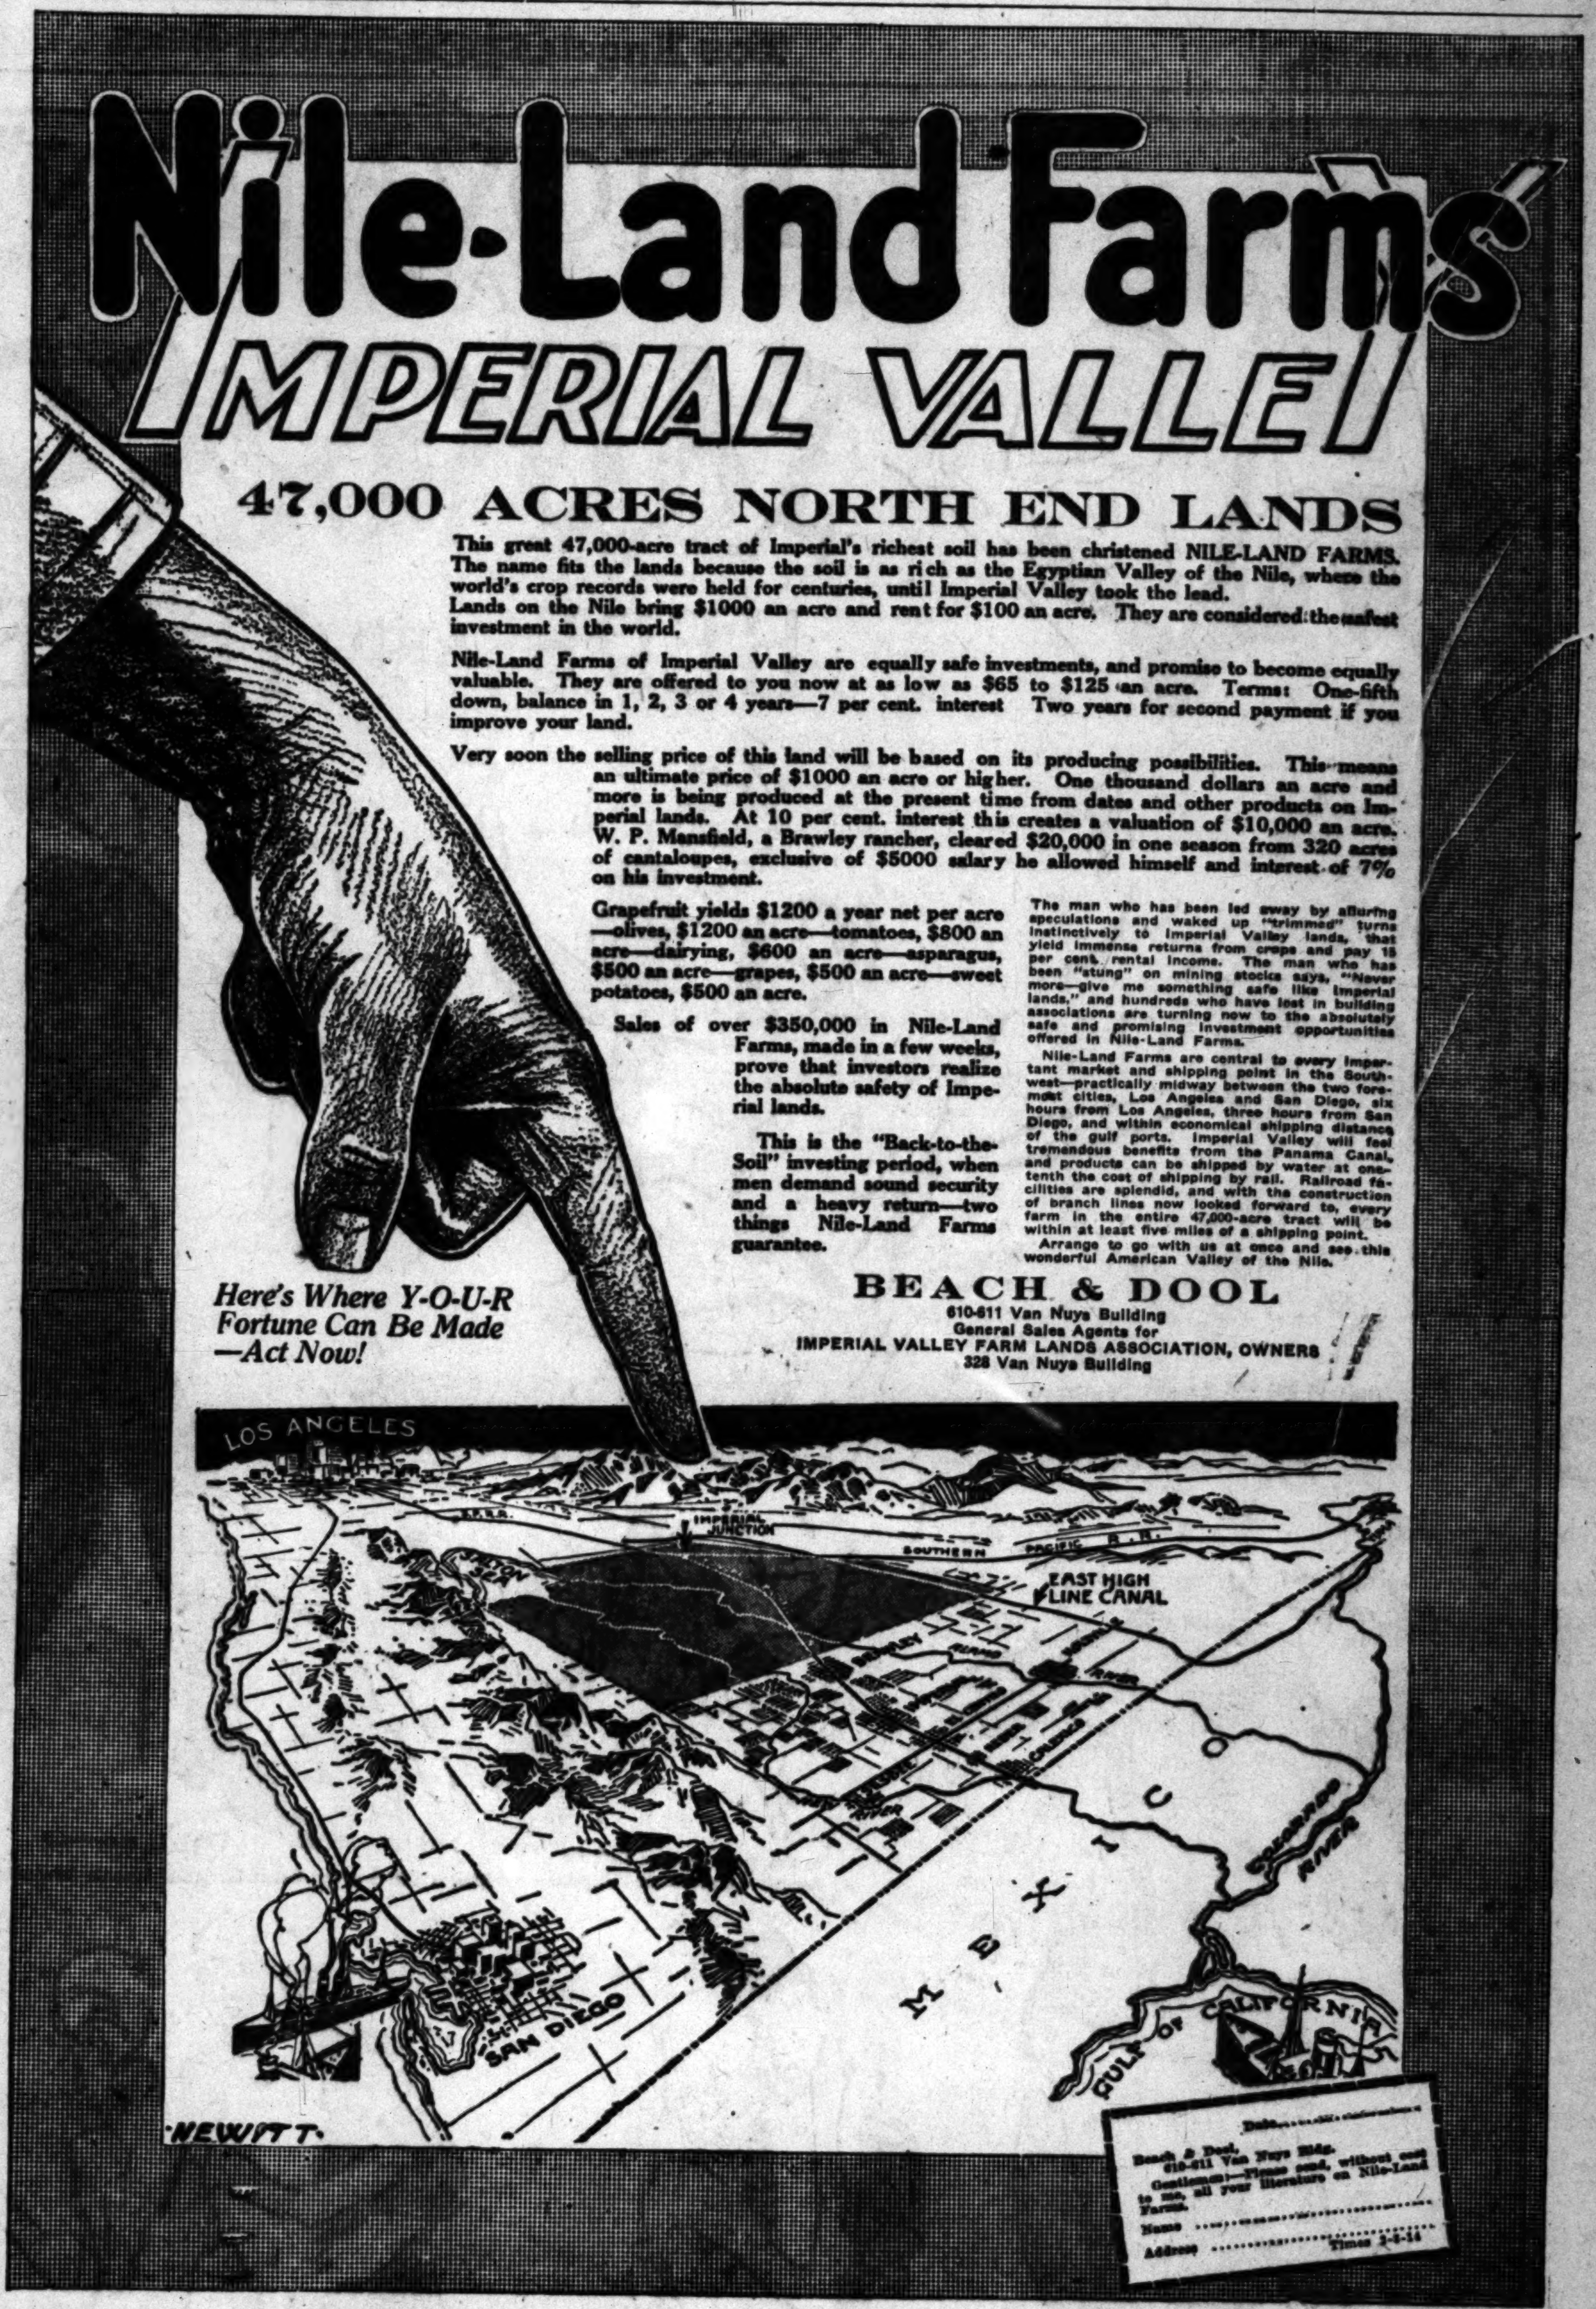
IDENTICAL INTERESTS.

Right Kind of Building Contract Always Provides for Fair Dealing As Between Owner and Contractor.

[Engineering News:] No building contract is a good contract unless it makes the owner's interests and the contractor's interests identical all of the time. The owner's interests demand that he know how much the total cost of the proposed work will be before he starts. The owner's interests demand that the cost of the work shall be as low as is consistent with first-class material and workmanship. The owner's interests demand that he shall know when he can get his building finished.

In order to accomplish these three results for the owner, we have devised the "cost-plus-a-premium" contract, whereby our remuneration or profit is based on the ability we display in meeting these requirements. We receive our stated premium only in case we complete the work for the estimated cost and on schedule time. Therefore, we must make a true estimate of the cost in the beginning; if it's too low, we lose a part or all of our premium; if it's too high we fail to get the job.

In the second place we must finish the work in the time agreed or forfeit a certain part of our premium for each day's delay. Therefore, if we make too optimistic a promise to the owner, or if we remit our endeavors; we fail to receive our full compensation for the work. On the other hand, if by extra effort on our part we complete the work for less than the estimated cost and ahead of schedule time, our remuneration is increased in the same ratio. Our interests and the owner's interests are thus made identical. The less our service makes for him, the less it makes for us. The more the owner receives as a result of our services the more we receive. It is to accomplish these results that we have devised and adopted the "cost-plus-a-premium" contract.



Nile-Land Farms

IMPERIAL VALLEY

47,000 ACRES NORTH END LANDS

This great 47,000-acre tract of Imperial's richest soil has been christened NILE-LAND FARMS. The name fits the lands because the soil is as rich as the Egyptian Valley of the Nile, where the world's crop records were held for centuries, until Imperial Valley took the lead. Lands on the Nile bring $1000 an acre and rent for $100 an acre. They are considered the safest investment in the world.

Nile-Land Farms of Imperial Valley are equally safe investments, and promise to become equally valuable. They are offered to you now at as low as $65 to $125 an acre. Terms: One-fifth down, balance in 1, 2, 3 or 4 years—7 per cent. interest Two years for second payment if you improve your land.

Very soon the selling price of this land will be based on its producing possibilities. This means an ultimate price of $1000 an acre or higher. One thousand dollars an acre and more is being produced at the present time from dates and other products on Imperial lands. At 10 per cent. interest this creates a valuation of $10,000 an acre. W. P. Mansfield, a Brawley rancher, cleared $20,000 in one season from 320 acres of cantaloupes, exclusive of $5000 salary he allowed himself and interest of 7% on his investment.

Grapefruit yields $1200 a year net per acre —olives, $1200 an acre—tomatoes, $800 an acre—dairying, $600 an acre—asparagus, $500 an acre—grapes, $500 an acre—sweet potatoes, $500 an acre.

Sales of over $350,000 in Nile-Land Farms, made in a few weeks, prove that investors realize the absolute safety of Imperial lands.

This is the "Back-to-the-Soil" investing period, when men demand sound security and a heavy return—two things Nile-Land Farms guarantee.

The man who has been led away by alluring speculations and waked up "trimmed" turns instinctively to Imperial Valley lands, that yield immense returns from crops and pay 15 per cent. rental income. The man who has been "stung" on mining stocks says, "Never more—give me something safe like Imperial lands," and hundreds who have lost in building associations are turning now to the absolutely safe and promising investment opportunities offered in Nile-Land Farms.

Nile-Land Farms are central to every important market and shipping point in the Southwest—practically midway between the two foremost cities, Los Angeles and San Diego, six hours from Los Angeles, three hours from San Diego, and within economical shipping distance of the gulf ports. Imperial Valley will feel tremendous benefits from the Panama Canal, and products can be shipped by water at one-tenth the cost of shipping by rail. Railroad facilities are splendid, and with the construction of branch lines now looked forward to, every farm in the entire 47,000-acre tract will be within at least five miles of a shipping point.

Arrange to go with us at once and see this wonderful American Valley of the Nile.

have been of incalculable value to the orchard men of the citrus belt. To take a single instance: Not many years ago the California lemon, in spite of the splendid condition in which it was being shipped, was able to make scant headway in the eastern market on account of its poor keeping qualities. This was found to be due to brown rot or rust, but what the latter was due to, or how to prevent it, was a problem for the chemist and plant pathologist. The task was delegated to the newly-established station at Whittier and it was not long before the trouble was traced to its origin and a remedy prescribed. The latter, a preliminary bath in a dilute solution of copperas, completely obviated the possibility of the later development of brown rot and saved the lemon industry.

THE BIG NEED.

The imperative need of a system of getting nearer to the farmer than was possible by means of the bulletins of the experiment station gave rise to the university extension in agriculture movement, of which Prof. Warren T. Clarke of the California College of Agriculture is superintendent. This institution aims to do for the score or more of important California crops what a similar organization—as I have outlined—did for the corn crop in Iowa. The "Extension" has representatives who may be consulted by the farmers of the vicinity in Riverside, El Centro, Anaheim and a number of other points, and these, and the head of the department at Berkeley, have endeavored to give personal attention to all queries, written or oral, which have been made them. Lecturers and organizers for farmers' institutes have also been furnished, and in the summers, co-operating with the Southern Pacific Railway, a demonstration train has been sent out to visit every station in the State.

This "demonstration train," in carrying exhibits and experts connected with every one of California's numerous agricultural products, has been by far the most comprehensive undertaking of its kind attempted by any of the States. One car carries dairy cows and appliances, and at each station an expert on that subject delivers a short lecture on the platform on the economy of high-class stock and modern equipment. Graphic illustration of every point to be made is furnished, the idea of the demonstration train being to show as well as to tell about the subjects covered. Another car is devoted to animal industry, another to the diseases of animals, another to cereal, forage crops, soils and fertilizers, and in each of them men from the agricultural college are stationed to answer questions as they are put by the visiting farmers. Another car is devoted to horticulture and viticulture, another to the control on plant diseases and insect pests and another to irrigation and poultry. Six cars in all are devoted to agriculture and horticulture, to the animal, the plant and the soil, a seventh to rural sanitation and domestic science, and the last car is a lecture-room, in which short general talks are given on various subjects. The object lesson, the answering of questions, the lecture, the personal interview—all of these methods are used upon the demonstration train, and each has its place in this sane and intelligent effort to improve the producing capacity of the California farms.

The latest effort of this and several other States to carry instruction directly to the farmer on the farm by what is known as "county advisory" work—a very near approach to the ideal method—I will write of in my next paper.

LEASES REPORTED.

H. L. Suydam reports the following leases: Stores at Nos. 232-34 West First street and shop in rear for H. Hubbell and others to Universal Cabinet and Fixture Company; for T. S. Sogno, store at No. 2605 North Main street to N. Molus for gospel meetings; for Joseph Miller, part of store at No. 141 South Broadway to S. Cottage; for S. NORTH WHITTIER HEIGHTS.

Among the recent purchasers of young planted groves at North Whittier Heights, Grover T. Russell, salesmanager for Edwin G. Hart of that property, reports the following: C. H. Hamburg of Whittier, J. P. Quigley, formerly of Wisconsin; Mark Donald McCaslin of Whittier, Walter Dudley Burris of Los Angeles, A. M. Chidester of Whittier, Jennie E. Stokes of Whittier, Lee L. and Emerson Grey of Los Angeles and James A. Smith of Whittier. The properties purchased by these buyers varied in size from five to fifteen acres and the price for the unplanted land ranged from $700 to $800 an acre and for the young planted groves at from $875 to $975 per acre. Plans are now being perfected for the establishment of a townsite on a portion of the North Whittier Heights property that faces the Salt Lake Railway.

SEAL BEACH COURT.

Seal Beach court, a new subdivision bordering on the south of Seal Beach, and bounded on two sides by the ocean and Anaheim Bay, will be placed upon the market at once. The improvements of the tract have already been started, and will include cement walks and curbs, water, electricity and electroliers.

SIGN BUILDING CONTRACT.

The Southern California Home Builders have announced the signing of contracts for the building of homes in the Harbor View addition tract at San Pedro. The deal was negotiated with the Harbor Realty Company of San Pedro, owners of the property. Building operations, it is announced, will be started at once.

HOLLYWOOD HIGH SCHOOL demonstrated that it has a far stronger track squad than had been supposed when yesterday afternoon it ran up fifty-four points to sixty-eight for Occidental College.

Paul Pritchard, the new Tiger distance man, won both the 880 and the mile, winning the first from Fred Thorne of Occidental in 2.08 3-5, without blowing hard, and loafing through the mile in slow time.

Earl, the animated slat from Hollywood, shares with Harry Kirkpatrick the honors for the highest number of points scored, having firsts in the hammer and discus and a tie for first in the pole. His heave of 132ft. 3in. in the hammer was very good.

John Creighton of Occidental sprang something of a surprise in the high jump, when he defeated Gates at 5ft. 8in. Ed Lawyer and Daniels ran star laps in the relay for Occidental.

The results:

The 100-yard dash—Kirkpatrick (Occidental,) Foster (Occidental) and Baker (Occidental) tied for first; time, 10 4-5s.

The 880-yard run—Pritchard (Occidental) first, Thorne (Occidental) second, Forces (Hollywood) and Whitney (Hollywood) tied for third; time, 2.08 4-5.

The 120-yard hurdles—Kirkpatrick (Occidental) first, Forbes (Hollywood) second, Creighton (Occidental) third; time, 16 1-5s.

The 440-yard dash—Wells (Occidental) first, Bats (Occidental) second, Kelly (Hollywood) third; time, 55 2-5s.

Pole vault—Earl, Grieves and Wallace, all of Hollywood, tied for first; height, 10ft. 4in.

Hammer throw—Earl (Hollywood) first, Wieman (Occidental) second, Kinney (Occidental) third; distance, 132ft. 3 in.

The 220-yard dash—Foster (Occidental) first, Bailey (Hollywood) second, Ironmonger (Hollywood) third; time, 23 2-5s.

High jump—Creighton (Occidental) first, Gates (Hollywood) and Smith (Occidental) tied for second; height, 5ft. 8in.

The 220-yard hurdles—Kirkpatrick (Occidental) first, Forbes (Hollywood) second, Daniels (Occidental) third; time, 26 flat.

Broad jump—Goodwin (Hollywood) first, Lawyer (Occidental) second, Forbes (Hollywood) third; distance, 20ft. 8in.

Shot put—Richardson (Hollywood) first, Hoslinger (Hollywood) second, Kinney (Occidental) third; distance, 44ft. 9½in.

Mile run—Pritchard (Occidental) first, Parker (Hollywood) second, Huffman (Hollywood) third; time, 5m. 2 2-5s.

Discus throw—Earl (Hollywood) first, Richardson (Hollywood) second, Kinney (Occidental) third; distance, 108ft. 8in.

Relay, eight men one mile—Won by Occidental (Wells, Daniels, Lawyer, Foster, Smith, Baker, Bats and Chester;) time, 3m. 14 1-5s.

FOUR men have won five of the Santa Monica road races. To Harris Hanshue belongs the honor of having taken the first race in 1909, when he drove the Apperson to victory against a large field. The checkered career of this driver, who started with every promise of being the world's motor champion, has been interesting. "Hap" will be merely a spectator this year. His racing days are over.

Teddy Tetzlaff, winner of the 1910 Santa Monica classic, is one of the men of that quartette of winners who proved conclusively that he cannot only come back, but stay. Teddy rounded out his 1910 victory by the most sensational race of his career, when on May 4, 1912, against one of the greatest fields of starters ever sent into a road race, he won with the 120-horse-power Fiat he will drive this year.

That race, the most sensational ever held in the West and perhaps in this country, will be remembered by every motorist because of the world record established that day. The mark of 78.72 miles an hour for the event has never been touched and still stands. This year it is likely to be lowered in the Grand Prize race, and Tetzlaff is the man who seems to have an excellent chance to shatter his own mark. He is out for an average of eighty miles an hour.

The third man of the quartette, Harvey Herrick, is the 1911 winner. This is the year of National victories and Herrick had much to do with the series of winnings in which the "Blue Baby" figured. The man who is now on the Apperson staff drove a remarkably consistent race against a large field of starters and finished with the honors all his own. Herrick that year rounded out his list of victories by taking the Phoenix race a second time. In this he measures up with Tetzlaff as a consistent winner.

COOPER WINS.

Comes the fourth man, with eight victories to his credit and a Santa Monica trophy that was won in as pretty a battle as we have ever seen on that famous course. Earle Cooper, with the same Stutz he will drive this year, won the 1913 Santa Monica Road Race. He is this year entered in both the Vanderbilt and the Grand Prize and he is one of the contestants who stands an excellent chance to win.

Cooper is one of the dangerous contenders. He will go into the Vanderbilt as the favorite. His Stutz has been tried out and is there with the right amount of speed. The white streak is to have another chance to show its class and from present indication, Earle may be returned a two-times winner of the Santa Monica event, as there are many who expect him to capture the Vanderbilt cup this year.

In spite of the fact that four men have won five Santa Monica road races the entry list this year shows conclusively that whoever wins either the Vanderbilt or the Grand Prize will know he has been in a race. Ralph de Palma with the Mercedes is confident of victory. He would not have made the trip out here had he not confidently expected to capture first honors. He is prepared to make just as sensational a dash as he did last year, when he won.

Harry Grant is another man who is satisfied that the races were made for him. With the Isotta, a 100-mile-an-hour car, Grant is planning to win the two races, and there is no reason why the man who twice won the Vanderbilt cup should not make the third victory a charm. Grant is in fine form for this race and will drive as he never has driven before, because he has the fastest car he has ever handled.

Another starter, J. B. Marquis, is an interesting pilot. He will have the English Sunbeam. The speed of this car is problematical. It will appear on a course in the West for the first time. It is so fast that should the Sunbeam win it is almost certain that a new world record will be established in either the Vanderbilt or the Grand Prize. Marquis is a driver who has figured consistently in every race in which he has been entered.

SPEEDY DE LAGE.

Omar Toft on the De Lage, is a man who must be reckoned with. His driving in the Phoenix race, when he sent the car over the roads at a speed that was dangerous, shows that he has the nerve to win. His car has the speed. It is guaranteed for 112 miles an hour and is one of the fastest machines that will appear in either race.

Mrs. Leotia K. Northam, who enters the De Lage, is making her debut in the Santa Monica events. She expects to win the Vanderbilt cup and will send Toft back to Indianapolis if the car makes the right kind of showing in these two big races. Toft has been given the best kind of a chance to study his car. He was sent to the factory in France and has seen the car as it was finished and has heard from the European machinists just how to handle the machine.

The Vanderbilt is to be started at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, February 21. The race should be over by 3 o'clock. The entry list already is large and promises to be larger. Starter Fred Wagner should be here this week. The Grand Prize race has thirteen cars entered. This event is to be started at 10 o'clock Monday morning, February 23, and should be over by 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

SAXON MOTOR REAL BEAUTY.

Snappy Low-Priced Car Due Here in Thirty Days.

Prospects in Line for Orders and Business Booms.

Four-Cylinder Machine for Startling Sum.

Everybody was hustling every day of last week at the Western Motor Company's headquarters. They report that during the first five days of the week there were 205 orders for the new Saxon car. Deposits were received on all these orders. Applications for agencies were received from all parts of the State and a number of agency deals were closed. It will be the policy of the company to give only one town to an agent.

The Los Angeles sales department will be handled by the Saxon agency and will be located at No. 1019 South Olive street, while the wholesale business will be conducted through the Western Motor Car Company at Tenth and Hope streets. It is expected that the first shipment will be received in about thirty days and after the first shipment arrives they will follow in trainload lots. The factory is kept working night and day to make sufficient cars to supply the demand which is a record-breaker.

The Saxon is a well-made four-cylinder automobile. It is a carefully-built small car with standard tread and standard features and comes fully equipped with lamps, glass front and top. The motor is an L-head type measuring two and five-eighths by four inches. The four cylinders and crank case are in one casting. It has a sliding gear transmission with two forward speeds and a reverse. The clutch is asbestos-lined, dry plate, five-disc type, similar to clutches used on some of the highest-priced automobiles. The Saxon has a left-hand control with levers in the center and with two brakes.

The wire wheels add to the appearance of the car, giving it an up-to-date look. They are twenty-three inches in diameter with twenty-eight-by-three-inch clincher tires. The wheel base measures ninety-six inches. It has the cantilever spring and has a stylish streamline body. The seats are large and comfortable. The fenders are oval, of an entirely new design, without moldings, beads or sharp corners. That the new car is going to be very popular is shown by the fact that an order has already been placed by a local mercantile firm for fifty. They will be used by the salesmen connected with the firm.

Sheriff and Prisoner.

CASE FORTY FIGURES IN CHASE OVER DESERT SANDS.

SHERIFF MOBLEY MEADOWS of Imperial holds all records for a dash over the sands in pursuit of a criminal. With a Case touring car Sheriff Meadows outstripped a fleeing fugitive, overhauled his man and landed him back in the County Jail at Imperial after one of the most sensational chases ever recorded.

It was Zell Henley, local agent for the Case, who learned of the wild ride. Our agent was much surprised to know that Sheriff Meadows had used his new 1914 Case on the sensational run. The drive was over the sands in the direction of Coyote Wells on the route of the Phoenix road race. Meadows drove across country finally in his last dash after the criminal.

Sheriff Meadows knows well now to handle that Case "Forty." He has a steady eye and a careful hand. He was told that a criminal had escaped and had two hours start over the sands. He knew the general direction taken by the man and started with his Case. The self-starter was used to advantage and almost before the spectators knew what was happening the Sheriff of Imperial county was on his way.

Out on the oiled road west of Seeley the Imperial Valley man let the Case out. The car fairly leaped away. It seemed to sense the need for speed and Meadows stepped on the throttle. The motor responded and a speed of a mile a minute was made. Bumping along over the country the Sheriff crossed several irrigation ditches until he finally reached the sands of the desert.

Somewhere out on those sands was the man wanted by the Sheriff. The Case was made for all kinds of roads. The Sheriff turned the hood of the car across the washes and into the wilderness. It mattered not if a mountain barred the way, the Case must climb the grade. The car made good every minute and the man was chased to his retreat.

At Mountain Springs the Sheriff's party overtook the fugitive and the prisoner was loaded into the Case and one hour and thirty minutes after leaving the County Jail at Imperial the Case was driven up in front of the iron-barred windows and the heavy locks of the door swung open to receive the man who so lately had apparently escaped into the wilds where no machine could overtake him.

POPE PIUS LEADS ELECTRIC LIFE.

Ten prominent citizens of Chicago are to shortly visit Rome for the purpose of presenting to Pope Pius a Chicago Electric limousine car, in which he will drive about the Vatican gardens and dispense with the wheel chairs and state carriages formerly used.

The car, chosen by a purchasing committee, is a five-passenger model, built and fitted with utmost care. The Papal coat of arms decorates the two arched doors, embossed thereon in red. The seats are richly upholstered in Bedford cloth, covered with Bedford cord, bound in gold, with the Papal crest embroidered in gold on the backs of seats.

A white fur rug covers the rubber mat and carpet. The windows and doors are decorated with delicate Frenche lace valance.

NEW TIRE LINE HANDLED HERE.

INDIAN SIGN GIVEN TO THIS NEW AUTOMOBILE SHOE.

Mohawk Is the Name that Is to Be Known if Local Agents Have Their Way Here in the West—Branch Is Established by Jackson-Eno Company, Who Prepare for Business.

A tire announcement of unusual importance was the news last week that the Jackson-Eno Rubber Company had taken the agency for the Mohawk tires.

This deal was the culmination of a six months' investigation by George Eno and Walter Jackson. Having one of the most complete sales organizations in Southern California they are much sought after by eastern tire manufacturers. Many lines were considered, but after everything had been considered, the Mohawk was selected.

R. M. Pillmore of Akron, O., president of the Mohawk Company, is in Los Angeles and closed the deal last week. A shipment of tires was immediately rushed to the Coast by express and two carloads are now on the way.

In speaking of the addition of this new line, George Eno stated, that while he recognized that the Mohawk was a new tire, everything considered, he believes it to be far the wisest choice.

"I did not look upon this matter from a standpoint of how much a tire had been advertised, but considered it purely from the standpoint of a rubber man seeking the high-quality tire," said Eno. "Mr. Jackson and myself would not consider a line until we were convinced that the men at the head of the company were striving to build a high-grade article and the men at the head of the factory knew how to build such a tire."

S. S. Miller is the factory manager for the Mohawk Company. He has spent sixteen years in the manufacture of tires and is recognized in the industry as being at the very top of his profession. He came from the Mohawk Company to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. He laid out that factory in Akron and remained in charge of the manufacturing end up to a few months ago. Under him and in direct charge of the tire and tube makers is a man who has worked continuously for seventeen years, with one of the largest tire plants in the world.

The Mohawk plant has been constructed for the manufacture of the automobile tire. There is no better equipped factory in the country and only the best Para and Ceylon plantation rubber and Sea Island cotton will be used.

The first shipment of tires received by the Jackson-Eno company attracted unusual attention, as even the men with little knowledge of the rubber industry, can at once recognize the quality of these goods. In addition to all sizes in the smooth tread this firm makes an unusual effective non-skid type.

LOCAL MERCER CARS.

Louis Bradbury and P. E. Newlove received new Mercer cars from the local Simplex-Mercer agency, the former taking a white roadster, the latter a five-passenger tourist. Harry von Dorf of New York and H. G. Alexander of Pittsburgh brought in their Simplex cars for the winter.

Ed Geers, the veteran light harness reinsman, was 63 years of age on Sunday, January 25.

ON THEIR WAY TO SEE CALIFORNIA.

Two parties of motorists coming with the idea of making their homes in the Southland, will arrive within a few weeks from Pennsylvania, according to a letter received yesterday at the Greer-Robbins Company from Advertising Manager Mooney of the Hupp Motor Car Company of Detroit. The tourists are using 1914 Hups on their cross-country run, and have advised Mr. Mooney that they will start in a short time. Frank Madison, a banker of McKeesport, Pa., is leading the expedition, and he will be accompanied by seven other residents of the Keystone State.

The Pennsylvanians hesitated a long time about attempting the long tour, but their courage was materially strengthened through reading of the run just made by Charles Stulik and wife, who drove to Los Angeles from New York in a little 1909 Hupmobile, which made the trip without a single cent being expended for repairs. This showed them that the transcontinental jaunt is nowhere near as hard as they thought.

"The account of the Stuliks' trip has convinced us that we have nothing to fear," says Madison's letter to the Hupp factory man, which was forwarded here. "His old car is certainly not as well equipped to stand the hardships of the trail as our late model Hupmobiles, and I am sure we can come through without unfavorable incidents. We will start in the early spring and expect to reach California in time to enjoy the best part of the year there."

GASOLINE ROW GOSSIP.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

W. D. HOWARD will retire from the automobile business. He will engage in a real estate venture. The Winton factory will establish a local branch here and H. L. Owesney, Pacific Coast representative for the Winton, will make his temporary headquarters in this city until a manager is appointed for the local branch.

Max Oleson, factory representative for the Velie Motor Company, is here. He expects to remain for another month and may place the Velie agency before his return. Oleson says he expects to make his permanent headquarters in Los Angeles, as he is to be Pacific Coast representative for the Velie.

Zel Henley has just received his new Case light car. This is the low-priced machine, which was offered by the factory a year ago and which has proved to be all that the J.I.C. company said it would be. The Case is here and can be seen at the agency on South Olive street this week.

Lynn C. Buxton is in the midst of an interesting season with the American. The handsome underslung car is selling remarkably well and Agent Buxton says he has his hands full with the American and the Empire. He is more than pleased with the list of sales recorded.

The Vanderbilt cup race is to be a real event. The entry list shows that it will be a fight from start to finish. The advance seat sale, opened by L. T. Shettler, is proving that the public wishes to see the race and the estimate of 100,000 spectators is not too large.

Harry Grant is the right kind of a fellow. He is confident of winning both races. That is the way I like to see a driver. Why enter a race unless you expect to win? Watch Grant in both those races.

Our old-time rivals, Ralph de Palma and Barney Oldfield, are strictly on the job again. They love each other like two cats at a real prize fight. Ralph will do everything in his power to win and the race is to be the survival of the fittest. There is no love lost between these two great pilots and Barney says he will get Ralph's goat this year. Well, Ralph has something to say about that.

Sidelights on the road race are interesting. The entries are coming in fast enough. You need not worry about the race. Get in and help and if you do it will be some satisfaction to know you have had a part in making the two events the biggest ever.

L. T. Shettler is sawing wood and saying little. You must admit there is not another automobile dealer who would spare the time Shettler is giving to these two races. The Apperson man seems to be right in his element and has proved that he can make things hum when he gets into the harness. The races are to be the biggest ever pulled off on the Coast and to Shettler belongs the honors of having made them the right kind of events.

Charles Howard, Buick distributor for California, is here, and is in the midst of one of his best seasons. He will remain in Los Angeles just as long as possible, though his headquarters are really in San Francisco. He says he likes this city, especially when a fight is to be pulled off.

Speaking about fights, Will Wyatt is now on his thirty-sixth successful series of prize-fight winners. He chose right in the Williams-Campi battle and has already selected Clabby in the coming strife. It is remarkable, the foresight of this young man, who simply selects the right man and says nothing.

Charles H. Thompson is doing a big business with the Jackson. He is preparing to go fishing on May 1, but in the meantime he says he expects to sell fifty Jackson cars. He has much more room and is prepared to launch the right kind of a campaign.

How about those Cyclecars? They seem to be right and are attracting all kinds of attention. The low-priced bee is buzzing in our midst and now that we can get a car for around $500 it is wonderful to see how many are planning to drive a machine this year.

The Saxon car will be here in thirty days. This is one of the lowest-priced four-cylinder motors we have on the market. It i sin the class that will appear to be a contender even with the Ford, and that would be going some.

NEW GAS MIXTURE NOW ON MARKET.

A few days ago, in common with the majority of motorists, everybody believed that water in a carburetor would be one of the most efficient means of putting it out of business. "Hors de combat," as the French have it.

Such an assumption is, however, wrong; for within the past week, a device has been received for local consumption, which uses water in the regular carbureting system, to advantage.

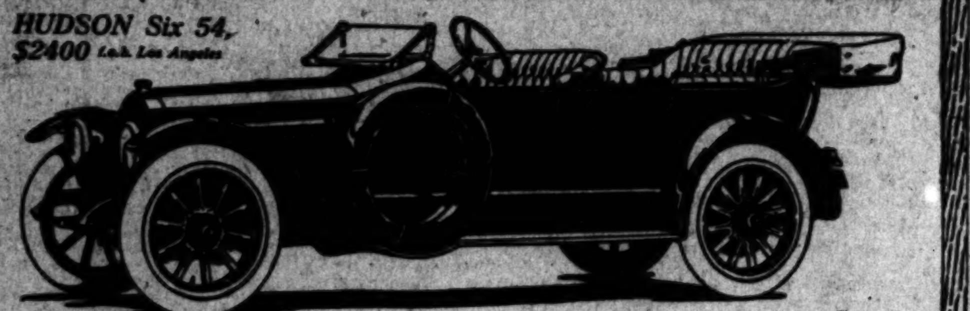
With few exceptions, every experienced auto driver has noticed that during certain damp or foggy weather, his motor has been powerful and "gingery." This difference is to be noticed more when atmospheric conditions are such that moisture collects on windshields and lamp glasses. This apparent phenomenon was for some time little understood by average drivers; today, it is a well-known fact that these snappy results are caused by the moisture-laden air being sucked into the carburetor.

Water is composed of hydrogen and oxygen gas, known chemically as H2O. Both of these elements are explosive when subjected to proper conditions. Air, in volume, is approximately one-fifth oxygen and four-fifths nitrogen gas. Nitrogen acts in the atmosphere chiefly as a diluent to moderate the activity of oxygen. Nitrogen is an inert gas, adding no power or heat units to explosive mixtures in internal combustion motors.

The Auxiliary Carburetor Company of Sierra Madre, Cal., who manufacture the device, known as the Hawxhurst Hydro-Oxygen Auxiliary Carburetor, advocate the use of water in certain quantities.

In addition to more power, the manufacturers claim that the use of this device will also remove all carbon deposits, cut fuel expense, and increase motor flexibility. The Halliwell Company have taken over the sales representation of this device.

HUDSON Six 54, $2400 f.o.b. Los Angeles



Rides Like Constant Coasting

A New-Type Six

Less Price—Less Weight—Less Fuel Cost Than Fours

This new car—the HUDSON Six-40—brings out many innovations.

The engine is a type first developed in Europe—a small-bore, long-stroke motor. And Europe, which deemed the Six too wasteful, now acclaims this Six as the coming type of car.

It has made possible for the first time an economical Six—far more economical than Fours.

This new HUDSON Six-40 weighs 2980 pounds. That's 400 pounds less than last year's HUDSON "37." It consumes one fourth less fuel. Yet the HUDSON "37" was a four cylinder car, shorter, less roomy, less powerful.

Compared with other Fours in this class the difference is greater. Some same-class Fours weigh 40 per cent more and consume one-third more fuel.

Price $1900

And this HUDSON Six-40—a quality Six—far undersells any Four in its class. So a man who now buys this-class car pays more for a Four and more for its upkeep than this HUDSON Six-40 costs.

This means, beyond doubt, the doom of Fours above $1500.

For several years no Four has been salable at a price which would buy a good Six. Eighteen high-class makers now build Sixes exclusively, and 54 of them build Sixes for best.

Now comes a modest-price, high-class Six—a light-weight Six—an economical Six. And the price is less than many thousands of men have every year paid for Fours.

The Six is smooth-running. It has overlapping strokes. It is flexible, economical of tires. Riding in a HUDSON Six is much like constant coasting.

Men who find this out will not buy Fours at anywhere near this price.

A New Body Type—New Features

The design and equipment are almost the same as the new HUDSON Six-54. And that is considered the handsomest car of the year—a really distinguished car.

An ideal streamline body of the coming type. Hand-buffed leather upholstering. It has the convenient new "One-Man" top with quick-adjusting curtains attached.

Two disappearing tonneau seats. Gasoline tank in the dash. Extra tires ahead of the front door. Concealed hinges, concealed speedometer gear. Dimming searchlights, the Delco patent system of electric starter and lights.

Six months ago there was no car at any price which offered so many attractions.

This new Six-40 is today the most interesting car on the market. The demand for it is breaking all HUDSON records. You will, when you see it, want an early delivery. We urge that you come and see it now.

BRIDGE OVER COLORADO HOPE OF HUPMOBILE MAN.

"YOU can't build that bridge over the river at Yuma any too soon to suit me," says Walter Farnum, a prominent rancher of the Salt River Valley, near Phoenix, who reached Los Angeles yesterday after a strenuous drive in his new Hupmobile touring car. Farnum has motored from his home to Los Angeles a score of times, but declares his last trip the hardest he has ever undertaken.

"The California approach to the Colorado River is almost insurmountable," declared Farnum yesterday. "My car develops plenty of power, but even with chains it was all I could do to get to the top, so slippery is the mud. More than half the machines that tried it slid back onto the ferry boat, and the day I came through a team was kept on the job all day offering first aid to the motorists.

"The wash near Black Butte is another ticklish spot on the trip between here and Phoenix. When I arrived there I found three machines ahead of me stuck, and not until we all piled in and rolled a couple of big boulders out of the way were we able to proceed. The rest of the road is none too good, but my little Hupmobile went through it all like a thoroughbred, and I probably had less difficulty than most of the other automobile drivers who managed to struggle through after the big storms."

MOTZ CUSHIONS EQUIP ELECTRICS.

Seventy per cent. of all electric vehicles manufactured in 1913 are said to have been equipped with Motz cushion tires, proving their efficiency and durability.

Dual treads, undercut sides and slantwise bridges distinguish the Motz tires, which have a tractive area 300 per cent. greater than pneumatic tires, and 700 per cent. more than solid tires.

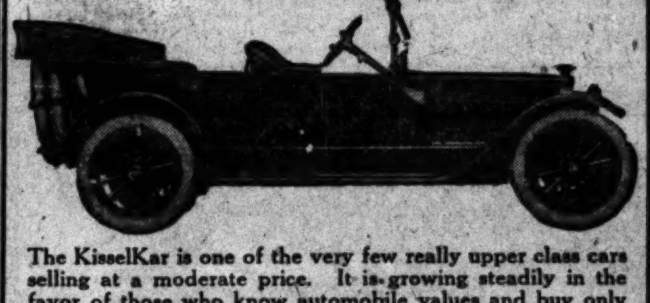
KisselKar

A Dominating Automobile Value



The KisselKar is one of the very few really upper class cars selling at a moderate price. It is growing steadily in the favor of those who know automobile values and buy only after careful comparison. In design—construction—finish—it is refined to the last detail.

The low hung body, running board free from boxes or brackets, 21-inch doors, new rounding top fenders—every part of highest quality of tested materials according to its special needs and every part and detail perfect to the utmost accuracy, make the KisselKar a car of strikingly handsome design—the most dominating value in America today.

The KisselKar Catalog describes and illustrates the three models: 60 "Six" at $3300; 48 "Six" $2500; 40 "Four" $2000, f. o. b. Los Angeles. Eleven types of bodies. All fully equipped, electric lighted and started, left-hand drive, center control. If you are interested, don't fail to write for this catalog.

KISSELKAR SERVICE CONTRACT

The KisselKar is sold under a written guarantee of service to owners—a tangible, definite and specific contract that clearly stipulates the scope of KisselKar Service. The unusual facilities at our Service Stations are always at your disposal.

STEEL PROCESS HEAT TREATED.

STRENGTH OF MATERIAL AMAZES OUR PEERLESS DEALER.

Interesting Study of Alloys Which Are So Used that Tensile Strength Is Greatly Increased—Laboratories, with Chemists Who Are Efficient, Give Real Tests.

On his recent trip to the Peerless factory at Cleveland, O., Clarence Smith, local distributer of the Peerless line, spent considerable time in the factory laboratories studying the heat treatment processes used in the steel alloys for Peerless construction

Steel is the most common metal, yet few people outside of the engineering profession know much about it. Even the engineers have dismissed the subject too lightly in their traditional classifications of structural steel, machinery steel and tool steel. These classifications are based on composition, but there is something far more vital than composition in the development of steel to its highest possibilities.

Moved by a desire to learn as much as possible about the materials used in the Peerless product, in order that he might receive knowledge not usually available to the layman, was the reason which prompted Clarence Smith to pursue these investigations. When questioned about his experiences at the factory, Smith related the following interesting facts.

A REVOLUTION.

"Within the past decade," said Smith, "there has been a silent, almost a secret, revolution in the processes of steel development. It did not begin in the steel mills, as might have been expected. It originated where most basic discoveries are made—in the laboratory of the scientist. And the results of this research work, for lack of a better name, has been dubbed 'heat treatment.'

"For hundreds of years, steel was merely steel, with limited physical properties. Yet for ordinary purposes, it offered all that was needed, and was the symbol of strength and durability. But human requirements were growing, and steel was stationary. The problem of the scientist was to take the strongest thing he knew and make it still stronger. Tests showed that small percentages of other elements, such as chromium, nickel, tungsten, molydenum, vanadium or carbon, added to good steel in the molten metal state increased its strength, or hardness, or toughness, or altered some other physical property in a marked degree. These discoveries introduced a new classification, that of alloy steels, to the engineer.

"That was the beginning. The new alloy steels were complex. Some of them were too hard to be worked; others were strong at the expense of ductility; and in all of them there was the need of some means of balancing their new physical qualities so that they could be employed to best advantage.

STEEL IMPORTANT.

"Steel is the foundation of a motor car. The safety, strength and durability of a motor car depend entirely upon the qualities of steels the manufacturer employs. He cannot know too much, for steel is an immensely complicated subject and in the choice of it there is the widest possible latitude for making errors.

"The Peerless research laboratories were established many years ago to carry out original work on steel and its heat treatment. They are the only true research laboratories operated in this country in connection with a motor car factory. They are devoted exclusively to the study of steel; and in scope and accomplishment under this special subject they excel the laboratories of any steel mill or university. They not only contribute the result of their work to the factory for the improvement of the present product; they look forward continuously for better steel, through better specifications and better modes of heat treatment."

WORK RUSHED ON NEW RUBBER HOME.

Work on the new building for the W. D. Newerf Rubber Company at Pico and Hope streets is progressing rapidly. The first story was completed last week and the remainder will be rushed to completion.

Rough surfaced brick is being used and the structure will be very unique. One of the features of this new Miller tire home will be the special service department. This will occupy the rear of the building on the Pico side and there will be an entrance from Pico street which will enable owners to run their cars into the building for service.

The Newerf company received a shipment of five carloads of Invader oil last week. This branch of the business, which is in charge of R. Van Zandt, is rapidly growing and the field is broadening. The Invader company recently introduced what is known as the "bullet." This is a bullet-shaped can containing only a quart of lubricating oil and is for emergency use. Five thousand of these small cans were contained in the shipment.

Walter Sahland returned from a trip through the Southern territory last week and states that there is a general improvement in business conditions.

Figures Swelled.

AUTOCAR PRODUCTION IS MUCH EXAGGERATED.

AUTOMOBILE shows are of value to both seller and purchaser, says A. S. Robinson, agent for the KisselKar, who maintains that the show influences more careful decision by the buyer, and is therefore of no detriment to agents of good cars. "The more he knows of other cars, the more he must be convinced of the worth of mine," is his theory.

Exaggerated claims of production are deprecated by KisselKar makers, who show that many new registrations are placed on old cars, which have changed owners and are frequently reregistered in other States.

A good car is equal to 100,000 miles of travel, if properly cared for, and that distance calls for many years of service at the mileage of the average owner, not exceeding 7000 to 8000 per year.

Ninety per cent. of the KisselKar output of recent years can be traced to present owners by the dealers, indicating a less consumption of new cars than many manufacturers claim.

THOUSAND-DOLLAR CARS ARE POPULAR.

Big Four Automobile Company representatives note the tendency of buyers toward medium-priced cars, with marked preferences shown by wealthy owners for handy runabout types.

Regal "T" models at $1125 were of marked popularity at the Chicago show, where they were chosen for touring purposes. Rushmore electric starting and lighting systems, left-side drive, center control, and headlight-dimming attachment are among the improvements now included in the car of easy price.

HEAD OF ROWE COMPANY ARRIVES.

Among visiting manufacturers here this week is the senior member of the Rowe Manufacturing Company, which has doubled its producing capacity, and now sends a responsible head to study the needs of Southern California.

Rowe trucks, ranging from 1500 pounds capacity to five tons, are to be supplied this territory, the company considering a large business in commercial vehicles certain to accrue in Southern California.

CARTERCAR SOLD KNOWING NOVICE.

STUDY OF ADVERTISING QUALIFIED A BUYER.

Public Enabled to Attain Knowledge of Automobiles Previous to Purchasing, Through Illuminating Literature, Eliminating Risky Experiments—Cars Sell Themselves.

C. I. Dorn, manager of the local Cartercar branch of the California Moline Plow Company, relates an instance of a car selling itself through the accurate knowledge of all comparative features and accessories of automobiles held by the purchaser, although he had never owned a car.

Weight on tires, gearless transmission, oil drives, axles, speedometer, starter, and all component parts familiar diet to this novice, who selected his car on its hill-climbing capacity.

Intimate knowledge of his subjects had been derived from a study of advertised and recorded features of all makes of motor vehicles, which is now a common practice of intending buyers.

TIRES GOING UP.

Tire costs for commercial vehicle users are to take an upward turn as the result of the action of a number of the prominent tire companies in reducing their mileage adjustment basis from 10,000 miles down to 7000 miles. It has been an open secret for some time that several of the companies most conspicuous in the commercial tire field have been losing money on this department of their business because of too liberal adjustment. Conditions latterly became so acute that a conference of representatives of the principal companies was called to discuss the situation. As a result, a limitation to 7000 miles for gasoline commercial vehicle tires was "suggested" to the various companies, most of which have now yielded to the "suggestion." The 7000-mile guarantee is for one year. No change has been made in the guarantee for electric vehicle tires, this being 8000 miles, to be used in eighteen months. Gasoline vehicle tires originally sold on the 10,000-mile basis will be adjusted on that basis, but new tires now being sold are, in most cases, carefully restricted to a 7000-mile adjustment at the time of the sale.

The congress of the National Trotting Association will be held in New York on February 11.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY FOR GAS.

A gas saver automatically regulated so as to provide the proper amount of air at all times, and to shut off the air when the throttle is shut off, seems to be a simple idea, but it was not until very recently that such an instrument was perfected.

As it operates continually it is known as the Perpetual Gas Saver. Welborn and Groocox, who have the agency, have been flooded with applications for agencies throughout Southern California and Arizona. It was the original intention of this firm to market the entire output from the Los Angeles house, but the reception given this improved gas saver has been so pronounced that it has been decided to establish agencies and double the output.

Apparently Los Angeles has come to the front with another high-grade automobile accessory, which bids fair to sweep the country. Southern California has been the most productive field in the country of really worthy attachments.

"The advantages we claim for the Perpetual over others," said Welborn, "is that it does not require the constant attention of the driver. It operates itself automatically. This results not only in a perfect mixture at all times, but in a saving of gasoline and an increase in power. It still retains a hand lever so the driver can operate it from the steering post if desired."

REMOVING SCREWS.

It occasionally happens that half the head of a wood screw will fly off when one is trying to remove the screw. Unless the screw is very badly rusted in place, it may be removed by pressing a piece of hard wood or metal against the side of the screw-driver blade, to take the place of the portion broken away. The screw-driver should be turned, while it is held in contact with the shoulder of the screw, by means of the piece of wood or metal. If this does not avail and the head projects sufficiently, the remaining half of the head may be filed flat parallel with the slot, and then gripped with a pair of pliers or a wrench.

Massachusetts Legislature has under consideration eight separate bills for the regulation of boxing.

TAXICAB REGULATIONS.

Visions of the millions of people who are expected to flock to the Panama Exposition next year is causing the Board of Aldermen of San Francisco, Cal., to look closer to all matters pertaining to transportation and fleecing of strangers by unscrupulous hackmen and taxicab chauffeurs. Westerners, with their constitutional disregard for pennies and nickels, may stand for the taxicab tariff in force at the Golden Gate, but the average visitor from the East or from foreign shores is likely to raise an everlasting howl over the size of the fare. The ordinance that will be recommended provides that four persons or less be carried from any railroad depot or steamship dock to any point in the new district for $1—or, in other words, for 25 cents each. The rate under the old ordinance is 75 cents for two persons or less, and the district prescribed is a great deal smaller. Nor does it take in either the Oceanic dock, where the Hawaiian steamers land, or the Pacific Mail dock, both of which will come in under the new law. The new district also includes thirty more hotels than the older, and practically comprises the entire central part of the city.

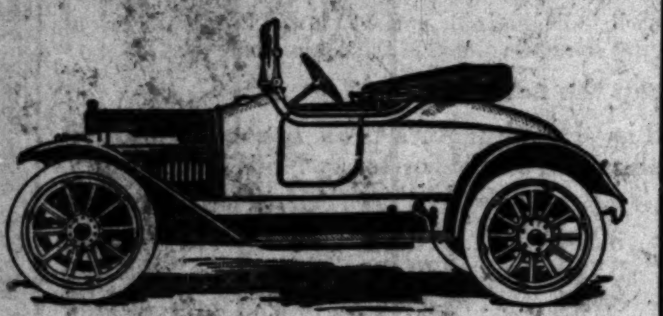
Cartercar This Big Classy Roadster
Only $1600—at factory



--and its "Gearless!"

Just stop a minute and consider what it will mean to you to own a car without gears. Think what it will mean to own a car which is not only trouble-proof, but at the same time does not jerk or jar, giving you almost double the usual tire mileage and decreasing your upkeep expense.

And a Cartercar is far more efficient, too. It will climb any grade where the rear wheels can obtain traction. It has unlimited speeds—controlled with one lever—which makes driving delightfully easy. Come in and see for yourself.

Would Meet Rivers.

ton and he immediately put up $500 and offered to meet Gage in any kind of a contest in private.

The story goes that Easton had Picato on hand and ready to meet Gage. His manager also had the money to put up, and a bunch of fans waited for several hours for Gage, but he never turned up. He gave as an excuse later that he wanted more time to train. But what Easton cannot understand is the fact that O'Conner offered to allow Gage to meet Joe Rivers for nothing, just to get him the chance, and then came back after all his talk and refused to meet Babe for a $500 side bet in private.

These boys have been hamming each other for a long time, so why not get them together and let them settle matters?

It would surely make Tom McCarey sore if they agreed to box ten rounds at the Vernon arena for nothing, simply to settle the difference between them, but Tom needs the money, so why should we worry?

Sailor Petroskey did not work out yesterday afternoon, as he boxed for the newsboys in the morning.

Today will be his hardest work-out at the Western A.C. He is in good condition and will taper off from now on in his work.

He is feeling fine and says he will have no excuse to offer if he loses the coming contest.

Out at Jack Doyle's today there will be something doing. Jimmie Clabby, Leach Cross and Battling Chico will work out. Each will box several rounds and a big day is looked for.

Now that Jack Brittan and Leach Cross are not to box on Lincoln's birthday, there is a possibility of Joe Azevedo and Cross coming together on that date.

Britton is asking too much money and the match will probably not be made.

Danny Lyons is rounding into great condition for his ten-round bout with Battling Chico. This bout is to be the semi-windup to the Clabby-Petroskey contest. Danny is in great form and his manager is well satisfied with his condition.

Bill Huddy, manager of the Columbia A.C., will leave for the North next Tuesday with his wife. Mrs. Huddy has been indisposed for several weeks and the trip North will do her good. Bill has left the management of his club with A. Galloway and Andy Rivers, brother of Joe. Andy will train and get into condition some of Huddy's amateurs who intend to enter the coming boxing tournament of the L.A.A.C. that takes place next month.

A FAMOUS OLD PITCHER.

CHARLES B. BALDWIN, for his quiet ways known as "Lady" Baldwin, nearly thirty years ago stood in the limelight for a brief period as an expert left-hand pitcher. His fame is to a great extent supported by his odd and feminine title, as he was actually successful as a pitcher in only one year, 1886. He was born in Allegany county, New York, April 10, 1859. When he was 18 years old his people moved to Hastings, Mich., where he learned the rudiments of the game. His first work in the box was for a team of his native city, when he proved a puzzle to all his opponents, including some nifty teams, in the days of independent ball in the West.

In 1884, a troublous year on account of the opposition of the Union Association to organized baseball, Baldwin was engaged by the Milwaukee club of the Northwestern League. This league, which commenced with twelve clubs, began to crumble early in the season, was soon reduced to a fragment of four clubs, and early in September collapsed altogether. Milwaukee, however, was one of the last to disband, and then for a short period took up the burden of a disbanded team in the Union Association.

In 1885, his work having attracted the attention of National League teams, Baldwin was secured by the Detroit club. There such catchers as Charley Bennett and Jim McGuire put the finishing touches to his baseball education, so that in 1886 he shared with Charley Getzein the pitching honors.

THE PRETZEL BATTERY.

Getzein, by the way, had joined the Detroits in 1884, coming from the Grand Rapids club in August of that year, and he and George Weidman were the chief pitchers of the Detroit team in 1885. In 1886 Charley Ganzel succeeded Jim McGuire as second catcher of the team, and then the Pretzel battery—Getzein and Ganzel—began to make a lasting reputation.

That year, 1886, was the best for the "Lady," who did the bulk of the work in the box, winning forty-two out of fifty-five games. In that year also Peter Conway joined the Detroits, and the three pitchers—Baldwin, Getzein and Conway—remained with the team until it left the National League after the season of 1888.

In 1885 the big four were secured by Detroit, the team finishing in second place. In 1887 it won the championship.

Baldwin's start in 1887 was not a happy one. The great Detroit team from the very beginning of the year was set on winning the pennant and nothing less. It went south for spring training early in the year, and by the time the season opened, April 28, had won thirty or more exhibition games. Sam Thompson, the right fielder, not only took part in all the exhibition games, but also in every championship contest thereafter, playing in 184 games, the standing record of the number played by any man in the National League.

The Detroits opened the championship season at Indianapolis and won the entire series of three games by scores of 4 to 3, 10 to 8 and 14 to 12. Then they went to Pittsburgh. In the first game there Baldwin was selected to pitch against Jimmy Galvin. The "Lady" lost the game, 8 to 3, and was immediately shipped home, for he apparently needed rest. It may be stated that after this first meeting with the Detroits the Pittsburghs won only three games from them during the balance of the season, and lost thirteen.

NEW RULES HURT LADY.

In that year, 1887, Baldwin was used in only twenty-five games, most of the work in the box developing upon Getzein. It was in the first year in which a pitcher was compelled to keep one foot on the rear line of the box, and take only one step in delivering the ball. Hitherto the pitcher was permitted to jump, twist and step as much as he liked before, during and after delivering the ball. The new rule probably, in addition to another new one requiring four strikes to retire a batsman, crippled Baldwin, as it did many another star pitcher, including Ed Morris, the crack left-hander of the Pittsburgh team, who, the day after Baldwin's defeat, was beaten, 14 to 5, by the Detroits.

In 1888 Baldwin pitched in only six games. The last game he pitched for Detroit was at Chicago, July 28, 1888, and it resulted in one of the biggest scores in National League history, Chicago winning, 21 to 17, a total of thirty-eight runs. In that game the Lady pitched eight innings and Larry Twitchell, the left fielder, pitched the ninth. For Chicago Mark Baldwin pitched two innings and was relieved by Jimmy Ryan, the center fielder. In the meantime both Baldwins took to the outfield, because in those days no substitute was allowed unless a regular player was disabled.

In 1889 Baldwin dropped out of sight, but in 1890 he was for a short while with the Brooklyn National League team. He was released early in the season and joined Connie Mack's Buffalo team of the Players' League, where his stay was also brief. That was the last heard of Lady Baldwin.

One of the best games Baldwin pitched was on June 5, 1886, when he defeated the Philadelphia team at Philadelphia in fourteen innings by a score of 3 to 0. Dan Casey was the Philadelphia pitcher.

GREAT BATTING RECORD.

Later in the season, September 10, 1886, he saw the team in a game at Chicago beaten by the old White Stockings, 14 to 8. The pitchers were Pete Conway for Detroit and Jim McCormick for Chicago. In that game Dan Brouthers, Detroit's first baseman, got five hits, including a two-bagger and three home runs, a total of fifteen bases. This set the record for individual batting in the National League and remained the record until 1889, when Larry Twitchell, then with the Cleveland team, August 15, in a game against Boston at Cleveland, hit Mike Madden six times safely. Among his hits were a double and three home runs, a total of sixteen bases. This work held good until May 30, 1894, when Robert Lincoln Lowe of the Boston team, in a game against Cincinnati at Boston, hit Elton Chamberlain for a single and four home runs, a total of seventeen bases, which is still the record. It was equaled by Ed Delehanty of the Philadelphia team, who July 13, 1896, in a game against Chicago, repeated Lowe's feat by hitting Bill Terry for a single and four home runs, a total of seventeen bases.

Getzein in 1889, after the withdrawal of the Detroits from the National League, pitched for the Indianapolis team. It was the last year of the Hoosiers in the league, and in 1890 he was with the Boston National League team, which Charley Ganzel had joined the year before, and so the famous pretzel battery was again in action. In 1891 Getzein remained with Boston, but was released in July because of a lame arm. He then went to Cleveland, for which team he pitched only one game. August 21 he faced the Chicagos at Chicago and was beaten, 9 to 3. Bill Hutchinson and Malachi Kittredge were the battery for Chicago, while Getzein was caught by Chief Zimmer, and Tom Lynch was the umpire. It was the last game pitched by Getzein in the National League.

LIGHT WEIGHT FRANKLIN TEST.

New Series Touring Car on Four Sets of Scales.

Ralph Hamlin Proves He Has Featherweight Car.

Unique Demonstration Attracts Many.

Light weight is the keynote of Ralph Hamlin's prosperity campaign which has been started so well this season. To prove the claim that Air-Cooled Ralph has so often made, the Franklin distributor secured four pairs of Fairbanks-Morse scales and placed his Franklin in position. The handsome 1914 touring car has been in place for an entire week and many prospects have seen the unique demonstration.

Choosing a Franklin six-thirty for the interesting test, Ralph placed the scales in his salesroom and then noted the weight of each corner of that car. Well, to say the result was surprising is putting the matter mildly. The entire weight of the car, fully equipped, with the tank filled with gasoline, self-starter and lights, ready, is 2794 pounds.

This is light weight. It is so light that Ralph determined to leave the car just as it was on the scales. It is there today and you may see it tomorrow if you care to take in the Franklin salesroom at any hour of the day. That showroom is worth a visit, even if you did not have the additional inducement of seeing that car in the test. The Franklin home on Flower, between Tenth and Eleventh streets, is the vantage point of the air-cooled enthusiasts this week.

ON THE SCALES.

The four wheels rest comfortably on the scales. The car is thus held in place and the scales are balanced. The right front wheel weighs 692 pounds. This includes the motor generator which handles that self-starter. The motor in the front, of course, must be estimated in this weight.

The left front wheel weighs 688 pounds. That is, not the wheel, but that part of the Franklin directly above the wheel. The difference of only four pounds is so slight that it needs no elaboration. Even Ralph, eloquent as he can become when speaking of the Franklin, finds words are useless when he has the testimony of those scales staring him in the face.

The left rear wheel shows the heaviest weight. Here we must take care of the storage battery that supplies those splendid headlights, side lights and tail-light. The weight of this wheel is 733 pounds. The scales tell the truth. Then comes the right rear wheel, with only 681 pounds to its credit. This gives us that grand total of 2794 pounds.

In the catalogue the car is listed at 2700 pounds. You must remember that this is without any special equipment and without the gasoline. Now Agent Hamlin has placed everything that he can think of that may be necessary to the motorist on that Franklin "Six-Thirty." If there is one man in town who knows how to select accessories, it is the winner of the Phoenix road race.

"This test is so good," said Hamlin yesterday, "that I find it unnecessary to brag about it. Of course, I am proud of the marks shown on those scales, but it is only what I have insisted upon for years. The car is light. It stands a severe test. Fully equipped, it will weigh less than 3000 pounds. You can see how much less.

"When this test first suggested itself to me I did not know how close we would come to the factory estimate. I have never known them to fail in anything they have ever done and have never found them trying to deceive the public. When I learned how exact they are, it certainly made me proud. That difference of only ninety-four pounds is easily accounted for in the extra equipment I have placed on the car and in the oil and gasoline with which the tanks are filled."

MORE ENTRIES FOR VANDERBILT.

Two more entries for the Vanderbilt Cup race and one for the Grand Prize came in yesterday.

The two Vanderbilt entries were the Fiat, driven by Frank Verbeck and entered by the Pacific Motor Car Company, and the Mason, driven by W. H. Carlson, Jr., and entered by McKee's Cafe.

The Grand Prize entry was the Marmon, driven by C. Muth and entered by A. A. Cadwell.

In a dicker consummated after the draft season, Meek went to Los Angeles in return for an infielder and an outfielder. A week ago he received his contract. This called for a reduction in the salary, whereas Meek thought that at the least there would be a small raise over the Northwestern price.

Big League Umpire Will Advocate Plan in New York Which, He Believes, Will Hamper Pitchers in Passing Strong Batters to First. Fans Want Change.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hank O'Day, National League umpire and a member of the Baseball Rules Committee, is one who believes the code governing the sport should be simplified. He will go to New York tomorrow to attend a meeting of the Rules Committee to be held there Monday. He has many suggestions to make and will advocate strongly the reducing the catcher's box to lessen the intentional giving of a base on balls.

Heretofore there has been much protest especially, from the fans when a pitcher passed a powerful batter to get one of his weaker mates. It was done so frequently that an agitation was begun to eliminate it. Schemes of how to bar the trick were thought out and mentioned, but none were accepted.

[illegible]OR BASEBALL SPIRIT OPINION OF FOREIGNER.

[illegible] foreigner, the other [illegible] voiced his opinion very [illegible] when he spoke of base- [illegible] said that he did not find [illegible] admire in "the spirit in [illegible] the game was played." For [illegible] the foreigner has been [illegible] panned by some of the loyal [illegible] leap into the breach every [illegible] is a chance to pose as a [illegible] of the downtrodden and all [illegible] of thing.

[illegible] TO HIS VIEW.

[illegible] analysis the foreigner was [illegible] according to his lights. [illegible] from the standpoint of real [illegible] baseball is somewhat [illegible]. We believe, in [illegible] with millions of American [illegible] it is the greatest game in [illegible] world, vastly superior [illegible] or any of the foreign or [illegible] games, but as played profes- [illegible] the spirit of the game, as [illegible] with the sportsmanship of [illegible] games, is bad.

[illegible] baseball the shrewd manager [illegible] shrewd player is constantly [illegible] to beat the rules. The [illegible] intentionally cuts the [illegible] attempting to beat the eye [illegible] umpire. In a close play the [illegible] never gets up and tells [illegible] that he was put out fairly.

[illegible] IT ON UMPIRE.

[illegible] put up to the umpire, and [illegible] infrequent that a player [illegible] to make an umpire a [illegible] own bone-headed per- [illegible] lack of skill and think- [illegible] The men on the coaching [illegible] at the "goat-getting" [illegible] pitchers, and everything [illegible] put the opposing team up [illegible]

[illegible] play the game alike in [illegible]. They have to. They [illegible], as the saying goes, to "fight the devil with fire." So accustomed have the supporters of the game become to this sort of thing that it is really appreciated and applauded when such plays are pulled off. A manager, under existing conditions, who did not play that style of baseball, would be a rank failure and would soon find himself out of a job.

WILLING TO EVADE RULES.

Ball players are not cheaters by nature or choice, but they have to play the game as they find it, and as it has been played since the days when Mike Kelly was wont to go across from first to third or attempt to score from second by coming through the pitcher's box. The premium seems to lie on evasion of rule, and interference with or deception of the opponent.

Foreigners, particularly English amateurs, trained to play games with a strict observance of the rules and perhaps an exaggerated sense of the rights of opponents, are quite naturally surprised when they see "trick" baseball so warmly appreciated and applauded by American crowds.

MAY HAVE RIGHT IDEA.

Quite naturally they do not like it. It is contrary to their ideas of sport, and some of them are frank enough to speak of it. After all, it isn't to be wondered at, and after all perhaps the foreigner who spoke disparagingly of the spirit in which we play baseball had something of the right idea.

Of course, baseball is a professional sport, and professional sport never reaches the high plane of sportsmanship possible for amateurs. There is too much at stake, perhaps, in professional sport. The amateur is playing only for the love of the game or for the sake of helping his club, college or university team. The professional's reward is pecuniary, and that, doubtless, explains the difference in the standards. Professional ball players in golf are exact in their observance of rules or etiquette. On the baseball field they play baseball as the other fellow plays it—to win at any cost.

UNIQUE PRIZE FOR WINTON SIX.

W. D. Howard, Southern California distributor of the Winton Six, is proudly calling attention to a recent Winton victory in Pittsburgh. The contest was for the best running old-time car. The report received is as follows:

"The prize of $100 offered for the oldest motor driven car still in service was awarded to Ringle & Main, dealers in Ford City, Pa., with a Winton, by the managers of the Pittsburgh show. Prior to the opening of the show, January 17; this contest was announced, and it attracted all the ancient cars in Western Pennsylvania.

"On Saturday afternoon, January 17, about fifty types of the old-timers gathered in Baum boulevard in front of Motor Square Garden. The one-cylinder Winton chugged around the block with about as much speed as she had in 1900, when she was turned out of the Winton factory in Cleveland, O. The car had been driven from Ford City to Pittsburgh the previous day, Friday.

"Howard Heinz, the pickle manufacturer, entered a Panhard 1898, but despite the fortnight of tinkering it had been subjected to, the old relic refused to fire at the phychological moment. It was sent to the scrap pile. The winning Winton was on exhibition at the show all week."

The local Howard, who disclaims all relationship with the Howard mentioned in the previous paragraph, contends that such a result as was accomplished with the Winton of early vintage, proves that it is all a matter of pure engineering breeding, producing a pure clean strain. In other words, a matter of motor car-eugenics.

HOMESTEADER OUT WITH RACER TRUCK.

Warnings of roads made impassable by storms did not deter Carl Blumberg from setting out last week with his wife and household goods in an old Mitchell racing car for the eastern slope of the San Bernardino Mountains, where he expects to file upon a homestead.

Blumberg was a clerk with the Greer-Robbins Company for some years, but intends to change his own life as radically as that of the car, which, if it carries its heavy cargo through the heavy roads of Cajon Pass, will be made into a carryall for farm purposes.

FIRESTONE RACE TIRES.

Barney Oldfield used Firestone tires in his races against Lincoln Beachey at Ascot Park, making one mile in fifty-one seconds on a track damaged by recent rains. His best time is thirty-six and two-fifths seconds, while Beachey has made the distance in thirty-six flat.

Battle Scars.

THIS IS FIFTH BASEBALL WAR.

PAST REBELLIONS HAVE COST MUCH MONEY.

If the Other Mix-Ups Are to Be Taken as a Criterion, the Federal Invasion Will Be Met by a System of Skillfully Conflicted Schedules. Some Record Agreements.

The present war of the Federal League on organized baseball calls to mind other wars of the same sort. It is the fifth that has taken place.

The first war on the National League and American Association, which were then the real controlling forces of organized baseball, took place in 1884, when the Union Association was organized, and its leaders set out just as the Federal League is starting out now, to sign players reserved by the clubs of the National and American leagues.

BROTHERHOOD IS BORN.

In 1890 the second revolt of the players against the reserve rule and other things took place, and the Brotherhood, or Players' League, came into existence.

In 1891 the American Association took exception to a decision of the national board in a dispute over the disposition of the players Bierbauer and Stovey, and withdrew from the national agreement compact. A third and very costly war followed.

Nearly ten years later, in 1900, the fourth war came, when the American League took the field.

SIGNS RIVAL'S STARS.

The work of the latter organization, like that of the Union Association in 1884, set out with the signing of crack players by the invading league. The first gun fired by the Union Association in 1884 was the signing of Dunlap, Schaefer and Rowe by the St. Louis Union management. Later the Cincinnati Unions got Glasscock, Briody, and McCormick, three crack players, away from the Cleveland National League team.

Then other players commenced jumping from the old league to the new, and the latter was able to start its season, with teams composed of about 30 per cent. of former major league players.

EVERY CLUB GOES BROKE.

Every club in the Union Association went broke.

The St. Louis Union, backed by Henry V. Lucas, a younger St. Louis millionaire, was carried through the season by him, and it made things so interesting for the opposition that Mr. Lucas in the winter of 1884-1385 was offered a National League berth, which he accepted.

All of the other seven clubs of the Union Association went out of existence, the backers of each having lost a small fortune.

GIVES SALARIES BOOST.

The war of 1890 was perhaps the most desperate ever made on the forces of organized baseball.

That year the Brotherhood of Baseball Players of the National League secured rich backers, fitted up grounds, and waged a desperate war against what they denounced as the injustice of the reserve rule. The consequence was that salaries advanced nearly 100 per cent., and hundreds of thousands of dollars were lost in the fight.

The Brotherhood League had the advantage of favorite players, but the National League had the best of the battle in leaders and experienced generals.

The Players' League or the Brotherhood of Baseball Players, as it was best known, lasted but one season—1890. Nearly every great player in America, however, went to it. Among those who joined in the revolt were men like "Mike" Kelly, Charles Comiskey, Jim Galvin, Ned Hanlon, Cliff Carroll, Tip O'Neill, Fred Pfeffer, Roger Connor, Jim O'Rourke, Buck Ewing, Tim Keefe, Harry Stovey, Dan Brouthers, Joe Quinn, Billy Nash, Arthur Irwin, Emmett Seery, John M. Ward, Jack Rowe, Jim McAleer, Jack Brennan, and other famous players whose names at this time were a household word in the baseball arena and who really were the pick of the playing talent of that day.

STARTS APRIL 19, 1890.

The first championship games of the Brotherhood of the Players' League, as the organization was then best known, were played April 19, 1890.

This battle of the players resulted in a most exciting year's fight, in which it is estimated that $1,000,000 and more was lost by the fighting leagues, the Brotherhood revolt failed, and the National League, under the banner of the national agreement and reserve rule, remained in possession of the field.

But the fight had some good results, for it led to a much better understanding between owners of clubs and players and a respect for the latter's rights that had been conspicuous for its absence in certain places previous to the rebellion.

WARD ITS PRESIDENT.

John M. Ward, president of the Brotherhood, said at the time that that organization was really formed on account of the passage by the National League in 1885, of an arbitrary $2000 salary limit rule.

In 1887 the Brotherhood endeavored to amend the old form of contract, asking the officers of the National League to strike out the $2000 clause.

The league officials, Ward claimed, promised to strike out the offensive figures at their next annual meeting in 1888.

With this agreement the players signed up for the following season, but when the National League officials, according to Ward, went back on their agreement, and in the fall of 1888 enacted a classification law which completely ignored the requests of the players, then the latter concluded to strike out for themselves, and the result was the organization of the Brotherhood of Players' League. At a meeting of the brotherhood, held in New York on November 4, 1889, a public declaration of intention to withdraw from the National League was issued.

PLAYERS' LEAGUE ORGANIZED.

Two days later, November 6, 1889, at the Fifth-avenue Hotel in New York City, the Players League was organized, or rather the first steps for its organization were taken.

Legal obstacles were in the way and prevented the real organization at this first meeting, but by December 16, 1889, they were removed, and the Players' League was launched, with Boston, Brooklyn, New York and Philadelphia in its eastern circuit, and Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Chicago in the west wing.

The war between the Players' League managers and those of the National League was a costly and bitter one. The courts were often applied to for injunctions by both sides.

MAKE SCHEDULES CONFLICT.

Conflicting schedules were arranged, and all things done to make the rival paths thorny. At the end of the season of 1890 the Players' League bought the Cincinnati club of the National League.

This left the latter organization with but six clubs, for its Pittsburgh club was all but dead. When matters reached this stage the National League men consented to a conference, which ended in secret meetings afterward between the capitalists of both leagues, with the result that the rival clubs in New York City, Pittsburgh and Chicago were consolidated, and this virtually brought the career of the Players' League to a close and caused its disbandment.

The fight in 1891, or the third baseball war, which was due to the national board taking Bierbauer and Stovey away from the American Association, was followed in the winter of that year by a meeting of representatives of both organizations at Indianapolis, which resulted in the National League buying out four of the American Association clubs and taking the other four into partnership, thus wiping out all opposition and combining all of the major league teams under the one banner.

AMERICAN MAKES ENTRY.

The next, or, rather, the fourth baseball war, was that of 1900, when the American League was organized, and its managers set out not only to invade National League territory, but to sign up players then under reserve to the National League clubs.

The older organization took the matter to the courts, and in St. Louis Judge Talty of the Circuit Court decided that the players under reserve could go where they pleased.

This gave the St. Louis Browns possession of several good players, notably Wallace, Burkett, O'Connor and Heidrick.

IN "PEACE COMPACT."

This war in the courts and on the baseball field was continued until January 10, 1903, when a meeting of the rival forces was held at Cincinnati, and the celebrated "peace compact," which ended the war, was signed.

At this meeting there were present Harry C. Pulliam, B. B. Johnson, August Herrmann, Charles A. Comiskey, James A. Hart, Charles W. Somers, Frank de Haas Robinson and H. J. Killilea.

At this meeting it was also agreed that the circuits of each league should consist of the collowing cities:

American League — Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis.

National League — Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

SOME OF THE AGREEMENTS.

Neither circuit, it was agreed, should be changed without the consent of the majority of the clubs of each league. It was further provided that there should be no consolidation in any city where two clubs exist; nor should any club transfer or release its players for the purpose of injuring or weakening the league of which it is a member.

The national agreement for the government of professional baseball was entered into between the National and American leagues, and the National Association, at Cincinnati, O., September 11, 1903, and it was changed somewhat and revised on January 1, 1908.

It is this agreement which the Federal League is up against, and which it will have to fight.

HEAVY BOND FOR MOTOR TRUCK MEN.

F. P. Gregson, secretary of the Associated Jobbers of Los Angeles, issued an official announcement last week to the effect that the Motor Truck and Terminal Company had filed a bond for $50,000 to secure members of the Jobbers' Association and others doing a shipping business over the motor truck line, operated by this company.

"This bond obligates the Motor Truck and Terminal Company to pay all legitimate claims that may arise from any cause while goods are in its possession," said Gregson. "This company now has in the neighborhood of sixty-seven first-class trucks and serves a territory within a radius of forty miles from Los Angeles. It conducts its business along legitimate transportation lines."

The fifty new trucks ordered by this company, to be put into immediate service, are arriving in carload lots. Twenty-five ton trucks have already been received and are being equipped with bodies. When they appear on the street they will be equipped with stake bodies, and will be painted a bright yellow.

As this company does not come under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission the posting of the large bond was necessary to protect shippers.

Manager C. O. Drake has perfected the shipping arrangements, which reduces the loss and damage of goods to a minimum.

MAGNETO MAKERS' PRIZES IN RACE.

Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races are to be enriched by the addition of $1900 in prizes given by the Bosch Magneto Company to drivers winning the first three places in either race.

Conditioned only upon the use of the Bosch magneto for ignition purposes, the successful drivers are awarded the following purses:

Grand Prize race—First, $500; second, $150; third, $100.

Vanderbilt cup race—First, $300; second, $150; third, $100.

In addition to these prizes, drivers are to receive $100 added to each prize if they use Bosch plugs.

The Pacific association of the Amateur Athletic Union has now over 1200 registered athletes on its books. The big enrollment has occurred since October 1.

COLE
"The Standardized Car."
There Are Many Good Automobiles Made Today
Cole Five-Passenger, Four-Cylinder Touring Car, $2050.
There isn't much excuse for one's buying an unsatisfactory car.
Perhaps the best way to gauge the real worth of a car is to study the manner in which it is regarded by motorists themselves. In a city like ours whose splendid drives attract the best cars of the whole world, the only ones which continue to flourish are those which the people have found to be right. Public opinion sees to that. It's a pretty good leveler.
Bear this in mind as you watch the Cole Motor Car grow in favor here. The loyalty of Cole owners in Los Angeles carries a deep significance regarding Cole Motor Cars and Los Angeles service.
That's why we want you to know something about the service which every Cole user in Los Angeles is getting from us. We can't help feeling a bit proud of it.
Service with us is not something extra "thrown in" like cigar coupons, merely to help make sales. Service, as we define it, is the fulfilment of the obligation we take when we furnish you with a car. It's something tangible and it accrues to you just as unfailingly as the weekly dividends on your accident insurance when you're hurt.
Cole Motor Cars and Los Angeles Service are two big things to consider when you buy a motor car. They are of co-ordinate importance. You can't know too much about either.
We're ready to show you the car any day and give you the names of enough Cole owners to tell you about our service.

The Largest Drop Forge Plant In The Business

TALKING of economizers—take our drop forge plant, which, while it is the largest in the business, is only one small part of our equipment.

Here we operate 40 large steam hammers with a combined striking power of 6,880,000 pounds or 3,440 tons.

Also there are over a dozen monster presses and ten Ajax forging machines.

There are two 5,000 pound hammers with a producing capacity of 750,000 pounds each; sixteen 2,000 pound hammers with a capacity of 200,000 pounds each; fourteen 1,500 pound hammers with a capacity of 150,000 pounds each, and eight 1,000 pound hammers with a capacity of 10,000 pounds each.

Now—

Take one example of the economy such equipment can effect:

Overland hammers have an attachment whereby the spring-seat of a front axle is so perfectly formed (by the hammer blow) that it needs no additional machining.

This operation takes but 30 seconds.

In smaller plants the same work by slow, small factory methods takes from 30 to 40 minutes.

And this is but one of the hundreds of different economies effected by our huge drop forge equipment.

Now do you see why the Overland costs you 30% less than any other similiar car made?

VAN COURT SAYS ROAD WORK IS A BIG

Men Like Clabby and Cross Don't Need Other Scrappers, but the Right Kind and Prop Road Work Would Help Them — Jim Jeffri the Best System.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

THERE is an open argument about road work among fighters, many claiming it is detrimental to good condition, and many taking the opposite view.

Some do none at all and others make it the principal part of their training. Ad Wolgast prefers road work to boxing, and says boxing is the hardest kind of work, and that road work is easy.

Jimmy Clabby does none at all, and prefers boxing. Leach Cross does little of either, and so on down the line.

Clabby's claim is that road work stiffens him and makes him heavy on his legs. He gets more good out of boxing, as he is constantly practicing new stuff and developing his weaker points. He also figures a lot on clever clinching, claiming he makes a study of blocking an opponent with the least possible waste of strength.

WHAT CROSS SAYS.

Cross claims that he has often practiced things he expected an opponent to do during his training, and they never happened, so cut both out to a great extent.

The right amount and the right kind of road work will develop stamina quicker and better form of work for a boxer.

Those who are weight usually take for reducing, as it is od. But many men ina and fight on been done many times.

Jimmy Clabby claims son the English fighters successful as the American the fact that they work. This is no doubt extent, as the average does the most strenuous work. It is composed heel and toe walking, as hard work as running.

PASADENA, Feb. 7.—The polo season in Pasadena is not over by any means. One of the liveliest pratice matches of the winter was played at Tournament Park yesterday afternoon and the members of the Pasadena team expect to have some more matches with outside teams before they begin to think about the next season.

The Reds defeated the Whites to the tune of three to one yesterday afternoon. The line-up was as follows:

Reds: Dr. Z. T. Malaby, 1; Ormsby Phillips, 2; Harry Weiss, 3, and W. A. Boucher, 4.

Whites: E. Q. McVitty, 1; Reggie Weiss, 2; Capt. C. D. Cookson, 3, and W. Cooley, 4.

There will probably be two or three practice matches this week.

HIGH SCHOOLS FORM ASSOCIATION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERKELEY, Feb. 7.—California Interscholastic Federation, which is to handle athletic affairs in the high schools of this State, was organized in California Hall of the University of California today at a meeting of principals and athletic directors of the high schools of Northern California.

In Southern California a similar union has already been organized and after today the unions will coalesce. It was decided at the meeting this morning to divide Northern California into four sections, each section to be represented in a governing council by two delegates. An additional delegate is to be the president of the High School Teachers' Association, ex-officio.

The delgates will be elected by the principals in the several sections and will take office the first of July and will go out of office, four in each year.

The federation decided to accept the California Rugby Union in an advisory capacity. One delegate of the federation will be a member in the union.

HORSEMEN PLAN HARNESS CIRCUIT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—Light-harness horsemen from various parts of the State assembled here today to form a racing circuit and make dates for meetings this season. It was said that a plan was afoot to introduce a uniform programme of events for the entire circuit.

Horsemen and fair directors came to the meeting from Woodland, Pleasanton, Santa Rosa, Salinas, Fresno, Hanford and several other towns.

BUDDY RYAN SIGNS.

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 7. — [By A. P. Night Wire.] John Ryan, known as "Buddy" Ryan, outfielder with the Portland Coast League club in 1911, and with the Cleveland Americans the last two years, is in Portland and announced that he would sign up with the Portland Club for the 1914 season, and start for San Francisco tonight on his way to Santa Maria, where the Portland Coast League club will do its training. Ryan has had an offer from the Portland club under consideration for some time, as well as an offer from the Pittsburgh Federals, which, however, he has rejected. He was the leader in hitting in the Coast League in 1911 and also led in the number of home runs.

MOTOR QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Oil in the Combustion Chamber

Q. A great deal of oil works up past the pistons into the combustion chamber of the cylinders of my engine, causing a lot of carbon. What is the reason for this and how could it be remedied? C. S. P.

A. The presence of oil above the piston and the resulting carbon deposit in the combustion chamber is due, very probably, to the condition of your piston rings in the motor. The usual type of one-piece rings found on most piston heads has faults in design that allow this to occur as soon as they become slightly worn. Their bearing on the cylinder wall grows unequal and their ends work into alignment around the piston head providing free ingress for surplus oil.

The one design of piston ring we know of that will obviate this completely and finally is the [illegible] Piston Ring. This is a ring composed of two interlocking sections, each one closely sealing the opening in the other. These sections have opposite points of expansion and thus obtain perfect and equal tension against the cylinder walls. They are the only really leak-proof rings made.

You can get them any size at all garages and repair shops—they are easily adjustable. The following supply houses are distributors.

MAY BE THIRD CLUB IN CHICAGO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Establishment of a third organized baseball club in Chicago was a question before the recent joint meeting of the National and American leagues in New York it was made known today. It was said Charles Weeghman, backer of the Chicago Federals, would buy the St. Paul association club if its franchise could be transferred to Chicago. These reports persisted in spite of denials by both Weeghman and James A. Gilmore, president of the Federals.

Ban Johnson is said to be in favor of bringing the St. Pauls here, while President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals is against it, it is said. According to the reports Johnson also wants to move the Toledo American association club to a city where it will be in competition with a Federal club.

While Gilmore insisted today that there was no question of Toronto remaining in the Federal League, other Federal League officials here for the meeting today persisted in favoring the dropping of the Canadian city.

Weeghman is one of these and it is understood that the question will be voted on today.

BALL PLAYERS ARRIVE IN ITALY.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

NAPLES (Italy) Feb. 7.—The baseball players of the New York club of the National League and the Chicago club of the American League arrived here today from Egypt on board the steamer Prinz Heinrich. They were greeted heartily by the local sporting clubs and the members of the American colony. They were accompanied to their hotel with a great display of enthusiasm.

ATHLETES' PECULIARITIES.

TRACK athletes in training have more peculiarities and are more eccentric than grand opera singers, race horses or ball players. The various ways in which the different track men show that they have reached the pink of condition are wild and startling. The most notable feature of these peculiarities is the fact that they do not make their appearance until the feeling of condition begins to find its way into the athletic constitution. When this condition begins its work, the men get on edge, the nerves are keyed up and in the working off of this nervous spirit some peculiar stunts come to light.

Take, for instance, the case of Fred Kelly, U.S.C. world champion high hurdler, who goes in for rough-housing to relieve his nerves. He will throw shots, hammers, discus, towels, bats, balls, water buckets or anything handy around the training quarters, to the terror of the other track men. At other times he will bat fellows over the head with books or papers, pour water on sleeping beauties, and pull off a hundred and one practical jokes.

"Lanky" Ben Ward indulges in mutilating a piano with the late meat market rags, or sleeping. He has been known to sleep through an entire class period while the professor was divulging much useful knowledge for the sleeping Ward's benefit.

Laird becomes the "ragging king," with a line of fancy rag dances performed to the tune of his own songs sung in a mournful wail. While Laird is pulling off the tango "Midget" Bradley, the fast little sprinter, will jump at regular intervals. In the midst of a conversation he will leap a foot or two in the air. To strangers this is an insane action, but the college students have learned to overlook these aerial actions.

Courtney carries around a mile-wide grouch which is hid behind a cheerful smile. Deceived by this alluring grin the young track men will approach Ira in the training quarters and start a conversation. The smile vanishes and the grouch comes to the front with a swell "bawl out" for the unfortunate freshman who was fooled by a smile.

Jackson, the colored sprinter, is the life of the training quarters, with a continual line of good wit and a merry laugh. He is always keeping the team in an uproar with his funny antics. Tipton is also a great "kidder" during track season. During the off season he is a quiet, bashful young fellow, but when the strain of the track season comes on he is a lion among the fair sex and the noise of the training quarters. Borgstrom, the record-breaking pole vaulter, is another bashful fellow, only the effect is just the opposite from Tipton's malady. Borgstrom becomes bashful during the track season and cannot be dragged into the presence of a girl, much to the dismay of the fair co-eds. The pole vaulter will not appear on the field unless his suit is spotless, his hair parted, and no girls present to watch the practice.

This is but a few of the peculiarities of the track athlete, but it will give the public an idea of the trials and tribulations of the coach and the students at a college during the training season.

NO COACHES ON SIDELINES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee decided today that hereafter coaches should be barred from the side lines. This was the most radical change in the rules adopted at the meeting today, which was one of the shortest in the committee's history.

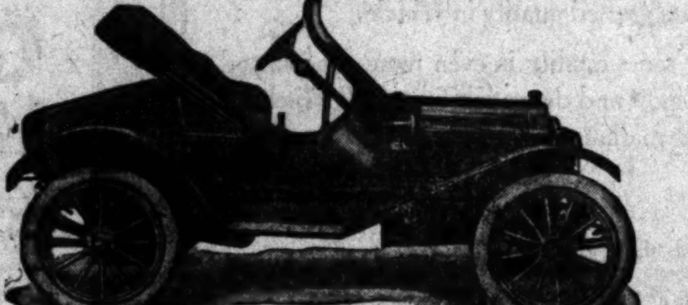
The Three BIG Features of the METZ "22" are Efficiency, Economy and Practicability. It affords luxury without extravagance. It brings to every man the pleasures and benefits of the automobile, free from the old-time prohibitive costs. The METZ "22" is a stylish, speedy, practical car, lowest in price and most economical in operation.

1914 IMPROVEMENTS



METZ "22" $530 Los Angeles

WINNER OF THE GLIDDEN TOUR. The Gearless Car--No Clutch to Slip--No Gears to Strip

The METZ "22" travels from 28 to 32 miles on ONE gallon of gasoline; 100 miles on ONE pint of lubricating oil, and from 10,000 to 12,000 miles on a single set of tires. It makes from 5 to 50 miles per hour on the high speed, and climbs hills as fast as any regular stock car made.

Competing with cars costing from five to ten times as much, the METZ team of three regular stock cars won the 1300-mile Glidden Tour from Minneapolis to Glacier National Park, and they were the only cars in the tour that held a PERFECT SCORE, without additional allowances or time extension of any kind, during the entire eight days of the contest.

The METZ "22" is a fully guaranteed car, fitted with standard equipment throughout, including 4-cylinder 22½-H.P. watercooled motor, Bosch magneto, 30-inch artillery wheels, best quality Goodrich clincher tires, etc. Single or double rumble seat supplied, if ordered special. Its gearless transmission entirely does away with gear troubles.

FIRST FLIGHTS IN ABEYANCE.

San Gabriel Golf Results Still in Air.

New Comer Wins Match and Becomes Factor.

Second Flight Play Ends as Per Schedule.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Three first-flight matches, and those important ones, have still to be settled in the San Gabriel Country Club championship, so we shall not know until this evening whether Hugo Johnstone was ignominiously defeated by D. A. Jacobs or vice versa, whether A. C. Scales retired Robert L. Tatum and whether C. O. Alkire abolished H. N. H. Woodcock.

But we do know that the new member, William Harper, who does not look in the least dangerous, has quietly defeated Frank Wade, a former champion who was confidently picked as this year's runner-up. Only by 1 up certainly, but it was enough to relegate Wade to the defeated eights, and to make us regard Mr. Harper with a contemplative eye. Looks like an acquisition to the club ranks.

Harry Cole was also relegated to the second division by J. N. Kerr by 4 up and 3, and George Cline disposed of Victor Kleinberger by 2 up and 1. George Potter defeated S. N. Salisbury by 1 up, and Will Bacon's defeat of Frank Dillon by the crushing emphasis of 7 up and 6 is ancient history.

We prophesied that Will Bacon would do really great things if he added irreproachable stockings to his sartorial charms and it is coming to pass even so. He is freely picked as the next club champion, even by the holder of the title, but it is always so sad to think a new champion can only rise to glory on the ashes of someone else's prestige, isn't it?

The Other Flights.

The four second-flight matches to be settled were those in which J. S. Heath defeated A. T. Jergens by 3 and 2, F. V. Post defeated J. H. Patterson by 3 and 2, J. C. Lewis defeated Lee Stephens by 2 and 1, and T. E. Jefferson defeated Ross Hickox by 3 and 1.

The six matches decided in the third flight were those in which W. C. Pennell defeated W. R. Wharton (still in that purple sweater, dim with passed glory) by 2 up and 1; F. B. Gifing defeated G. A. Wallace by 3 up and 2; E. W. Lawton disposed of Hugh Purcell by 7 and 5; Gerald Young, our very, very newest golf debutante, defeated C. B. Judd by 3 and 1 (great rejoicings amongst nice girls at Duarte;) R. B. Douglass defeated C. A. Perley by 6 up and 4 (great rejoicings at Midoaks,) and D. W. Wallace defeated G. E. Harpham (it can't be the same helmet, I'm sure it's a new one) by 4 up and 3.

In the fourth flight D. W. Pierce won from L. Crenshaw by 1 up, M. C. Adler from James Parker by 2 up, B. J. Bradner from W. F. Marmion by 4 up and 3, S. G. M. Silcox from W. A. Pierce by 3 up and J. C. Stockwell from W. C. Brodie by 2 up.

In the fifth flight a very sad thing happened. Quite horrid, in fact. A really nice gentleman, who among other happy qualifications, owns a charming wife, got left out altogether when the sheets were made up. The error was rectified and William Keepers proceeded to justify his complaint by defeating Dr. Magee by 2 up and 1.

At the Midwick.

The Virginia team visited the Midwick yesterday afternoon and succeeded in capturing just one match. F. Hicks of Long Beach won his match from E. R. Williams by 1 up.

For the rest, E. S. Armstrong played with W. W. Campbell, Robert Hunter played with A. M. Goodhue, J. V. Eliot played with Bert Paul, Hugo Johnstone played with Dr. Foote, A. W. Brand played with Llewelyn Bixby and Conde Jones played with E. S. Scanlon.

Hugo Johnstone was the hero of the day in the match play against bogey wherein he finished 10 up with a pretty 73. Which, of course, is very good, even for Hugo, but it does not constitute a record, as Armstrong has done the course in 71 and Robert Hunter in 72. Par is 74.

Second in that competition were A. W. Brand and E. B. Washburn, who both finished 8 up with medal scores of 75.

Hugo Johnstone plays his match against Jacobs at the San Gabriel Country Club today, if that 73 is his present consistent form he may win it. It is a pity this club championship must be so long-drawn-out. If it could all be settled right away quickly before Johnstone gets bored he might very likely win it, and he would make such a picturesque champion, wouldn't he?

At Beverly.

The midwinter tournament is nearing its end at the Los Angeles Country Club and yesterday's matches resulted in wins for A. L. Schwartz, who defeated Stone by 2 up and 1, and S. C. Dunlap, who, in his turn, defeated A. L. Schwartz, also by 2 and 1.

The sweepstake medal play handicap resulted in an emphatic win for T. J. Williams, who made a gross 77, which his twelve handicap reduced to 65. Which looks like the first flight near the top at next week's invitation tournament, eh? what?

Other long handicap men likewise showed to advantage yesterday, two net 71's, for instance, in the case of C. H. Knappe and C. W. Pendleton, with handicaps of 12 and 16, respectively.

E. T. Scherer and Maurice E. Ginn shone forth with 72's, handicaps 10, and 73 was quite common—Charles Van Loan, C. A. Smith and J. S. Hunt on 18, 12 and 14 handicaps.

There was a very large field at the Los Angeles Country Club and many visitors. This because of the invitation tournament which opens on Wednesday next, for which the courtesy of the links is open to visiting golfers for a week beforehand. The terrors of the course at Beverly have been much magnified—as the Annandale team will amusedly assure you.

The Los Angeles team goes to Annandale today and it will be a highly critical match as regards league prestige.

Redlands vs. Riverside.

The Redlands team went to the Victoria Club, Riverside, yesterday, to settle two team matches, one for the Southern California League and one an interclub event of annual harassment. Riverside won both events with crushing emphasis. They just had to after our well-informed contemporary assured the world that Redlands was the superior team, dash it all.

Alas, the one man to lose his match for Riverside was "dear ol' Mongoose," as R. D. Osburn is always affectionately called. The Victoria Club won 6 points to 1, but Morris Phillips proved too much for Osburn, so he represents Redlands' one.

For the rest, Dr. Davidson beat Raymond Hornby, Dr. Howe beat F. B. Lindsley, C. A. Childs beat Dr. Cameron, R. D. Skelley beat Dr. Powers, Dr. Girdlestone and C. O. Evans each winning their matches, too. Such a lot of doctors play golf up there—do hope some of them will come down for the doctors' tournament at the Los Angeles Country Club on February 28.

In the inter-club match there are nine to a side, So Dr. Cameron of Riverside (Redlands and Riverside each boast a Dr. Cameron) played A. Sterling and beat him, and Roy Holland—such a nice boy—played A. Sterling and beat him. Play on the other team sufficed for both events, so that made Riverside the winner by 8 to 1 in the second match, too.

Owing to the counter attraction of polo, the Riverside team was supposed to have been weakened—Pattee and Hudson both being deserters. But so far the team seems to be bearing up bravely.

Jack Bliss,

The sensational Sacramento catcher who will be with Venice next season.

Gets a Star.

BLISS OF SACRAMENTO TO CATCH FOR HOGAN.

JACK BLISS, one of the greatest catchers who ever played on the Coast, will play with Venice next season. His purchase was announced yesterday by Eddie Maier.

Bliss is now with the round-the-world baseball teams and will not know of the change in his fortunes until he returns to California and reports for duty.

He will almost be the making of the Venice team. Bliss plays all over the field. He covers more territory than any other Coast League catcher and has so much pepper and life that he is the idol of the fans. He will surely add a great deal to the popularity of the Venice team.

Wolverton's reason for letting him go is said to be purely one of domestic economics. Bliss draws a higher salary than the Sacramento team feels like paying. Wolverton is now one of the owners of the Sacramento team and as they say in "The Mikado," "you see it makes a difference."

WELSH FOOTBALL.

CARDIFF (Wales) Feb. 7.—[By Cable and A. P.] The Welsh fifteen won today the second match of the International Rugby football series, defeating Scotland by 24 points to 5.

The first match of the series, played January 17, was won by England, which defeated Wales.

Germany has 250 rowing clubs, in which 50,000 members are enrolled, and will make a great effort to win the Olympic rowing championships in 1916.

Chalmers—1914

The New "Six"

$2325 (Delivered)

A Car of Wonderful Power

The new Chalmers "Six" certainly sets a wonderful power pace.

Its genuine long-stroke motor—of T-head design with unusually large, diamond-hard Tungsten steel valves—has enabled it to negotiate, with utmost facility, grilling tests in bogs, sand and mountains, that would have stalled completely all but the most costly cars.

And all this entirely without a murmur—for the Chalmers "Master Motor" is as quiet and vibrationless at 50 miles as at 15!

Actually—the more you know of Chalmers prowess, the more you wonder at a price of $2325 for the touring car, delivered in Los Angeles.

Why not let us give you a decidedly different demonstration—the remarkable Chalmers "Ride of Rides?"

SAFETY FIRST

Goodrich Unit Molding was the original Safety First tire idea

The quality of Goodrich Tires today is the standard by which all high grade tires must be judged. This is because they represent the perfection of tire-making and tire-knowledge—which gives Goodrich Tires their leadership.

Every layer of the finest fabric, the livest, best rubber—the whole tire—tread, side strips, bead and all—becomes one piece in Goodrich Unit Molding—the original Safety First idea in tire building.

All this backs up the Goodrich Safety Tread—the group of bars and the cross-tie that form the Safety First symbol for the motorist.

Take no unnecessary chances. Equip at least the rear wheels with

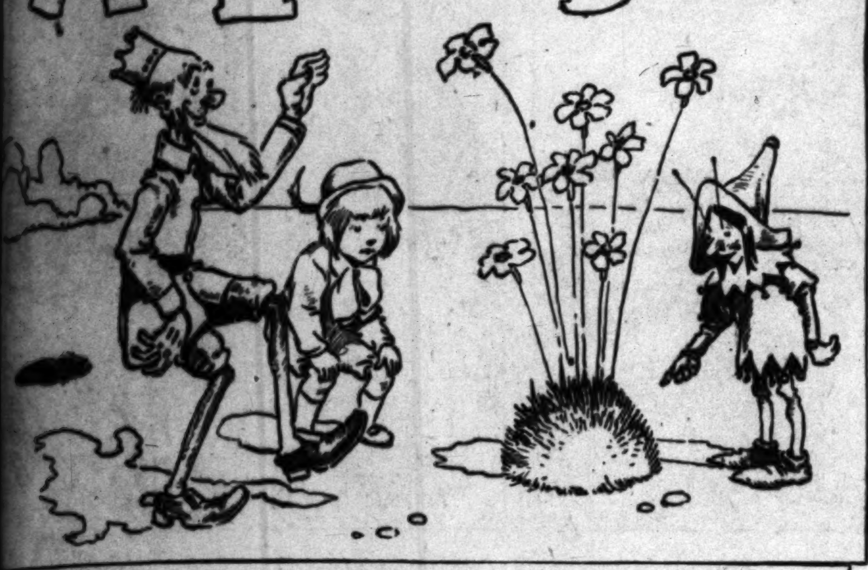
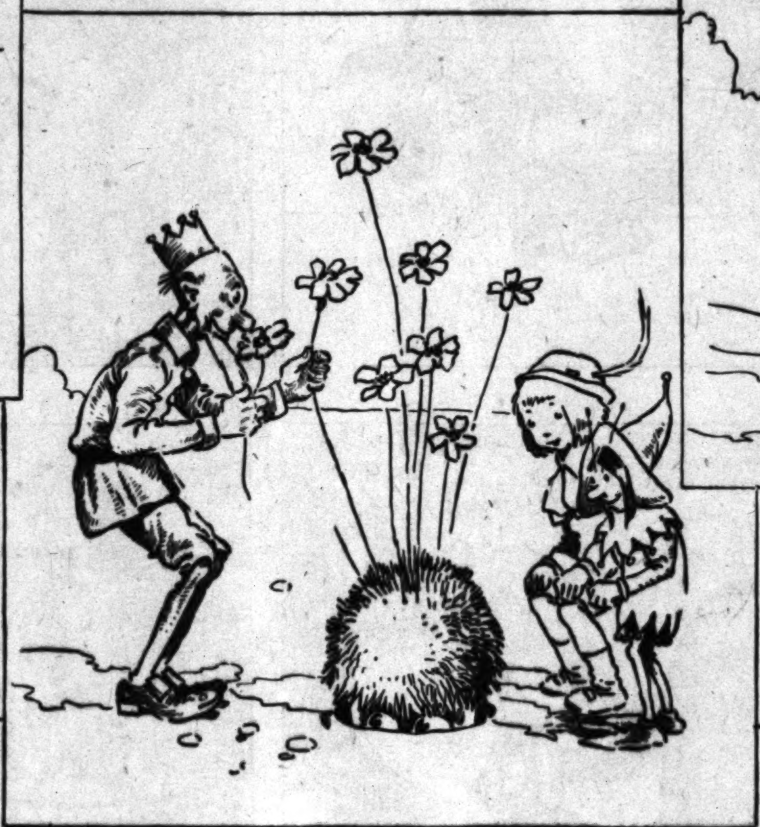
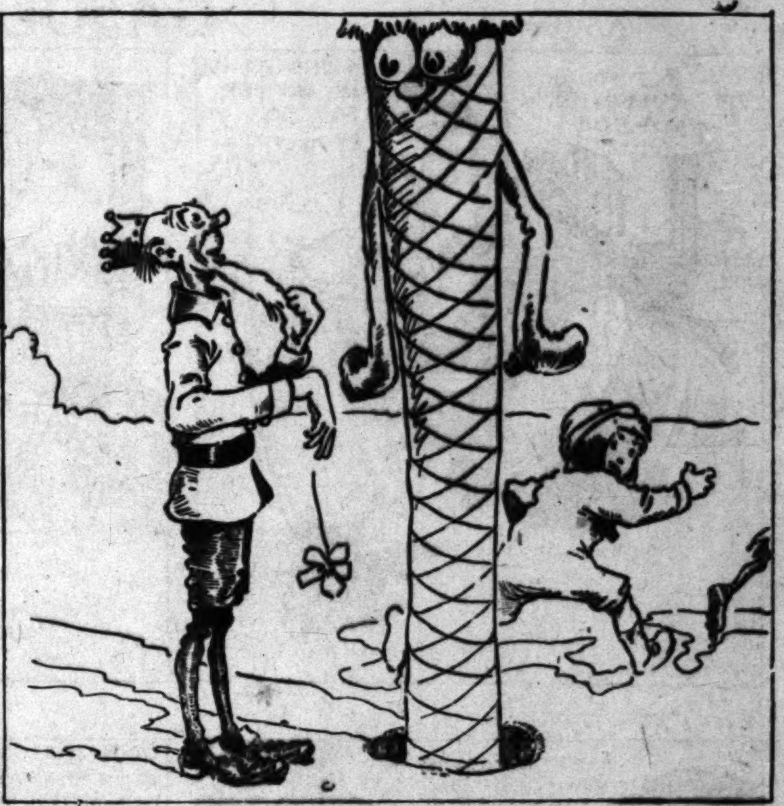
MR. TWEE DEEDLE.



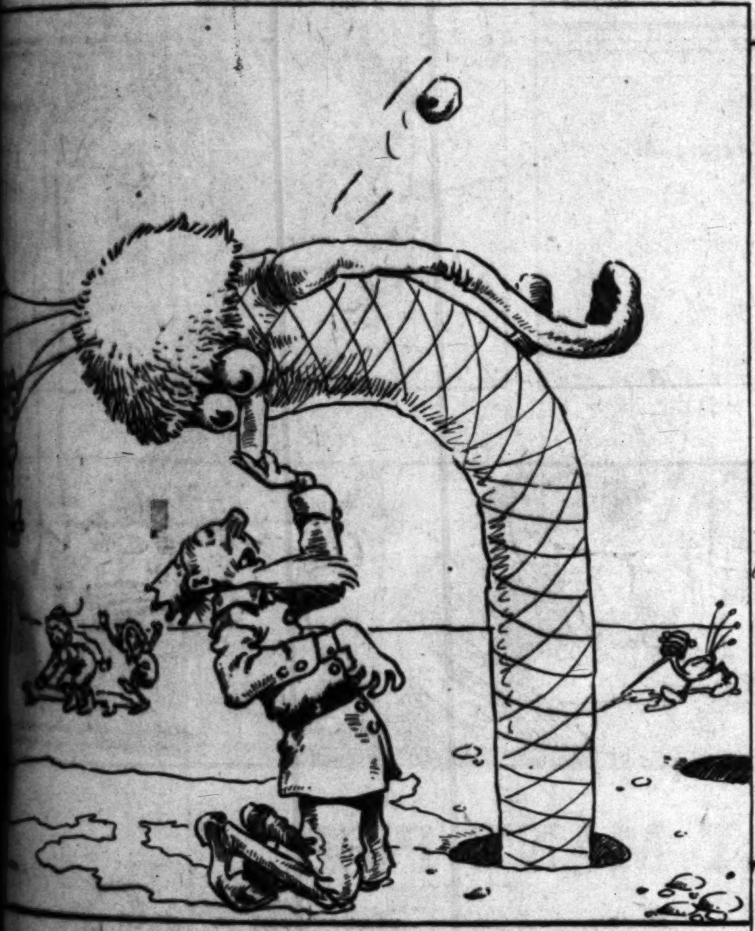
1.—After their escape from the angry owner of the lake, the friends came upon a queer looking tuft of grass with eight flowers growing from it. "It looks like a porcupine," said Mr. Twee Deedle; "we'd better not disturb it."

2.—But the Moon Man paid no attention and picked two of the flowers. The tuft of grass rose slowly from the ground. "The flowers are made of cloth," cried the Moon Man.

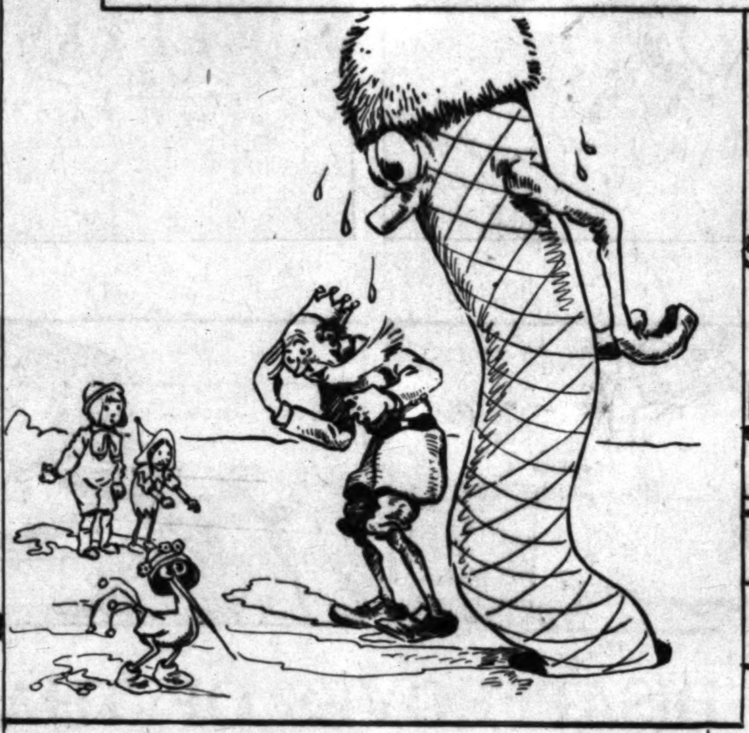




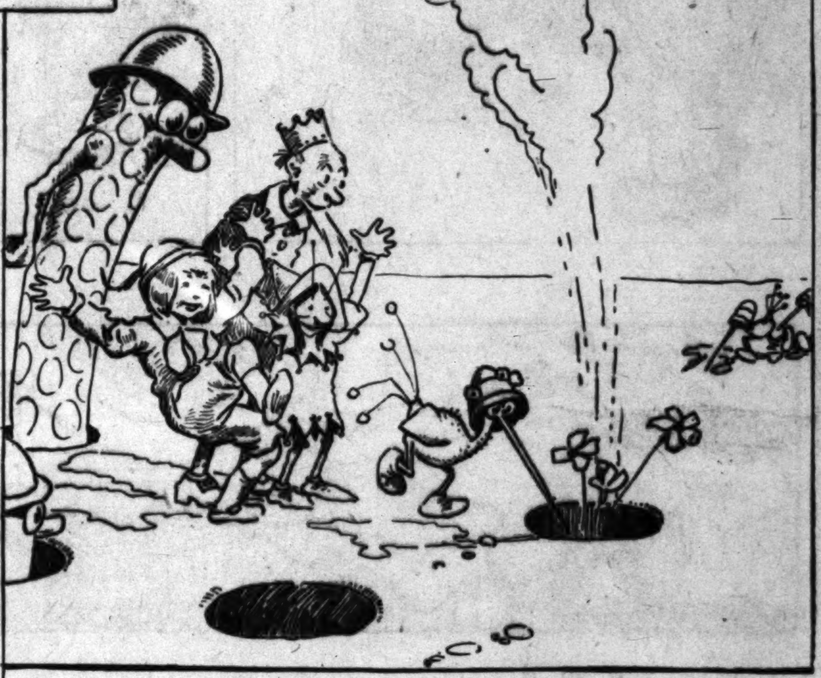
3.—The grass was followed by a long, slim body with mournful eyes which turned reproachfully on the Moon Man and seemed to hypnotize him so he could not run.



4.—"How dare you disturb the King of the Mirage Moodles?" cried the strange creature, as it leaned toward the Moon Man. He could not run, but Dickie and Mr. Twee Deedle began to throw stones at the Moodle.



5.—Just then a queer little animal, or bird, ran up and began squeaking at the Moodle, which frightened the creature so that it trembled all over.



6.—The bird-beast pecked at the Moodle and drove it back into the ground, but they didn't notice another Moodle rising from the ground behind them.

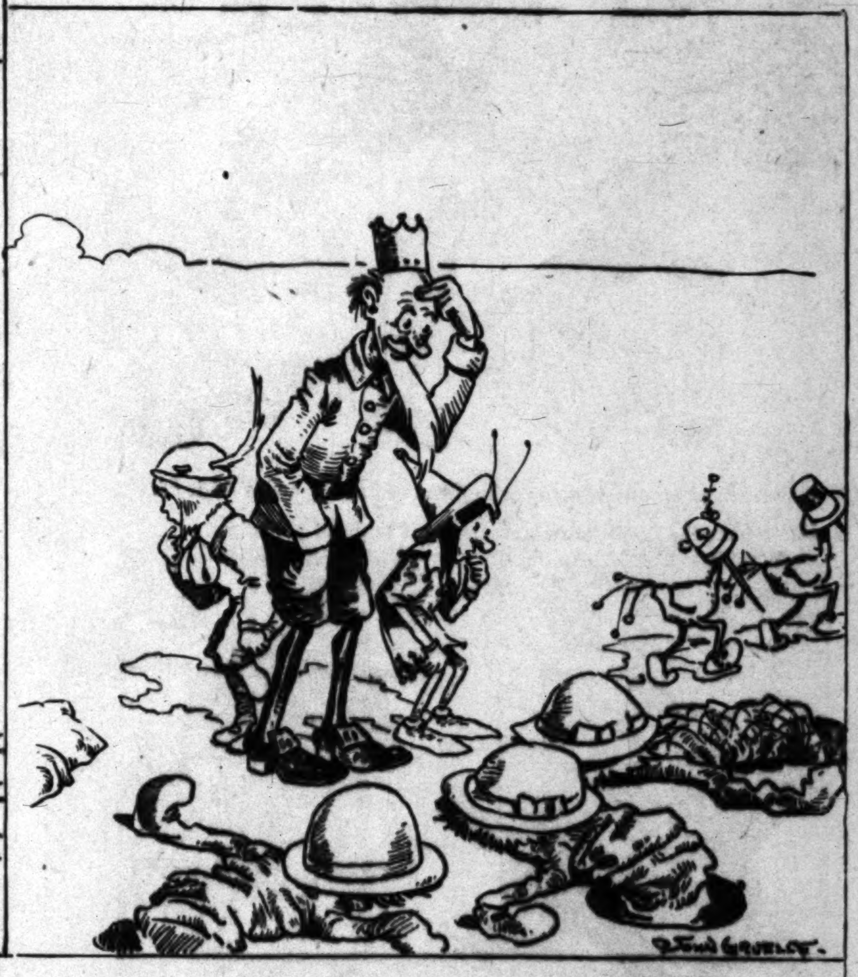
7.—In a few moments the little group was completely surrounded by Moodles. "Squeak," the bird-beast told them and they all began to say "Squeak" together with six little bird-beasts which had joined them. As the Moodles began to go back into the ground they punctured them and let the gas escape.



JOHN GRUELLE

8.—The bird-beasts marched off and the friends went to find the Rubber Man to get some cement in order to mend the Moodles.

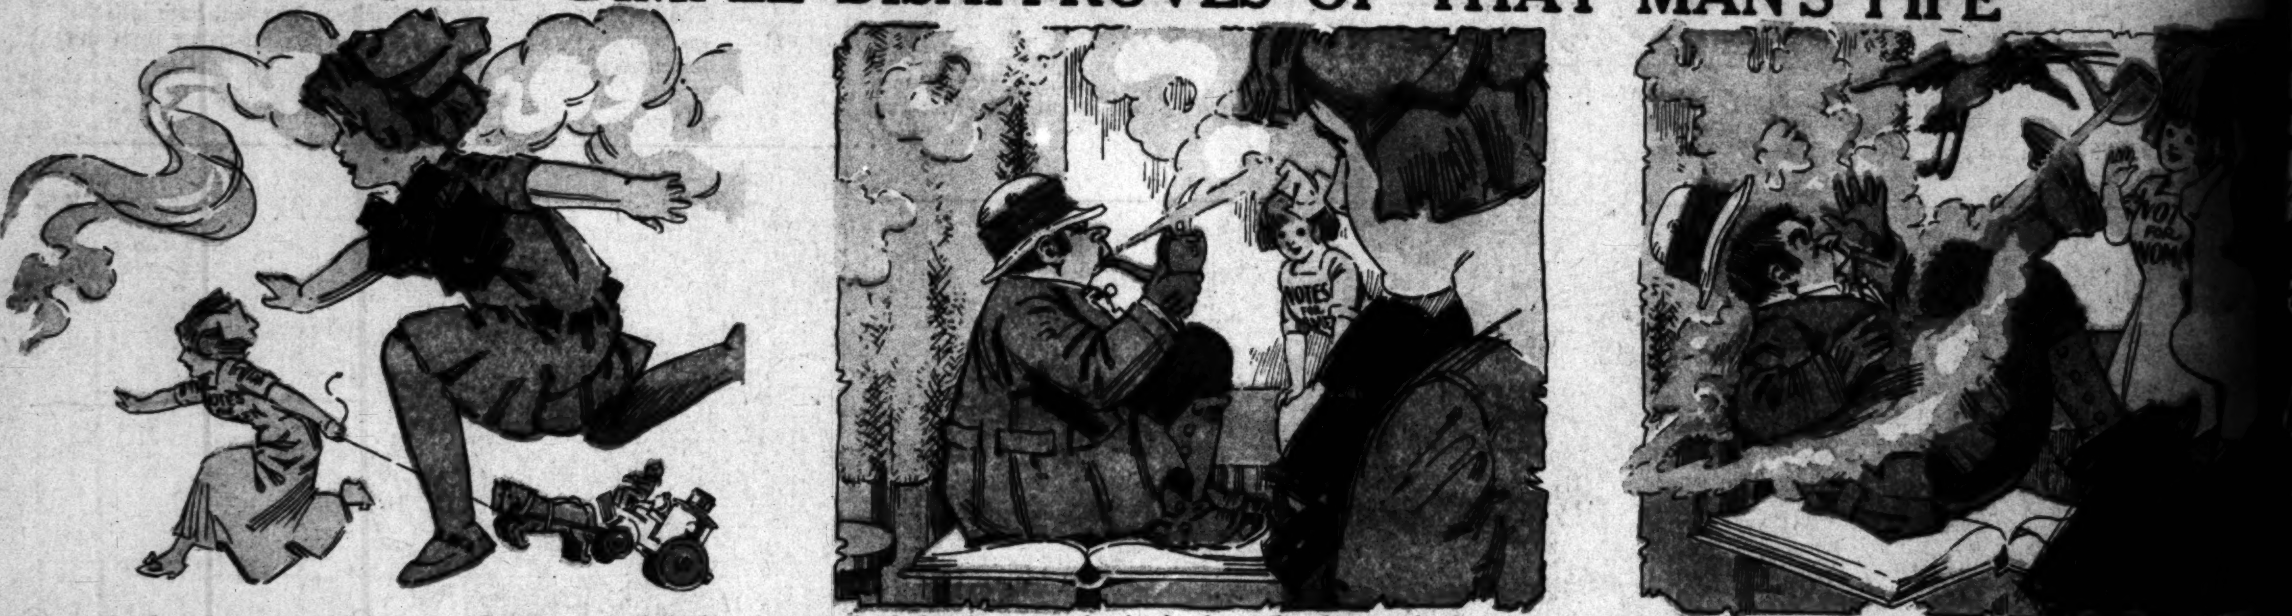
DOLLY DIMPLE DISAPPROVES OF THAT MAN'S PIPE



A wreath of smoke comes curling up, and Dolly gasps with fright;
She thinks the house afire, and she runs with all her might.

She finds a fat man in her book who puffs a fuming cloud.
"Two's company," thinks Dolly, "but a pipe like that's a crowd."

Forthwith a long-billed bird darts out; the pipe he

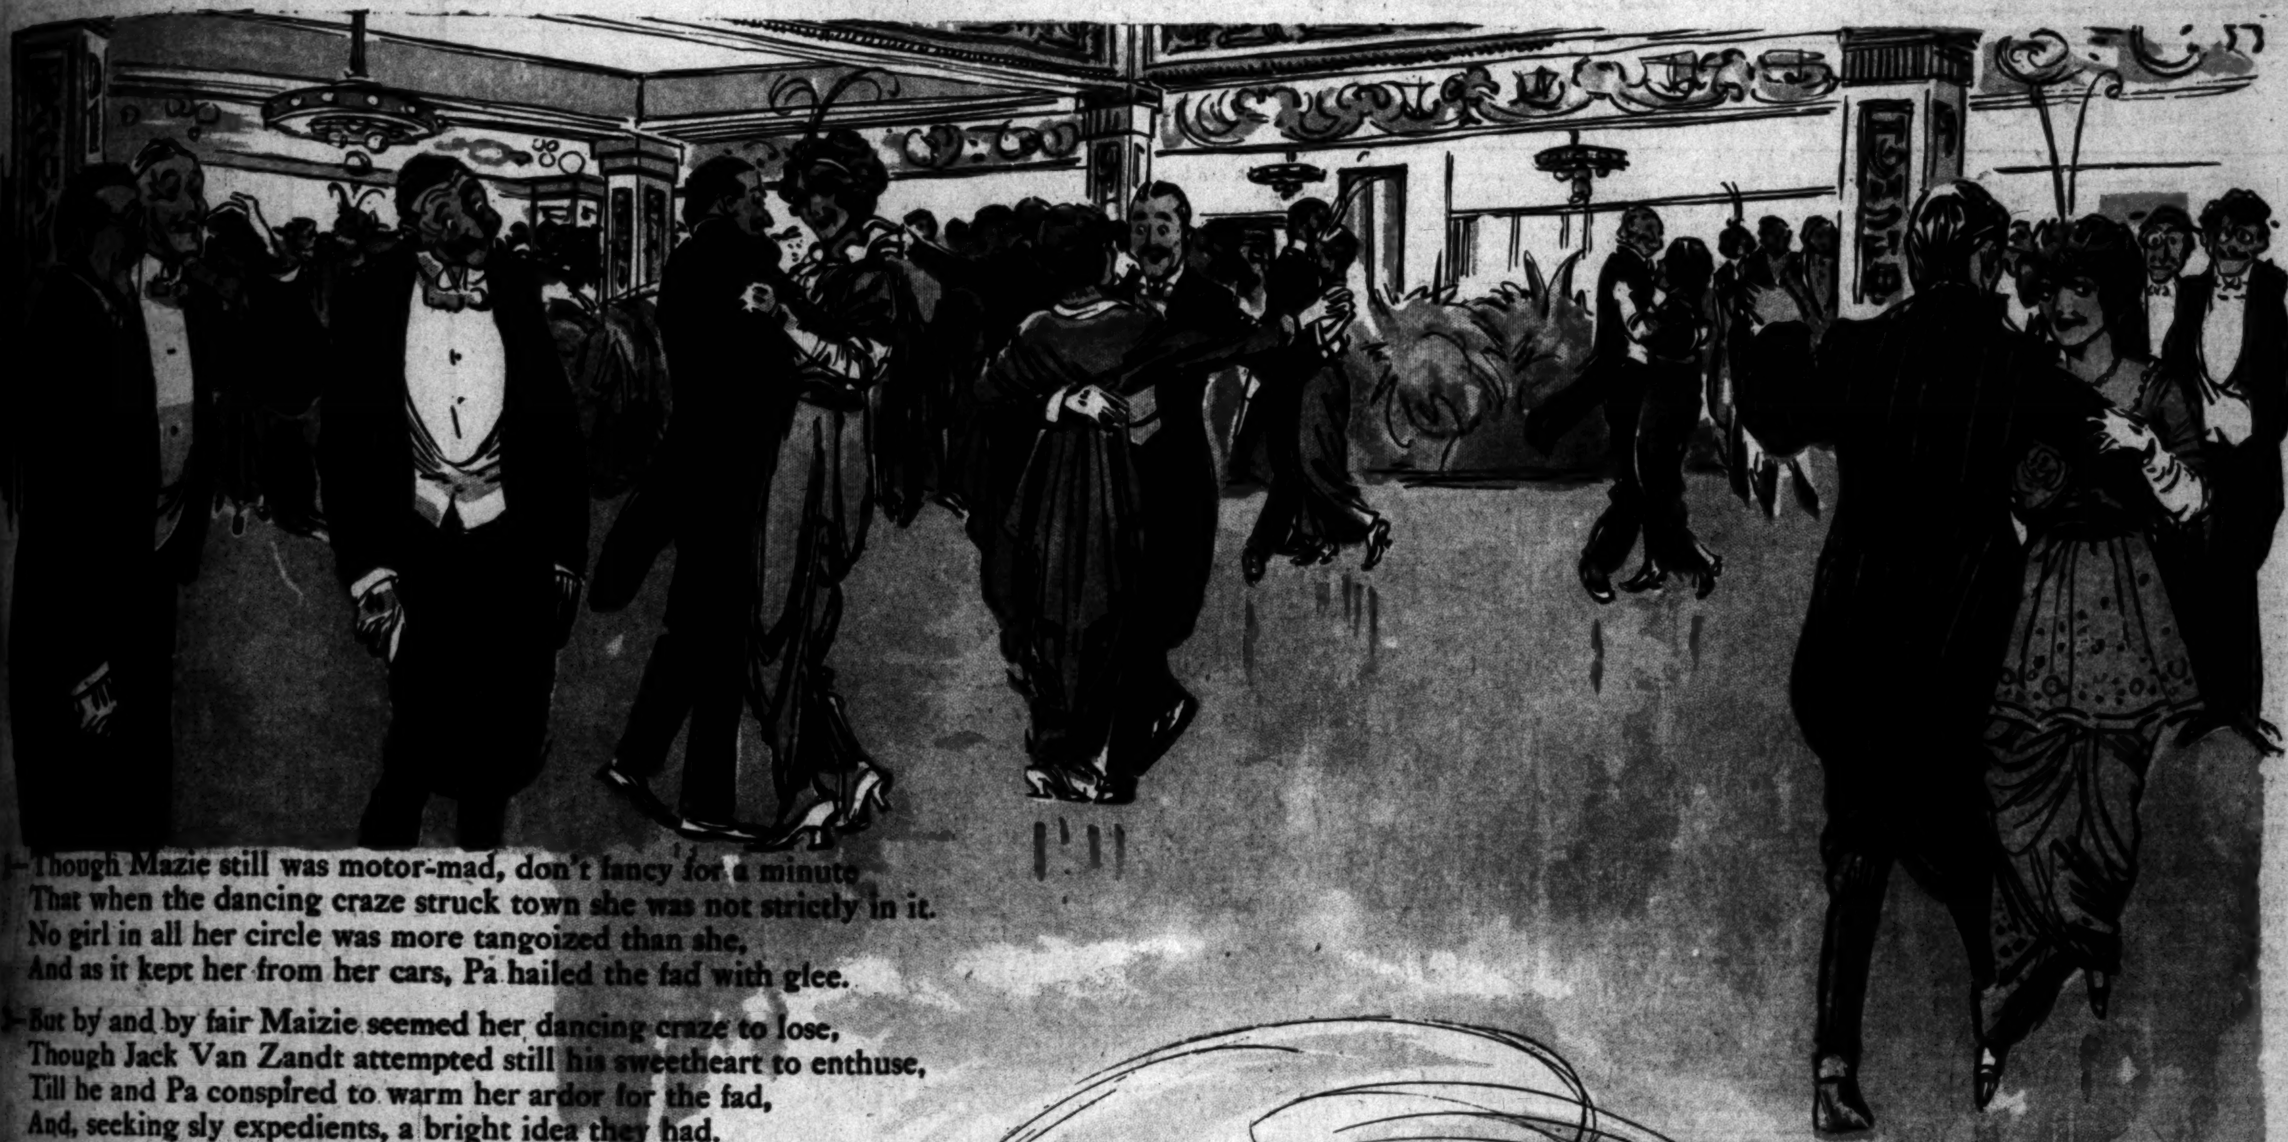
MAZIE THE MOTOR MAID

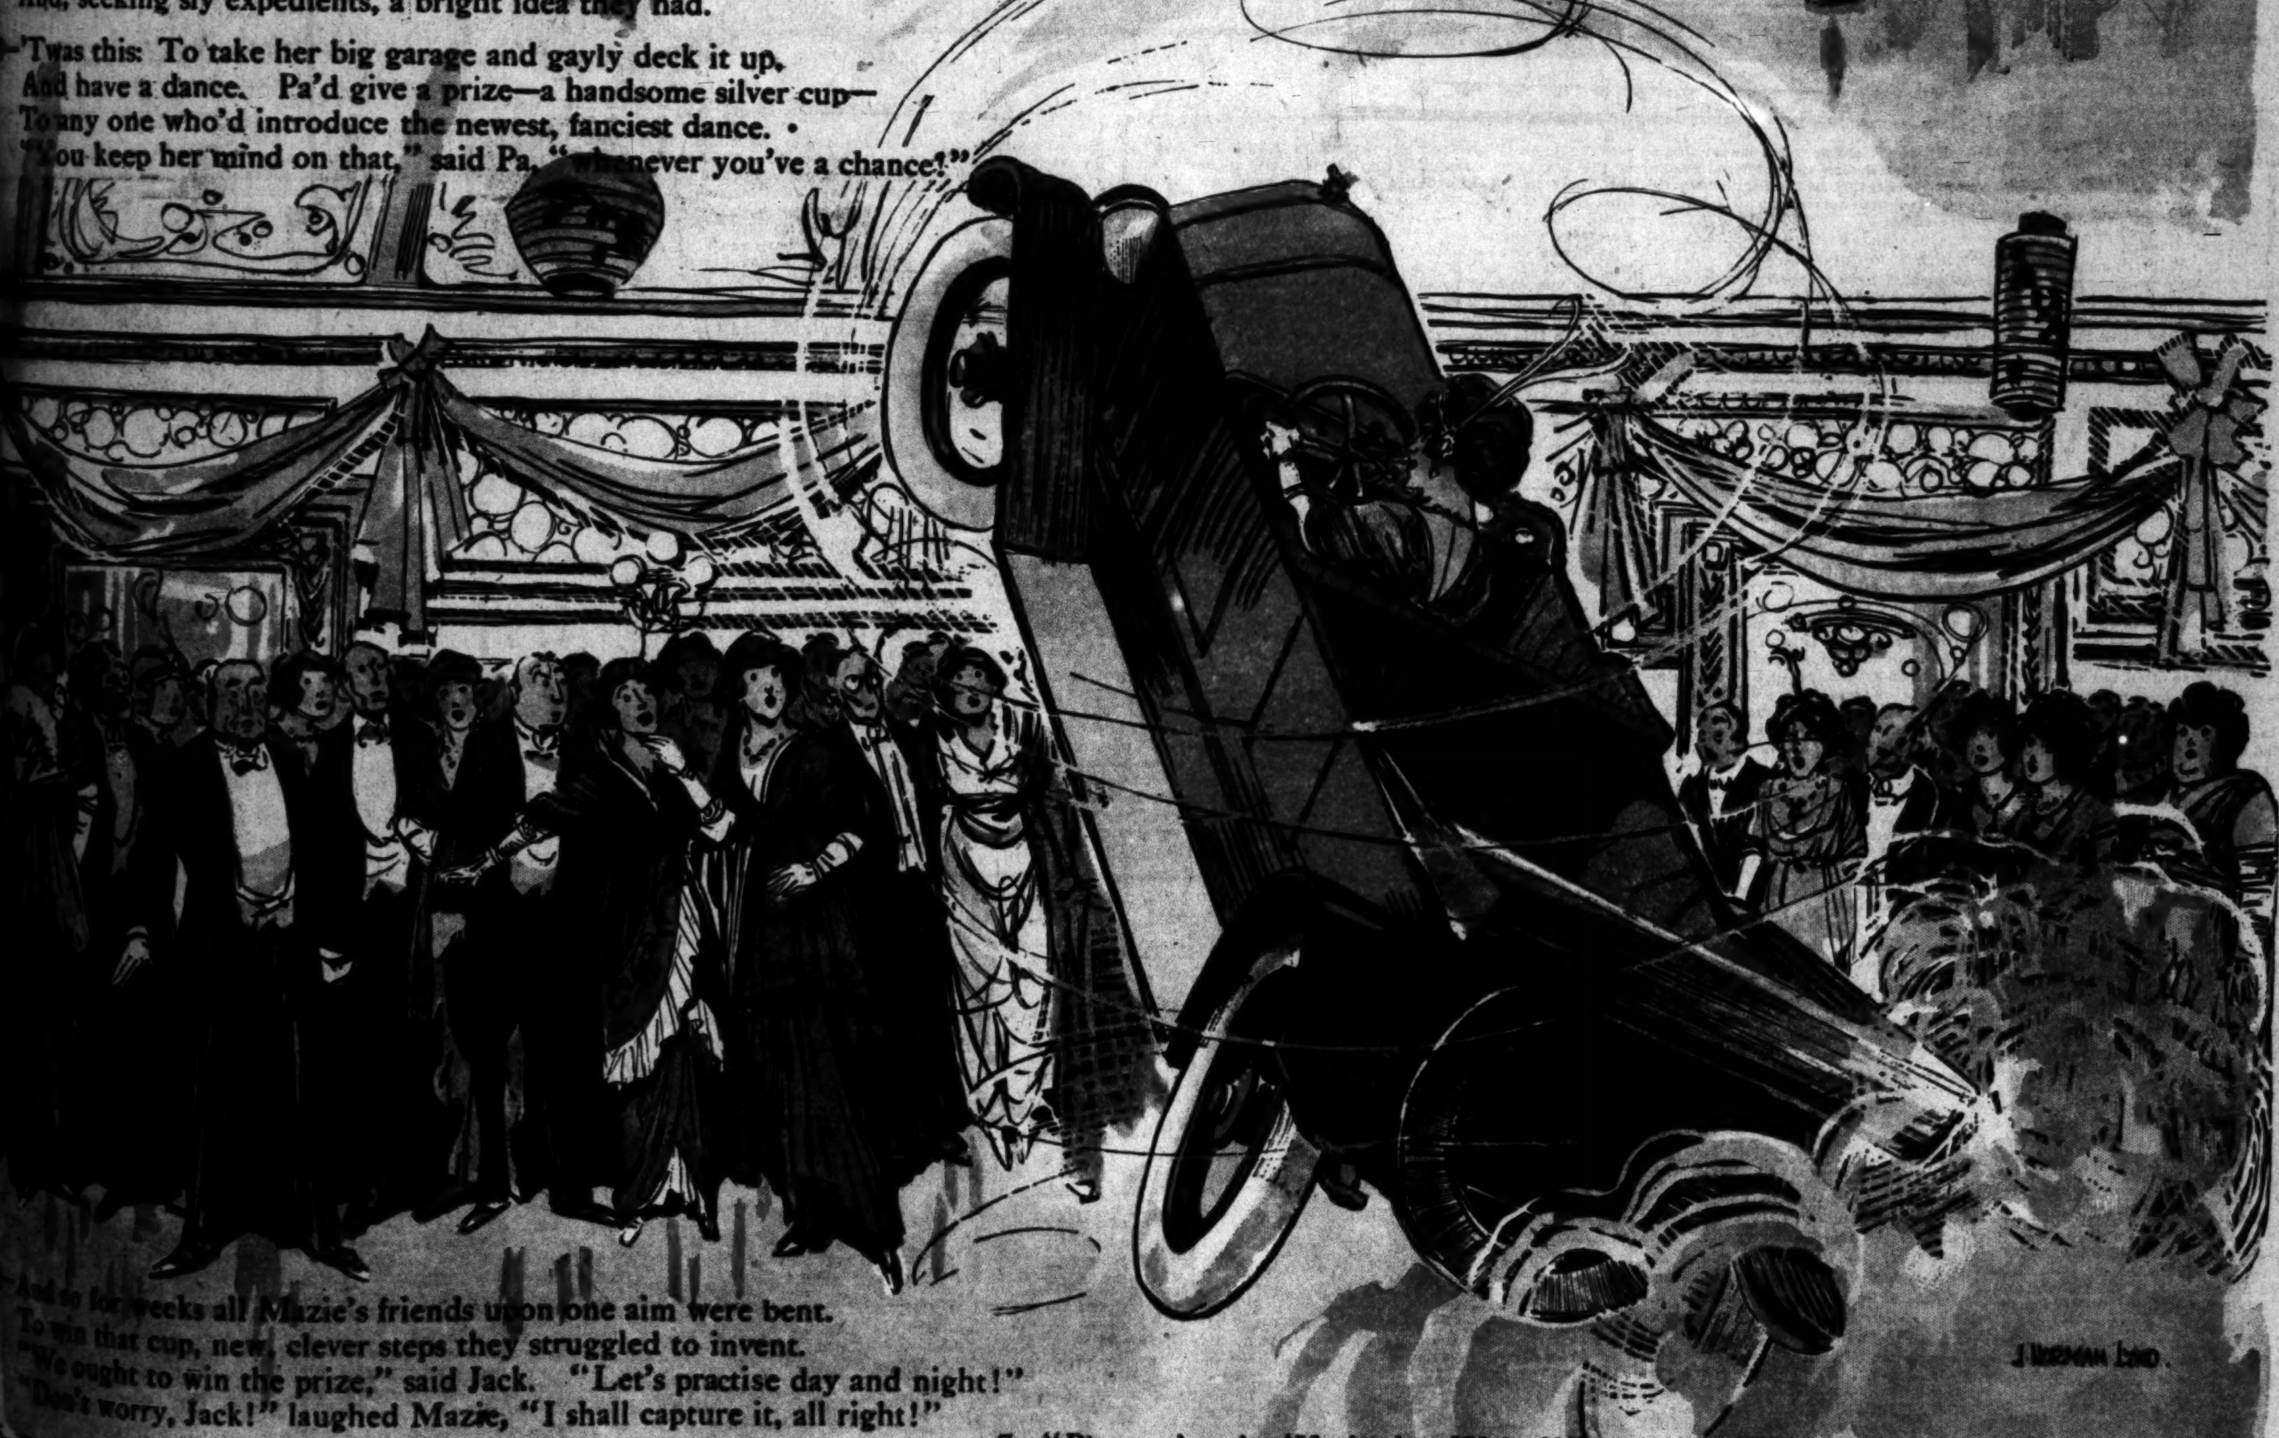
Verses by Paul West ⊠ Illustrations by J. Norman Lynd



1—Though Mazie still was motor-mad, don't fancy for a minute
That when the dancing craze struck town she was not strictly in it.
No girl in all her circle was more tangoized than she,
And as it kept her from her cars, Pa hailed the fad with glee.

2—But by and by fair Maizie seemed her dancing craze to lose,
Though Jack Van Zandt attempted still his sweetheart to enthuse,
Till he and Pa conspired to warm her ardor for the fad,
And, seeking sly expedients, a bright idea they had.

3—'Twas this: To take her big garage and gayly deck it up,
And have a dance. Pa'd give a prize—a handsome silver cup—
To any one who'd introduce the newest, fanciest dance.
"You keep her mind on that," said Pa, "whenever you've a chance!"



J NORMAN LYND.

4—And so for weeks all Mazie's friends upon one aim were bent.
To win that cup, new, clever steps they struggled to invent.
"We ought to win the prize," said Jack. "Let's practise day and night!"
"Don't worry, Jack!" laughed Mazie, "I shall capture it, all right!"

5—But on the night the dance came off Jack doubted for the cup.
He watched the other couples show the steps they'd conjured up,
And knew that he and Mazie had no novelties to show;
So when it came their turn to dance, his hopes were rather low.

6—He looked for her. Where could she be? Ah, suddenly the door
Flew open! Toot! her motor horn! And then across the floor
A speeding automobile came, 'twas Mazie's fav'rite one.
"Look out!" she cried. The crowd made way, and then began the fun!

7—"Please play the 'Hesitation Waltz'!" she said. The band struck up.
"Now look!" she laughed. "Watch close this dance! I'm out to win that cup!"
And, answering her skillful touch, that wondrous motor skipped,
Waltzed, tangoed, trotted, bunny-hugged, and—this is honest—dipped!

8—The wondering crowd looked on amazed, scarce crediting their eyes,
And when at last fair Mazie stopped, they cried: "She wins the prize!"
Then out she took her little book and wrote with cheeks aglow:
"A WELL-RUN CAR IS TWICE AS SMART AS HALF THE MEN I KNOW!"

COMMON SENSE in the HOME
EDITED by MARION HARLAND

DON'T BE SORRY FOR YOURSELF.

"SELF-PITY is of the devil!"

The remark was made by a man of large experience and observation and followed a discussion on the unhappy disposition of a friend who was always sorry for himself about something. The speech set me to thinking and to wondering how many women are hampered by the vice of self-pity.

If I refer to women especially it is not because I consider men immune from this fault, but because as a rule they are less given to introspection than woman, less addicted to imagining woes or enlarging upon those they really possess.

Think the matter over and see if you do not agree with me that the majority of women have a tendency towards being sorry for themselves. How often have you heard wives and mothers complain: "No one ever considers me. No one ever stops to think I might like a little diversion. No one seems to appreciate how tired I get." Haven't the phrases a familiar sound?

Carry the thought a little further. How frequently have you heard women say with a certain degree of complacency: "I am so sensitive. I feel any slight so keenly. My feelings are so easily hurt." All phases of self-pity, of being sorry for yourself, of what is at bottom nothing more nor less than plain, ugly selfishness. For that is what self-pity amounts to, after all. You are thinking so much of what concerns you and your sensations you don't stop to consider that others may be as uncomfortable as yourself, and that the fact that you are so sorry for your own trials makes life infinitely harder for those about you.

On a bit of Devonshire pottery I picked up years ago is printed:

Be always as merry as ever you can,
For no one is fond of a sorrowful man.

Cases of Two Grandmothers.

A sorrowful woman is much the worse. I don't refer to the kind of grief which comes from bereavement or from the sufferings of others or from the woes of our own which are impossible to ignore—though even then there may be opportunity for cheer—but to the sorrow which is cultivated and petted and made much of by those who reflect constantly on their own trials.

"I don't notice any one pitying me," said a woman one day when I was condoling with her over the loss her daughter had undergone in the death of her first baby. "Nobody knows how I had planned for my grandchild and dreamed of its coming and how it would bring brightness into my life. I am almost heartbroken at the loss, but every one is so intent upon sympathising with the mother and father the bereavement to me never seems to occur to anybody."

An extreme case? I am not so sure of that, but even if it is there are plenty of other examples of self-pity.

"I am a mere cipher in the home," sighed a grandmother in my hearing. "My daughter has her young married friends and goes about with them, but they seldom include me in their plans, and often it seems to me as though life were hardly worth living. My daughter and her husband go to clubs and dances and parties and other affairs in which I have no part. I must say I think it is hard on me."

I happened to be acquainted with the situation. The woman who made her lament had lived her life, full and happy, as the mother of a family and had settled into a home nest with her married daughter. She was adored by her grandchildren, loved and honored by her daughter and son-in-law, present as a central figure at all their entertainments, taken to the opera, and the play frequently, in every way deferred to and considered. Yet because the younger people had their friends who invited them to gatherings of others of their own age the mother was so sorry for herself that she could not have both the indemnities or advantages of middle age and the privileges of youth that she lost sight of her blessings and wasted her time and strength in regrets for herself and her imagined trials and deprivations.

Another Form of It.

Although I have touched upon the cases of two grandmothers I do not mean for an instant to confine the vice of self-pity to them. We find it in the family where the mother has a jealousy of the devotion of the children to the father or to their friends, where she seems almost to grudge to her young people the care free enjoyments of their age, where she considers herself neglected and put upon by the ordinary work of the household which falls to her share, where she calls herself "a back number" because she no longer has a claim upon the amusements which were hers when she was years younger. We see self-pity in the girls of the family who resent having to take their part in domestic duties or to deny themselves pleasures their parents cannot afford them or to do their portion in necessary economies.

Everywhere we recognize the vice in those who resent the lack of attention they feel is their due without being able to supply any satisfactory reason why they should receive it, who complain that they are not invited to this place or that, that they are slighted and looked upon as of no importance.

To come to an even deeper and more fatal form of the complaint, look at those who mourn the lack of affection of their friends.

"I love her a great deal better than she does me," sighs a girl of her intimate soul sister.

"I never have been loved as much as I love others," is the moan of another. "I give all my heart to my friends and they spare me a little affection in return."

"What difference does that make?" I heard a common sense, practical man retort to a sentimentally disposed girl who was mourning that the friend she loved best gave her so little in recompense. "As I see it, your business is to be worrying as to whether you love her enough—not if she loves you as much as you think she ought to. If you were worth her love you'd get it, and if you're not I wouldn't announce the fact."

If he had meant to check further lamentations in his hearing he accomplished his desire and I confess to a degree of sympathy with him, although I did not approve of the harshness of his course. Still, the exhibition of self-pity is irritating, no matter what form it takes. Perhaps sensitiveness is one of the most trying of its manifestations—the sensitiveness which makes its possessor on the alert for slights and neglects and patronage and lack of appreciation.

How to Be Unpopular.

"Why should any one go out of her way to slight you?" asked an elderly woman patiently of a young girl who was plaintively enlarging upon the dearth of attention she received from her friends. "Don't you know the best way in the world to make yourself unpopular is to show you feel others do not look upon you as important, and you resent it? If I were in your place I would try to forget all about myself and be so lovely and unselfish and desirable my friends would feel they couldn't get along without me!"

Self-pity is unquestionably a failing of the salad days, when a girl is so young that she has not yet learned that her wishes and preferences do not bulk as largely to others as they do to herself. Unfortunately the persuasion is not outgrown with us as we attain riper years, but has a proclivity to continue and grow with advancing age.

Don't be sorry for yourself if you can help it. I don't know a more uncomfortable state of mind than that of the woman who is always seeing occasions to regret what befalls her. Granted that it is natural to be sorry for yourself when you are in pain or in sorrow, do you think the indulgence in self-pity makes the burden easier to bear? When you have sat yourself down and pondered over the belief that you have more trouble than anybody, that you are not appreciated or considered by your family or friends, that you are imposed and put upon by most of your acquaintances, that the only reason they are agreeable to you is because they hope to make something out of [illegible] for their dropping [illegible] use you further, that [illegible] constant distress and [illegible] culiar suffering—when [illegible] and thought to all [illegible] feel any better? The rest of you may [illegible] but to my mind there are [illegible] unpleasant than the thought [illegible] ing myself rather ridiculous [illegible] by any habit of speech [illegible] could fancy that my attacks [illegible] called forth the comment [illegible] ing of any "old un," [illegible] was a person or an [illegible] some one was chuckling, [illegible] trials is worse than others [illegible] 'em more," I am persuaded [illegible] of healthy rage induced by [illegible] I was making my woes [illegible] occasion of mirth and [illegible] would do more to cure me [illegible] than any amount of [illegible] It is not a pleasing reflection [illegible] are rendering yourself and [illegible] tions so absurd that you [illegible] supplement picture more [illegible] dignified grief.

THE GRANDMOTHER WHO WAS ALWAYS LEFT AT HOME

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND.

"I WAS much interested in your talk about Sunday keeping. When I was a child I was taught strict observance of Sunday. My mother would not even let us play croquet then, but where is the limit now? When I married, my husband, a good man in other ways, did not belong to a church, and therefore did not think it necessary to attend Sunday school and church so often, but said I could go if I liked. This hurt me much, and I thought if I didn't go he would feel sorry to keep me away and go with me. But this plan failed utterly. After my children were 4 and 7 years old I felt the responsibility deeper upon me and began going with them to church and Sunday school, driving a distance of three miles, winter and summer. The result has been that by faithful attendance and earnest effort I have been elected for five successive years as the teacher of a true and devoted class. My greatest success is that I have made it possible nearly every year for my children to win prizes for attendance or good lessons, and this year there was presented to one of them at Christmas a gold five pointed star, representing the best attendance in his class for five years. Many times I have been discouraged and I've had many heartaches, but I am thankful my temptations to give up have never been more than I could bear. I am happy in endeavoring to bring up my children in the way they should go in the hope that when they are old they will not depart from it. We are longing for the day when our good husband and father shall join us.

"A MOTHER."

I am glad to print this letter as an example of what one earnest woman can do to bring her children into the habit of church attendance and Sunday keeping, even when not aided in the effort by the husband and father. While it would be much easier for her if she were assisted by him, she proves that Sunday keeping is not impossible even under adverse circumstances, and I have no doubt she is only one of many Christian women who are following the same plan.

Books Lost in a Fire.

"I am writing just a few lines to tell you of a misfortune that happened to myself and daughter. Four of us, my two aunts, myself, and daughter, were taking up four claims and one night during our absence both houses were fired at the same time and burned to the ground with everything we possessed in the world with the exception of a few remnants. What I mourn the most is the loss of a valuable library, of a collection of books that I would not have given up for any claim in the United States if I had been given my choice. What I valued particularly were my various books of reference, my school books, and various books on art, literature, the sciences, and music. It makes me heartsick even to think of what was lost; encyclopedias and unabridged dictionary and some occult works of great value, and a number of books that were out of print. Now, though I know I cannot replace what I lost except partially, with considerable time and expense, I still thought that perhaps some of your readers would take pity on us, as we are entirely without reading matter now, and when we rebuild will not have a book, magazine, or paper, which we would value beyond measure. Do you suppose some of your readers would send us their old magazines, which perhaps they simply throw away, or any books they would be willing to contribute to help form a new library? I. A. B. A."

No book lover can read this letter without sympathy, and while we cannot hope to replace the treasures this contributor has lost, I am sure her modest plea for old magazines and discarded reading matter will be heeded and books sent to her. I shall be happy to give her address to any applicants who wish to be of service to her.

* *

Records Too Classical.

"I am a sufferer from locomotor ataxia. Where I stay they have a phonograph I can use, only their music is too classical for me. If any of your readers have a few records to give away, of common airs, I will gladly pay costs. D. C. R."

Can some friend grant this wish?

Winning Children's Love.

"I feel that I would like to give you my experience in the hope that it may be of help to other mothers and daughters. I believe that we mothers have a great part to play and it is up to us to succeed or not. Our children are bound to reflect their parents. If we are patient and kind and control ourselves, how natural for them to try to act like us! There are many little defects in our children's character we do not need to dwell upon and if we see that the main points, such as love, self control, honor, virtue, and generosity are well developed we need have no fear for the minor points. They will take care of themselves. I once knew a young man who had so much respect for his mother that to his eyes she was perfection. I said to him one day, 'If I only knew that my sons would grow up to love me one-half so much as you do your mother I should be happy.' I shall never forget his reply, 'If you love your boys as well as my mother loves me you need never fear they will not return it.' Ever since then I have tried to show in every way I could the love I have in my heart for them and the result is a sweet and beautiful confidence between us. Let us not be afraid to tell our children that we love them and they will respond gladly, thus enabling us to help them in the perplexing problems that come to all young people who are just entering womanhood and manhood. Let us begin when our children are young to show our love for them, and by love I mean a training that benefits them, teaching them to respect the rights of others, to be courteous to their elders, generous with their playmates, unselfish towards all mankind, insisting upon obedience always, for unless a child learns to obey the laws of home he will never obey the laws of school nor the laws of country nor the laws of God. S. B. G."

Seldom have I received a letter which gave me greater pleasure to read or to print. It warms my heart to find a mother taking the stand which I have always held myself and which I believe is the wisest and best by which to train children. Strict obedience, unfailing love, and tenderness are to me the essentials in the training of the children, when justice is a part of all discipline. I wish the mothers who are in doubt about the way to keep their children's love and confidence would cut out this letter and paste it in their devotional books where it would be always within reach for frequent consultation. They could not have a better guide and I thank the correspondent who wrote and sent it.

Old Man Needs an Overcoat.

"I am wondering if there is an old fur overcoat too shabby to wear in the city that would be good enough in the country and that some one is willing to give away. An old man who will be 72 his next birthday is in need of such a garment. I read about the 'good fellows' who like to make others happy and I wish one of them could come to the help of this old man. He has had much hard luck, sickness, and loss. If some one will give the coat I am willing to pay express charges and to give the 'good fellow' who presents the coat two weeks' fine board right down on a farm next summer. The size of the overcoat needed is 48, but a larger size would answer. The old man's initials are A. B. C., but the coat may be sent to me and I will see that he gets it. MRS. E. F. B."

As my readers know, we do not ask for clothing through this corner, but here is an offer of direct exchange of values—the two weeks' board in return for the coat. I hope the garment may be forthcoming, whether as a gift or an exchange matters little, so long as the man who needs it gets it. I will gladly supply the address of the friend who offers to pay express or parcel post charges on the bundle. An early answer is desirable if there is real good to be received from the coat while the cold weather is with us.

Writing Letters Her Pastime.

"I am a poor crippled colored girl and would be grateful for stationery on which to write letters—that is my pastime. I have infantile paralysis in my feet, legs, and arms, and have suffered from this ever since I was 4 years old. My mother died six weeks ago and now that I am alone all day I miss her sadly. It would do me good to know that some one thinks of me enough to give me a pleasure. W. J. S."

I hope some one may perhaps be moved to look up the poor cripple and see if there is not some other way to brighten her life in addition to sending her writing paper. This, I am sure, will be given her promptly, but to my mind the case demands more than this. The well written letter I received shows more than ordinary education for a girl in her position and I am sure she would appreciate whatever could be done for her.

Fancy Work Literature.

"I am all alone in an upstairs room, trying hard to get well. Almost all my life I have been a cripple and for several years I have been a semi-invalid. Still I have never let time hang heavy on my hands. I earn my way by sewing, knitting, crocheting, piecing quilts, embroidering, and stenciling. I make beads and flowers and do some plaster of paris molding. I would be thankful for reading matter, especially on fancy work of any kind, for quilt pieces, yarn, thread, and post cards. BELL."

Another appeal which should lead some more fortunate to see what can be done to ease the lot of this other cripple, to contribute reading matter and some of the sewing materials and other items desired.

Suggests Teaching Servants.

"I have a young maid, 18 years old, who has just come from the country. She is willing, neat, and has nothing to unlearn. I am qualified to teach her properly, though for three or four weeks I shall find my hands full and be obliged to be at home to see to all meals. Now, why don't some of the graduates of the domestic science schools take up this training of young girls as a business? Four weeks would start a girl beautifully and being taught in the home she is to live in the work would be a routine long before her teacher left her. Of course the maid would have to have possibilities, and for this training should work for, say $1 less until half of the expense had been paid. Also she should agree not to leave in the lurch any one who had taken this interest. From the standpoint of the graduate teacher of the maid $10 per month plus board and lodging would not be bad, would it, in spite of having to move to a new place of instruction every month" M. T. For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

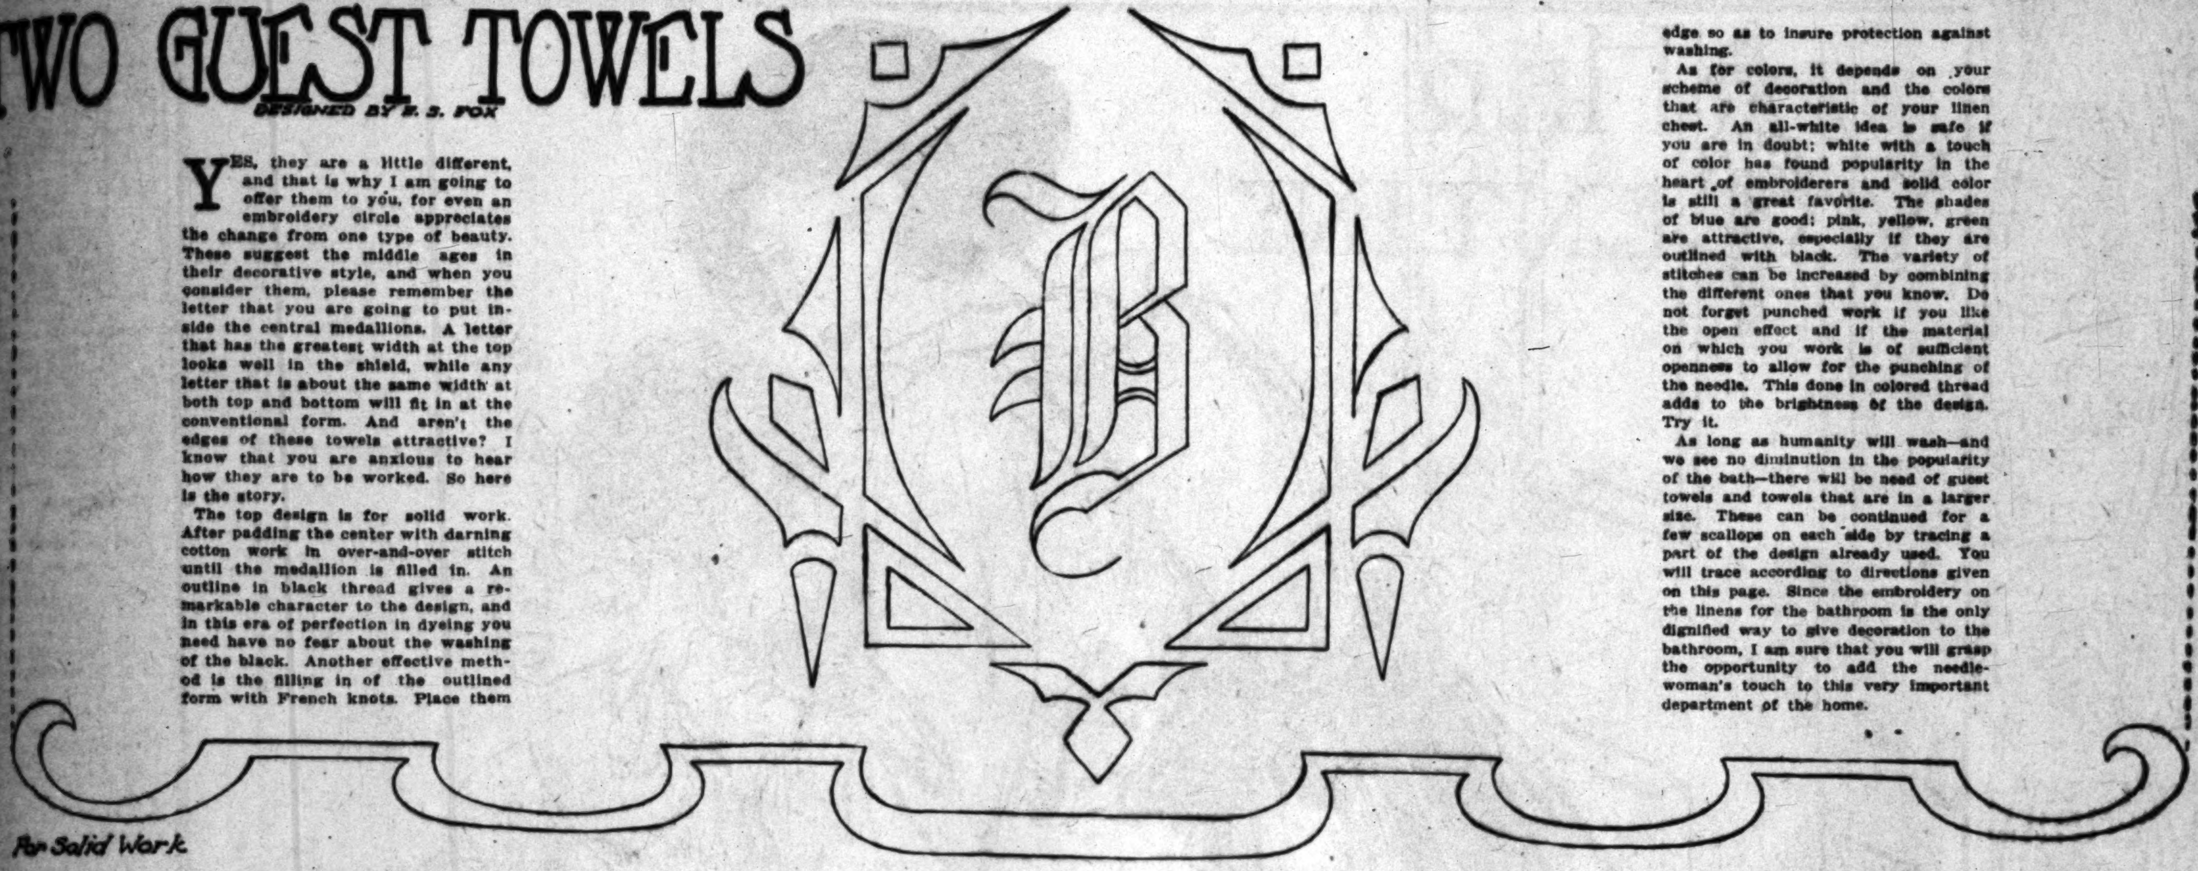
By ADELAIDE BYRD

TWO GUEST TOWELS

DESIGNED BY E. S. FOX

YES, they are a little different, and that is why I am going to offer them to you, for even an embroidery circle appreciates the change from one type of beauty. These suggest the middle ages in their decorative style, and when you consider them, please remember the letter that you are going to put inside the central medallions. A letter that has the greatest width at the top looks well in the shield, while any letter that is about the same width at both top and bottom will fit in at the conventional form. And aren't the edges of these towels attractive? I know that you are anxious to hear how they are to be worked. So here is the story.

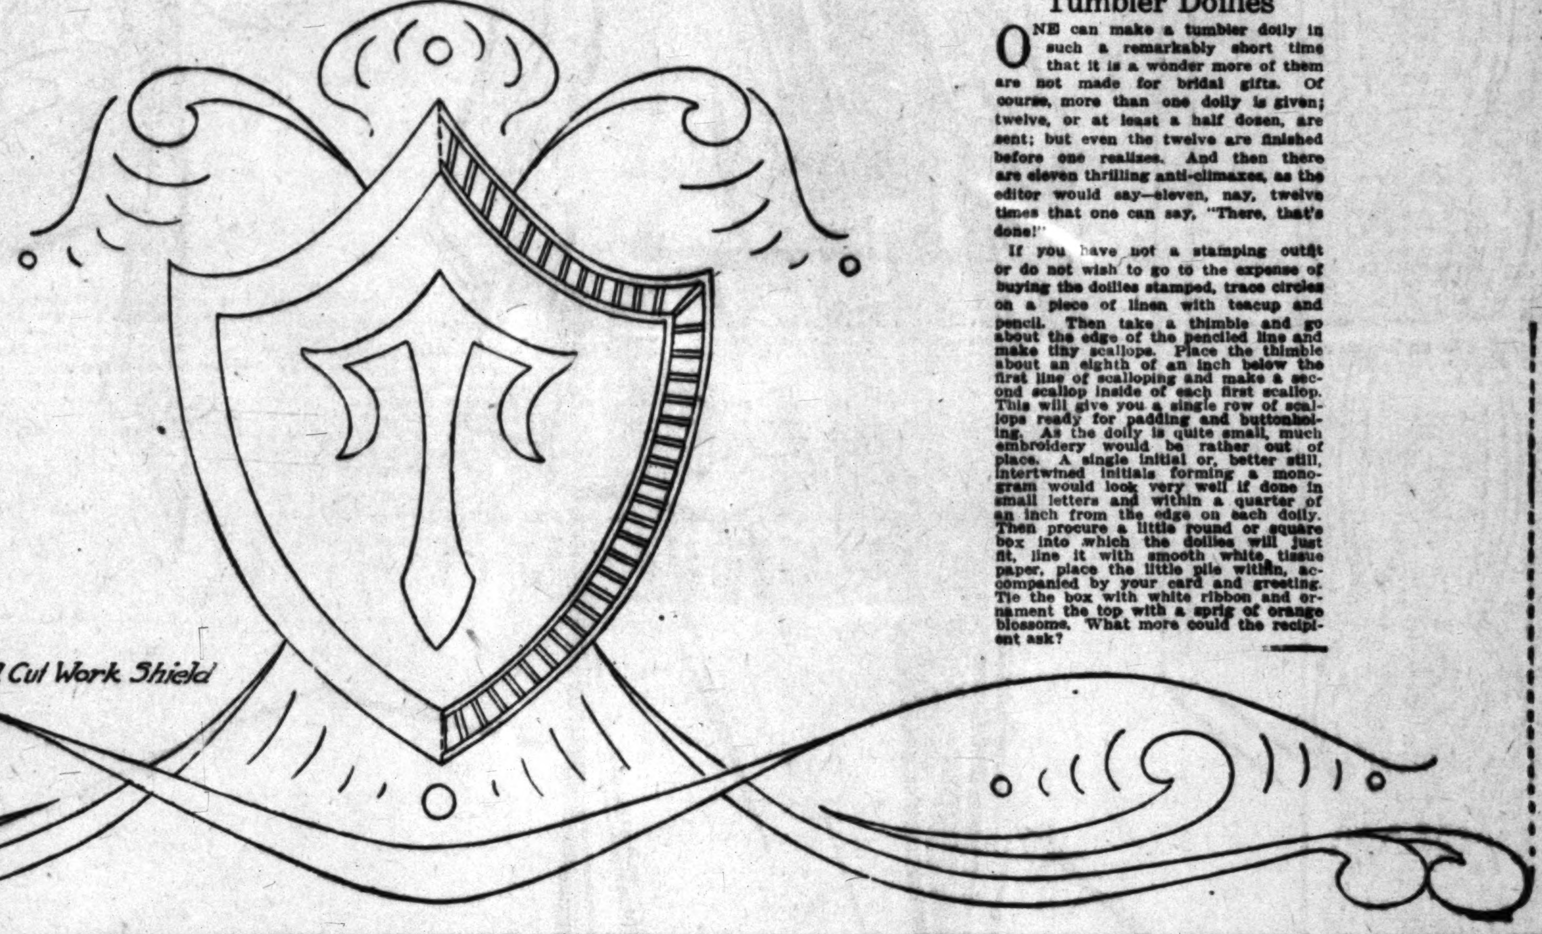
The top design is for solid work. After padding the center with darning cotton work in over-and-over stitch until the medallion is filled in. An outline in black thread gives a remarkable character to the design, and in this era of perfection in dyeing you need have no fear about the washing of the black. Another effective method is the filling in of the outlined form with French knots. Place them very close, so that they will give a solid effect. French knots are quick and lasting, and any one can make them. If you do not wish to use them, fill in with seed stitches, which are back stitches made in parallel rows close together.



For Solid Work

Pad the scallops of the edge with darning cotton, held in strands as you hold couching thread, and using it as you work over it in buttonhole stitches along the pattern. To give the guest towel the personal touch, add the initial of your name or of the owner who will be fortunate enough to receive it after you have finished it.

In the next design the shield is suggested for cut work, and I am sure that you will like to have one of this kind of towel on the rack. When you work the shield, buttonhole the narrow band that outlines the form, and as you do the inner line, make the cross lines as you make the buttonholed loops for hooks on your dresses. Cut away after you have finished. Indeed, many embroiderers are reserving the cutting out of the linen between the bars until the piece has been laundered. Work the rest of the design in outline and solid work. The scallops are padded and then worked first in buttonhole stitches, the ends of the border being worked first in solid stitch and then buttonholed along the edge so as to insure protection against washing.



A Cut Work Shield

As for colors, it depends on your scheme of decoration and the colors that are characteristic of your linen chest. An all-white idea is safe if you are in doubt; white with a touch of color has found popularity in the heart of embroiderers and solid color is still a great favorite. The shades of blue are good; pink, yellow, green are attractive, especially if they are outlined with black. The variety of stitches can be increased by combining the different ones that you know. Do not forget punched work if you like the open effect and if the material on which you work is of sufficient openness to allow for the punching of the needle. This done in colored thread adds to the brightness of the design. Try it.

As long as humanity will wash—and we see no diminution in the popularity of the bath—there will be need of guest towels and towels that are in a larger size. These can be continued for a few scallops on each side by tracing a part of the design already used. You will trace according to directions given on this page. Since the embroidery on the linens for the bathroom is the only dignified way to give decoration to the bathroom, I am sure that you will grasp the opportunity to add the needlewoman's touch to this very important department of the home.

Tumbler Doilies

ONE can make a tumbler doily in such a remarkably short time that it is a wonder more of them are not made for bridal gifts. Of course, more than one doily is given; twelve, or at least a half dozen, are sent; but even the twelve are finished before one realizes. And then there are eleven thrilling anti-climaxes, as the editor would say—eleven, nay, twelve times that one can say, "There, that's done!"

If you have not a stamping outfit or do not wish to go to the expense of buying the doilies stamped, trace circles on a piece of linen with teacup and pencil. Then take a thimble and go about the edge of the penciled line and make tiny scallops. Place the thimble about an eighth of an inch below the first line of scalloping and make a second scallop inside of each first scallop. This will give you a single row of scallops ready for padding and buttonholing. As the doily is quite small, much embroidery would be rather out of place. A single initial or, better still, intertwined initials forming a monogram would look very well if done in small letters and within a quarter of an inch from the edge on each doily. Then procure a little round or square box into which the doilies will just fit, line it with smooth white tissue paper, place the little pile within, accompanied by your card and greeting. Tie the box with white ribbon and ornament the top with a sprig of orange blossoms. What more could the recipient ask?

The desk blotter may also be made of the Japanese embroidery; in fact, an entire desk set covered with this lovely material deserves a place in any library.

A Stitch in Time

A STITCH in time for what? Why, summer! Don't look so startled. Haven't the great men of all ages given us modifications of "In time of peace prepare for war," and the like? So, in the time of cold we'll prepare for heat by embroidering a sunshade under the winter lamp.

Either a white linen sunshade or one of white satin can be worked in lazy-daisy stitch more effectively and more quickly than in any other kind of embroidery. Then, too, it is very desirable that there be as little as possible of the silk or mercerized thread used in working the design showing on the under side of the shade, and the lazy-daisy stitch fits in beautifully with this requirement, if carefully done. Groups of colored daisies on each panel of the sunshade are pretty. Be sure that only the best thread or silk is used, so that if in an emergency your sunshade must needs become an umbrella the colors will not run. Foliage in green may be used with the other colors to good advantage. Several colors may be used, as many as three or four. The petals of each flower are, of course, all in one shade, and one must be careful to group the colors carefully.

Colored sunshades may be embroidered in white or colors, but it takes an artist's eye to get the proper effect, and we laymen would do better to cling to the white ground. Solid work, too, is effective, if carefully done. One must be careful to allow no roughness or ends of thread on the wrong side. Some embroiderers take as much pride in the wrong side of their work as in the right side, and it is just work of this kind that is necessary for the embroidered sunshade.

What to Make for the Bride

IT WILL soon be shower-time for the prospective bride, and the needleworker had better prepare for the invitations which are sure to descend upon her.

Guest towels are always acceptable to the bride, and the shops show a varied assortment of pretty designs which may easily be duplicated. If you crochet thread lace, you can make the latest guest towels. Purchase the toweling and hem the ends neatly. Above each hem set in a band of crocheted insertion about 1½ or 2 inches wide.

Monogramed towels are also welcomed by the bride, and these are not difficult to make if you are even a moderately experienced embroiderer. The more attractive designs have medallions done in satin stitch, and the monogram is arranged in the center of this. Old English or block letters are the approved-of style.

Buffet scarfs will delight the heart of any bride-to-be if fashioned of square medallions of English eyelet embroidery and cluny or filet lace. These medallions can be purchased at the lace shops, and the stamped squares of linen are sold at the needlework department of any department store.

When you have embroidered a sufficient number of medallions arrange them in rows, using the lace and embroidered medallions alternately, and border the scarf with cluny or filet lace edging of the scalloped variety.

Lingerie pillows of sheer linen embroidered or lace trimmed are lovely for the boudoir.

These can be purchased stamped ready to embroider, or you can transfer a simple design to a square of linen with very little trouble. The pillow need not be elaborately embroidered, and small lace medallions may be inset among the embroidered flowers and foliage. These may be had in the forms of butterflies and flowers.

Border the edge of the pillow top with inch-wide cluny insertion, and after the cover is slipped over the pillow finish the edge with a plain frill of cluny edging, gathering it at the corners.

Lingerie sachets for the bureau drawers make a dainty gift for the bride. Take squares or oblong pieces of cotton batting of any dimensions you may desire, and cover them with pale pink, blue, yellow or mauve silk. Sprinkle generously with a good sachet powder and slip them within cases fashioned of sheer embroidered linen, batiste, net or gauze. Ornament the edge with a frill of lace and place a bow of ribbon in one corner.

There are enough suggestions here to keep you busy for many days to come.

Dressed Bottles

DRESSED bottles! Now, what are they for? For milady's dresser. If her room is in blue, the bottles are garbed in blue; if in pink, the bottles are pink; if in yellow, the bottles are gowned in yellow. They are meant to contain perfume. Take a piece of wide ribbon about twice as long as is required to go once about the largest bottle. The ribbon must be sufficiently wide to extend from the under center of the bottle to the neck of the bottle. Seam the two cut ends of the ribbon together. Shirr the bottom edge of the ribbon together so that it forms a little bag. Place the bottle in it and then shirr the top edge of the ribbon about the neck of the bottle. Press flat with the fingers the shirred edge of the ribbon that is on the bottom of the bottle and then stitch over this bottom a piece of the ribbon cut to exactly fit this bottom. About the top of the bottle a piece of gilt passementerie is placed to finish off and conceal the stitching. Sometimes an overdress of filet lace is used, and when silk and lace-covered boxes are used with the bottles they make a very pretty dresser set.

Baby's Caps

CAN you make those tiny, tiny ribbon roses that are strung on a very fine green cord or the narrowest of ribbon? They can be bought by the yard in the shops, but what is the use of paying for having them made if one can make them at home? They are no larger than the top of a pencil, you know, and some not so large as that. Since colors have been introduced on the clothing for very young babies, there has come about a fashion of using this rose trimming for babies' caps. A band of it goes about the front of the cap, usually at the joining of the lace edge, if edging is used, and the cap proper. If the baby is blonde, little blue roses can be made. The chiffon roses are even daintier than those made of silk.

How to Transfer

PLACE a sheet of impression carbon paper between your fabric and the newspaper design, the latter on top. With a sharp pencil or a glass-pointed pen go over the outline. The design will be transferred to the material and will last until worked.

Pretty Bureau Boxes

SILK-COVERED boxes for dresser or bureau are always in demand for the numerous trinkets, etc., which it is necessary to have nearby when dressing. There is now a fad of covering them with filet lace, upon which are quaint English designs resembling the real darned lace. After you have made or purchased the silk-covered boxes, cut pieces of filet lace to fit, and proceed to whip them over the silk. The seams may be whipped together at the edges, and the effect is most attractive. The silk, of course, forms a splendid foundation for the stitching of the lace to the box. Sometimes a silk cord is used about the edge of the lid to conceal the joining of the pieces of lace. If the room is blue, the boxes should be covered in blue silk; if pink, the boxes should be covered in pink, and so on. The filet mesh allows the color to show beautifully through the lace, and altogether makes fascinating bureau boxes. Sometimes a narrow strip of tiny pink roses is placed about the edge of the lids instead of the silk cord.

A KINDLY GIFT

THE house was gray and dreary looking. Leading up to its mouth were high gray stone steps. Even through the glass eyes of the house there came no cheerful gleam. It was that time between day and oncoming night when only the improvident, or people with whom the expenditure of money matters but little, apply a match to their lamps, their gas jets, or with but a pressure upon a button fill their houses with golden radiance, and in this unsmiling house economy was the watchword. It was an old ladies' home.

Far back at the end of the wide, bare hall that ran through the house was a neat, small room in which they kept one of the inmates, very little and very old. It was upon this tiny bit of humanity that a fresh, very much alive young girl came to call, not being able to suppress a shudder as she entered the gray house in the cheerless dusk. Many were the things they chattered about, the young girl and the lady little and old, but after the girl had left the gray house she remembered that recurring through the whole was the pathetic plaint, like the insistent chirp of a bird, that the little old lady's feet were cold, and coldest of all when they reluctantly crept between the icy sheets.

Then the young girl's sympathetic heart began to plan how to keep the poor little feet warm, and quickly she set to work with needle and scissors when once she reached her mother's own warm sewing room. Taking a stocking that would have been at least three sizes too large for the old lady, the young girl cut the top off, leaving about four inches of ankle to the foot. Then she took a piece of pale blue eiderdown from the sewing closet, and, using the foot of the stocking for a pattern, she cut from it four "feet" of eiderdown. Twice the stocking pattern had to be turned in an opposite direction, for after they were cut the young girl had to place both right sides of the eiderdown together and seam them on the wrong side to make the slumber slipper she had planned. The seams were small ones, and were run up on the machine. As the eiderdown was soft, and as the slumber slippers were not supposed to be worn any place but in the bed itself, there was no danger of the seams hurting the little old lady's feet. Instead of the raw edges being hemmed at the top, the young girl buttonholed them in thick twist silk of a shade to match the material. Then she tied the completed slumber slippers into a snug package and put the little old lady's name upon it, and the number of the unsmiling house.

Then the girl, because her heart was kind, thought of the many other cold feet there must be in the gray house, and she spread the idea among other young people she knew. Soon there were many snug packages finding their way to the gray house, for the matron, with an approving spirit of co-operation, had furnished the young girl with a list of the names of the little old lady's companions in the home.

"Oh, my dear, my dear," exclaimed the first little old lady gratefully to the young girl a month later, "what a house of warm feet this is since you have taken it in hand!"

A Child's Embroidery

THERE are so few stitches that a little girl can do really well in fancy work. Even the simple outline stitch somehow gets wobbly and uneven. Then, too, a piece of fancy work done only in outline stitch never looks "like mother's," and the small folk are apt to resent the fact and even grieve over the inability of their tiny selves to imitate mother more successfully. But there is a stitch which little folk can do quite as well as mother though perhaps not so quickly. It is the cross-stitch. Properly stamped, there is no stitch more easily made and no stitch of such simplicity that is so effective. It is, of course, more difficult to do when several colors are used in one design, but the child just starting should have a design that can be worked in one color. As the little girl progresses in skill and speed, two, three, four and any number of colors may be used, according to her ability. Try getting a cross-stitch piece next time instead of a simple outline piece for the small girl. She will like it ever so much better, and the piece will be more acceptable as a gift to the house or an outsider when it is completed. Be sure that the piece is stamped for the cross-stitching. Some folk are in the habit of cross-stitching through scrim, counting the holes, but this method is too difficult for a child.
